HEALTH NOTES.

OYSTER SEASON UNDER WAY—HEALTH REQUIREMENTS PROTECTS PUBLIC

Now that the "R" months are back, oysters are on the menu again, and you can have them any way that strikes your fancy or suits your appetite—raw, steamed, stewed, fried, roasted, or even in a juicy pie. In accordance with the regulations that have been in force since 1925, employees of oyster handling establishments will be required to obtain health certificates before beginning work. The appointment of the following physicians as medical examiners of employees in the oyster industry, in the sections indicated, is announced by Dr. A. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health:

The sanitary requirements for the packing houses and other plants engaged in the oyster business are outlined by Mr. A. L. Sulivan, Chief of the State Bureau of Food and Drugs are as follows:

"General cleanliness is required of each establishment. All floors and shucking benches be cleaned and flushed with clean water at least once a day and should be further safeguarded by a thorough flushing with scalding water or with an improved sterlizing solution. All utensils must be sterilized by live steam or boiling water.

"The buildings in some sections are unsatisfactory. We would like to see more modern buildings and we are prepared to suggest types that are satisfactory. But whether new or old, we are asking that the buildings that are to be used this season be placed in good condition, thoroughly repaired, cleaned, painted or white washed. This year, we expect to find at least 90 percent of the shucking benches made out of concrete.

"Personal cleanliness is required of all employees and freedom from any catching disease. The management of each plant is expected to enforce the sanitary regulations in regard to such matters and we ask that one person be placed in charge of the shucking room to see that the hand washing is done and that the buckets, benches and floors are thoroughly with the regulations regarding hand washing will go far toward preventing the transmission of contagious diseases."

WINS FIDDLERS CONTEST

Mr. John T. Booker, of Ridgely, Queen Anne's county, was declared winner in the fiddler's contest held at Betterton Casino Thursday evening.

Mr. Booker, who is 80 years old, played a fiddle 212 years old, and brought back to the memory of the older spectators the days when dances were held with one or two fiddlers playing the old time square dances until day-brake, the hoop skirt and the buggy ride home. The evening included a number of square dances which were quite different from the modern gymnastic exhibitions.

Mr. Booker was awarded first prize of $10 in gold. Mr. William Wagner, of Rock Hall won 2nd prize of $5; and Mr. Edward Eramble, of Betterton; 3rd prize of $2.50. Mr. Antonio Lucht, of Pomona, was another contestant.

The Casino was crowded with the largest number of people of the season and was considered a decided success. Dances will be held tonight and next Saturday at which time a number of round dances and old time square dances will be features.

The judges of the fiddlers contest were: Mrs. Holt Woodall, of Georgetown, and Messrs. Thomas W. Perkins and C. A. Bacon, of Chestertown.

INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mr. Lankford Vickers is suffering with a fractured leg, Mrs. Vickers with shock, and Miss Mary Vickers with concussion of the brain as result of an automobile accident in which their car and an automobile driven by Mr. Ross T. Hill collided. Mr. Hill had both legs broken and his wife was killed.

Mr. Vickers and family, now of Baltimore, formerly of Broad Neck, were on their way home after taking part in the Centenial at Wesley Chapel Sunday.

The famous Wye Oak, at Wye Mills, Maryland, has just attained its 390th birthday, according to the reckoning of experts. It is visited by hundreds of automobiles every summer, in cars bearing the tags of every State in the Union and Canada.

TRANSCRIPT'S MUSINGS

SEPTEMBER

Through September—dress surprise
In the landscape doth arise:
While the Autumn uprolls clouds,
Or doth color them like shrouds.
Beauty breaks forth everywhere;
Flora's chaplet though all fair
May not garnish with the glow
Summer's loveliness did show,
Still transfigured are great-trees
Maples, oaks and elms to please.
Echoes of love's hill-side horn
Supernatural doth adorn,
And aeolian-harps now play
Softly, sweetly night and day
In the breeze, a wafted song,
Journeying for miles along
Where the odorous south wind carries
Ancient music that long tarries.
In September romance stays
Wrapt in natures' wholesome praise.
In Falls painted element
Moonlight, sunset seem content:
And the star's high-way preserve
Surely richest praise deserve:
For somehow they bribe, invite
All eyes upward toward the Light.
Cooling—night—accessories
Aid one's glances clear to please.
All the world blue zenith power
Seems to gain; an Autumn dower
Of poetic mystery
Baffled bards then better see
Thus to place in remote rhyme
Boundless space, and boundless time,
With love's measured patient style
Energy to best beguile:
Through September, concentration
With the Soul has close relation.

—ALICE MATHEWS

September has come with the aftermath of summer and the golden glow of the Autumn before her. Her blue skies are mirrored in the waters below. Just now the moonlight follows the radiant sun set. No wonder they have chosen the Sapphire for her birthstone:

Birthdays? Oh, yes! First of all is Lafayette, born on the sixth, also Samuel Adams and John Marshall of long ago. It is the birth month of Jane Addams, Mrs. H. H. A. Beach, John J. Pershing, who rejoices in the fact that he was born on the thirteenth and has thirteen letters in his name; Rev. Edward A. Horton, the veteran actor George Wilson—doubtless others.

As our poet of September says. "Through September, concentration. With the soul has close relation."

We are glad indeed to know that the public parks are to be improved. Certainly everyone will take his part in helping to make it a park to be proud of. Yesterday a panting dog stopped at the Fountain and took a drink while a weary horse was slacking its thirst, and we thought of the one who had given it to the town, and thought that he would be remembered as long as the granite basin lasted, It is a fitting memorial.

There is so much talk of Plagiarism these days. But how can one help it when there is so much floating about. We are copying this little poem. Who wrote it we do not know, but we will give him an apology and surround it with quotes to show it is not our own.

A Little Breeze of Love

A little touch of tenderness
Can make the world so bright;
A word, a smile, a swift caress
Can flower in delight!

What folly, then, that some withhold
The kindly look or word,
The bounty worth far more than gold
To hearts by hunger stirred.

A little breeze of love can blow
So many clouds away;
A glimmer of love's sun can glow
So golden through the day!

As well play miser with the wind
Or seek to hoard heaven's blue,
As with a niggard hand to bind
The good that one might do!

Salt-pure and sweet as winds that drift
Ashore from far at sea,
A little breeze of love can lift
Each leaf on joy's tall tree.

The ringing of the school bell last Monday, made a great difference in our town. The youngsters have no more itme to spend in swimming and are seen once more on the streets clothed in their right nund.

The ice cream cone man is busy supplying their demands, for sweets, for instead of the one cent stick of candy which our elders enjoyed in days of yore, they must have the cooling tasty cone. Everyone is glad to see the lassies and laddies come to town again, but oh, kiddies look out for the autos. Do not cross the streets if you are alone. Go with the crowd and then you will be seen.

Has any one ever attending an English Class in Summer and not had the meaning of this line in Grey's Elegy discussed? "And all the air a solemn stillness holds." Whether Grey meant a solemn stillness holds the air or whether the air holds the solemn stillness. Too bad that Grey is dead and cannot tell us.

WESLEY CHAPEL CENTENNIAL

"Hasn't this been a grand day," are the words which characterized the Centennial Celebration of Wesley Chapel on Sunday, September 8, 1929. Truly it was a grand day. Friends and members from near and far gathered to pay homage and honor to the church they loved and the fellowship lingers in our hearts still.

The Church School was well attended and an interesting program, featuring solos by Randolph Burgess and Mrs. Burns, and an address by Prof. A. L. Judefind, was given. The morning service found the church filled to capacity. The anniversary sermon was given by Dr. L. B. Smith, President of the Maryland Annual Conference. It was a sermon that only Dr. Smith could preach. He preached on "Our Heritage," analyzing it as worship, Stewardship, and Evangelism. In his own way he showed that these, while our heritage, were still before us demanding our best and calling us ever higher. While not permitting us to lose sight of the glorious past he caused us to set our hearts on things yet to be accomplished.

Dr. E. A. Sexsmith, pastor Christ M. P. Church, Chestertown, gave the afternoon address to a full house. His theme was, "Ye are the salt of the earth, ye are the light of the world." What a splendid depicting of the function and place of the church! Of especial interest was his description of the properties of salt and light, and his treatment of the church as community and personal assets.

Rev. A. F. T. Raum, Pastor Sharptown M. P. Church, conducted a fitting memorial service for the ministers who are buried in beautiful Wesley Chapel Cemetery. After a few remarks about the works and life of life of these men by Brother Raum, a bouquet of flowers was placed by Mrs. M. L. Maslin, oldest member of the church, on the altar, over the grave of Wm. Kesley one of the ministers present at the organization of the Maryland Conference, in 1830. Rev. C. L. Dawson, pastor of Leeds M. P. Church, decorated the grave of Daniel W. Bates, while Mr. Lawrence Stevens placed the floral tribute on the resting place of Jesse Shreeve.

The speech-makers for the evening were the former pastors, Bros. C. L. Dawson and A. F. T. Raum. These speeches were reminiscent in character and promiscuous rambling was indulged. However, we were touched and inspired by these heart to heart talks of those who loved us and had labored with us.

Prof. A. L. Judefind, assisted by Miss Kathleen Early, Miss Alma Dix, Mrs. Wm. Hoffacher, sopranos; Miss Mary Vickers, contralto; Mr. Lankford A. Vickers and Mr. E. O. Vickers, tenor; Mr. Wm. M. Hoffacner and Prof. A. L. Judefind, Baritone, Arlington Judefind, Violinist; and Mrs. A. L. Judfind, gave a splendid sacred concert in the afternoon service. They also sang two anthems in the morning service. Miss Early sang in the morning, "Consider and Hear Me."

Other special musical items were provided. The Sunday School and evening service music was assisted by the orchestra. The evening service music was provided by local talent and was of a high order. Mrs. Besie Leary, Mrs. Frances Barnes, Mr. Charles Judefind, and Mr. M. T. Miller gave a quartet. Miss Dorothy and Miss Clara Kelley aged about seven and ten, have two cornet solos. Mrs. Barnes sang a solo in the morning and evening service. All these numbers were good selections and well rendered. The musical feature of our program merits our highest praise.

Attention is called to the beautiful decoration of the church and hall, by Miss Mary Leary, and to the sufficient preparation for the physical appetites by the ladies of the church and community. Everyone voted this phase of the days blessings a huge success.

The spirit of Wesley Chapel was again made manifest in love, loyalty, devotion and splendid cooperation. It is the hope and prayer that the ideals stirred in the hearts that day will go on to a worthy fruition to the honor and glory of God.

WORK ON FISH HATCHERY

Work on the Fairlee Mill Pond, formerly known as the old Bacchus Mill Pond, is going forward toward making it one of the largest fish hatcheries in the state. The first attempt to rebuild and raise the dam was delayed due to the striking of quick sand or some such substance, However work is going forward and this pond, when completed, will be one of the beauty spots in Kent county. It is located between Fairlee and Buck Neck.

The work is being done by the State Conservation Department and the pon dwill be used for the hatching of fresh water fish.

At the meeting Miss Mildred Barwick was elected president to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. Allye Anthony. The officers installed were:

Sec., Miss Margaret Barwick; Treasurer, Mrs. Agnes Fowler; Asst. J. Z. MILLER TO GO TO CECIL

Mr. J. Z. Miller, assistant County Agent for Kent County, has been appointed county agent for Cecil county and will take up his new duties September 23rd.

Mr. Miller came to Kent County as assistant agent to Mr. Derick on October 1st, 19p9, and since that time has devoted a large part of his time to club work. His salary was paid by the State and Federal government.

The work is considered one of the most important factors in agricultural work. As it not only interests the boys and girls in farm work but gives these future farmers a good understanding of modern farm methods.

Mr. Miller's many friends will regret his leaving the county but he is to be congratulated on his new position.

It is not know whether an appointment will be made to fill the vacancy here as there are comparatively few assistant county agents in the state, but it is understood that no appointment will be made for several months.

'RAINBOW MAN'

TALKING-SINGING FILM AT NEW LYCEUM

In these dizzy days when jangling jazz seems to reach into every part and parcel of life, it is refreshing to get an eyeful and an earful of entertainment which has for its musical motive more of drowsy tinkling of cowbells in the distant meadows than of raucous fanfare of xylophones in the immediate vicinity.

"The Rainbow Man" is an all-talking and singing screen romance, plentifully supplied with instrumental music which contains not one note of "blues" or "vo-deo-do."

But the fact that it defies the great America jazz tradition is not alone the reason for recommending "The Rainbow Man." It is first of all a real, human story, simple, but true and plausible. In the second place it contains acting of a high calibre in the hands of everyone in the cast.

Eddie Dowling is a small-time minstrel man who adopts the little boy, Frankie Darro, after his father, George Hayes, is victim of vodvil accident. Marian Nixon is the daughter of a small-town hotel proprietor. She falls in love with Dowling while his troupe is playing her town.

The plot goes forwarl through sunshine and tears and comedy seasoned with episodic drama, until finally the lovers are joined in a touching scene wherein the rainbow of their romance comes shining through.

The melodies of the production, "Rainbow Man," "Smile Little Pal," and "Sleepy Valley" are of a pleasing quality, reminiscent of "Honeymoon Lane" and "Log Cabin of Dreams."

Here is a sound-film romance which thoroughly justifies the "talkies." It is one of the best screen entertainments of the year, and comes to The New Lyceum on Thursday and Friday, September 19 and 20.

ADVERTISE BRIDGE CONTRACT

In this issue of the Transcript is an advertisement for bids on the construction of the new Chester River Bridge from the present approach on Maple Ave. to a point in Queen Annes county 150 feet north of the present approach on that side. The bids will be opened October 1st.

It is understood the bridge will be 27 feet wide with a 20 foot roadway and a five foot walk, the rails to take the remaining 2 feet. The piling is to be concrete with reinforced concrete girders. The drawer will be an electric lift and when closed will have a nine foot mean high water clearance, which will be at least four feet higher than the present bridge. The approaches will be approximately the same height as the present approaches.

Preliminary work will probably start shortly after the contract is let and it is estimated that it will take about 18 months to complete the project.

DIES FROM INJURIES

FRANK ELBURN STRUCK BY AUTOMOBILE DIES TUESDAY

Mr. Frank Elburn, assistant postmaster at the Chestertown postoffice, died Tuesday afternoon in Emergency hospital, Easton, as a result of injuries received when he was struck by an automobile on Washington Ave., last Saturday.

The wagon which delivers parcel post also collects mail from the boxes for the afternion train and on that day an unusual bulk of parcel post caused a delay in returning the box collection to the post office and Mr. Elburn went from the office to the wagon to get this mail. He located it on Washington Avenue near the college after getting the mail from the wagon he stepped in front of an automobile driven by Mr. J. Walter McNeil, of Baltimore, which struck him knocking him some distance. He was brought down town where he was placed in the Kent County ambulance and rushed to Easton, making the trip in forty-five minutes. An operation was performed immediately upon arrival at the hospital and a large piece of the skull bone was removed. He did not regain consciousness.

Mr. Elburn was born October 12th, 1878, and enter the post office November 21st, 1910. On March 1st he was appointed assistant postmaster by postmaster William G. Smyth, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late R. Snowden Thomas.

He stood high in the religious and fraternal life of Chestertown and was an active worker in the Chestertown M. P. Church, being president of the Christian Endeavor Society of that church. He was a member of the P. O. S. of A., Jr. O. U. A. M., and Modern Woodman.

He was courteous and efficient in his duties at the local post office and came to his death in performance of these duties.

He is survived by three brothers: Messrs. Thomas Elburn, of Rock Hall, and Charles and Walter L. Elburn, of Chestertown. Funeral services were held from Christ M. P. Church at 2 p. m., on Thursday.

The bearers were Messrs. William G. Smyth, John W. Barnes, Walter U. Lusby, John C. Davis, Virgil Kendall and Rufus Collins. C. L. Dodd will be the undertaker in charge and the funeral services will be conducted by Reverend E. A. Sexsmith.

HAND BADLY BURNED

Mr. Hydie Crew had his right hand badly burned while working on a small gasoline engine Friday morning in the shop of Jones & Satterfield.

Mr. Crew was repairing a core on the engine when a spark set fire to some gasoline which spread to Mr. Crew's hand which was saturated with gasoline. He plunged his hand in a bucket of water which extinquished the flame; in the meantime the fire spread in the shop but was soon put out with fire extinguishers.

LIGHTNING PRANKS DURING STORM

Mrs. Edith J. Hudson had a narrow escape from injury by lightening during the electric storm this week. Lightening struck a steel rail hog gallows on the farm of Mr. Raymond Hudson and ran along a wire clothes line to a point near where Mrs. Edith J. Hudson, who is spending the summer at her son's home, was hanging some clothes on the line. The wire line was pieced in the middle by a piece of rope and when the lightning bolt reached the rope it jumped to the ground where it was grounded. Except for this piece of rope which insulated the two pieces of wire, Mrs. Hudson would probably have been seriously injured.

Lightning was conducted to the house of Mr. William T. Nicholson during the storm this week and knocked the telephone off the wall. Fortunately it did not set fire to the house.

HOG CHOLERA IN THE WEST

MARYLAND FARMERS URGED TO USE PRECAUTION

In communication from Mr. J. K. Atherton, inspector in charge of hog cholera work of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, to Mr. J. D. McVean, county agent, he stated:

"Hog cholera outbreaks of greater intensity continue to be reported to the Eastern Iowa Veterinary Association. The extreme virulency and rapid spread from farm to farm at this early season cause concern as a later widespread epizootic may be expected.

This is of especial interest to every swine owner in Maryland and if you will permit I would suggest that you play it up in one of your weekly articles to the papers or otherwise.

This condition means that a great deal of infected pork is sure to enter the channels of trade and unless care is used bones, rinds and scraps of such pork will reach the hogs in Maryland via., the swill pail. A repetition of last year's conditions might be looked for under such circumstances."
