DIDO

Dido was the daughter of the King of Tyre. She was married to a very wealthy man, Acerbus, but at her father's death, her brother Pigmalion, anxious to get hold of the money of Acerbus, killed him; Dido, however, concealed his treasures and embarked to Northern Africa. There she determind to build a city, and began to bargain with the inhabitants for land on which to build it. Tradition tells us that they offered her land enough to be inclosed by an ox hide. Then Dido cut the hide in narrow stripes and sewed them together, thus enclosing plenty of land to build her city and there she founded Carthage famous in history, as the great rival of the city Rome.

In his Aeneid, Virgil makes Eneas, one of the great heroes of Troy, flee from the burning city on the night that Troy was taken accompanied by his father and many other Trojans. These fugitives were warned by the oracles that they must go into Italy and found a city which should conquer the Greeks. But the gods who favored the Greeks determined that he should never reach Italy so they induced Eolus, who had charge of the winds to let loose his bag in which the winds were confined. Thus Eneas and his companions were shipwrecked and were about to be dashed to pieces by the waves, when Venus who protected Eneas, appealed to Neptune, the god of the waters, and he, lifting up his face above the angry sea, stilled it with a stroke of his mighty trident, and the exhausted travelers were landed at the City of Carthage. Dido, the queen received them gladly, and night after night she would listen to the Eneas telling of the exploits and woes of Troy and the heroic deeds of Hctor and others. So, Eneas and the queen grew to love each other very dearly, but at night voices would whisper to him that he was doing wrong to linger; that he must away to Italy. In vain he would say that the ships were dashed to pieces and that the queen would not furnished them with means to build others. But the voices still whispered "away."

In the meantime Dido was doing all in her power to keep her lover with her. She no longer thought of the power and glory of her great city she thought only of pleasing him.

But Eneas began secretly to make preparations to depart. They built ships behind the great Cliffs of the city and when they were finished and ready for the journey, they embarked, daring not to tell the queen of their going.

But one of her messengers ran and told Dido that Eneas was gone.

With queenly grace she ordered her subjects to build a funeral pyre. They obeyed, weeping to see the distress of their queen.

Then she climbed to the top of it and applied the torch and stabbing herself she fell among the flames, Eneas, heartsick at leaving Dido behind, looked back. Outlined against the setting sun he saw the beautiful form of the queen mount the pyre and plunge a dagger in her breast, and then he knew that all was over.

HEALTH

There has just been a great meeting of physicians and surgeons, and in their discussion, they find that where tuberculosis and many contagious diseases are on the decline, Cancer has really increased in the last few years.

To give warning of its ravages Cancer week has been established, and all kinds of antiseptics have been recommended. But that is certainly one thing that requires being taken in time any sore that festers and does not heal rapidly requires a Dr's. care. It a wart or mold becomes sore especially after one is forty, the person should not try to treat it, but should go at once to the Dr.

This body of ours in a complicated machine and to keep it in good condition all the cogs should be attended to. There is no reason why a person naturally frail should not become strong and healthy if he regards the laws of health. Let us then be on the watch to see that our body is working well.

CORRECT POSTURE

In the olden days women generally had a graceful carriage. This was because they carried loads upon their heads making them lift up their chest and therefore making them straight and their limbs plaint.

When correctly taught, the perfect sitting and walking posture is comfortable. It is easy from the minute you begin to correct your habitual slouch, even if you have been stoop-shouldered for a number of years.

Sitting or standing straightens the spine. Do not pull the shoulders back, but lift the chest. The shoulders will necessarily fall into their correct positions easily and comfortably. And if a little stretching of the neck, arms and legs is done before the correct position of the chest is assumed, the lifting of the chest will be accompanied by a feeling of relief and restifulness. ,

Correct posture in walking and sitting, aids you to breath properly, and will eventually return to you the loss of sparkle in the eyes and color in the cheeks—providing, of course, that you are not in ill health.

Superfluous Hair

Try a solution of two teaspoonsfuls of peroxide and half a teaspoonful of household ammonia. The ammonia takes away the oil so that the peroxide may be absorbed quickly.

STYLES

Black and Silver ToTnes With Gray Hair

Black and silver make a fine combination for evening wear for the woman with gray hair. Mrs. Minneger-ode Andrews, Washington novelist, is wearing a black taffeta dress elaborately trimmed in silver. The extremely full skirt swirls gracefully around here ankles.

She wears a black velvet band ornamented with silver around her throat and carries a cane of ebony chased with silver.

RECIPES

Graham Hurry-Ups.—One cup white flour, one cup graham flour, one-half teaspoon salt, four teaspoons baking powder, two tablespoons butter, hree-fourths cup milk. Sift dry ingredients together, returning bran to mixture, and rub in the butter. Add the milk. Drop by small spoonsfuls in groups of threes on to a greased sheet. Bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, for about fifteen minutes. If larger drops are made, they will, of course, take longer to bake.

Maple Puff—One cup milk, scalded, two egg yolks, slightly beaten, one package strawberry gelatin, one cup maple syrup, one-half cup walnuts, chopped, two egg whites, stiffly beaten. Pour a little of the hot milk into the egg yolks in the top of double boiler, but do not set in the water container, stir vigorously, add rest of milk. Return to double boiler and cook until mixture coats a spoon. Add the prepared gelatin, and stir until it is thoroughly dissolved. Add syrup, then cool. When slightly thickened, beat with a rotary beater until fluffy. Fold in nuts and egg whites. Pour into a wet mold and chill. erve with whipped cream.

Fresh Strawberry Pie—One quart berries, one and one-fourth cups sugar, one and one-half tablespoons minute tapioca or more. Wash and hull berries and cut in halves. Combine sugar and tapioca with the berries and let stand 15 minutes. Line a nine-inch pie tin with pastry, fill sheil with the berries and wet the edges of the crust. Roll the top crust, make several incisions to allow the escape of steam, and cover pie. Press edges firmly together, trim off excess pastry and bake in a hot oven, 425 degrees, for 15 minutes, then decrease the heat to moderate, 350 degrees, and bake 30 minutes longer.

Today's Recipes

Cheese Souffle—One cup milk scalded, three tablespoons minute tapioca, one cup grated cheese, three eggs, one teaspoon salt. Add tapioca to the milk and cook in the top of a double boiler 15 minutes, or until tapioca is clear, stirring frequently. Cool. Add well-beaten egg yolks and mix carefully, then fold in the stiffly-beaten egg whites to which the salt has been added. Turn in a greased baking dish, set dish in a pan of hot water and bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees, 50 minuts. If the souffle is made in the individual ramequins bake only about 30 minutes. The souffle is done when it browns and shrinks a trifle from the pan.

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective anti-acid like Phillips Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal.

Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

Next time a hearty meal, or too rich a diet has brought on the least discomfort, try—

THE MODERN FUNERAL

The methods and systems in vogue a few years ago, and still adhered to by many, are no longer applicable. In this age and generation a better understanding of the duties of the funeral director has changed the old order. One of the most difficult problems confronting the modern funeral director will be solved when the public realizes that SERVICE is the principal, and in fact, only commodity which we have to offer.

The casket and funeral appurtenances are negligible, of practically so, requiring little or no expense and, in the matter of expense, consist only with the costs of production.

Service is the main consideration—the care and disposition of the body of the one that has passed on. Knowledge and ability and a readiness to relieve the burden of those who are left to mourn.

It May Be Urgent

When your Children Cry for It

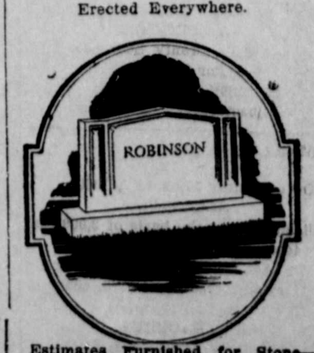

Castoria is a comfort when Baby is fretful. No sooner taken than the little one is at ease. If restless, a few drops soon bring contentment. No harm done, for Castoria is a baby remedy, meant for babies. Perfectly safe to give the youngest infant; you have the doctors' word for that! It is a vegetable product and you could use it every day. But it's in an emergency that Castoria means most. Some night when constipation must be relieved—or colic pains—or other suffering. Never be without it; some mothers keep an extra bottle, unopened, to make sure there will always be Castoria in the house. It is effective for older children, too; read the book that comes with it.
