FOOT BALL TODAY

LOYOLA AND WASHINGTON TO PLAY HERE

Washington College foot ball team will play its first home game of the season today when the local team meets Loyola at Chestertown.

This will be Washington's first state game and local fans will have an opportunity to see the new team in action for the first time. The team this year is heavier than last year's team, which will help considerably against the heavy Loyola aggregation.

Each team has lost two games and tomorrows game will be hard fought for the first win.

The new bleachers will afford ample room for the spectators.

The Washington College foot ball team lost to Susquehanna last Saturday by a score of 20 o 0. The locals played a ragged game and lost by three touch-downs against a team that was about their lequal.

AU REVOIR

It is time to say farewell to our many friends at Wesley Chapel, Rock Hall and Kent Cunty, due to our call to the field of Religious Education Directorship in the Maryland Annual Conference. We will be unable to do so personally so we beg leave to tell you all, by this method, how much we have appreciated our short stay in your midst, and to wish you godspeed in the future.

Our pastorate of four months at Wesley has been marked by an unbroken succession of pleasant duties, surprises, and remembrances. We keenly regret not being able to get better acquainted with more of the splendid people of the community but our time has been limited. You have won a warm place in our hearts and it is with regret that we leave you. We pray God's blessings upon you and trust that His work will be your supreme joy.

Our best wishes are yours,
Rev. and Mrs. B. I. Barnes.

THEATRE GUILD PLAY AT FORD'S NEXT WEEK

"PORGY" RETURNS TO BALTIMORE AFTER SCORING TRIUMPH IN LONDON

As a prelude to what promises to be the most interesting series of plays the New York Theatre Guild has yet offered Baltimore's discriminating drams lovers, it will bring back "Porgy," the DuBose and Dorothy Heyward folk play of negro life, which scored so emphatically when presented here last spring.

It returns to Ford's Theatre with its vivid scenes of Charleston's Catfish Row, its poignant drama and colorful fun, its rousing spirituals and its picturesque characters for the week beginning Monday, October 14th, with matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Since here last March, "Porgy" has journeyed to England where it played two consecutive weeks at His Majesty's Theatre and opened wide the eyes of Londoners to the dramatic ability of the American negro. Returning to America, "Porgy" is now playing its third engagement in New York City which will credit this unusual play with a total of 55 weeks in Gotham, a run not often exceeded.

In the large cast of 65 people will be found all of the original principals, including Frank Wilson, Jack Carter, Rose McClendon, Georgette Harvey, Evelyn Ellis, Wesley Hill, Percy Verwayn, Hayes Pryor, Erskine Sanford, Leigh Whipper, A. B. Comathiere and the boy's band from the Jenkins Orphanage of Charlestown, S. C.

Following "Porgy" one week comes the first of the Theatre Guild subscription plays, "R. U. R." which will be followed by "Caprice" with Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, "Wings Over Europe," Bernard Shaw's "Major Barbara" and "Pygmalion" and then Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlure."
