Dreco Cured All Her Ailments

Wife of a Prominent Farmer of Ridgely, W. Va., Tells of Her Experience With Dreco

Mrs. E. K. Blauch

"For those that are suffering like I did," declared Mrs. E. K. Blauch, of Ridgely, W.Va., to one of the Dreco Experts, "I want to tell of the Dreco treatments. "I had dizzy spells, terrible headaches and I was always tired and in such a run-down condition that I was unable to do my housework.

"After taking the Dreco treatments I am cured of all these ailments, and now I am on the road to health. It has invigorated my system, and overcome that tired, weary, lazy feeling."

PENINSULA NEWS

A channel bass, weighing 74 pounds, and measuring 4 feet long and 3 feet in girth at one section, was reported caught near Sharp's Island at the mouth of the Choptank River last week. This tops the last years record by 3 pounds of large bass caught in Peninsula waters. The fish was caught by Harry Stansbury, of Baltimore.

The Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia and the State of Delaware are aligned with Virginia coast cities and communties in an effort to force reducton of rates on the Pennsylvania Railroad ferry between Cape Charles, Old Point Comfort and Norfolk.

Thirty cases of typhoid fever have appeared in the vicinity of Salisbury, in Wicomico county, officials of the State Department of Health announced this week. The first cases were reported last Thursday and since that time the number has grown to thirty, according to Dr. S. H. Hurdle, county health officer.

Two cases of typhus fever were found in Easton this week. The attending physicians diagnosed them as typhus, but in order to be sure sent to Baltimore for Dr. C. H. Halliday, epidermologist of the State Department of Health, and Dr. A. R. Foley, epidermologist of the Province of Quebec, of the School of Hygiene, State Department of Health. The first diagnosis proved to be correct.

Proclamation

Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the State, 1930.

WHEREAS, at the January Session of the General Assembly of Maryland, held in the year 1929, two Acts were passed, to wit: Chapter 133 proposing an amendment to the Constitution of Maryland, title "Treasury Department," to authorize deputies in the Treasury Department to sign checks and warrants; and Chapter 348, proposing an amendement to the Constitution of Maryland, title "Legislative Department," regulating the compensation of the members of both Houses of the General Assembly of Maryland; in words and figures as follows:

CHAPTER 133

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Sections 2 and 3 of Article VI of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, title "Treasury Department," so as to confer upon the Legislature power to authorize duputies, employed in the Treasury Department, to sign, countersign and grant warrants, and to sign, countersign and issue checks for the withdrawal of funds from the State Treasury under regulations prescribed by the Legislature; and providing for the submission of said amendment to the legally qualified voters of the State for adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland, (three-fifths of all of the Members of both of the Houses concurring). That an amendment to Section 2 and 3 of Article XI of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, title "Treasury Department," be, and the same is hereby proposed, the said amendment if adopted by the legally qualified voters of the State, as herein provided, to become a part of said Constitution, and the said Sections as amended to read as follows:

2. The Comptroller shall have the general superintendence of the fiscal affairs of the State; he shall digest and prepare plans for the improvement and management of the revenue, and for the support of the public credit; prepare and report estimates of the revenues and expenditures of the State; superintend and enforce the prompt collection of all taxes and revenue; adjust and settle, on terms prescribed by law, with delinquent collectors and receivers of taxes and State revenue; preserve all public accounts; and decide on the forms of keeping and stating accounts. He, or such of his deputies as may be authorized to do so by the Legislature, shall grant, under regulations prescribed by Law, all warrants for money to be paid out of the Treasury, in pursuance of appropriations by law, and countersign all checks drawn by the Treasurer upon any bank or banks in which the moneys of the State, may, from time to time, be deposited. He shall prescribe the formalities of the transfer of stock, or other evidence of the State debt, and countersign the same, without which such evidence shall not be valid; he shall make to the General Assembly full reports of all his proceedings, and of the State of the Treasury Department of each Session; and perform such other duties as shall be prescribed by law.

3. The Treasurer shall receive the moneys of the State, and, until otherwise prescribed by law, deposit them, as soon as received, to the credit of the State, in such bank or banks as he may, from time to time, with the approval of the Governor, select (the said bank or banks giving security, satisfactory to the Governor, for the safekeeping and forthcoming, when required of said deposits), and he or such of his deputies as may be authorized to do so by the Legislature shall disburse the same for the purpose of the State according to law, upon warrants drawn by the Comptroller, or his duly authorized deputy, and on checks countersigned by the Comptroller, or his duly authorized deputy, and not otherwise. The Treasurer or such of his deputies as may be authorized to do so by the Legislature shall take receipts for all moneys paid from the Treasury Department; and receipts for moneys received by him shall be endorsed upon warrants signed by the Comptroller, or such deputy as may be authorized to do so by law, without which warrants, so signed, no acknowledgment of money received into the Treasury shall be valid; and upon warrants issued by the Comptroller, or his duly authorized deputy, the Treasurer shall make arrangements for the payment of the interest of the public debt, and for the purchase thereof, on account of the singing fund. Every bond, certificate, or other evidence of the debt of the State shall be signed by the Treasurer, and countersigned by the Comptroller; and no new certificate or other evidence intended to replace another shall be issued until the old one shall be delivered to the Treasurer, and authority executed in due form for the transfer of the same filed in his office, and the transfer accordingly made on the books thereof, and the certificate or other evidence cancelled; but the Legislature may make provisions for the loss of certificates, or other evidences of the debt; and may prescribe, by law, the manner in which the Treasurer shall receive and keep the moneys of the State.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted by the authority aforesaid, That the aforegoing sections, as amended, shall be, at the next General Election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, nineteen hundred and thirty, submitted to the legally qualified voters of the State for adoption or rejection in pursuance of the directions contained in Article XIV of the Constitution of this State, and at said General Election the vote on the proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the following synopsis of said amendment, under the caption of:

"CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT
AMENDING SECTIONS 2 AND 3 OF ARTICLE VI."

"This amendment confers upon the Legislature power to authorize deputies, employed in the Treasury Department, to sign, countersign and grant warrants and to sign, countersign and issue checks for the withdrawal of funds from the Treasury of the State under regulations prescribed by the Legislature.

Approved: April 2, 1929

CHAPTER 348

AN ACT to propose an amendment to Section 15 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, title "Legislative Department," regulating the compensation of the members of both Houses of the General Assembly of Maryland, and to provided for its submission of said amendment to the qualified voters of the State of Maryland for adoption or rejection.

Section 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of Maryland (three-fifths of all the members of each of the two Houses concurring). That the following be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendement to Section 15 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, title, "Legislative Department," the same, if adopted by the legally qualified voters of the State, as herein provided to become Section 15 of Article 3 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland.

15. The General Assembly may continue its session so long as in its judgment the public interest may require, for a period not longer than ninety days; and each member thereof shall receive a compensation of fifteen dollars per diem for every day he shall attend the session, but not for such days as he may be absent, unless absent on account of sickness or by leave of the House of which he is a member; and he shall also receive such mileage as may be allowed by law, not exceeding twenty cents per mile; and the presiding officer of each House shall receive an additional compensation of ten dollars per day. When the General Assembly shall be convened by Proclamation of the Governor, the session shall not continue longer than thirty days, and in such case the compensation shall be the same as herein prescribed.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That said aforegoing section hereby proposed as an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Maryland shall, at the next General Election for Members of the General Assembly of Maryland, be submitted to the legal and qualified voters of the State, for their adoption or rejection, in pursuance of the directions contained in Article 14 of the Constitution of the State of Maryland, and at the said General Election the vote on the said proposed amendment to the Constitution shall be by ballot, and upon each ballot there shall be printed the words "For the Constitutional Amendment," and "Against the Constitutional Amendment,' as now provided by law, and immediately after said election due returns shall be made to the Governor of the vote for and against the said proposed amendment, as prescribed by said Fourteenth Article of the Constitution, and further proceedings had in accordance with said Article Fourteen.

Approved: April 11, 1929.

NOW, THEREFORE, I ALBERT C. RITCHIE, GOVERNOR OF THE STATE OF MARYLAND, in pursuance of the direction contained in Section 1 of Article 14 of the Constitution of Maryland, do hereby order and direct that this proclamation containing full, true and correct copies of the text of said Chapters 133 and 348 of the Acts of the General Assembly of Maryland of 1929, be published in at least two newspapers in each of the counties of the State where so many may be published and where not more than one may be published then in that newspaper, and in three newspapers published in the City of Baltimore, one of which shall be published in the German language, once a week for at least three months next preceding the general election to be held in the State of Maryland on Tuesday the 4th day of November, 1930, at which election the said proposed amendments to the Constitution shall be submitted in form and manner prescribed by the General Assembly, to the legal and qualified voters of the State for their adoption or rejection.

That Ukulele Player

By LEETE STONE

(Copyright.)

THE Simpsons were at breakfast; that is, Mr. and Mrs. Simpson were, but Betty was absent. Simpson Senior spoke with a rasp in his tone:

"I suppose you realize that Betty didn't come in until two last night—and it's the second time this week?"

"Yes, Father," mildly, "but—"

"Out with that ukulele player again, I'll bet." The rasp sharpened.

"Now, Father, Jim Leeds is a nice, clean boy It's no sin to play the ukulele. You'd have got me a lot easier than you did if you'd done a little serenading."

At this juncture Betty Simpson entered, her pretty head tiptilted a trifle and her eyes dancing.

"Don't tell me I'm making conversation again, Dad."

"Betty, where were you last night?" Ominous inquiry.

"Dad," with delicate jauntiness, "d'you know if you had a thousand dollars for every time you've asked me that question at breakfast you could make quite a killing downtown today?"

"You won't gain anything by being disrespectful, young lady. From now on, I'm going to take charge of your affairs, and the first thing I'm—"

"Why, Dad," Betty laughed her most engaging laugh, "you mustn't talk to me like that, you really mustn't."

Mr. Simpson's naturally high color took on a deeper hue and he spluttered. Lydia Simpson devoted herself calmly to her soft boiled eggs. Betty assumed a dutiful expression and sipped orange juice daintily.

"I'll talk to you just as I please and you'll listen. The first thing you'll do is stop running around till two and three in the morning with this ukulele player."

"What's your grudge against Jim, Dad? He's straight, has a good job in a good orchestra—and he loves me as if he meant it. Why, Dad, Jim's romantic, and that's rare with what you call the younger generation. He'll lead a symphony orchestra some day."

Simpson Senior touched his lips with his napkin, withdrew his chair a few inches from the table, straightened out the creases in his waistcoat, and, leaning slightly forward, placed both hands on the edge of the breakfast table.

"Now let's be sensible, Daughter. Your mother and I have given you everything—education, pleasure, travel; everything you've needed or wanted. Consider us! It's time you married. We want you to marry Cornelius Worthingham. I won't say he's particularly romantic but he's a sportsman and a gentleman, and very fond of you. You like him or you wouldn't have played around with him so much this last year. You see, my dear—"

"I knew it!" Betty broke in, laughing again. She seemed in particularly high spirits this morning. "I can speak your little piece for you, Dad, listen: Betty marries Corny. Betty's father, wielding magic wand of relationship, will profit socially and financially—financially especially—because fangs of famous Wolf of Wall Street will be drawn as far as Betty's father is concerned. Does it listen well, Dad?" Betty's dimples deepened as she gazed at him with humorous interrogation.

His bluff being so succinctly called, Mr. Simpson veered to another tack. Expansively, genially, even somewhat soothingly, he addressed himself to his difficult daughter.

"Nonsense, my dear! It's entirely of you I'm thinking. I want you to be happy, as your mother and I have been happy."

"Oh, I see—" Betty responded meditatively.

Believing he saw signs of weakening, Simpson Senior continued:

"Now here's my plan, Betty. A week from Saturday we'll have a party, invite every one that counts and announce your engagement to Corny. He's always asking you to marry him, you say. Well, see that he asks you that night if not before—and accept him this time." Mr. Simpson's mouth widened to the correct proportions of his best business smile. "You'll never regret taking Daddy's advice, dear."

"I'll have to think it over, Dad." Betty's dimples and eyes were positively frisky in their attempt to cloak a bursting elation.

Every few seconds she turned her head and looked down the wide hall to the base of the broad stairs. In the little silence that fell at the breakfast table, energetic footsteps were heard on the floor above.

"Mother—please tell Hilda to set another place."

Father and mother both looked inquiringly at their thoroughly up-to-date daughter. Above the now descending tread, rose the soft twang of ukulele strains in that particular number, "There's Danger in Your Eyes, Cherie."

Mr. Simpson's horrified stare betokened apoplexy. Lydia Simpson smiled a knowing smile. Betty addressed Hilda, the maid, who stood at her side.

"Hilda, that's my husband, Mr. Leeds, coming down. We were married last night. Get him some orange juice and toast and coffee, please."

"Y-yes, yes—Madam."
