FARMERS, LIST YOUR Repair Needs.
It would be hard to find a farmer what at some time or another had not lost valuable time waiting for necessary repair parts. Take this territory and total up the time lost in this way and it will astonish you. And all because repairs are not ordered as early as they should be.
There is no better time than right now—just before the busiest season on the farm—to go over your machines carefully, make a list of repairs you are likely to need and send it to us. With this list in our hands, we can order our stock so as to be prepared to met every call promptly.
Repair part service is a necessary part of our business. We realize what it means to you in time and money to get what you need at once. Help us to help you by making up your list now and sending it in to us.

HOG CHOLERA REPORT

THE MONTHLY SUMMARY OF OUTBREAKS OF HOG CHOLERA IN MARYLAND DURING OCTOBER, 1929.

The disease was reported to exist on 51 premises against 294 a year ago and a ten year average of 143 for the same period. Thirty-three were classed as backyard odtbreaks, while only 18 occurred on farms where hogs are bred and raised. Forty-six were rlassed as backyard outbreaks, while only 5 were secondary or a spread of the infestion from nearby farms.

Anne Arundel and Kent counties were in a tie for first place with six outbreaks each. Dorchester, Howard, Montgomery, Prince George's and Queen Anne were bunched for second place with 4 each. Baltimore, Caroline, and Cecil ran neck and neck for third place with 3 each. Charles, Frederick and Wicomico each sported two outbreaks, while Harford, St. Mary's, Washington and Worcester each got one tally.

Forty-five of the primary outbreaks were apparently due to feeding bones, rinds or scraps of infected pork in garbage, table scraps, kitchen swill, etc., while one was due to the purchase of infected hogs. Four of the secondary outbreaks were due to unburied carcasses, while one was apparently due to the movement of a drag from a hog lot, in which there were sick hogs, to a nearby pen.

On the premises where hog cholera was reported to exist during the month there were 597 hogs when the disease appeared. Seventy-seven were dead and 144 visibly sick before the outbreaks were reported.

Grunts from the Air.

Fifty-one outbreaks is the smallest number of cases of cholera that have been reported in Maryland the month of October since the hog cholera work was inaugurated in 1917.

In the summard for September it was noted that a ten year average of outbreaks for the month was 321. This was an error the correct number being 112.

A farmer went over to a neighbor's place to borrow a harrow. The neighbor was entertaining an outbreak of hog cholera among his swine. A drag on which the sick hogs were being fed was used to haul the harrow home and the farmer drove in his hog lot with it and permitted the hogs to clean up the few grains of corn which the sick hogs had left. The result was just another outbreak of hog cholera.

MILLINGTON

Mr. Earle Everett and family, of near Church Hill, and Mr. Charles Dixon and family, of Middletown, Del., spent last Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Everett, near town.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stevens visited relatives in Smyrna, Del., last Sunday.

Mr. George Hyatt and family, of Wilmington, were guests this week of Mr. George Everett, near town.

The young man caller thought exceeding well of himself, but he was getting to be a bit of a pest.

"I'm a Harvard man," he bragged.

"And what did you ever do for your school?" asked the bored girl.

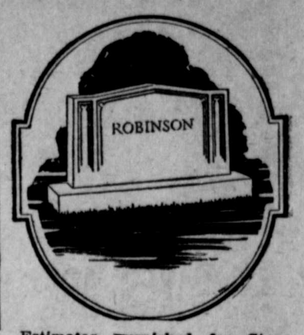

"W-w-well," he hesitated, "once I beat the Yale Lock Company out of a bill."
