TURKEY GROWERS MEET

The monthly meeting of the Maryland Turkey Growers' Association of Kent County was held Thursday evening at the Chamber of Commerce offices.

It was decided to call a special meeting, to be held at the Chestertown Court House at 1.30 p. m. on September 11. At this meeting it is planned to have experts on marketing and grading present to help solve the immediate problem of Kent's squab turkeys and the later holiday crops. Invitations will be sent by Mr. J. McVean of the Extension service to Roy C. Potts, Bureau Agricultural Economics, Washington, D. C., to S. B. Shaw, College Park and Mr. Burroughs, of the Del Mar Va Eastern Shore Association.

Buyers from the north are already interested in squab turkeys and due to the very large flocks in the county this year, it is expected many will take advantage of the squab market if the prices are at all tempting.

The regular monthly meetings will be changed from now on to afternoon in order to assure a larger attendance at the meetings. Many growers claim the evening hour has been a great inconvenience to them.

ENTERTAINMENTS AT BETTERTON

Bettterton, Md.,—Continuing the series of novelty entertainments at the Casino Howard Turner, proprietor of many resort amusements here and producer of motion picture and vaudeville attractions, has this week presetned one of the most attractive programs of the season. In addition to the regular lucky number dances every Monday night, the special dances Tuesday and Thursday nights, the German and confetti carnivals on Wednesday nights, the prize elimination dances Friday nght and the usual big Saturday night ball, the Casino management this week presented Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Huxtable, well-known dancers of Wilmington, in a novelty program of song and dance Tuesday morning. Fred Loos, of Baltimore also gave an exhibition of tap dancing that called forth several encores from a large audience and the O'Hara children, of Philadelphia, presented some new steps and novelties.

On Thursday morning this week Fred Loos, Miss Mary Whalen, his dancing partner, and Ralph Driscoll, all of Baltimore, are on the program for acrobatic and adagio dances while the well-known Ed Luckey and Al Herman, the specialty boys of radio station W. C. A. O., and Washington College students, are giving their usually attractive program of songs and instrumental duets with sax and guitar.

The Casino management is endeavoring to get together all the amateur talent of the upper Eastern Shore for these morning program which are rapidy becoming an essential part of the resort life. Next summer it is hoped to extend the program both in quantity and quality. Increasingly large numbers of Kent county folk are journeying to Betterton for morning and evening entertainment.

In addition a special Sunday evening concert, with orchestra, is being presented. Last Sunday the stellar performers were Misses Dorothy and Edith Mosbacher, of Freehold, Long Island, violinist and pianist, respectively, who drew frequent applause from a large and appreciative audience. Both are guests at a local hotel. The latter is Columbia University student.

TRANSCRIPT'S MUSINGS

AFTER WINGS

This was your butterfly, you see—
His fine wings made him vain:
The caterpillars crawl, but he
Passed them in rich disdain.
My pretty boy says, "Let him be
Only a worm again!"

O child, when things have learned to wear
Wings once, they must be fain
To keep them always high and fair:
Think of the creeping pain
Which even a butterfly must bear
To be a worm again!

SARAH PRATT

The carnival is over and now we hope that the town council will begin to think of beautifying the square. There is nothing that makes a town more desirable and attractive than a well kept one. Some time ago a stranger spoke of the beautiful location of the town but wondered why the streets were so ill kept. Why cannot we have a clean town. The squares are already made and it is only up to the town fathers to see that they are made beautiful again.—

Oh, this is a problem that makes my heart sink—
Too deep for the wise men to measure:
Why people go motoring on Sunday and think
They're getting diversion and pleasure.

"What have you been doing all day," asked the business man of the home keeper as he comes home, Only getting a meal. Marjorie K. Rawling in her songs of the housewife, tells us where the day has gone.

Poor Proportions

It takes me half the afternoon,
And I am no beginner,
To cook the meal that's gone so soon,
And called a "simple" dinner.

One hour to make the plainest cake,
For mince pie, two are plenty.
Hundreds of minutes used to make
A feast folks eat in twenty!

A dinner's disproportionableness
Daily strikes me stronger.
Of time, the cook should use much less—
Or the diners should take longer!

Isn't it a pity that the Mediterranean fruit fly cannot be taught to have a fondness for bunch grass on the fairways?

The heat of the present summer has made the stronger sex really think of waring fewer clothes. Some have even walked the streets in pajamas. We are anxiously waiting to see if they will shed their accustomed garments and wear the one piece recommended by some.

Browsing among books is a satisfying thing to do. How time flies when we scan one rare volume after another. Try it some time when you have a vacation and see if your body and mind are not both refreshed.

A unique Bible is being compiled by Edmund T. Garland, secretary of the Bible Society of Maine. It is hand written, everyone of the 31,173 verses being copied by a different prson. Ex-President Coolidge copied the first verse. The oldest contributor so far was 103, the youngest 4 1-2. Every verse in the book of Ruth was copied by a person named Ruth, the last one by Babe Ruth. Verses in the books of John were all penned by Johns. But won't it take a handwriting expert to read such a Bible?

"A man may have brains in the top of his head,
Well covered by scalp and by hair,
But if he can't use them in earning his bread,
Pray tell me what good are they there?"

Higher Visibility

Sam—Say, Rastus, dat new wife of yours am light complexioned. Does you like 'em light?

Rastus—Yea, boy. When I gives her a black eye, Ah wants to see it.

Dog Days

"These days are what each year are called
"Dog days," because you see,
They're governed by the Dog star bright
Producing heat so free.
Then there's a saying, as you know,—
To every dog his day—
And so in summer when it's hot
Let the dog have his day."

Notoriety which used to be coveted by some, has become a thing to be a[illegible]d. Those who have done things worth while, now-a-days dodge a camera sooner than they would dodge a gun. Young Huston, the winner of the Edison scholarship is hounded by people seeking to know the questions asked him and his answers, while Lindbergh, married has retired into the background, and is peacefully tossing horse shoes. Others are in the public eyes as high fliers, but he is contented with his lot.

WASHINGTON COLLEGE NEWS SERVICE

An increased enrollment over last year is expected for the annual Summer School for Town and Country Ministers to be held, September 9 to 14, at Washington College. The school, designed as a six-day conference for active Delmarva ministers and for their wives, usually includes in the student roster a few clergymen from outside the 14-county area. Practically every county on the Delmarva Peninsula will be represented next month and President Paul Emerson Titsworth of the college will act as dean. Other members of the faculty will be Mark A. Dawber, superintendent of rural work of the Board of Ertension and Home Missions of the Methodist Episcopal Church; Roy J. Colbert, assistant professor of economics, University of Wisconsin; Frank W. Collier, professor of philosophy, American University; T. A. Conover, rector of St. Bernard's Parish, N. J.; Viola Schuld, director of religious education in the Enfield Larger Parish, Ithaca, and George H. Preston, M. D., Maryland commissioner of mental hygiene.

Denominational organizations co-operating with the school are the Board of Home Missions of the M. E. Church, National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church, Maryland Conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, Diosese of Easton, Wilmington Conference of the M. E. Church and the Diocese of Delaware.

Each member of the school will register for at least three corners and the work of this summer will be a unit in a three-year cycle. A certificate will be issued for acceptable work done in three sessions, it was announced today by Dean Titsworth. Every night will feature lectures on the human side of pastoral work with special speakers brought to Chestertown for that purpose. Meals will be served at the college commons and recreation facilities have been arranged for students and faculty. It was announced today by officers of the Chester River Yacht and Country Club that special guests cards will be issued members of the school.

Courses to be offered will include studies in the human element of the Bible, the church as the center of social life, practical church work for town and country communities, the educational obligation of the church, the rural pastor and his work, mental and social hygiene, special denominational conferences, and general conferences. Though the conferences will be extra-curricula they will fit in with the scheme of the school study.

The summer school, rapidly becoming an important increment in the current educational system of the Delmarva religious world, will provide a forum on issues vital to the country church and will assemble ministers for a week of intertenominational good-fellowship and intellectual and spiritual enjoyment.

HORSESHOE CONTEST NEXT MONDAY

The champion horse-shoe pitcher of Kent County will be determined next Monday, August 26th, when the champions of the various communities will meet in Chestertown for a pitchoff.

The affair will be for the purpose of picking a winner to represent the county in the state-wide tournament to be held in Baltimore in September. The affair is fostered by the Baltimore Sun and under the direction of the State Playground Athletic League.

A representative from the League will conduct the contest in Chestertown next Monday. The affair will start promptly at 12 o'clock noon and a large number of spectators are expected to witness the contest.

Due to the apparent lack of interest in the community tournaments to pick a winner to compete in Chestertown on Monday for the county championship, the winners were picked from the high scorers of each community at the farmer's picnic at Tolchester on Friday of last week. The names and scores were received by the Playground Athletic League not later than last Saturday and as there were no names or scores in the league's office aside from those established at the picnic the champions were picked accordingly.

Those who will represent their communities are Messrs.

Frank Puppe—Rock Hall.
Thomas Rowan—Massey.
Rolph Stoops—Broad Neck.
John Scott—Fairlee.
Raymond Gozman—Still Pond.
J. Walter Biggers—Worton.
Edward Culley—Chestertown.
Linden Archibald—Kennedyville.

The prize, which will be presented to the winner of the county contest is a pair of Chromium horse shoes neatly packed in a leather case and is on display in the show window of the Stam Drug Company.

MY FRIENDLY ROOM

I like my room its friendliness
The flowers a-nodding 'round confess
As bright they stand and smile on me
With an expression fair to see.
The table and the cozy chairs
Have never "touch-me-not" cold stares,
But woo with invitation kind
The comfort for both heart and mind.

Old fashioned maybe is my room
But stiffness stubborn does not loom
In any rigid fashioned piece.
Just solid comfort signed the lease
Of even the walnut bureau
For smiles of cheer its mirrored glow
Reflects on me of good sunshine
I hope I never shall resign.

The walls of my dear room are blue,
My windows carry this shade too,
And curtained are they softly drawn
Tied and beribboned like the Dawn
With rosy pink and perfumed bloom
Seems all adventurous in my room.
'Tis here I steal from folks away
'Tis here I read, I write, I pray.

'Tis here I deeply medilate
Upon the golden flame of fate.
'Tis here I often softly sing
When touched by sweet remembering.
I like my room for chivalry
Of Spirit here communes with me
And colors bright each rosy hour
I spend within my silent bower.

FARMERS' PICNIC A BIG SUCCESS

The Annual Farmers' Picnic, under the auspices of the Kent County Farm Bureau, held on August 16th, at Tolchester Beach, was a great success. Fine weather prevailed. A good program was run off promptly on schedule. The speeches were brief and to the point. Everybody ate to repletion. The iced drinks, furnished free; were popular. Attendance was highly satisfactory. Everybody apparently enjoyed the day.

It is inspiring to see such a large group of representative farm folk enjoying the society of their fellows and furnishing their own good time by entering heartily into the events of the program. Co-operation in thought and deed is timely and was well exemplified in the program as carried out.

LOCAL GAME LAWS

The following game laws are published due to a misunderstanding relative to the dove season.

The first open season for any species of upland game will be September 1st as Sec. 20 of Chapter 557, Acts of 1929, provides an open season on rail birds, September 1st to November 30th (no open season at any time on reed birds); squirrel and dove, September 1st to September 30th, inclusive, then closed October 1st to November 9th, inclusive, and then open November 10th to December 31st, inclusive. (Federal regulations provide open season for doves, September 1st to December 15th; however, the State law supersedes Federal regulations between October 1st and November 9th, inclusive, and the Federal regulations supersede the State law between December 15th and December 31st, inclusive.) This makes the dove season opened from September 1st to October 1st then is closed until November 9th when it opens again until December 15th.

The law as quoted above is statewide in effect, except in the counties of Howard, Baltimore and Harford, where the open season for squirrel is only between November 10th and December 31st, inclusive, and the open season for doves is November 10th and December 31st, inclusive. In the counties of Allegany and Garrett, the open season for squirrels is October 1st to November 9th, inclusive, and there is no open season on doves in said counties.

The open season for Woodcock, English Ringnecked Pheasant, Ruffed Grouse, Rabbit, Wild Turkey and Partridge (Quail) is November 10th to December 31st inclusive.

It is unlawful to set any trap (except box traps for rabbits) net or snare of any description for the purpose of taking game (except fur-bearing animals.) Unlawful to have in possession any trap, net or snare for the purpose of taking game (except fur-bearing animals.)

It is unlawful to hunt, pursue, catch, kill, trap, shoot or attempt to so do during any closed season as provided by law.

It is unlawful to hunt any game on Sundays or when the ground is covered with snow (except wildfowl may be hunted when the ground is covered with snow.)

Unlawful to hunt any game at night time.

It is lawful to train dog or dogs between September 10th and November 9th, provided an attendant accompanies it or them but in so doing no person shall be permitted to carry a gun or firearms of any description.

It is unlawful to allow dogs to run at large between March 1st and September 1st and pursue game and destroy nests or eggs.

It is unlawful to sell, offer for sale or purchase any bob-whites or partridges, chinese ring-necked pheasants, native pheasants, ruffed grouse or wild turkeys at any time.

It is unlawful to hunt Hungarian partridges at any time or in any manner.

SEED BED IMPORTANT FOR ALFALFA

The recent rain made plowing for alfalfa possible. In some cases the soil may be sufficiently moist to pack well and therefore make a good fine, firm seed bed. In other cases it may lack moisture and the preparation of seed bed be very difficult. A proper seed bed is very necssary. Rather than sow alfalfa on a loose, lumpy, open seed bed, it seems advisable to delay seeding until early September if necessary. If no more rains come meantime and if a good seed bed may not be prepared, it is doubtful if success will attend seeding on a poorly prepared seed bed. $n such case spring seeding with a cover crop is preferable.

TO HOLD SHORE GOLF TOURNEY

An invitation Golf Tournament for the championship of the Eastern Shore will be held at the Talbot Country Club beginning August 30 and ending September 2nd. This tournament is open to all members of Golf Clubs on the Eastern Shore.

The conditions of play are: 18 hole qualifying round Friday, August 30, the sixteen low scores to play off for championship. Other sixteens will also play off at match play. Two 18 hole matches to be played on Saturday, August 31st. One 18 hole match to be played on Sunday, September 1st. Final round of various sixteens Monday (Labor Day), 36 holes.

The prizes will be: Low qualifying score, and winner, and runner up, of each sixteen.

WALTER T. MORRIS HONORED

Walter T. Morris, of Kent County and Dorothy Robinson, of Harford County, it has just been announced by E. G. Jenkins, State Boys' Club Agent for the University of Maryland Extension Service, have been selected to represent the 4-H clubs of Maryland at the seventh annual training school which will be held from September 8th to 14th in connection with the Eastern States Exposition, Springfield, Mass. The school, which was established by Horace A. Moses, prominent New England paper manufacturer, for volunteer club members under twenty-four years of age will precede by one week the Exposition and Camp Vail.

The two Mayland delegates were selected for the honor of representing the State because of their outstanding records as leaders in their communities in 4-H club work.

Following the week of instruction the two Maryland representatives will attend Camp Vail, which is also held in connection with the Eastern States Exposition, and which will extend from September 15th to 21st. The delegates will be joined by club members from thirty-two other States and four Provinces. This is five more States than were in attendance last year.

INSPECT SHORE WATER PLANTS

Members of the Chestertown Water Board together with officials of the Board of Town Commissioners made a tour on Tuesday in which the water departments of three Eastern Shore towns were inspected.

The party left Chestertown at 8 a. m. and motored to Federalsburg and inspected the new plant in that town. They found an up-to-date pumping plant supplying the town from two new 18 in. concrete wells.

The party then went to Del-Mar, Del., and were shown the disposal plant of that town. This plant is of concrete and was built at a cost of approximately $4000. However it was necessary to locate the plant two miles from the town in order to reach a stream of water and the cost of this piping added considerable to the cost of the plant.

The town of Laurel ,Del., is supplied with water from one 18 inch concrete well located in the center of the town.

The party then continued to Salisbury and were shown a plant that is a credit to any city. This plant has five concrete wells, and the capacity of the pumps, wells filtering plant promises to take care of any water emmergency. The party were accompanied on the trip by the city engineer of Salisbury who is responsible for the construction of these modern plants in a number of Eastern Shore towns. At each of the plants inspected the grounds surrounding the plant are being developed into handsome parks, and at Salisbury the city is building a large park around the plant which is already a beauty spot in that city. The Chestertown plant, while supplying plenty of good water, does ot compare in efficiency with the plants inspected.
