ACQUITTED OF MURDER CHARGE

Robert M. Hallowell, formerly of Federalsburg, Caroline county, Md., was acquitted of the charge of murdering William Heim, of Norristown, Pa., on Thursday afternoon. Mr. Hallowell was defended by Congressman T. Allen Goldsborough and W. Brewster Dean, of Denton, Md., and a local attorney of Norristown, Pa.

MT. ST. MARY'S HERE TODAY

Mt. St. Mary's will meet Washington College here today on the local diamond in their annual foot ball clash of the season. The local squad, encouraged by the last two games, played here and with a season's experience where experience was badly needed, are preparing to put up a stiff fight.

The Mt. St. Mary's squad gave a fine exhibition of defensive work against the Strong Western Maryland team last Saturday yet the question which will be decided today is whether their offense can penetrate the Washington squad. This team is generally strong on defense but their offense is a little weak.

This will be the last foot ball game of the season for the local eleven.

TURKEY GRADING DEMONSTRATED BY PROF. RICE

On Thursday afternoon, at the Farm Bureau warehouse Prof. Rice, the Poultry Specialist in the Extension Service of the University of Maryland and a licensed grader, demonstrated the grading of dressed turkeys according to the Government standards.

Fifteen people watched Mr. Rice work and listened to his discussion of the qualifications or requirements for each of the four grades, prime, choice, medium, and common. The demonstration was highly educational as well as interesting. It is unfortunate that many of the turkey growers did not avail themselves of the opportunity to learn how to grade their birds. Proper head wrapping was taught. Pointers on how to select choice birds for slaughter were given. Suggestions as to the packing of the birds were given.

On Friday the birds as graded were attractively packed in barrels and consigned to a New York Commission merchant each grade packed in separate containers. It will be a matter of much interest to follow these birds thru the market and to see how they sell in comparison with the "run of flock" birds as commonly sold.

The more one sees of grading and the more one thinks of quality product attractively presented in volume sufficient to interest large buyers, the more the idea of cooperative pooling appeals.

Incidentally it should be noted that the marketing committee of the local Turkey Growers Association, should be commended for their earnest effort to market the Kent County Turkeys to best advantage. Mr. L. A. Sutton and Walter Kenly of the Committee and Mrs. Nell Wescott, Sec'y. have given much time and thought to turkey marketing.

MILK PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION

ATTEND ANNUAL MEETING OF INTER-STATE PRODUCERS ASSOCIATION

The annual meeting of the Interstate Milk Producers Association was held in Philadelphia on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. Delegates from each of the milk locals or cooling stations, directors of the association producers and Extension Agents Dairy Council workers and fieldmen were in attendance.

Local people in attendance were: Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Sutton, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Bishop, Mr. and Mrs. J. Frank" Rash and Harry Williams.

The Inter-State is one of the outstanding cooperative milk handling associations in the country. A very interesting program in presented. A separate program for the visiting ladies was provided while the business meeting was being held. On Tuesday P. M. President H. D. Allebach presented his address and, as usual, it was full of "wim," "wigor," and "vitality." Harry Hartke, President of the Nat. Coop. Milk Producers Federation, and Miss Verna Elsinger of the Ohio Farm made addresses.

At 6.00 p. m. a real banquet was served to over 850 people. "Daddy" Willits was toastmaster. A very fine show was staged by members of the office staff. A splendid spirit prevailed. The wonder is that every producer does not clamor to be chosen to represent his community as a delegate. A finer trip and a better time would be hard to imagine. Attendance at the meeting impresses one with the bigness and strength of the Organization. Hon. W. F. Schilling explained the policy of the Federal Farm Board. He is a fine speaker and a rare story teller.

—According to statements made this week by contractors, it is believed that traffic will be going over the new Chester River bridge by October 1st, 1930.

Robinson's colored orchestra, of Baltimore, will furnish music for the occasion. Old time dances will be features of the evening.

PENINSULA NEWS

There is no Maryland law which provides that the arrest of a Sheriff for homicide renders him disqualified for the performances of his duties, in the opinion of Thomas H. Robinson, Attorney-General.

Mr. Robinson's opinion was in answer to a letter from Henry L. Constable, State's Attorney for Cecil county, who requested a ruling on the legality of Sheriff G. Clinton Logan's holding office while charged with shooting and killing Harvey Crew November 12.

The Queen Anne's County Farm Bureau will hold its annual meeting this year, according to present plans, Wednesday, December 4. A banquet, at which Governor Ritchie will be the event.

The place the affair s to be held has not definitely been decided upon.

Besides Governor Ritchie, addresses will be made by James W. Davis, president of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation and M. Melvin Stewart, executive secretary of the federation. Several local speakers also will make talks during the evening.

Bill King says that many folks would find it more profitable to themselves and their daughters instead of sending them to high school or college to learn psychology, philosophy and biology, it would be better to give them a thorough course in roastology, boilology, stitchology, darnology, patchology and general domestic hastiology. Now young ladies get on your working clothesology.—Exchange.

The first steps toward beginning actual construction of the stretch of the Eastern Shore Boulevard between Wye Mills and Queenstown were taken yesterday when a condemnation committee met to place a valuation on the property of John P. Arrington, near the site of the old Sallie Harris Mill.

Editor Edmunds of the Manufacturer's Record was discussing international relations.

"Things are looking bad," he said. "There's suspicion, there's anger, here's defiance. The speeches of leading statesmen everywhere seem to show that they are looking for trouble."

Editor Edmunds shook his head.

"And looking for trouble," he concluded, "is like looking for Pike's peak in Teller county, Colorado—you can't miss it."

STYLE--- or FAD?

Occasionally we see some peculiar product of eccentric designing, advertised as new style. Generally it is short-lived and passes out with little notice—why?—because it is not style but merely a fad—and between these two there lies a vast difference.

A gentleman is always Stylish—never Faddish. His clothes are selected with discriminating taste and reflect the judgment and work of the Expert Designer.
