1931

The year 1930 has passed into history, its last chapter has been written of every trade and profession. It has brought many changes, some of which will affect our business lives very much in 1931.

Adjustments and reductions in the prices of many commodities have been made and these changes are reflected in our prices.

You may have paid a certain price for an article here a month or two ago, but do not take for granted that our price on that same article is the same today.

We want to assure you that every change in prices will be passed on to our customers. We want you to feel when buying at this store that you are being given the benefit of our careful buying, from many markets on a cash basis. All of these benefits we pass on to you in every department, whether your purchases be large or small.

We solicit a reasonable share of your patronage in 1931. Let us help you make 1931 a successful year.

Yours to Serve,

Jones & Satterfield
