NOT GLIDERS; AIRSHIPS WANTED
WHY SHAW EATS CAKE.
FOR GOLD STAR MOTHERS.
ALAS, A FALLEN DOVE.

Colonel Lindbergh continues work with air gliders. Traveling without engines, they seem to fascinate the great pilot. He has tried flying gliders before daylight, to experiment with early morning winds, and recently flew fifteen miles in a plane with no engine. Reporters say he means to try for the glider long distance and endurance record.

That is all interesting and courageous, but has little to do with the important part of flying, still in its infancy. Ships that will not crash, pilots trained to think only of passengers' safety, not so much about proving that they are not "yellow," are needed. The pilot that will "go through in any kind of weather" needs to be replaced by the man who will take passengers only in perfectly safe weather. After that will come planes and flying methods to which no weather will make any difference.

The glider, interesting toy, goes with air currents, teaching, perhaps, a little about flying. But it has as little to do with great airships of the future as the Hawaiian surf board has to do with improved ocean steamships.

Lindbergh commands the attention and respect of capital and industry. What he recommends will be tried. Even the Government might wake up and cease leaving the flying future to chance, if Lindbergh urged it. His mind should be on weather defying airships for 1,000 passengers, not on a cunning little board that will swim on the air with a man sitting on it.

If you say that a man who knows nothing about flying should not presume to advise one who knows all about flying, please remember that the inventor of the sewing machine did not know how to sew.

At Lady Astor's, George Bernard Shaw gave Dwight Morrow and other American Naval Conference delegates his views on the confernce. He said the next naval battle would be a fight between America and England and "your conference is called to decide that you will fight twelve instead of fifteen miles apart, with smaller boats and smaller guns."

Delegates were surprised at the amount of chocolate cake eaten by Shaw, a large cake, all for him. That comes of a vegetable diet. Unable to get hs supply of calories and protein food, condensed in meat, Shaw must absorb great quantities of substitutes. Not good for him.

Charles Evans Hughes returns to the Supreme Court as Chief Justice, at President Hoover's request. In him the people have a brilliantly able man, worthy to take Mr. Taft's place.

And from Mr. Hughes's acceptance of the position you learn that honor and opportunity to be useful are more important than financial profit.

Mr. Hughes gives up a private law practice worth more than $500,000 a year for the small salary and great opportunity of the supreme bench.

Other cities will want to know of Detroit's plan for catching criminals by radio. As soon as reported, each burglary, hold-up, etc., is broadcast. Policemen in fast automobiles, equipped with receiving apparatus, dash to the scene of the crime, and often capture the criminals fleeing with their plunder.

Congress votes more than five million dollars that "gold star" mothers may visit their sons' graves in France. Of 11,000 mothers entitled to go 6,000 have expressed a desire to go. Many cannot go, because of duties at home. Others, perhaps, dread the sorrowful shock.. To those that do not go Congress should pay in cash the pro rata amount that it would cost to send them, about one thousand dollars. No other course would be fair.

Doves played at the feet of venus, fluttered about her heade. Doves coo on the roof tree of the rustic bridge. The dove appears in beautiful religious pictures and in Chaucer "She sang ful loude and cleere."

"Dove" as a rhyme for "love" represents first aid to young poets. And now the gentle creature, sad to say, appears as assistant to the bootlegger. Captain Benton, head of the Los Angeles Sheriff's liquor squad, found on the beach an exhausted carrier pigeon, and tied to its leg a message, obviously intended for some bootlegger:

"Be ready to receive cargo at appointed place off Topanga at 2 a. m."

Dr. Levinstein president of the Society of British Chemical Industries, warns Britain not to be caught napping in knowledge of chemical warfare. Poison gas, he says, will be the main weapon in the next war, regardless of treaties.

The British chemist warns wisely. Poison gas in the last war shared the honors with airplanes and submarines. In the next war it would make life in cities impossible and fill the streets with thousands of dead bodies, the moment hostile planes began operations overhead.
