VOL. LXXIV---NO. 5 | CHESTERTOWN, MARYLAND, SATURDAY, MAY 3, 1930 | $1.50 PER ANNUM

ICELAND'S PARLIAMENT MILLENIAL—"I'll see you in Iceland," we are told, promises to be a popular tourist greeting during the coming summer.

Among the distinguished visitors due to participate in the millennial celebration of the Icelandic Alting (Parliament,) it is reported, will be one king, two crown princes, forty representatives for twenty-five independent States, two thousand Icelanders living in the United States, twenty thousand Icelandic farmers, and at least the same number of tourists from all parts of the world.

But because Iceland is not accustomed to such an influx of outsiders, writes the Oslo (Norway) correspondent of the London Observer, the Iceland Government is improvising two towns, Thingvellir and Lake Beykjavik, for the three days' millennial celebration.

Lindbergh has broken another trail. Imagine him and his wife spending part of the day in Los Angoles and the latter part in New York. They have certainly become high flyers.

NOW AND THEN

A LITTLE BIRD

A little bird perched in a tree
A lesson taught today to me.
While morning smiles, he sings his song
Secure, content, his voice all strong
With joy untroubled, God takes car,
'Tis He Who placed him singing there;
And thus the lesson came, you see,
The same Great God doth care for me;
'Tis He Who places us each day
Upon the pathway where we stay,
The course of action we pursue
He watches very carefully too.
No more impatience should we show
When this great certainty we know;
Nor for the lodging of the morrow,
Should we be holding any sorrow.

Alice Mathews

We were reading several days ago about the origin of our common expressions and it dignifies them to know that they come from learned men. From Goldsmith came;

"Ask me no question and I will tell you no lies" and "Man wants but little, nor that little long" Edward Young in his "Night Thoughts" has given us many a one as: "Procrastination is the thief of time." "Death loves a shining mark," and "A fool at forty is a fool indeed" while Washington Irving was the first one to call our currency "the Almighty dollar."

Where is Pitcaim? Many a weary pedestrain might ask that questian after the hairbreadth escape which we have.

(There are no automobiles in the island of Pitcairn.—News note.)

"I yearn to go where cars are drawn
By horses stout of limb and brawn;

I yearn to take my bed and board
Where people ask, "Who's Henry Ford?"

Where one is not judged maladroit
Who pleads no knowledge of Detroit,

And who with perfect truth can say
He never saw a Chevrolet."

And would not know a Nash nor how
It differs from a brindled cow."

It is amusing to realize that, while 'putting your foot in it' is not a very elegant mode of expression, it touches a fine point of law. In Hindustan when a title to land is disputed, so legend says, two holes are dug in the ground and used to encase the limbs of two lawyers. They are then allowed to talk as lawyers will,—to their hearts' content,—and the one first fatigued loses his client's case. Whether this report be strictly accurate or not, the obvious superiority of the method to the dilatory practices we are accustomed to justifies its appearance here.

Coolidge is not going to Washington again.

"I should like to be known as a former President who tries to mind his own business."

Mr. Coolidge Explains His Reluctance

"A ruler of the land was I,
A President admired;
And though I now am high and dry
I couldn't be rehired.

In Washington I lived eight years
And did what folks expected,
But talk of going back appears
To leave me most dejected.

The work is not so hard, I'm sure;
I stood it all, and how, boy!
But I got all I could endure
Of dressing like a cowboy!"

NOW AND THEN

April has gone leaving her accustomed showers to be tended to by her gentler Sister, May.

We are reminded of these lines as we thankfully hoist our umbrellas.

When Old Boy Pluvius gets gay
And feels like having fun,
And keeps you guessing all the day
Regarding rain and sun;
When clouds are acting doubtfully
And skies are shadowed over
Reject the rabbit's foot P. D.,
And can the four-leaf clover;
These won't bewitch the rain or hail,
So listen to me, fella—
There's only one charm that won't fail—
A good old-time umbrella.

—Walter Hatfield Bock.

At the monthly dinner meeting of the Elkton Chamber of Commerce Wednesday night, the organization went on record by a majority of one vote, as being favorable to the adoption of daylight saving time in Elkton during June, July and August.

She: I'm 23.
He: You told me four years ago you were 40.

GIVE FIRE TRUCKS RIGHT-OF-WAY

The following is a copy of a letter written by Attorney General Robinson to Colonel E. Austin Baughman, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, setting out his opinion with reference to the right-of-way of fire apparatus on the road.

The question arose at a recent meeting of the Kent-Queen Anne's Fireman's Association, as to whether this law applied to apparatus returning from a fire and the following was the result of a letter written to Colonel Baughman.

The close observance of this law by the public will add to the efficiency of the fire company and help avoid accidents.

APRIL 5TH, 1930

Col. E. Austin Baughman,
Commissioner of Motor Vehicles,
Baltimore, Maryland.

Dear Colonel Baughman:

Receipt is acknowledged of your letter of the 3rd inst., requesting me to advise you whether the provisions of Section No. 209 of Article No. 56 of the 1929 Supplement of the Annotated Code of Maryland, relating to fire department vehicles, are applicable to such vehicles upon their return from a fire call.

The statute in question consists of five separate and distinct regulations, only three of which are here pertinent, viz:

(1) "The operator of a vehicle upon a highway shall yield the right of way to ambulances and police and fire department vehicles when the latter are operated upon official business and the drivers thereof sound audible signal by bell, siren or exhaust whistle."

(2) "Upon the approach of any ambulance or police or fire department vehicle giping audible signal by bell, siren or exhaust whistle, the operator of every other vehicle shall immediately drive the same to a position as near as possible and parellel to the right-hand edge or curb of the highway, clear of any intersection of highways, and shall stop and remain in such position unless otherwise directed by a police or traffic officer or until the ambulance, police or fire department vehicle shall have passed."

(3) "It shall be unlawful for the operator of any vehicle other than one on official business to follow any fire apparatus trafeling in response to a fire alarm closer than 600 feet.

(1) The right-of-way provision applies "to fire department vehicles when operated upon official business." In my opinion, such vehicles are "operated upon official business" whether they are traveling in response to a fire alarm or returning from a fire call. It is equally important that such vehicles be returned to their stations with despatch and thereby be prepared to respond to another emergency, as it is for them to reach the scene of the fire without delay, and it was undoubtedly with this thought in mind that the legislation was framed so as to apply to the return trip.

(2) What is said as to the right-of-way provision applies with equal force to the regulation requiring other vehicles, upon the approach of a fire department vehicle, to stop until the fire department vehicle shall have trip.

(2) What is said as to the right-of-way provision applies with equal force to the regulation requiring other vehicles, upon the approach of a fire department vehicle, to stop until the fire department vehicle shall have passed.

(3) However, the prohibition against other vehicles following fire department vehicles closer than 600 feet is by its express terms confined to 'fire apparatus traveling in response to a fire alarm." The object of this regulation is to relieve congestion at the scene of the fire, and hence there is no good reason for extending the same to the return trip.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) THOMAS H. ROBINSON,
Attorney General.

PLANS KENT PRODUCTS EXHIBITS

County Agent J. D. McVean asks each organization in the county to send a representative to a meeting in the Kent County Chamber of Commerce to consider the advisability of holding a Kent County Products Show during the month of September.

Mr. McVean is calling this meeting at the request of a number of citizens who are interested in the show and the cooperation of each organization is asked so that the sentiment of the county may be determined in this matter.

The idea of this show is to exhibit all products grown and made in Kent county such as fruit, flowers, vegetables dairy products and cattle, sheep, poultry and probably manufactured articles. This will advertise Kent County products and create competition in exhibiting prize winning products.

ANNUAL MEETING DEL-MAR-VA MAY 16

The Fifth Annual Membership Meeting of the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association will be held Friday, May 16, at the Wicomico Hotel, Salisbury.

The meeting will be featured by reports of special committee now looking into several major projects of Peninsula interest. This will include a report from the committee headed by Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, of Chestertown, for the purpose of finding facts regarding the proposed Chesapeake Bay Bridge. This committee is active and has obtained data relative to the expense and tax burden should it be constructed at the expense of the State of Maryland as proposed by Governor Albert C. Ritchie.

A second report will be in readiness by a special committee headed by E. Dale Adkins, of Salisbury, which is investigating applications filed by the Baltimore Transfer Company and the Peninsula Auto Express Company, for permits to operate motor freight lines throughout the Eastern Shore Counties of Maryland. This committee has already heard representatives of the motor freight companies and the Pennsylvania Railroad, which favored granting of the applications, and also the independent truck operators on the Peninsula, which object to the applications being granted. A third meeting of this committee is scheduled for May 6th when the business interests of the Peninsula are invited to express their views.

A third report will be received from a committee headed by Ralph H. Grier, of Salisbury, which is preparing weather data at the request of Commander Jerome E. Hunsaker, of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation, to be considered by Dr. Hugo Eckener, Commander of the Graf Zeppelin, for the purpose of selecting a dirigible base on the Atlantic Coast for the Trans-Atlantic dirigible service to be put in operation. Ten cooperative weather observers on the Peninsula are preparing data to show climatic conditions which exist in Del-Mar-Va.

GRAND OPERA STAR TO SING HERE
