ADVOCATES OF THE Chesapeake Bay bridge are not discouraged at the report that the present bridge company is finding difficulty in financing the project. Local parties who believe that the Chesapeake bay bridge will be one of the greatest developments in the state are discussing a plan whereby the state could figure strongly in the building of the bridge. One has but to study the recent road map of the peninsula being circulated by the Del-Mar-Va Association to see that each year the building of new highways are increasing the ease of motorist on the shore to reach northern cities, and unless a bridge is built whereby they can cross between the Eastern and Western Shores at all hours of the day and night the Eastern Shore will, from a business stand point, become part of another state. It is from this point of view that these local citizens who are interested in the continued prosperity of Maryland believe that the State can well afford to take an active part in the building of the bay bridge. A further article outlining the plan and those interested will be published at an early date.

ARMY RESERVE AT SHORE AIR PORT

The Del-Mar-Va Airport, at Hebron, Maryland, is to become a United States Army Reserve Unit, according to announcement made through the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association this week.

This information was obtained Labor Day when General James E. Fechet, Chief of the Army Air Corps, with Lieutenant E. R. Quesada, one of the pilots of the "Question Mark" which won such prominence in its endurance flight a short time ago, and Major William H. Morgan, of the Reserve Corps, flew from Washington to the Del-Mar-Va field.

For some time the Del-Mar-Va Airport has been attracting unusual attention in official air circles and several representatives of the Government have visited there and made superficial inspection. In each instance the highest compliments have been paid to Major Charles S. Bayer, President of the Del-Mar-Va Airport and other officials connected with the field. The announcement by General Fechet that this field would become a reserve unit is accepted generally as evidence that it has received worth while recognition.

Since the issue of the "Airway Bulletin" by the Department of Commerce, Aeronautics Branch, in May of this year, which gave the Del-Mar-Va port a very fine rating, additional improvements have been made attracting deep interest in flying circles. Because of size and the geoegraphical and meteorological conditions it is generally understood that army officials believe it to be a most valuable location.

Due to the prevailing High Money Market, it was necessar that the last issue of Federal Land Bank bonds should bear a higher interest rate than issue immediately preceding.

Therefore, the Federal Land Bank hereby gives notice that on and after May 1, and until further notice, all loans made by the Kent and Queen Anne National Farm Loan Association shall be at the rate of 5½ per cent. per annum instead of 5 per cent as heretofore.
