OLD FRIENDS' DAY SUNDAY

The annual celebration of Old Friends' Day at Old St. Paul's Church in lower Kent will be held on Sunday, June 1. Bishop Davenport will preach at the morning service.

For seven years Old St. Paul's has held this annual service on the first Sunday in June at which time friends of the venerable parish come from all parts of Kent and often from great distances. St. Paul's was founded in 1693 and is holding the record of being the oldest church in the State to have had services held continuously. In its picturesque churchyard with its magnificent trees and ancient box lie the founders of the County whose family names are still represented by active members of the parish today. These families have scattered and the various branches are more and more coming into the custom of holding reunions on the occasion of Old Friends' Day.

After the morning service and celebration of the Holy Communion, the congregation meet together under the great oaks and hold a picnic luncheon and social hour which gives an opportunity to the people to greet old friends and make new ones. Following the luncheon recess is a short vesper service. The parishes of I. U. and Betterton, both of which are served by the Rev. John White, rector of Old St. Paul's, forego their own services on that day and unite with the older parish.

A cordial invitation to everyone is extended for this occasion.

A GOOD PLACE TO LIVE

Work for and with your home town. Beautify it. Improve it. Make it attractive. Help make it the kind of a town that you really want to live in.

Towns, you know, get reputations the same as men. Repetition makes reputation. Make your town's reputation one that will attract favorable attention. It will thus draw people and where people prefer to come there is always prosperity

Help rid your town of one eyesore after another. Clean up the vacant lots and plant them in gardens. Cut the grass and clean up generally. Wash the store windows and do a little store and house painting. Be fair to your public officials and pay your taxes without grumbling, so they may be able to give the best possible service back to you. Our town should be one where people are friendly, where progressiveness is appreciated, where good roads make it accessible and where proper sanitary methods are conducive to healthfulness. That's the kind of a home town we want.

DECORATION DAY OBSERVED

Decoration Day was appropriately observed yesterday by a parade to the cemetery and decorating the graves of ex-service men. Those who took part in the American Legion parade were local Legion Post, Fire Company, Fire Company Band, Boy Scouts and Camp Fire Girls.

DEATHS

Miss Lucy Louisa Miller, passed away at the Methodist Episcopal Hospital, Baltimore, Maryland. Wedensday morning, April the Ninth, Nineteen Thirty.

Complications due to advanced age caused her death.

She was the daughter of the late Elijah Eliason Miller and Louisa Redding and was born in Galena, Kent County, Maryland.

She leaves one brother, Charles Taylor Miller, and three sisters, Ann Eliza Miller, Grace Miller Davey, and Helen Eliason Holt, all children of the second wife Martha Rebecca Taylor, and all living in Baltimore for many years.

She spent the last five years in Baltimore with her oldest sister, Mrs. Holt, previous to that time being with relatives in Cecil and Kent Counties where she had many friends and was much loved for her sunny disposition and unselfish ways.

She had been a sufferer with rheumatism for many years, but never made a complaint, never seeming to think of herself.

She loved every inch of Maryland soil, and up to two weeks before her death spoke of going back to the Eastern Shore to live "Some day."

She was intensely interested in all affairs of State and City, and diligently read all the papers, and talked over the happenings everywhere.

TO SISTER LUCY

"Can this be Paradise" she said
"This land with pastures green.
Where I may rest my weary feet
And lay my burdns down?
My back is sore and very bent
And I would ease it of the pain.
"I've come so very far, my lord" she said,
"In search of this still stream
Of living water clear and sweet
Proceeding from the Throne.
Within my arms so tired and spent
These overripened sheaves of grain
Have scattered all the golden seed
Along the dark and dreary way;
And I bring nothing now, Oh God
No deeds of greatness have I done,
Just daily work, as was my meed
While striving hard with each new day
To brighten up the paths I trod
With others through the rain and sun."

"Oh Lord, my God, may I not stay
Within the gates of this fair land
I've come so very far to find
To lay my sheaves at Thy dear feet?"
"Daughter" He said with gracious mien
"Drop now thy burden, for today
And always shalt thou understand
The seed oft dropped mid storm and wind,
Have born the fruit of life replete
With goodness, far above that seen
Or known of in the earth below
Or yet the waters underneath."

Her limbs grew straight, her back unbent,
Her face shone now with youthful glow,
Her voice burst into song most sweet
"Oh Lord, my God, I am content
To rest me here on this bright shore
And sing Thy praises evermore."

Sister Helen.
