HEALTH NOTES.

HAVE A HEALTH INVENTORY MADE

Here is a New Year's message from Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the State Department of Health. Wishing every man, woman and child in the State "A Healthy, Happy New Year," Dr. Riley said: "As we stand at the threshold of 1930, our outlook is more favorable than it was this time a year ago. On the first of January, 1929, the epidemic of influenza which swept the entire State was just getting under way. The epidemic reached its crest in March and then just gradually declined but its influence was felt until late in the year.

"This year we are not facing a serious epidemic and we can use the opportunity to take stock as every busines firm does of our assets and liabilities. Looking back over our records for a period of years, we find that there has been a gradual increase in what we call the "degenerativ" diseases of middle age notably of diseases of the heart and kidneys, apoplexy, and also of cancer. Considerably more than half of the deaths each year occur among the age groups from 45 years upward. And of these deaths, two-thirds are due to the diseases just mentioned.

"The real object in taking an inventory is to face facts in order that we may know just where we stand so that we may take steps to improve this so far as health and the prevention of disease are concerned. The lives of thousands of babies and young children have been saved because mothers have been shown how to keep them well. The health of innumerable school children has been improved through the periodical medical inspection that is now a regular part of the school routine. Grown-ups who have had periodical medical examinations have found them to be good investments because they give warning of conditions while there is still a chance to correct them.

"If all grown-ups would treat their own marvelously adjusted human mechanism as they do their automobiles and would have themselves inspected by their doctors as regularly as they have their automobiles gone over, not only could many lives be prolonged, but they could be prolonged for healthy usefulness. To the season's greetings, wishing health and happiness in the New Year, I would like to urge each individual to begin the New Year by following the custom of the wide-awake business concerns. Go to your doctor for a thorough examination. Have him inventory your health assets and your physical liabilities. Then, follow his advice."

TOWN WHARF COLLAPSES

BULKHEAD GIVES WAY UNDER WEIGHT OF SAND PILE

The bulk head on the north side of the town wharf at the foot of Cannon street gave way Saturday dropping 200 tons of sand out of sight.

The sand pile on the dock was the property of the Raymond Concrete Pile company to be used for making the concrete piles for the new Chester River bridge. The sand pile dropped down fifteen feet through the mud and forced a pile of mud above the surface in the Catlin dock.

The Raymond concrete pile company are repairing the bulkhead and will continue to use the wharf.

Duck eggs are successfully hatched in incubators at about the same temperature as hen eggs. The main thing is to provide plenty of moisture, which seems difficult sometimes.

MYSELF

I have to live with [illegible]self, and so
I want to be fit for myself to know.
I want to be able, as days go by,
Always to look myself straight in the eye.
I don't want to stand, with the setting sun,
And hate myself for the things I've done.

I don't want to keep on a closet-shelf
A lot of secrets about myself,
And fool myself, as I come and go,
Into thinking that nobody else will know
The kind of a man I really am;
I don't want to dress up myself in sham.

I want to go out with my head erect—
I want to deserve all men's respect;
But here in the struggle for fame and pelf
I want to be able to like myself.
I don't want to look at myself and know
That I'm bluster and bluff and empty show.

I never can hide myself from me;
I see what others may never see;
I know what others may never know;
I never can fool myself, and so,
Whatever happens I want to be
Self-respecting and conscience-free.

—Anon[illegible]ous.

Again we plead:
"Please feed the Birds.
The birds need food and we have bread to spare,
So let us with God's little people share
The crusts and crumbs just bits we discard,
Unfit for use, perhaps a trifle hard:
To feathered folks crumbs are a sumptuous feast,
And everyone can give them this at least.
They plead with you, these are their words—
Please feed the birds."

There is continual warfare between Boston and Los Angeles, the city of the Angels. Sometime ago Boston wrote long and complainingly of the godlessness of the California City. Los Angeles replied that no wonder that Boston should be trying to win entrance into another country, to escape the severe climate and its austere surroundings while they in Los Angeles were enjoying all the delights of lovely climate and continual diversions, a heaven upon earth. Now Boston reports that it is true that it must be the City of Angels, for the death from Autos has sent the majority of the population to join the heavenly band. Boston may have blue laws, but she knows how to be "Sourcastic."

The New Year 1930. Nine time today have we gone back to 1929. It does not change readily to the latter date. No wonder the New Year is generally represnted as a baby. We go into it as ignorant of the happenings of the coming days as an infant while the Old Year, with his knowledge and experience, passes out of our vision. And so we are beginning all over again, trying to redeem the mistakes of the past and making good resolutions for the future.

There is a young lancer, whom we know
Who sends out gibes so tart,
That many poor ambitious scribes
Have gone down beneath his dart.

But if his Wordbook he will con,
In his study, between his naps;
He will find the puzzling "Ana" means,"
A collection of literary scraps.

It is a good thing that the Lancer is easy on the Editor of "Out of the Frying Pan." If he shot his lance in that direction, the title might have to be changed to "In the Frying Pan."

BALTIMORE ARCHITECT KILLS SELF WITH PISTOL

Theodore Wells Pietsch, architect and art patron, was found dead to day in a drafting room over the garage in the rear of his house in the Roland Park section of the city. Police said he had been shot through the head and been dead several hours.

Mr. Pietsch, besides having been architect for a number of prominent Baltimore buildings, had been active in civic affairs concerning art, and was a member of the municipal art commission. After investigation, Coroner John Morrissey gave a verdict of suicide in Mr. Pietsch's de[illegible]

BROADWAY REVUE REACHES SCREEN

M-G-M SETS EPOCH IN ITS STUPENDOUS SONG AND DANCE SHOW

(ADVANCE FEATURE)

The first California-made song and dance show with no pretensions as to plot but with all sorts of pretensions as to number of stars involved, quality of songs included and pulchritude of chorus girls employed, is "The Hollywood Revue," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's huge talking, singing, dancing all-star musical extravaganza which will show at the New Lyceum Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, January 9, 10, and 11, with a special Matinee on Saturday, January 11th at 2.30 p. m.

This pioneer effort of the cinema makers in the field of revues is—in idea any way—an adaption of the theories and practice of Florenz Ziegfield, Earl Carroll and George White to the talking screen.

"The Hollywood Revue" is purely of the revue type. It contains no story, but is a collection of skits, "blackouts," tableaux, dances and songs.

Information from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios is that more than 1,500 persons took part in designing, recording and photographing the picture, and that more than 3,000,000 feet of film were used to secure the final eleven reels, or 11,000 feet. More than ninety songs were written by the twenty-three song writers at the studio, of which the twenty best were selected. And in the cast are Marion Davies, John Gilbert, Norma Shearer, William Haines, Joan Crawford, Lionel Barrymore, Gus Edwards, Buster Keaton, Polly Moran, Gwen Lee, Karl Dane, George K. Arthur, Marie Dressler, Conrad Nagel and Anita Page, Bessie Love and Charles King.

In addition to the screen folk mentioned the cast includes Cliff ("Ukelele Ike") Edwards, Nathacha Nattova, Jack Benny, the Brox Sisters, the Rounders and the Albertina Rasch ballet.

Something has been said previously about the pains taken in selecting the chorus of 125 girls. The story is that 1,500 applicants were tested by Charles Riesner, who directed the picture, the Sammy Lee, the Broadway dance director. Anyhow, a good many comely girls were looked over, and the comeliest were picked.

Many of the stars were working in other pictures while the revue was being made, so they did their scenes in the so-called graveyard shift, from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m.

Conrad Nagel, who is interlocutor and a featured artist in "The Hollywood Revue," was working in Cecil B. De Mille's "Dynamite," and in "Redemption" at the same time.

For ensembles and sketches ten microphones frequently were in use at the same tine. They were suspended from dericks just out of camera range. Whole scenes then were photographed, and then the close-ups were made by moving the cameras nearer while the selected player or players repeated the action required. Thir voices already had been recorded.

Many items in connection with this picture might not be considered uninteresting. One is that in it Marion Davies makes her real debut as a singing and dancing comedienne, al[illegible]nne", will be her first Parade," a musical number written by Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed.

Laurel and Hardy blew out a number of light valves in the sound apparatus in revealing that their comedy which looked quiet on the silent screen is really just the opposite.

John Gilbert and Norma Shearer are co-stars in a "Romeo and Juliet" skit, with Lionel Barrymore acting as director.

Joan Crawford also makes her debut on the talking stage in a singing and dancing role. Conrad Nagel makes his singing debut in a scene with Anita Page in which he imitates Charles King in "The Broadway Melody."

Buster Keaton introduces a new dance called a Sausage Dance.

When Charles King was in New York a few weeks ago he said that the best time he had had on the Coast was working in "The Hollywood Revue."

"But it was work," he said.

PROPOSES NEW SHORE FERRY

Extension of the Chesapeake Beach Railway Co's. service to shorten the travel time between Washington and Eastern Shore points, was sought last Saturday b ythe company in an application filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The extension would be the operation of a ferry between Chesapeake Beach, Md., and Tripp's Bay, near Cambridge, on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

Two boats, the company stated, will be put into service at once, if authorization is obtained from the commission. The ferry service would be financed by an issue of corporate bonds for $759,999, secured by first mortgage.

The proposed eastern terminus would be at a point about 10 miles from Cambridge. Motorist using the ferry to the Eastern Shore would save 36 miles.

A BEAUTIFUL PANTOMINE

A very beautiful and impressive Christmas Pantomine was given New Year's Eve by Still Pond M. E. Sunday School.

The whole school so thoroughly entered into the spirit of the occasion that they carried it through in a manner that was a credit to the ones taking part and to the committee in charge.

Soft music, candle light and oriental costumes served to produce the impression desired.

The scene representing the Shepherds and Wise Men worshiping the Holy Child and presenting gifts held the audience in a spirit of worship and formed a picture that will not be soon forgotten.

The co[illegible]mes were exceptionally well plan[illegible] and added just the right eriental [illegible]ch to the pantomine.

[illegible] soft music during the [illegible] choir and school came "Joy to the World," a[illegible] selection.
