BY A WOMAN

EUGENIE, EMPRESS OF FRANCE

Eugenie was the wife of Napoleon III the last emperor of France. She was born at Grenada. Spain in 1826 the daughter of Count Monijo. Eugenie was educated in Paris and she appeared in society there in 1851 and faccenated everyone by her charm and amiability. In 1852 the Emperor Napoleon invited her and her mother to visit him at Fontainebleu, and there in the picturesque riding parties, the young spaniard showed herself an expert horsewoman. Many of the French nobility looked down upon her as she was not of noble birth, but when she complained of it to the Emperor he said "I will avenge you" and then he made a proposal of marriage to her. When some of his subjects complained that she was much beneath him he said, "I have preferred to marry a woman whom I love and respect, to one whom I do not know, Eugenie is endowed with all the qualities of the soul, she will be an ornament to the tarone, and in days of danger she will be its support."

The marriage was celebrated with great pomp and the bride used her wedding present of 600,000 francs for founding a college for women.

She had a son whom they called the Prince Imperial, and that increased her popularity. By her beauty and charm of manner she contributed much to the French court and when troubles came to the Empire she showed courage and calmness in the rising tide of revolution. She acted three times as regent during her husband's absence, and was consulted on many affairs of state.

During the Franco—Prussion war when her husband was prisoner after the battle of Sedan and the palace was surrounded by a howling mob she was urged to fly. She dressed in very plain clothes and managed to pass through without being noticed. Then she entered into a common cab and drove to the home of her doctor, Thomas W. Evans, an American dentist who had been a great friend. He placed her in his carriage and covered her with a rug and drove through the lines of German sentries surrounding Paris, who on stopping the carriage did not notice the human form hidden in the rug. Dr. Evans took her to England where she met her son. They took up their residence in England and when Napoleon was released from prison, he joined them there. Eugenie became a close friend of Queen Victoria, and when Napoleon died a statue was erected in his honor. Her son went to Southern Africa with the English troops and there was killed by the Zulas. It was the greatest grief in her life and she went to Africa and brought his body back to England, and buried him beside his father. After this she lived in retirement taking no part in politics. She lived to see the French nation win back the province of Alsace—Loraine which the German had taken from them. She died in 1920 at the age of ninety-four, honored by the English and loved by the French.

LA MODE

Morning Frock

Tailored sports and morning dresses run to meshes, linens, piques and cotton tweeds. The cotton tweeds are very good looking and have the added attraction of a little brimmed hat to match. Some of them are made on the two-piece style with a tuck-in top and a flaring skirt. They are excellent golf and tennis dresses.

Color is to play an important role in the style composition of Spring costumes. Everybody is tired of black and of the somber tones worn so much this Winter. Pastels are coming back for sports costumes, Summer dresses, accessories and hats.

The new pastels are called "dragees,"because they have the opaque quality peculiar to the small pale pink, green or white bonbons of that name that are showered on children at French baptisms. Pale pink, blue and green are favorite shades.

Beiges and grays will be rivals for the supremacy of the daytime mode. Golden beiges and light browns are to be featured by several houses. A very pale lily gray and a medium false gray will be extensively shown. Lelong will continue to sponsor the grays he launched in midseason.

RECIPES

Cream of Asparagus Soup, Serving 3.—2 cups canned asparagus (or fresh) 1-2 cup diced celery, 2 tablespoons chopped onions, 3 tablespoons chopped green peppers, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon paprika, 2 cups water, 5 tablespoons butter, 6 tablespoons flour, 4 cups milk, 1 cup whipped cream.

Mix asparagus, seasonings and water. Cook 25 minutes in covered pan over low fire. Press through coarse sieve. Melt butter and add flour. When blended add milk and cook until creamy sauce forms. Stir constantly. Add cooked mixture. Serve in hot cups and top with whipped cream and sprinkle with chopped parsley.

Chicken Souffle, Serving 8.—1-3 cup chicken fat or butter, 1-2 cup flour, 1 1-2 teaspoons salt, 1-4 teaspoon paprika 3 cups milk, 5 egg yolks, beaten, 3 cups diced chicken, 3 tablespoons chopped pimientos, 5 egg whites, beaten.

Melt fat and add flour, salt, paprika and milk. Cook until thick and creamy. Stir constantly. Add egg yolks and beat three minutes. Fold in rest of ingredients and pour into small buttered timbale molds or custard cups. Set in pan of hot water and bake 25 minutes in slow oven. Unmold carefully. Surround with peas.

Filling for Tomato Salads.—1-2 cup cottage chees, 1-2 cup diced cucumbers 1-3 cup chopped olives, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons mayonnaise.

Chill ingredients. Combine and stuff tomatoes. Serve on lettuce and top with mayonnaise.

Mocha Frosting.—4 tablespoons butter, 4 tablespoons hot coffee, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 1-3 cups sifted confectioner's sugar.

Mix ingredients. Let stand 2 minutes. Beat thoroughly and when creamy, frost cakes.

Toasted Cocoanut.—Spread shredded cocoanut in thin layer in pan or baking sheet. Place in hot oven (400 degrees F.) Toast until cocoanut is golden brown—about 3 or 4 minutes— stirring frequently, and be careful it does not burn. Toasted cocoanut has a delicious flavor and may be used in candies, as topping on cake frostings or meringues, or as a garnish for puddings, ice creams or other desserts.

For decorative purposes may be delicately tinted various colors. Sprinkle cocoanut on white paper. Dilute a tiny bit of color paste with 1 teaspoonful water, pour over cocoanut, and rub evenly through the cocoanut.

Raspberry Marshmallows.—Drain the juice from a can of raspberries, seaving the fruit for a salad. Heat the juice until it steams. Remove from the fire, add 24 marshmallows and stir until melted, then add a litle salt. When thoroughly chilled and slightly thickened fold in half a pint of heavy cream whipped stiff. Pour into small molds and place in the refrigerator to harden. Unmold onto white lace doilies. Use a pastry tube with star or rose point to make a base of whipped cream. A drop or two of red fruit coloring will add to the beauty of the base if not mixed too well, leaving a marbled effect to the cream. If preferred, use hot coffee for flavoring instead of raspberry juice.

Steamed Pudding.—Beat three eggs, add one cupful of brown sugar, half a cupful of molasses, one and one-half cupfuls of grated bread crumbs, and one and one-half cupfuls of chopped beef suet. Sift two cupfuls of flour with one teaspoonful of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of salt and add alternately with three-fourths cupful of grape juice. Add half a cupful of orange marmalade, half a cupful of chopped citron, and one and one-half cupfuls each of seeded raisins and dried currants which have been floured. Add one teaspoonful each of cinnamon, nutmeg, and cloves. Put the mixture into a well buttered mold, cover and steam for three hours. Nut meats may be used in place of currants if preferred. Serve with your favorite sauce.
