TO ENLARGE TELEPHONE SWITCHBOARD

An additional section of switchboard to be installed in the Chestertown telephone central office involving expenditures of $2,125 has just been authorized by the board of directors of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company of Baltimore City.

The new switchboard will be equipped for 40 additional telephone subscribers' lines bringing the total switchboard equipment to 420 local lines, 40 rural and 50 out-of-town lines, Miss K. P. Smith, Com'l. Rep., of the company announces. There are now 733 telephones connected with the Chestertown office, 10 having been added to the system since January 1.

A new wire chief's test desk which will facilitate testing telephone lines reported in trouble will also be installed in this office. This equipment will provide more adequate testing facilities for lines to Rock Hall, Galena, Millington, and Still Pond, in addition to the telephones operated from the Chestertown office.

The installation of the new equipment will be started about October 1, and is expected to be ready for service within thirty days.

BURGLAR ALARM SOUNDED

The burglar alarm on the Chestertown Bank of Maryland sounded Thursday evening and created quite a lot of excitement.

The alarm sounded at 10 p. m. and within a short time a large crowd had gathered including Sheriff Hadaway and Deputy Sheriff Lee, each armed with a shot gun, State police, Storm and night officer Collins all armed and ready for action.

The alarm proved to be false and was accidently set off by the assistant cashier who had entered the bank and seeing that the indicator on the alarm system was not set exactly right, attempted to move it with a terrible bell ringing result.

All attempts to silence the gong were futile until it rang itself off to the embarrassment of some and amusement of others.

—The pile driving equipment of the Raymond Concrete Pile Co., will leave Chestertown this morning for Baltimore. Piling work was finished Monday.

Don't Forget the Wires

One thing which may be said in favor of the radio is that one doesn't have to worry where to put the old needles so the baby won't get them.—Ohio State Journal.

WARNING

Don't pay high prices for wall paper. For $1.00 I will furnish you with 10 rolls of side paper and 16 yards of border. Will let you select the pattern you want. This offer expires April 10th, 1930.
LEONARD C. NEEDLES,
m29-1t. Chestertown, Md.

CANDIDATES CARD

Having been urged by my many friends from all parts of the county I announce my self as a candidate for the office of Sheriff of Kent County, Maryland, subject to the approval of the voters at the Democratic primaries to be held in September.
GROVER C. HADAWAY

CANDIDATES CARD

I wish to announce myself as a candidate for Treasurer of Kent County, subject to the Democratic Primaries in September.
I have been a life long Democrat. I ran for Register of Wills against Mr. Samuel Caldwell in 1921. I was defeated by him but worked hard for his election the following November.
I have served in the poll rooms at Worton, Kennedyville and Betterton.
Was a delegate to the State Convention in 1922.
f22. HARVEY B. MOORE.

Candidate for Re-election as TOWN COMMISSIONER

Having been solicited by a large number of citizens and tax payers of Chestertown, I hereby announce myself as a candidate for re-election as town commissioner, subject to the will of the majority.
I have tried to work to the best interest of all as far as circumstances would permit. Election Monday, April 28th, 1930.
JOHN W. BARNES.

Candidate for TOWN COMMISSIONER

William A. Burk, of 312 Cannon St. is a candidate for Commissioner of Chestertown. We, the tax payers in this block, want some improvement and if William A. Burk is elected, he will make this improvement and pay for it himself. This will leave him free to vote on any measure that may come before the Board.
WILLIAM A. BURK.

NOW AND THEN

A HELPFUL RECEIPT

"Take a dash of water cold
And a little leaven of prayer,
A little bit of sunshine gold
Dissolved in the morning air;
Add to your meal some merriment
And a thought for kith and kin;
And then, as prime ingredient
A plenty of work thrown in;
But spice it all with the essence of love
And a little whiff of play;
Let a wise old book and a glance above
Complete a well spent day."

English as she is spoke

Monsieur Ravel, who now speaks perfect English is yet railing against the inconsistencies of our language. "For example take the word fast; A horse is tied fast to a post.

He is fast when he is running away. A woman is fast when she smokes cigarettes.

A color is fast when it does not fade. To fast is to go without food. What a language!"

We were reading of what William Lyon Phelps says of music. It now gives him the keenest enjoyment to hear Wagner, Beethoven and the other classics in music. But when he first heard them he was terribly bored, and longed to slip away from the hall. In looking around, however, he saw how others were enjoying the music so he made up his mind he would not miss that pleasure and he went to hear them again and again until his ear was trained and he heard them with delight.

Wordsworth, who loved every aspect of nature said of one who cared nothing for it.

"A primrose by the river's brim.
A yellow primrose is to him;
And nothing more."

So we can give ourselves a serene joy in learning to see the beauty in the things that lie around us and keep our souls near to nature's heart.

An artist, painting in the open air, was startled to see a red-faced, perspiring motorist at his side. "Don't put another stroke to it!" urged the newcomer. "I'll give you five pounds for it as it stands."

"It—it is very kind of you," the artist stammered, "but it's not quite finished."

"Doesn't matter one jot," said the motorist, as he got his money out, "I only want the canvas to mend a burst tire."—Weekly Scotsman.

We are interested in reading that Dr. Ditman says about the ants. He spends days and days watching them and is impressed with their system and order. In fact the Doctor is convinced that they have a language and he is trying to invent an instument which can record their speech. Some one has said that it would be well also to record the noise that a moth makes in eating up a dress suit.

There was a meeting of Cemetery superintendents recently and they decided to recommend the use of smaller headstones and not have the grave stones record the virtues of the departed as:

"Hre lies the bones of Jonathan Jones;
A pilgrim in this value of tears.
He was large of body and vast in mind,
And this is the biggest stone we can find."

When Rivers resigned the dictatorship of Spain, much to the regret of the Spanish people, he said he wanted to go back to his little pension in Paris where he lived when he was a student at the Sorbonne. It was there he had spent the happiest days of his life. So he left Spain and all the surrounding luxury and went back to his little home, where he spent one week and then came the end.

How they do change, these men. In February they spend their time in studying seed catalogues; in March they buy garden tools, but in April they go out and play golf.

The true value of horse sense is clearly shown by the fact that the horse was afraid of the automobile during the period in which the pedestrain laughted at it.—The Louisville Times.

Open Sea

From the Christian Science Monitor
Somewhere the tide is flowing in
Over the marshes and the beach;
I must run in the sun until
I clear the woods and reach
The wide and opal sea again,
The pines, a swinging cloud.
Then I shall stand upon a crag
And shout my joy aloud!
Harold Vinal.

—The Hurlock-Seeney farm in Queen Anne's county, located about three miles from Chestertown, was sold at public sale this week. The farm was purchased by Mr. Walter Hollingsworth for $11,600.

FIRE COMPANY ACTIVE

ANSWER FOUR ALARMS A DAY—EIGHT IN SIX DAYS

The Chestertown Volunteer Fire company has passed through six days of the greatest activity in the history of the company. From Saturday, March 29th to Thursday, April 3rd, the fireman fought eight fires and answered three ambulance calls.

The record period of activity started Saturday night when the home of Mr. Edward Patrick, West High Street extended, caught fire. There being no one home at the time, the fire had gained considerable headway when descovered and when firemen arrived on the scene the entire interior of the house was in flames. Water was pumped through 1000 feet of hose from the plug at Culp's mill, and the fire stopped although about half of the interior was destroyed, together with practically all of the furniture.

At 7 a. m. Monday morning firemen were called to the home of Mr. Albert Raleigh on Canon street. The fire which started when a water heater exploded, was soon extinguished.

On Tuesday( April 1st, actively started at 6 a. m. when fire completely destroyed the home of Mr. Percy Hendrickson at Pomona. This home was a land mark of Pomona and until recently has been a store and residence combined. The store part of the building was used as a storage room and the fire started in this room. When discovered the room and contents were in flames. Firemen succeeded in saving the outbuildings although the house, contents and even the clothing of the family was destroyed.

At 11.30 a. m. firemen were called to the Chestertown dump where a fire was threatening the Cooper home.

At 2.30 p. m. firmen answered a call of a chimney fire at the home of Mr. John Moffett at Lynch.

At 8 p. m. a call came from Queenstown and firemen responded to a four alarm call to that town when fire threatened the entire business section of the town. The fire companies of Centreville, Easton, Church Hill and Chestertown confined the flames to one building which was completely destroyed.

Wednesday at 3.30 p. m. a fire in the store room of the American Store was soon extinguished.

Thursday morning at 8 a. m. firemen extinguished a serious chimney fire at the home of Mr. Henry Smith in Queen Anne's County.

TO ASSIST WITH CENSUS

The Director of the Census has arranged with the Extension Service for the distribution of Sample Census Schedules or blanks. The idea of having the Sample blanks placed in the hands of farmers in advance of the census taking is that it will give the farmers opportunity to study the questions and to jot down the date called for. This may be done in spare time and will save the time of both the farmer and the census taker next month when both will be extremely busy.

The census date is very important and warrants the most careful cooperation of all people. The date given is strictly confindential.

Count Agent McVean is mailing sample census blanks (Farm Schedules) to the farmers of the county He has extra blanks to place in the hands of those desiring them. He will also explain the meaning of any questions on the blanks, which are not clear to farmers. It is hoped that each and every farmer will cooperate fully in making the census from Kent County accurate and complete.

WORTON

Miss Julia Williams, of Western Maryland, is spending her spring vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Williams.

COUNTY-WIDE WOMAN'S MEETING

The spring county-wide meeting for home demonstration work was held April 2 in the Court House at Chestertown, Mrs. Hugh Hartman presiding. In the morning the regular business was taken care of including the election of officers for the coming two years as follows: President, Mrs. Walter T. Morris; 1st Vice President, Mrs. L. A. Sutton; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. Wm. Medders; Secretary, Mrs. Elmer Thomas; Treasurer. Mrs. George Cooper. Three delegates at large, Mrs. Hugh Hartman, Mrs. John White and Mrs. Harold M. Baker. At noon the Guild of the P. E. Church served a delightful lunch.

In the afternoon a demonstration on "Ham in the Menu" was given by Miss Margaret McPheeters, Nutrition Specialist for the Extension Service of University of Maryland. The bulletin on pork has arrived and will be mailed in a few days. Be on the lookout for it.

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR KEEPING FRIENDS

Frindship is the most valuable of a person's possessions and for the person of the average temperament it is life, success, and happiness spelled in one expression. But the power to generously make friends and keep them is, unluckily, not endowed on everyone. Too many people through thoughtlessness or carelessness unintentionally destroy friendships which they are wont to nurse.

The following are the ten commandments of friendship:

1. Don't contradict people even if you are sure they are not in the right.
2. Don't be inquisitive about the affairs of your friends.
3. Don't underrate anything because you don't possess it.
4. Don't believe everyone else is happier than you.
5. Don't conclude that you never had any opportunities in life.
6. Don't believe all the evil you hear.
7. Don't be rude to social inferiors.
8. Don't jeer at anybody's religious belief.
9. Learn to hide aches and pains.
10. Do unto others as you would be done by.

While there are exceptions to these suggestions as there are to all good rules, they hold true in general and may well be employed to advantage in the social contacts of any individual either great or small.—The Purdue Exponent.

LOCALS NO MATCH FOR ENGLISHMEN

Washington College lacrosse team was no match for the picked team representing Cambridge and Oxford Universities of England on Washington field Thursday afternoon of this week.

From the start the visitors showed superior attack and defense work and held the locals scoreless while they scored 18 goals. The Washington team fought hard to keep the score low but were unable to break up the clever attack of the visitors. The ability to score was lacking and only on a very few instances was the visitors goal threatened.

Lacrosse is a new game at Washington College but it fast gaining favor, not only here, but in practically all eastern colleges. The English system of athletics differs somewhat from the policy in American colleges. There is no paid coach of the English teams. A captain is elected and this captain picks and coaches the team.

Washington College will play St. Johns at Annapolis Saturday morning. The English team will play the Navy that same afternoon.

—The Maryland Tuberculosis Association will hold a clinic at the health center, Chestertown, on Monday, April 7th at 10 a. m., Dr. John E. O'Neil will conduct this clinic.

INSTITUTE TO MEET HERE

The Third Eastern Shore Institute of Public Affairs will be held at Washington College on Saturday, May 10th. The session will open at ten thirty, the morning being devoted to a discussion of a domstic problem and the afternoon to an international problem.

This annual one-day institute is a joint enterprise of the Maryland League of Women Voters and the Young Voters League of Washington College. The Director of the Maryland League, Miss Lavinia Engle, the President of the College Young Voters League, Miss Clara Meridith, Dr. Esther Dole, Prof. of History, Miss Genevieve Boland, Dean of Women and Dr. William R. Howell, Prof. of Political Economy, all of Washington College, are the committee in charge of the program for this year.

The two previous sessions of the Institute have been attended by a representative group from the Eastern Shore. In 1929 every county on the Shore was represented and a number of delegates came from Harford County and from Baltimore City. This year a special invitation is being extended to the students at the University of Delaware and it is expected that a number of them will be present. Club women, men in public life, business men and a group of senior students from the High Schools of the Shore have made up the roll of those attending. The addresses are made by men and womn of outstanding reputation and followed by a general discussion from the floor.

Regional Conferences for the discussion of public affairs have become an accepted factor in the intellectual life of the United States and in some instances have grown to international importance. The Eastern Shore Institute is as yet a small effort, but its policy has been well directed and the interest in its development has grown steadily.

Those who desire a complete program of the sessions may secure it by writing to Washington College or to the office of the League of Women Voters.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

Strange stories surround the travels of plants from country to country and continent to continent until they are known around the world, as in the case with tobacco, a native of America; coffee, which originated in Asia; and rubber, which once was grown only in Brazil. But perhaps the strangest story of all concerns the transplantation of American red clover to the Philippines, as it is told in The Farm Journal.

It was after the United States took over protection of the islands in 1898 that agricultural experts, surveying the possibilities of the climate, decided that red clover would flourish there as a pasture and clover crop. So tons of the clover seed were introduced.

The clover flourished as was expected. That is, the first seed grew richly and gave promise of continuous growth. But the next year the clover disappeared.

The experts were puzzled. It was conceded that the experiment was a failure, but no one could explain why until it occurred to one of them, years afterward, that what the clover needed was bees. And there were no bees in the Philippines, no insects with tongues long enough to reach into the floret of the clover and carry off the pollen.

The next year saw a cargo of bumblebees carried across the Pacific. The clover was planted again. Both bees and clover flourished. Today the bumblebee of American descent is as much at home in the Oriental islands as in his native Virginia or Nebraska.

Pens used by noted visitors in signing the register at Washington Cathedral will be saved by cathedral authorities, who believe present-day visits to the edifice may have future historical significance.

Cathedral visitors have included Presidents of the United States, representatives of foreign lands and members of American officialdom in general.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

The automobile of Mr. C. E. Noland disappeared from in front of his store on Monday morning of this week. Local and state police were notified no trace of the car could be found.

Messrs. R. C. Davis and Herman Blackway, of the Chestertown Fire Co. ambulance crew, were taking a rush patient to Easton for an appendicitis operation and saw an automobile in Wye Mills that looked very much like Mr. Noland's car. The condition of the patient did not permit them to stop, but on the return trip they stopped and identified the car, and brought it back to Chestertown. No arrests have been made todate.

MEETING OF TURKEY GROWERS

A real inspiring meeting of Kent turkey growers was held on Friday, March 28th, Mr. H. L. Shrader, Extension Poultry Specialist of the U. S. Dep't of Agriculture, Washington, D C., led the discussion of a number of questions based on problems of local growers and related to the feeding of poults and turkeys. More economical production is essential if turkey prices continue low. The problems were submitted to Mr. Shrader as the best means of securing the needed information. He presented the known facts on turkey nutrition in a very interesting and comprehensive manner. Much discussion resulted and the goodly number of people in attendance were stimulated and inspired.

County Agent McVean introduced Mr. Shrader. Mr. W. H. Price well known to many as the University of Maryland Extension Service Poultry Specialist joined in the discussion.

Among the many interesting points brought out, the following are mentioned:

The old theory of waiting 72 hours before feeding chicks or poults has been discarded. Let them eat whenever they will after placing in the brooder house.

2. Relatively little re-search work has been done on turkeys but some deductions from hen nutrition may be drawn. Re-search is far different than mere feeding tests. Health, vigor, vitality and all other influences are considered in addition to the feeding tests in research.

3. The protein content in turkey mashes is based on comparison of growth curves between chicks and poults. No one knows whether present percentages are correct. Research will reveal the facts.

4. Milk is fine for starting poults but is more expensive than other suitable forms of animal protein for later feeding. Fresh fluid milk is most effective but since it draws flies and the fly is an intermediary host to tape worm it should be used with care.

5. Cod liver oil is a fine substitute for sunlight. Both supply vitamin "D" which prevents rickets through control of the assimilation of "lime" or calcium salts. Oil is not necessary when the poults have plenty of sunlight.

6. Sulphur has not been shown to possess any medicinal or preventive value. Sulphate and sulphide forms such as Epsom Salts and "Hypo" (used in developing picture films) respectively are used to better advantage than the ordinary or "flowers" of sulphur.

7. Extension use of alfalfa in the West is a factor in the economical production of turkeys. The aried as well as the green alfalfa are used with fine results.

Turkey Diseases Topic for Next Meeting

The next meeting of the turkey growers will be held on Friday, April 18th, in the afternon to avoid conflict with the session of court. Dr. H. M. DeVolt, Specialist in Poultry Diseases is to present the known facts relative to turkey diseases, their prevention, control and treatment. This is a timely topic. The meeting should be attended by every turkey grower in Kent county.
