TIME EXTENDED ON ROAD WORK

WORK BEING PUSHED TO MAKE ROADS PASSABLE THIS WINTER

Due to the unusual warm weather, Mr. Rolph Townshend, District engineer has secured permission from the State Roads Commission for a few days extension on the pouring of concrete on the roads being built in Kent county so as to finish the work to certain points which will make the roads passable this winter.

This extension will make possible the finishing of the Quaker Neck road, possibly the pouring of a mile of concrete on the Broad Neck road so as to finish it to Lankford. Phillips Construction company has the contract for these two roads.

An extension has been granted the Aiello construction company on the Rock Hall-Tolchester road, which if not finished will be made passable.

The extension will make possible the finishing of the Massey-Sassafras road except for a 3-4 mile relocation which has been skipped in order to reach both towns. This road will be passable as this 3-4 mile stretch can be traveled by following the old road bed. W. W. Truit is the contractor on this road.

The Millington road has been completed by the Phillips construction company and the Fairlee-Lynch road has also been completed. Work is going forward on the slag shoulders on the latter road which will also be completed.

November 15th is the dead line for the pouring of concrete and the extension granted is subject to weather conditions. Precautions are being taken in case of a sudden freeze.

HEALTH NOTES.

KEEP YOUR GARAGE OPEN WHILE YOUR ENGINE IS RUNNING

"The occurrence of two deaths in Baltimore City last week, from carbon monoxide poisoning, both of them in closed garages, serves as a tragic warning," Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health, said, "of the danger that is always present, from this deadly poisonous gas, when the engine of a machine is kept running in a closed space.

"Carbon monoxide gas is always present in the exhaust from motor vehicles, trucks, delivery wagons, automobiles, farm machinery. The gas is colorless. It has no odor. It kills without warning. Tests have shown that in three minutes the exhaust fumes from a running motor will make the air of a small closed garage, deadly. The gas combines three hundred times more quickly with the red corpuscles of the blood than oxygendoes. That is why it is so deadly. It shuts out the needed oxygen from the blood and kills by asphyxiation.

"The only way by which the danger from his death dealing gas can be avoided is by having plenty of fresh air in circulation in sheds or garages where motor cars or trucks are housed or are gotten ready for uuse. No matter how cold the weather, the windows and doors of garages should be kept wide open while you are warming up your engine. Better still, shove the machine outside before you start the engine.

"Never thinker at your truck or car in a tightly closed garage. When you bring the machine indoors after using it, always keep the doors of the garage wide open, as long as the engine is running.

"Another source of danger that increases at this season, comes from the car that is kept tightly closed and into which a leaky joint brings a gradual seepage of carbon monoxide gas from the exhaust. Even very minute quantities of the gas will cause drowsiness, headache, dizziness or nausea. As a precaution against this danger, always keep the window near the driver open far enough to insure a constant circulation of air from the odtside."

TRANSCRIPT'S MUSINGS

WHO WERE KIND

BY DOUGLAS MALLOCH

I've forgotten who were rich,
I've forgotten who were poor
For it doesn't matter which,
Money never does for sure.
Nothing matters much but this,
When your glance is cast behind:
When you think of friends you miss,
You remember who were kind.

I've forgotten who were wise,
I've forgotten who were not
For a fellow's folly dies,
And his wisdom is forgot.
But I never shall forget
Many a friend I used to find
Of the people that I met,
I remember who were kind.

I've forgotten who were great,
I've forgotten many men,
Many men who used to hate
Never do recall again.
But I always find a few
In my memory enshrined:
Yes, of all the men I know,
I remember who were kind.

Pity isn't it that just when everybody was sitting pretty thinking that this great country was a most prosperous one that Wall St. should have behaved so badly and should have rocked the boat. Happy is the men that is content with the living he makes and dabbles not in stocks.

Blue Saturday

"I had some paper profits
At which I'd sit and stare;
I turned away a minute—
And then they weren't there-"

Oh Father Time why do you work such changes in folks? Three very dear friends who had not seen each other for years made arrangements to meet together at a certain place. Full of anticipation, they each went to the place of meeting, but none of the three recognized the other through searching through the crowd. When they returned home they wrote to each other telling of their disappointment, and then the secret came out that they were all there but none recognized the other. And that was your doing cruel Father Time.
Touch us gently Time,
We've not high nor soaring wings,
"Our ambition our "content"
Lies in lowlier things.

Just to think of the President of this great United States seating among the bleechers and shouting with the others, with no one to do him honor.

Only A Fan

Scarce heeded by the cruel crowd
That cared for naught but conquest merely;
Unheard, although he cried aloud
Both frequently and clearly—

Forgotten when the world for blocks
Rose, worshipping success, to sing
The praise of Simmons, Haas and Foxx
And Miller, known as "Bing"—

There in the warm October sun,
Having a time completely pleasant,
Sat Mr. Hoover, simply one
Among those present.

When Is It Permissible to Tell a Lie

1—When your host asks 'How did you like the blackberry pie?"

2—When any young woman lisps, "Do you tell that to every girl?"

3—When the boss says, "Well, after your two weeks vacation, do you feel like tackling a special job?"

4—When a wife asks, "Tell me, Milton, am I as fat as that woman over there?"

5—When the man giving the house party says, "I've had this stuff in the cellar eleven years. What do you think of it?"

6— When Mr. Edison looks you in the eye after one of his tests and says, "Now, that wasn't very difficult, was it, my boy?"

During the last 34 years, population in the United States increased about 78 per cent., but the number of students in colleges, universities and professional schools increased 445 per cent., and the number in high schools and other secondary schools increased 951 per cent.

Chronology.

From the Montreal Star

Uncle Will was trying to jolly little Anna and he solemnly affirmed that the moon was made of green cheese.
"But it isn't, Uncle Will," she insisted.
"How do you know?" demanded her uncle indignantly.
"Because God made the moon two days before he made cows."

BRIDGE WORK GOING FORWARD

The Raymond Concrete Pile Co., who has the contract for making and driving the concrete piles on the Chester River bridge, will start next week to make three 75 foot concrete piles to determine the nature of the bottom and the length of the piles. These piles will b 24 inches square and weigh approximately 20 tons. A representative of this company stated this week that they will continue working throughout the winter and expect to finish driving piling by March 1st.

POSTAL SUGGESTIONS FOR XMAS MAILING

IMPORTANT POSTAL INSTRUCTIONS TO FACILITATE HANDLING CHRISTMAS MAIL

Patrons sending a quantity of Christmas cards, say 10 or more, should prepare and mail them two or three weeks in advance, as millions are mailed and they can not possibly be handled and delivered if mailed only two or three or four days before Christmas. To avoid this, patrons may mail their cards two or three weeks before Christmas, if delivered to the post office or postal station in person, or tied together in a bundle, labeled to show that they are Christmas cards, and deposited in a street letter or package box. They will than be segregated, stamped with the date on which to be delivered, and delivery effected one or two days before Christmas.

Christmas cards and gifts addressed to points within one day's travel should be mailed in no event later than December 20; within two days' travel, not later than December 18; within three days' travel, not later than December 16; for more distant points, not later than December 14. Parcels and cards for local delivery should be mailed not later than December 21. PARCELS AND ENVELOPES MAY BE INDORSED "PLEASE DO NOT OPEN UNTIL CHRISTMAS."

A Scot was engaged in an argument with a conductor as to whether the fare was five or ten cents. Finally the disguested conductor picked up Sandy's suitcase and tossed it off the train, just as they were passing over a bridge. It landed with a splash.
Mon," screamed Sandy, "isn't it enough you try to overcharge me but now you try to drown my little boy?"

To be unduly elated if you win, or unduly depressed if you lose, is a sign that you are carrying too much sa" and not enough ballast.

WILL WATERS IN LOCAL JAIL

Will Walters, colored, aged colored man of Chestertown, was brought from Easton hospital Thursday by Sheriff Thomas Hadaway, and locked up in the Kent county jail. Waters has recovered from two bullet wounds and a number of bad cuts on the head inflicted by officer Samuel Cooper after the colored man had shot deputy Jester in the hand.

He is being held in the Kent county jail on a charge of assaut with intent to kill, the maximum penalty for which is 15 years in the penitentary.

DONATES ANDIRONS TO W. C.

Dr. Harry G. Simpers, of Chestertown, has presented Washington College with a pair of fine andirons one hundred and fifty years old which will be used in the large fireplace in the new social room at Reid Hall. These andirons, made in England and long possessed by an Eastern Shore family, are very appropriate to the colonial atmosphere of the new girls' dormitory at the College.

These andirons are only one of the several gifts which Dr. Simpers has recently most generously made to Washington.

JOHN H. NEWNAM HARVESTS BUMPER CROP TOMATOES

Still another brilliant tomato yield for this year, recently reported by the Extension Service here, is that of John H. Newnam, of Church Hill whose 5 acre patch this season produced forty-eight tons, whose five acre patch this season produced forty-eight tons, or a production of nine and three-fifths tons per acre.

On a contract price of twenty-five cents this acreage shows a gross return of $144.00 per acre, said to be one of the outstanding returns of Queen Annes County in 1929.

Plants for the five acres were produced in the open and set in the field early in June, says Mr. Newnam in discussing his plans for next year, "I expect to use cloth covered cold frames in future and get my plants into the field in May."

It is said that widespread success in this and other counties in Maryland this year will probably result in a greatly increased use of covered beds in plant production. According to many progressive growers, getting the plants into the open fields about May 20 usually results in fine yields.

More than thirty farms in Queen Annes County this year used cloth covered beds for plant production and without exception plants were found ready for the field before June 1.

Mr. Newnam is former resident of Chestertown.

BOOSTER DRIVE LAUNCHED

The Booster Club of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Co., was launched Monday, November 11th, the receipts have been very encouraging to the committee, but they desire to call the public's attention to the request in the hope that their efforts will be fully gratified and kindly ask that the circular be not placed in the waste basket.

The effort is not being launched for a frolic, but is done with the hope it will put new interest in the company in all its branches as well as the band, which is a part of the company, members being made up of many of the chief fire fighters and are on the active list of the company.

Kindly let your subscriptions come in promptly and just as a suggestion, clean out your chimneys.

A 3000-ACRE DEAL

KENT COUNTY TO HAVE A FARM HOME COMMUNITY

The Citizens Universal Service Company, of Chicago, Illinois, with branches in a number of cities throughout the country, has taken options on a large number of farms with a total area of about 3,000 acres, lying between Galena, Lambson and Blacks Station, for a community settlement of farm homes, to range from 3 to 40 acres in size. The land will be sold on monthly payments covering a period of five years, and after the first payments are made the Service Company plan to till the land under intensive methods and supply the proceeds toward helping the settlers to pay for it. The settlers will not take possession of the farms until they have it paid for complete. Cooperative services of all kinds are planned for the settlement. The president of the Service Company is Justus Chancellor, one of the most prominent lawyers in the country, and on the executive Committee of the American Bar Association. He has been experimenting with the plan for a long time, establishing the first cooperative farm home community in Texas about 16 years ago. With a man of his standing and experience at the head of the project it is expected that it will be a success.

The location was selected and options secured through the efforts of O. B. Burrell, of Earleville, Md., who has been working on the deal for over two months. It is one of the largest areas of level, and uniformly rich soil, of a dark loam nature, with over 2,600 acres in one body without any waste land; all level and tillable, with concrete roads running along two sides, electric current available from the Conowingo plant, and a railway running through the tract. The option contracts were drawn up and signatures affixed in Chestertown this week.

The farm of W. S. Collins, of 225 acres on Chester River at Morgneck, was sold by Mr. Burrell on Monday last to Leon D. Teal, of Philadelphia, who plans to make his summer home there and use it for ducking during the ducking season.

ACCUSED OF BIGAMY AND PERJURY

WERE MARRIED IN CHESTERTOWN JULY 3RD—FORMER HUSBAND SWEARS WARRANT

Justice Olin B. Stafford, issued a warrant on Thursday for Margaret I. Jack, alias Margaret I. Jackson, upon the the information and oath of George A. Jack, who states that the woman is his wife and mother of his three children, and that she married J. Norman Bannon in Chestertown on July 3rd, while still the wife of Jack. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Sexsmith.

According to the statement by George Jack, his wife left him and their three children and went to live with Bannon. Two years ago she applied for a divorce in the Elkton court before Judges Wickes and Adkins but it was not granted and when she married Bannon she committed Bigamy.

A warrant was also sworn out for J. Norman Bannon accusing him of perjury in stating that the woman was single when he applied for the marriage license in Chestertown.

Sheriff J. Thomas Hadaway was expected to bring the two accused persons to Chestertown last night.

INJURED WHEN STRUCK BY AUTO

Charles Johnson, age 75, a resident of the Morgnec District of Kent county, is in a serious condition in Easton Emergency Hospital with three broken ribs and a broken leg, while State police authorities are investigating a report that four men in an automobile that struck the aged man, kept him in their automobile for five hours after the mishap while they called on friends, and then abandoned him.

Corporal Carl G. Storm, of the Maryland State police, who is authority for the story about the alleged inhuman treatment accorded the aged man, said last night that residents of Sudlersville found Johnson in that town, where he said he had been abandond, and had him sent to the hospital in the Church Hill ambulance. A man known as "Buck" Benjamin, of near Sudlersville and four other men in the automobile are being sought as the occupants of the machine. Benjamin is alleged to have been the driver.

According to the report, Johnson was coming out of a church at McGinnis corner when he was struck by the car.
