THE TRANSCRIPT

ON THE FIRST PAGE of this issue will be found an advertisement announcing the candidacy of Mr. Harvy B. Moore as Democratic candidate for Treasurer of Kent county subject to the Democratic primaries in September. Mr. Moore is the first to make public his candidacy. Mr. Moore has been prominent in Democratic politics in the county for many years.

GEORGE WASHINGTON—soldier, patriot, gentle—man, lives in the hearts of the people today more than ever before. Years add to a man's greatness. As time goes on criticism and harsh judgments die away, and only what he has done for his fellow man and the good of his country is remembered. And we remember Washington as one who was willing to lay aside, his domestic life and ease and pleasure, to undertake the command of an untrained and ill equipped army, scorning to enjoy anything that his soldiers could not enjoy with him. We remember him as leaving his home again to steer though stormy waters, the little republic of thirteen states, warring among themselves, and landing them safely. We remember him, too, as a Christian gentleman, loving his home and those around him, a worthy example to the citizens of the country that he did so much to found. And as time goes on his name will shine brighter and brighter in the annals of History.

THE CHESAPEAKE BAY bridge may well be considered a State road across the bay, connecting the Eastern and Western shores, which will be one of the greatest developments attempted in recent years. At the present time the Eastern Shore is closer by road to Philadelphia than Baltimore and much of the business, that from a state economic standpoint, should be going to Baltimore, is now going to northern cities. It is true there is efficient ferry service at two points from the Eastern to Western Shores, yet the wheels of progress are building bridges where possible, as the modern methods of transportation demand a twenty four hour open highway. We question the published statement that a greater portion of the Eastern Shore is opposed to the State building the bridge, and believe that the opposition is coming from a few who claim to be able to speak the opinions of the people of their counties. Ferry interests are protesting loudly and are justified in trying to protect their interests, yet these protests show that they fear traffic will use the bridge. We believe state funds should be spent to the best interests of the public and if traffic will leave the ferries in favor of the bridge, then the indication is that the bridge is the easiest and best route. Those in favor of the State interesting itself in the construction ore the State administration, Baltimore city, and the greater part of the Eastern Shore. There have been no published protests from Southern or Western Maryland and it looks as if there is very little opposition to the project. The various organizations of Kent county and Baltimore city should take the lead in pushing the issue as they are most directly benefited.

COMMUNICATED

ATTENTION, ASSOCIATE MEMBERS

The attention of all associate members of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company that their dues for 1930 were due and payable as of January 1, 1930. The Secretary of the Association, Mr. Clarence Newcomb, is arranging to send statements to every member of the organization reminding you of your obligation. Please do not wait for this. Call on Mr. J. S. Kreeger, treasurer of the Association, and pay your dues of $3 a year and receive your receipt. There were 134 members of the Association last year. We are depending upon every one of these members to renew their membership, and we are hoping that a very large number of additional members will be secured for this year. Please bear this notice in mind, and call on Mr. Kreeger without delay, and if you desire to become a member, call there also and receive your application blank. Let's boost the Fire Company this year for the good it has done during the past year.

Respectively,
T. D. BOWERS, President.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of our dear father and husband, John Ward, who died February 23, 1923.

Our family circle is broken.
A link has gone from our chain,
But we are parted for a while,
We know we'll meet again.

Deep in my heart there is a picture
Of a dear one gone to rest,
In memory's frame I shall keep it.
Because he was one of the best.

Gone dear Daddy, gone for ever,
How we miss your smiling face.
But you left yours to remember.
None on earth can take your place.

A happy home we once enjoyed,
How sweet the memory still
But death has left a loneliness
The world can never fill.

Loving wife and children.

Let Down

Mother had been trying very hard to teach little Betty to be more polite. At last she really seemed to be successful.

"Just you see how good she is at dinner time," mother boasted to her husband.

Dinner time came. There was suet pudding.

"Betty," said the child's mother, "will you have some more pudding?"

"No!" replied the daughter.

"No what, Betty dear?"

"No fear, mother."

Pacific Mystery

Easter island is called the "Unsolved Mystery of the Pacific" because of the scattered presence of hundreds of immense heads carved out of stone which are to be seen, some standing erect while others are down upon the ground. Their meaning is only conjectural and no one has ever offered any explanation which is generally accepted. Apparently Easter island was chosen as the graveyard for the chiefs of a large island archipelago which suddenly disappeared. The thousands of slaves who were kept at work carving out these images were left without food and fell upon each other until only a few remained. The story of all these events was never recorded and can be read only by inference.

FLOWERS were not only originally intended for children to love and for sweethearts to adore. They were and are meant for everybody—for husband and wife and for mother—for the home—for the school room—for the nursery—for every occasion where people meet together or where someone sits silently alone.

THIRD NATIONAL BANK
CHESTERTOWN MEMBER FEDERAL RESERVE SYSTEM MARYLAND
THE ONLY NATIONAL BANK IN KENT COUNTY
The Bank Where You Feel at Home

The Third National Bank of Chestertown, Md., has contracted for installation of the latest type of complete electrical alarm protection in its vaults—A Sound Wave Burglar Alarm System designed and manufactured by the O. B. McClintock Company of Minneapolis which is the largest bank burglar alarm concern in the world.

The outstanding feature of the system is the remarkable manner in which it makes the system sensitive to the noise as well as to the contract attendant upon any possible form of burglarious attack. It practically equips the vault with Ears, Nerves and a Loud Voice.

These so-called Ears of the vault are really supersensitive Sound Wave instruments installed within the vault, which, by automatic time control, are electrically active during the nighttime. The time control also provides for the continuous activity of the protection during the daytime on Sundays or holidays, when the bank is not open for business.

The Sound Wave protection is controlled by very finely tuned instruments which, during active hours, cause an instant alarm at the slightest noise made upon the vault structure or within the vault. The tap of a tool or the snap of a cutting torch upon the vault wall or door will instantly start the alarm. On the other hand, no amount of noise made in the surrounding room, nor the rumbling of a train, nor the vibration of the building—such as caused by heavy trucks or streetcars will sound the alarm.

The Sound Wave protects the vault at every minute pin-point of space and the vault door is also equipped with special electrical thermostatic contacts which start the alarm when any one of them is reached by around 150 degrees of heat. The rapidity with which metal transmits heat insures an almost instant alarm should a cutting torch be directed against the vault door.

The alarm is given by the sounding of a large gong on the outside of the building. This gong, together with control instruments, ringing mechanism and ringing battery, is installed in a heavy steel housing as completely electrically protected as is the vault itself, so that it is not possible to get at the gong to prevent the ringing of the alarm.

The connection between the vault and the outside gong is by means of an electrical multiple—wire cable carrying a number of open and closed circuits. Any attempt to cut this cable inevitably trips the alarm.

Inasmuch as all the control instruments of the System are located within the vault, once the timer within the vault has made the electrical protection complete for the night, it becomes completely self-protective. From then on until the next morning no one, not even the banker himself of the expert who installs the system can get into the vault in any possible manner without setting off the alarm.

The history of such alarm systems has proved that in case of an attempted burglary, the sounding of the alarm drives the burglars away without an instant's delay. In fact they never even stop to pick up tools or clothing. The alarm does not depend upon police or others to back up its authority. Its primary effect is upon the burglar himself.

Practicaly one-third the banks of the United States are now protected by complete burglar alarm systems. The O. B. McClintock Company has also installed its alarm systems in a number of State, County and City treasury vaults, Federal Reserve Banks, and important industrial institutions such as the Ford Motor Company's River Rouge plant, and the assay vaults of the Homestake Gold Mining Company in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

There are many remarkable points about the completely automatic operation of the system which the officers and employees of the Bank would enjoy showing and explaining to anyone. The system takes care of itself to an astonishing degree, and may be said to be autocratic in its guarantee that the vaults shall be under complete protection during the entire night, every night.

By installing this complete and truly wonderful type of protection, THE THIRD NATIONAL BANK lines itself up with the most progressive banking institutions in the country.

THOMAS W. PERKINS, Trustee.
