225TH ANNIVERSARY OF BOHEMIA MANOR

Arrangements have been completed for the celebration of the 225th anniversary of the foundation of Old Bohemia, the cradle of Catholicity on the Eastern Shore of Maryland by a Field Mass tomorrow, Sunday, October 6th.

The Mass will start at 11 a. m. and will be celebrated by the Rev. John J. Bolen, Chancellor of the Diocese of Wilmington, assisted by the Rev. John M. Walsh, pastor of St. Dennis Church, Galena, Md., as deacon and the Rev. John A. Lynch, pastor of Christ Our King Church, Wilmington, as sub-deacon. The Rev. Patrick A. Brennan, pastor of St. John's Church, Newark, Del., is master of ceremonies for the occasion. The seminarians at the novitiate of Child's, Maryland, of the Oblate Fathers of St. Francis de Sales will assist in the minor offices of the Mass. The Rt. Rev. Edmond J. FitzMaurice, D. D. Bishop of the Diocese of Wilmington, will preside at the Field Mass and the Rev. Joseph T. Murphy, professor at St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia will deliver the sermon.

Bohemia holds memories that are dear to the heart of many not only because of its historical associations as the nucleus of Catholicity in the days of yore but also because its cemetery holds the remains of many a loved one whose relatives are now scattered far and wide. The names on the tombstones are still represented in the congregation by their descendents who still carry on in the faith of these early pioneers. Most appropriately, then, will throngs come from all parts of the Delmarvia Peninsula and other distant points to pay homage to those who sleep in such hallowed ground.

It will, nodoubt, be interesting to many to know who were the Jesuits Fathers buried at Bohemia, and that other priests who were not Jesuits are buried there. The following is the list of he priests buried at Bohemia with the date and country of birth and the date of their death.

Thomas Hodgson, S. J., born 1682, England, died 18 December, 1726.

Thomas Poulton, S. J., born 1697, England, died 23 January, 1749.

Joseph Greaton, S. J., born 1679, England, died 19 August, 1753.

Matthias Manners, S. J., born 1719, Germany, died 15 June, 1775.

John Lewis, S. J., born 1721, England, died 24 March, 1788.

The case was tried Tuesday morning and after the testimony of the Plaintiff, Messrs. Harrison W. Vickers and William Pepper Constable entered a prayer to take the case from the jury, as the plaintiff had failed to show negligence on the part of the Commissioners. The prayer was granted.

WASHINGTON SCORES AGAINST MARYLAND

Washington College foot ball team was defeated by University of Maryland last Saturday by a score of 34 to 7. Although Maryland played the reserves during most of the game the showing made by Washington was creditable. Washington scored by gaining advantage by an exchange of punts, and completing a forward pass and then carrying the ball over. This is the first time Washington has scored against Maryland in a long period of years.

Washington will play Susquehanna today away and next Saturday they will meet Loyola in Chesterown.

The locals have a heavier team than last year and will probably make a good showing this season.
