COLORED MAN SHOT

Spencer Jacobs, colored, is in a serious condition in Easton hospital as a result of a shot gun wound in the shoulder received Saturday night.

The accident occured in a colored restaurant on Cannon street and a report of the shooting was that Jacobs was sitting at a table eating and Julian Hutchins was exhibiting his skill in drilling with a gun learned in the army. During his performance the gun was discharged, the load entering Jacobs shoulder. Hutchins is in the Kent County jail where he is being held awaiting the result of Jacobs injuries.

LOCAL BOYS IN AUTO WRECK

Harrison W. Vickers, Jr., was taken to the University hospital, Philadelphia, and Aldie Clements and Parks Rasin, Jr., were confined to their homes here with cuts and bruises this wkek as a result of an automobile accident at Brown's corner between Centreville and Church Hill last Saturday night.

The three boys, in the Ford automobile of Mr. Harrison W. Vickers were returning from Centreville and while rounding the curve at Brown's Corner, near Starkeys Corner were in collision with an automobile occupied by Mr. Henry Graff, of Baltimore, Miss Lyons, of Trappe, Md., and another lady whose identity is unknown.

Miss Lyons received a dislocated hip and sprained ankle and Mr. Graff received a broken thumb and badly cut hand.

An automobile occupied by Messrs. William Coleman and Burton Green, of Crumpton and Misses Margaret Ann Brown and Jesse Moore, of Chestertown, arrived at the scene shortly after the accident and took the injured to the office of Dr. McPherson, Centreville where first aid was rendered and then took Mr. Graff and Miss Lyons to Easton hospital. Messrs. Rasin and Clements were brought to their homes here and Harrison Vickers was taken to the Philadelphia hospital in the local ambulance suffering with a compressed fracture of the skull; he returned to Chestertown yesterday.

RECEIVING CONTRIBUTIONS FOR NEEDY

In response to the appeal sent out last week by the Kent County Chamber of Commerce warm clothing is being sent to the office for distribution. With the sudden cold weather several calls oxering bedding for the family in extreme need were phoned in on Thanksgiving Day. When the family became supplied with enough the rest was held in resrve for a similar need.

It is being found that there is a great call for shoes for children of school age in order to permit attendance at school during the cold months. The public is asked to keep these needs in mind and bring various articles to the center as soon as convenient.

The Washington College Orchestra and Glee Club have arranged for a concert, Sunday afternoon, December 14, at 3.30 p. m. at William Smith Hall. Tickets will be sold at fifty cents and the entire proceeds will be used to spread a little happiness among the needy children of the County on Christmas Day. The College musicians have entered into the project in a wholehearted fashion and are making a strenuous effort to stage a worthwhile program for the occasion.

THREE FIRES HERE WEDNESDAY

The old superstition among the firemen of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company that fire calls come in series of threes again proved itself on Wednesday of this week when two chimney fires and a serious fire in the up-town residential section broke out within a ten hour period.

The first call came at 10 a. m. when the chimney at the Duyer Apartment caught fire at 12.30, a. m. chimney fire at the home of Miss Lizzie Wickes called the firemen.

At 6 p. m. firemen were called to the apartment house on the corner of Kent and Cannon street, owned by Dr. H. P. Copeland. When firemen arrived on the scene the back part of the house was in flames and the fire had worked its way up the stairway from the first floor to the roof. The fire was quickly extinguished with three lines of hose from two fire trucks.

The fire apparently started from an oil stove on an enclosed back porch and spread rapidly. The apartment house is occupied by Mrs. Ogelsby, Mrs. Pearl Worrel, and Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Wessel.

SCOUTS WILL MEET HERE

The Scout of Betterton, Rock Hall and Chestertown will meet here on Friday, December 19.

NOW AND THEN

NOW AND THEN

Weeds

From the Paris (Mo.) Mercury.

Sometimes I wonder how weeds came to be,
And if they are but rosebuds gone astray—
Often they make me think of folks who grow
Along the barren edges of life's highway.

Like human souls who somehow miss or spurn
The power that molds the superman from clay—
Are weeds just roses that, too, miss or turn
Their faces from the sunlight day by day?

RUTH Y. SHAW.

Weeds are "Flowers out of place" we learn at school. What we need is another Burbank to combine their hardiness with the fragrant flower. There are many beautiful weeds. At one time it was quite the thing to bring Golden rod in our homes, until the hay fever victims felt their pollen made them worse, so now it, blooms in all its luxuriance in the fields but no one dares to have it decorate ones home, Perhaps some day we will find that we are wrong and that its pollen can do no harm.

There seems to be no more delightful sport than that of killing the wild life. We attended a Geographic lecture some time ago when a Mrs. Carter was telling of her thrilling experience in Africa with her husband, both of them killing all the animals that they could.

She said that a beautiful leopard come into view and her husband told her she might kill that one. So she shot him dead. But ducking is the games in these parts.

HUNTING DUCKS
By S. W. Dixon

Give me a gun and some old marsh,
And the whistle of wild ducks' wings,
When the roar of my shotgun wakes the morn
And a hundred flying things.

With a pop, pop here, and a bang, bang there,
The opening season's sign,
And the next duck comes from we know not where,
Across the gray sky-line.

Apples have always played an important role in the affairs of this world. Perhaps it was the apple that caused the downfall of our first parents, the same fruit that stuck in Adam's throat making the proverbial Adam's Apple, which has descended to his sons, and which they never have been able to swallow.

But they are playing a great part right now for while other produce failed on account of the drouth, they have been abundant and have aided unemployment some what, as they are peddled around, from door to door.

So it seems that it is our duty to eat as many apples as we can, thereby helping, and at the same time adding to our health and vigor.

Little Tommy was a pretty thoughtful fellow. One evening his father called down to stop the radio as he must have some sleep. "My, but Edison must be the wisest man in the world," he, said, shaking his head. "Why" asked his mother. "Well, he replied. First he invented the electric light, and then he invented the phonograph and the radio so people would have to sit up and use his lights. He knew what he was doing."

CHESTERTOWN WINS SHORE CHAMPIONSHIP

Chestertown High School won over Oxford High School in a hard fought soccer game at Denton yesterday by a score of 4 to 0. The game was the finale for the Shore championship, each team having eliminated the other High Schools in their respective sections of the Eastern Shore.

This victory not only clinches the Shore championship but entitles the winner to compete with the Western Shore champions for the State championship.

DEATHS

JAMES T. DIXON

Mr. James T. Dixon died at his late home on Queen street, Chestertown at noon Thursday. He has been in failing health for several years and his condition has been serious for the past three years.

Mr. Dixon was one of Kent's most respected citizens and was prominent in the religious, business and official life in Kent County. He was the only son of the late Thomas P. and Jane A. Dixon, of Kent county who were prominently connected with the building of the Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Chestertown. Thomas P. Dixon served as commissioner of Kent county for four terms.

Mr. James T. Dixon was born on a farm near Chestertown September 11, 1857, and educated in the public schools and attended Washington College. In 1891 he was elected on the Democratic ticket to a six year term as Register of Wills and at the expiration of this term in 1897 he was elected Clerk of the Court for Kent county, to which office he was elected three successive terms or 18 years in all until 1915. From that date he took up the management of his farm near Chestertown until three years ago when he sold his farm and retired. He took an active part as a director of the Chestertown Bank of Maryland until his death.

He is survived by his widow, who was formerly Miss Anna Craddock, of Cecil county, and the following children: Mrs. Nesbitt Trenchard, of Baltimore, Mr. J. Thomas Dixon, Deputy Clerk of the Court for Kent County, and Miss Genevieve Dixon and Mr. Marion A. Dixon, at home.

Funeral services will be held at Sacred Heart Catholic Church today, Saturday at 10 a. m., Father Earner, officiating. Interment in Chester cemetery.

The active bearers will be: Messrs. J. C. Quinn, Paul Massey, Charles E. McGee, Capt. Harry Pheffer, John H. O. Stokes and John Schauber. The honorary bearers will be the Directors of the Chestertown Bank of Maryland. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

Mrs. Emily J. Rouse, died Sunday afternoon at her home in Worton, in her 81st year.

Mrs. Rouse was one of Worton's highly respected residents having lived there all her life.

She will be sadly missed by her family where she administered to their every want as far as her health would permit.

She was devoted member of the Worton Presbyterian Church until it closed, when she worshiped at the M. E. Church.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. K. P. Harris and two sons, Thomas Rouse, of Still Pond and Frank Rouse, of Worton, and two brothers, C. Roby Rasin and Perry P. Rasin, of Worton. Service were held Wednesday afternoon at 1 p. m. at her late home, conductng by Rev. S. L. Hanby, assisted by Rev. J. Lee Marker. Interment in Still Pond cemetery. B. R. Fellows, undertaker. The bearers were: her nephews, Messrs. Tilden, Morris and Barney Cooper, Henry, George and Parks Rasin.

Miss Julia E. Cacy, of Millington, passed away after a brief illness at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Fedderman on Friday morning, November 28. The funeral took place at Holy Cross Chapel on Monday at 2 p. m. Rev. J. H. Garner and Rev. Walter Eastburn, of Church Hill officiating and she was buried in the family lot near Massey. The pall bearers were: Dr. Merritt Brice, Mr. Paul Comegys, Mr. S. T. Pippin, Mr. Lesten Pennington, Mr. William T. Jones and Dr. J. L. Power.

She leaves behind her two nieces, Mrs. Finley Collins and Mrs. R. E. Fedderman and one nephew, Mr. W. E. Cacy, of Dumont, N. J.

Miss Cacy was possessed of a bright social nature and she leaves behind, besides her relatives, a host of admiring friends.

Mr. John C. Ruth died at the home of Mr. Theodore Wood where he had been making his home, on Friday, November 28, after a lingering illness. In spite of physical handicaps Mr. Ruth was in the business world for many years, working first with Dr. J. T. Twilley and later with C. W. Kibler & Sons, until he was forced to give up on account of infirnity. The funeral was held at the residence of Mrs. Thomas W. Wroth, his sister, on Water St. the Rev. Charles L. Atwater officiating.

He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Thomas G. Wroth, of Chestertown, and Miss Mary Ruth and one brother, Mr. DeCoursey Ruth, of Newark, N. J., His bearers were: Mr. Theodore Wood, Mr. C. T. Kibler, Mr. Thomas Kibler, Mr. Virgil Kendall, Mr. Joseph Trew and Mr. Irving Brown. Interment at Chester Cemetery. C. L. Dodd had charge of funeral arrangements.

Mr. Amos Crouch died at the home of his son, Maurice A. Crouch on College Avenue on Saturday, November, 29th, at 2 o'clock, aged 62 years.

He is survived by three children, Maurice A. Crouch, of Chestertown, William Crouch, of Queenstown, and Mrs. Annie Boettinger, of Baltimore, also one brother, Mr. Bertie Crouch, of Chestertown, and one sister, Mrs. Ada Reynolds, of Felton, Del.

Funeral services were held from the home of his son, Maurice, on Monday at 2.30 p. m. Rev. J. H. Wright officiating.

The pall bearers were: Norman Patrick, Clarence Hurd, William Hodgson, Joseph Walters, William Goodman and Joseph Davis. Interment in Chester Cemetery. William H. Good undertaker.

Charles E. Smith, 49, died at his late home in Piney Neck, Kent county on Monday. Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at 2 p. m. from Wesley Chapel and were conducted by the Reverend Mr. Baxley. Interment was made in the Wesley Chapel Cemetery. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

The deceased is survived by a brother, Washington Smith, who lives in Baltimore.

Mrs. Mary A. Goodman, 85, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William W. Johnson, in Baltimore, last Friday, November 28. She was born in October 1845 and was the daughter of the late Robert and Mary E. Hadaway.

She is survived by four sons: William, Robert, Harry and Elmer Goodman, all of Quaker Neck; and three daughters, Lula, of Quaker Neck, and Essie and Nora, of Baltimore. She also leaves a sister, Mrs. Jacob Snyder, and two brothers, C. G. and Thomas Hadaway, of Worton. Surviving also are 34 grandchildren and 27 great-grand-children.

Funeral services were held last Sunday afternoon from the home of her son, Robert Goodman, in Quaker Neck. The Reverend Oliver Friedel officiated and interment was made in Chester Cemetery. W. T. Hicks, undertaker.

CHRISTMAS CELEBRATION HERE DEC. 13

MERCHANTS PLAN LARGE CELEBRATION IN CHESTERTOWN THAT DAY

A four page advertising sheet will shortly be in the hands of Kent and Queen Anne's Countains featuring Chestertown's Christmas Treat. This event has been staged for Saturday, December 13th, for the children and at the same time the merchants are offering special Christmas attractions at moderate prices.

Santa Claus has an appointment with every child in Kent and Queen Anne's for Saturday morning at 11 a. m. at which time he will distribute advance Christmas gifts and take not of the heart's desires of the little folk, all of whom are advised to have their lists ready for a prompt reply to the question Old Kris will put to them "What do you want for Christmas?"

About 2 p. m. a treasure hunt will be staged and prizes will be given the first three contestants who discover the hidden treasure. The route will be complicated and the contestants will ned to have bloodhound qualifications to follow the scent.

Announcement at this time can only be made of a surprise feature which will follow the completion of the treasure hunt. Full particulars will be giver at a later date.

This year Chestertown's shop windows are gaily decorated and hold the atmosphere of Christmas as never before. The merchants have made an extra eqort to furnish variety, quality and moderate prices for the Christmas shopping. December 13 will be one of the big days in the history of similar events held in Chestertown.

TURKEY GROWERS TO MEET DECEMBER 12

The pre-Christmas market meeting of the Maryland Turkey Growers Association of Kent County has been moved from its regular day to Friday, December 12 at te office of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce in order to decide on action to meet the Christmas market.

Buyers admit that they were surprised at the upward trend the week previous to Thanksgiving and lay the fact to the lack of prime turkeys in city markets.

Some members have been selling early this week at thirty cents per pound live weight at their farms, others are holding for possible better prices or until their birds reach a stage where they can command that price or more.

—The members of all fraternal orders in the town and county are invited to meet at Christ M. P. Church next Sunday evening at 7.15. Dr. Sexsmith, pastor of the church will preach a sermon on the subject. "Fraternity."

SPORTS OF WEEK

NOTRE DAME IN GREAT INTER-WITH SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA—WESTERN MARYLAND FAVORED AGAINST MARYLAND — NAVY AND PENN—OTHER NOTES OF INTEREST

BY POLK T. BRAMBLE

Notre Dame and Southern California will meet today in their annual gridiron classic at Los Angeles, and the eyes and the ears of the whole football world will be on them. While but 90,000 will see the great contest, practically every radio in the country will be tuned in for the battle. This game is being mentioned as the championship game of the year. However, it cannot be so named rightly. Certainly Alabama's great record in the South cannot be discounted, after winning every game against a list of the South's greatest teams and after only having two touchdowns scored against them, and winning every game by two or more touchdowns. Certainly Washington State's great record of Coast Champions cannot be done away with, although Southern California's scores against some teams have been a bit more impressive. Utah's record as Rocky Mountain Conference champions cannot be eliminated, although perhaps they have not quite as strong a team as some of the others. Southern California has a mighty team, but they are not Coast Champions, because Washington State hung up a 7-6 score against them, and you cannot explain that away, any more than you can explain away Notre Dame's 7-6 victory over Army, and their close calls with Southern Methodist and Northwestern. A great majority of experts on football are picking Southern California against Notre Dame, they may be right. But if Notre Dame goes into that game with their team in good shape, and the weather is not too warm, look out for them. Any team that can boast of a Carrideo and a Swartz and a Brill and Mullins, is liable to do anything on a football field.

Western Maryland, leading Eastern football teams in records of games played, will play Maryland this afternoon in Baltimore. This will be a real football game. Western Maryland should win somewhat handily. They have a mighty aggregation, and we don't believe they can be stopped by any of the State teams, and by few, if any, of the other teams playing.

Navy and Penn will play today on Franklin Field in their annual game. This is a toss up. Against Notre Dame, Navy made a far more impressive showing than Penn, but somehow or other Penn wins from Navy. We make no prediction and look for a close game.

If the eight Maryland colleges were grouped into a conference the contestants of Saturday would lead as the only undefeated elevens. Of course, the teams played varying kinds of opposition, St. John's having had the most formidable of all others. The standing based upon the Dickinson system, as used by the Maryland Scholastic Association here, would then be as follows:

	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Western Maryland	4	0	0	20
Maryland	3	0	0	30
Loyola	2	1	0	25
Mt. St. Mary's	2	1	0	25
St. John's	1	2	0	20
Johns Hopkins	0	2	0	15
Washington	0	3	0	15
Baltimore	0	3	0	15

With the defeat Saturday of both the Army and Dartmouth, Dick Harlow's Western Maryland outfit has returned to the top of the Eastern football heap so far as cold figures go. Western Maryland, tied once, is the only eleven in the East that has not been beaten.

Colgate enjoys a wide lead in total points scored with 376. The only other teams which have passed the 300-mark are Dartmouth and Springfield, each with 301. Western Maryland has put up the tightest defense, allowing only 14 points to the enemy. On the other hand, the University of Baltimore with only one victory in ten games, has allowed 360 points to the opposition.

Records of representative teams as compiled by the Asociated Press follow:

College	W.	L.	T.	Pts.	o.p.
Wsetern Maryland	8	0	1	239	14
Geneva	9	1	0	196	98
Colgate	8	1	0	376	21
Springfield	8	1	0	301	34
Fordham	8	1	0	215	29
Army	8	1	1	262	22
Dartmouth	7	1	1	301	46
Albright	7	1	1	167	59
St. John's, N. Y.	6	1	0	111	45

Scoring nine points with a touchdown and three extra points in Thursday's game, Leonard Macaluso, of Colgate, leading scorer of the East, brought his total up to 144 points for the season, and increased his margin to 48 points over his nearest rivals.

KENT IN HEALTH CONTEST

J. W. Wallace, M. D. Field Director of the United States Inter-Chamber Health Conservation Contest visited the Kent Cuonty Chamber of Commerce and conferred with Nell C. Westcott, executive secretary, Louis C. Robinson, superintendent of schools and local health authorities on November 28 at the Chamber headquarters.

Chestertown is one of the 187 cities that have already officially entered the United States Chamber contest which is open only to members of the national organization. These 187 cities represent 43 states and the Ditsrict of Columbia.

The contest was first launched in 1929 when 140 cities competed. These cities represented about 20 per cent. of the total population of the nation and is a much larger percentage than has been representaed by the Fire Waste Contest which originated in 1923. The purpose of the contest for health conservation as announced at the time it was launched was two fold: first, to bring into closer relationship the business and professional men such as might be identified with the local Chamber and the official and non-official health agencie thus acquainting the business men with the local health problems and attempt to effect local improvements whereever such improvement sems desirable; secondly, to assist in cutting down economic losses due to preventable illness and untimely death.

The contest feature. it will be seen, is secondary; the most important feature being the improvement of local conditions. For the contest, cities are divided into different classes according to population. In 1929 there were five classes; for 1930 there are six. Chestertown is entered in the class with those under 20,000 and competes, of course, with thos eof its own class. and possibly as a county unit rather than as the town itself sinc ethe county machine is operated for town and rusal districts as a single unit.

Cities are scored on the following points: satisfactory water supply, sewage disposal, milk supply, preventive measures which include vaccinnation against small-pox and administration of toxin-antoxin against diphtheria); health work in the schools; control of communicable disease; public health nursing service; laboratory facilities, medical conference and clinics including venereal, tuberculosis and dental; institution of programs of general health education and adult periodic health examinations.

Dr. Wallace made a survey of the county unit as it now standsand suggested recommendations to improve the set-up.
