HEALTH NOTES.

A CHANCE TO HELP

"It is particularly appropriate that the sale of the tuberculosis Christmas seals begins near Thanksgiving Day," Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health said, calling attention to the opening of the twenty-second annual sale of the little seals, with their message of hope and of health, under the auspices of the Maryland Tuberculosis Association, on the twenty-ninth of this month.

"Since 1907, when the plan that was borrowed from Denmark of using the little Christmas seals as a means of raising funds for the warfare against tuberculosis, was first tried out in the United States, every section of the country has seen a reduction in sickness and death from this disease. Maryland's death rate from tuberculosis has been cut in half in that time.

"Through the vision of Dr. John S. Fulton, for many years Secretary of the StateDepartment of Health, Maryland was one of the pioneers in our nation-wide fight against tuberculosis. As a result of the tuberculosis exhibit he arranged in 1904, what is now the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis, was organized. That year 1904 there were 2,669 deaths from tuberculosis in Maryland. Last year, 1928, with a much larger population, we had 1,711 deaths from the disease, 1,011 white and 700 colored. Twenty-five years ago, one out of every eight deaths recorded in the State, from all causes, was due to tuberculosis. Last year, tuberculosis caused one out of every thirteen deaths. In 1904, the deaths from tuberculosis, amounted to 216 to every hundred thousand of the population. Last year, the number was 105 to every hundred thousand of the population.

"Tuberculosis has been cut down greatly, but we have a long way to go before the battle against it is won. Much of the improvement has come through better care of those who suffer from the diseases. Much of it through the actual prevention of the disease. Fewer people contract tuberculosis because of the better understanding and the more general practice of the principles of healthy living, and of personal hygiene, sunshine, fresh air, nourishing food, heathful recreation, and plenty of sleep.

"Many of the preventive activities that are helping in the fight against tuberculosis, especially the clinics, which we have in every county much of the public health nursing work and the work that is done to protect children and young people against the disease, are made possible through the sale of the Christmas seals. Every seal counts in this battle. The best part of it is that everybody can help.

"Be sure that you get your supply early."

50 PER CENT. CONCRETE ROAD FINISHED

SLAG SHOULDERS WORK TO GO FORWARD

Mr. Rolph Townshend, District Road Engineer, stated yesterday that 50 per cent. of the concrete roadway, offered by the recent road bond issue, had been finished and efforts are being made to finish the four connecting links, mentioned in last week's issue, before freezing weather.

The Quaker Neck road has been finished, and concrete is being poured on the Broad neck road so as to finish a mile and a quarter of this road before freezing, thereby making the road passable this winter.

It is estimated that the Rock Hall Tolchester road will be finisiied tonight. Continued warm weather will possibly permit the finishing of the Sasafras-Massey road.

Slag shoulders are being built on the side of the 9 ft. concrete slabs and this work will go forward until extime freezing weather sets in.

Miss Clara Duyer spent last week end with friends in Baltimore.

Mr. C. C. Ivens has improved his home with a coat of paint.

Mr. B. F. Rash and Mr. H. T. Williams attended a milk meeting in Philadelphia this week.

TRANSCRIPT'S MUSINGS

CHRYSANTHEMUMS

BY ALICE MATHEWS

Pure loveliness doth greet our sight
Whereever these bright flowers grow,
A truce with death though they invite,
And yet no trembly fear they show.

Brave flowers, standing high, unmoved,
When little summer blooms are dead:
The gold of Sun, moonlight improved
Both mingling, seems their dauntless spread.

Like Saints removed, of high degree,
Apart they grow quite solitare
From Autumn's tasselled argosy,
Faultless, with fringe tipped buds all fair.

I sometimes wonder, at the glow
Within the garden bower so late,
Like smouldering flame now they bestow
Their gifts of friendship at Fall's Gate.

They are going to erect a statue to San Gaudens! Can anyone be found to breathe the same spirit in a statue that he did. His statue to Mrs. Adams in Rock Creek Church yard is not one that one can look at and then pass on. It holds one fascinated on the spot. And as one sits there the very peace of teh statue seems to enter the soul. Can anyone do that as San Gaudens did?

BOOSTER! BOOSTER! BOOSTER!

Everywhere we go we see the cards in the windows. Certainly the Fire Company will be boosted. An unselfish lot of fellows these firemen are, and we will help them in every way. So we will surely boost them and be glad to wear their button too.

A negro was brought before a southern judge for speeding in an old tin Lizzie, charged with going at the rate of forty miles per hour.

"What have you got to say for yourself?" asked the judge.

"I wasn't going more than ten miles an hour," replied the negro.

"Have you a speedometer?" asked the judge.

"I don't know what it is, and I ain't got one," replied the negro, "but I've got something that beats 'em all hollow."

"What is it?" asked the judge.

"It's a cuckoo clock. When Ah goes at ten miles an hour, the fenders rattle; when Ah goes at twenty miles an hour, the whole top rattles; and when Ah goes at forty miles an hour the old cuckoo sings ' Nearer My God to Thee.' "

Benjamin Duveen, the noted art expert, was laughing at a dinner in New York over the exposure of a millionaire smuggler.

"He was tripped up neatly," said Mr. Duveen—"as neatly as the girl in the war story.

"A girl went to visit a young lieutenant in a war hospital, but the matron said:

" 'We don't allow ordinary visitors at present. Only relatives are permitted to call on our patients.'

" 'Oh, that will be all right, then,' sai dthe girl. 'You see, I'm Lieutenant Smith's sister.

"The matron laughed.

" 'My goodness,' she said. I'm awfully glad to mee you. Im, his mother.' "

A tragedy seen on the train. A little man and a big woman, his wife. She reading the paper and he waiting anxiously for her to finish. He taking up the paper which she had discarded, turns anxiously to the stock market and sighs, then glances furtively at his wife.

Bubbles

As fall the leaves by Autumn blown,
So fell those lovely shares I own.
Forlorn, disconsolate I sing,
Good-bye, goodbye to everything!

To car and plane and gleaming yacht
And rather ducal country cot
That all seemed surely mine by Spring,
Good-bye, goodb-ye to everything!

Farewell, farewell for evermore
To Paris, Carcassonne, Lahore.
Day trips are all I now can swing.
Good-bye, goodb-ye to everything!

All, all are vanished, gone to hob,
Except my once detested job,
To which, thank heaven, I still can cling.
Good-bye, goodb-ye to everything!

Thankful hearts! What is lovlier than to see the little birds lifting up their heads to heaven while their throats are sweiling, as they sing their praise. Next Thursday is Thanksgiving. Do not lets forget it.

BOOSTER NEWS

BOOSTER NEWS OF THE CHESTERTOWN VOLUNTEER FIRE COMPANY

What is this Booster Club? And Who is in it?

Thse questions are heard often.

Well it is composed of—45 Active Members; 134 Associate Members; 96 Members of Ladies Auxiliary; 32 Band Members; together with an operating unit for the Kent County Ambulance

The additional members are those who are interested in the Company and are willing to lend their financial support whenever called upon.

Now the object has been explained before, but in order to bring it to your attention more fully, let it be said, it is for the purpose of creating more interest in all the different units of the Company and to raise sufficient funds to pay all necessary expenses for the Company with Band and Equipment to attend the Annual Fireman's Convention to be held in Baltimore City in June 1930.

We as a Company desire to make a creditable showing on this occasion as one of the representative companies of Kent County and of Chestertown.

Our subscriptions are coming along fine, but many have not complied. Our present expenses of the Club have all been paid leaving a fair balance on hand. Kindly let yours come in promptly.

SHOW CORN EXHIBITS SELECTED.

Prof. Oldenburg, of the University of Maryland Extension Service, has helped County Agent McVean and Kent County farmers select exhibits of white and yellow corn for competition at the National Hay and Grain Show, to be held at Chicago in connection with the great Livestock Exposition. The U. S. is divided into eight regions in each of which conditions, length of season, etc., are different. Maryland belongs to the eighth region.

In spite of the unusual season, there is some fine corn in Kent County. Probably the corn is not as good as in former years but that condition is general. Much of the corn is not husked and is therefore not ready to for show at this time.

Only two exhibits were selected to uphold the honor of Kent County, at the International Show. Many other exhibits will be chosen for the State Show to be held in Baltimore in January.

Josiah Massey, an old prize winner at this show, is exhibiting white corn. John W. Naylor, of Galena, is showing yellow corn. The exhibits were shipped today. The Show is held just after Thanksgving.

Prof. Oldenburg is in charge of the Maryland exhibit. Under his piloting, Maryland has made an exceptionally fine record. Only Indiana, in the midst of the Corn Belt, has won more prizes at this show than has Maryland.

DEER SHOT IN KENT

LOCAL FARMER FORCED TO KILL ANIMAL WHEN STOCK IS ATTACKED

Mr. Albert Grovs, living on Big Fairlee Farm, shot and killed a large buck deer on his farm on Tuesday of this week when the animal was attacking his stock.

The animal had killed a colt belonging to Mr. Groves and was attacking another colt when Mr. Groves shot it.

As there is a closed season on deer in Kent county, Mr. Groves notified local game warden, E. Joseph Watson, of the killing and he in turn notified State Game Warden, E. Lee LeCompt. After considering the reason for the shooting, the case was not pressed against Mr. Groves as State Game Warden LeCompt directed that no action be taken. The penalty for killing deer in Kent county is $300 fine.

It is thought that the deer swam across the bay from Cecil county. It is reported that two other deer have been seen in the county recently.

TO BE TRIED MONDAY

Will Waters, colored, uptown bad man, who recently went on a rampage with a shot gun which ended in wounding one deputy and threatening three others, is back in the Kent County Jail and wil be given a preliminary hearing on Monday evening.

Deputy John T. Jester, who was shot in the hand by Waters is able to be out. The wound caused the loss of part of the third and fourth fingers

It is understood that Waters will be taken to the Baltimore City jail following the preliminary hearing, for safe keeping as he has made threats against local officers and it is feared that he may hurt some of his co-mates.

DR. CHARLES WHALAND

A very good picture of Dr. Charles Whaland our oldest and one of our most prominent physicians appeared in the Baltimore Sunday Sun. The following is copied from that paper:

Dr. Whaland, Chestertown's "grand old man" of the medical profession, quietly observed the eightieth anniversary of his birth at his home here recently. Notwithstanding his advanced age, Dr. Whaland daily attends to his practice, frequently driving many miles into the country sections. For more than fifty years Dr. Whaland has been one of the leading physicians of the Eastern Shore.

CONSIDERING COUNTY WHARF AT ROCK HALL

Following a request by citizens of the vicinity of Rock Hall, made several weeks ago, that the county build a wharf at Rock Hall, the Commissioners of Kent County are favorably considering the matter and investigations as to the cost and method of construction are being made by Mr. Gilbert Taylor, county road engineer.

The location under consideration is at the foot of Sharp street near the present Sharp wharf.

There are a number of private owned wharves at Rock Hall but no public wharf. Rock Hall is outstanding in the county as a point for boat activities.

UNLAWFUL TO POSSESS MUSK RATS

It is unlawful to have muskrat pelts or meat in possession in Maryland at this season of the year and it is unlawful to have in possession the meat of muskrats whether same were killed in this State or in any other territory or country except between January 1st and March 15th, both dates inclusive, under a penalty of not less than twenty-five ($25.00) dollars, nor more than One Hundred ($100) Dollars for each and every offense, according to a statement made this week by E. Lee LeCompte, State Game Warden. The Department will be compelled to confiscate all muskrats meats found in possession in Maryland prior to January 1st and prosecute the persons in whose possession said meats are found.

KENT LOSES IN STATE TITLE TILT

The Chestertown High School girls field ball team defeated Rock Hall on Friday of last week for the championship title of Kent county by a score of 2 to 0. The championship was decided by a four game series in which Chestertown won 2, Rock Hall 1 and the other game ended in a tie.

In the elimination contest for the championship of the Eastern Shore, Chestertown girls lost to Preston, Caroline county, on Tuesday of this week by the score of 2 to 0 in a hard fought close contest. This puts Chestertown, Eastern Shore Champions of last year, out of the running for the State title.

MAGAZINE FOR SHORE FARMERS

The Delaware Farmers and Eastern Shore Review, a monthly publication devoted to the farming interests of the peninsula and published at Dover by R. B. Thompson, editor and publisher, with A. C. Hyde, as managing editor, made its initial appearance last week.

The leading article, "Farm Relief—What Does it Mean to Delaware?" shows to some extent the bearing that farm relief has on the farms and the farmers of Del-Mar-Va in comparsion to the rest of the country. Several views of farming scenes taken in various places throughout the Del-Mar-Va Peninsula and an article on "Raisin, America's Most Popular Thanksgiving Bird" are other features.

REV. INSLEY TO LEAVE CHURCH HILL

Rev. J. I. Insley, pastor of St. Luke's Church, Church Hill, and St. Andrews Chapel, Sudlersville, has accepted the rectorship of St. Mary's Protestant Epscopal Church, North East, Cecil county. This call was recently extended to Mr. Insley by the vestry of the North East Church. He will succeed the Rev. David L. Quinn, who resigned several weeks ago to become assistant rector of Rock Creek parish, Washington, D. C.

SEEING SELF AS IN YOUTH IS HELPFUL

By nature we are self-important; accordingly we lord it over children and we exploit them for our selfish interests. We often use them to promote our pride and personal satisfaction. We even make their pains, at times, our pleasures. Of course, we do not consciously set out to be domineering over children. We just do it unawares. Our nervous systems do it for us. But we are guilty just as surely as we breathe.

Only as we study children with a view to understand their interests and motives, how they act and think and feel, with a view also to see ourselves as chidren see us, to discern our own specific human frailties; and then only as we strive to rise above those frailties, to improve upon ourselves, and to adapt ourselves to children, can we hope to keep ourselves from annoying them unnecessarily. Only then can we hope to win their honest admiration and be loved by them. In proportion as we adults can make children really care for us shall we be able to guide them into better conduct.

We are prone to be very inconsiderate of our children, to become discourtesous to them and even to be rude. If to our adult friends we were as boorish as we are to children we would soon be social outcasts. We talk back to children, interrupt them, and contradict them; but we rise in wrath if children dare to imitate these eruditions in us.

We seem to get pleasure in making children feel they are younger than they are, that they can do far less than they are able to, and that they have no judgments or opinions worth our listening to.

To this day you and I suffer on account of fears of folk. We acquired most of these fears through our childhood contact with adults.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. Harry P. Skipper have moved from Baltimore to Maplehurst which they have leased on the Queen Anne's side of Chester River bridge.

Miss Alice Wilmer is spending the week in Baltimore.

CAR HITS TELEPHONE POLE

A new Hupmobile sedan, driven by Mr. William R. Allinson, of Conshohochen, Pa., was completely wrecked Thursday afternoon when it hit a telephone pole on the highway in Queen Anne's county opposite Klinefelter's woods. The telephone pole was broken off leaving three crossarms suspended in the air. The accident is unexplainable as it happened on a straightaway and no car was passing at the tme. Mr. Allnson, who traveled for the Lee Tire Co., was not injured except for a cut on the leg and two teeth knocked out. The steering wheel was shattered by the impact.

LOCAL BOOTERS DOWN CHURCH HILL

The Chestertown High School soccer team easily defeated Church Hill at Centreville on Wednesday by a score of 6 to 0 in the first elimination game for the state championship.

The local soccer team will meet Perryville at Chesapeake City on Monday. This game will decide the championship for the northern section of the Eastern Shore. At the same time Nanticoke will play Easton for the honors of the southern section.

The winners of these two games will meet for the Eastern Shore championship.
