GLARA BOW IN "NO LIMIT"

AT NEW LYCEUM THEATRE

The hit of the show is the "It" of Biss Bow at the New Lyceum Theatre, where the Brooklyn Bonfire's latest picture, "No Limit" shows on Friday and Saturday, March 13 and 14 before audiences that wish for a good, fast-stepping cinema-yarn and get their wish.

The tale, written by Viola Brothers Shore and Salisbury Field from an original by George Marion, Jr., is the tale of an ambitious little usherette in a big movie palace in New York who encounters plenty of the thrilling experiences for which the metropolis on the Hudson is universally renowned.

In the course of her job as a uni-Miss Bow finds a cigarette case in the house and thereby meets its owner, Norman Foster, a short time later. She falls in love with Foster, unaware that he is a smooth-working thief. Meanwhile Clara and her little side-kick, Dixie Lee, have the good fortune of the loan of his luxurious Park Avenue apartment and Rolls Royce from Stuart Erwin, blond and befuddled suitor who promptly leaves the scene for parts unknown.

Ensconced in the luxury and finery of wealth the two girls discover that they are the tenants of a notorious, "high-hat" gambling hangout. It is too late to withdraw and they are caught up in the mad whirl of gay night life. The romance with Foster develops until the point when a robbery is committed at the theatre where Clara was once employed, and suspicion is cast upon her.

But in spite of her obvious peril, the vivacious little heroine escapes from the misdirected clutches of the law and gets her man—all in a sparkling, engaging finale.

Excellent support is supplied by Erwin, Foster, and Harry Green who portrays a dialectic theatre manager.

Added interest accrues from the fact that much of the film was actually made in New York by Miss Bow and her supporting players.

LACROSSE SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED

NOW AND THEN

A PILGRIM PRAYS
BY GRACE NOLL CROWELL

So long I have been guarded by Your power,
Up many a tangled path and stony hill,
And now, dear Lord, through this strange darkened hour,
Be with me still.

Be with me for the way is long and lonely,
I am bewildered and I can not see,
But Lord, I shall not be afraid, if only
You walk with me.

If only I can some way keep recalling
The darkened roads I traveled in the past,
How, after You long guarded me from falling,
Light shone at last,

Then surely, Lord, I can go forward, knowing
That somewhere on the hills the light will dawn,
And I shall reach it safely, if in going
You still lead on.

Mrs. Dewey is dead and rests beside her husband in the Bethlehem Chapel of the St. Albans Cathedral in Washington. Opposite them lies the war president, Wilson, with the president's flag, the soldiers flag and that of his country's floating over him.

We often wonder when the waves of harmony roll over the sleeping, and reach to the fretted ceiling if their spirits are not joining in the hymns of praise and thanksgiving.

Congress has adjourned at last. Many lame ducks have gone to their homes, and their voices will no longer be heard in the halls of the Capitol. Some of them fought with all their might to leave a lasting impression there. Heflin never ceased to be heard until he left. Blease had a very sad pathelic face. There is one thing rare in Congress and that is listeners. Only the empty seats seem to hearken.

They say that the reason an old violin is so melodious is that its wood has been absorbing the melodies of the ages. Perhaps in the future the seats of the mighty will impart to their occupants the eloquence which they have absorbed.

What an array of colors one sees now adays! The bathtubs and appointment of the bath room display a variety of hues. Instead of the conventual white, we see orchid, blue and green while a group of people with their gorgeous dresses look very much like a plot of iris or tulips at a distance.

Butler, the hero of the marines, has received his chastisement at the hands of the navy, a reprimand because he criticised the great Mussolini at a meeting where everything was supposed to be secret. Our advice to Butler is in the future to "Tell it to the Marines."

HOLSTEIN BREEDERS TO MEET

MR. A. N. CRISSEY TO SPEAK

The Holstein Breeders of Kent County will meet at the County Agents office Friday, March 13th at 8 p. m. Mr. A. N. Crissey of the National Holstein, Friesian Association will be the principal speaker. Mr. H. C. Barker, in charge of advanced registry work in the State, will also be present and address the group. The purpose of the meeting is to organize a County and State association which will aid materially in increasng the qualty, creating better markets for pure bred cattle and closer co-operation among the breeders of "Bliack and White" of the County and State.

The Timonian Fair Association is offering liberal prizes for county herds exhibited at Timonium fair. This should be good news for thise interested in showing and will be discussed at the meeting. All interested in the "Black and White," wheather grade or pure bred, should attend this meeting. Emfi ahshrdlushrdlucmfwypshrdhr

LOANS VALUABLE TO VETERANS

ALLOWED TO BORROW 50 PER CENT. OF BONUS

The Veterans Bonus Loan Bill became a law immediately upon its passage by the House and Senate and thousands of veterans have already borrowed fifty percent of their bonus policy.

The bonus was passed by Congress in 1926 as an adjusted pay for those in the active service of the Army, Navy and Marine Corps during the world war. It was worked out on the theory that the pay of a soldier or sailor was far below the salaries and profits made by those who were not in the service at that time. In order to partly adjust this difference, Congress voted to pay, as a bonus, one dollar a day for service at home and one dollar and a half a day for service abroad for every day the veteran served. Rather than pay this bonus in cash it was made in a twenty year endowment policy, payable in 1945, with a provision that certain proportions for this bonus could be borrowed by the veteran six per cent interest from time to time.

Up to the present time veterans have been able to borrow up to one fourth of their policy.

The bill which was recently passed and has caused as much publicity and expressions of public opinion as any recent Congressional action, allows veteran to borrow fifty per cent of their policy for which they pay the government four and a half per cent interest. This increased in the borrowing ability of veterans was passed due to the business depression and unemployment.

A number of Kent's ex-service men will apply for this loan while others prefer to let the policy mature in 1945. The policies of local veterans range from $600 to $1600.

CHESTERTOWN HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

On Saturday, February 28, Chestertown High School added another victory to its record. This was against Easton High School. Both teams were playing on their metal, but time after time the Chestertown boys forged through the line for a goal. The first half ended with a score of C. H. S. 15, E. H. S. 10. In the second half the Easton team gave a sudden burst and till the end of the game no one could guess at the final victor. The final gun fired with Chestertown 24 and Easton 21.

Miss Carrol wants a new pencil sharpener for her room and she has given Elizabeth Ford the task of collecting money for it. I think that everyone should contribute as it is used by all.

Fifty-three class rings have been purchased from Mr. Kreeger by the Junior class.

The Chestertown library is getting a growing number of books. The book "Steamboat Days" has been given by the "Eastern Shore Society."

Miss Kersey has bought some Silverware from Mr. Kreeger for use in the High School kitchen. The money for this was raised sometime ago by a bazaar in Gill Bros. Ice Cream Parlor. The Domestic Science Department now owns 1 1-2 dozen knives and forks, 1 1-2 dozen teaspoons, and 1-2 ddozen tablespoons. This department givs the girls very good training.

The Seniors are looking forward toward the, "Eastern Shore Historical Esay Contest," in which they are going to participate. This is open to all students who are completing their final year of High School. A prize of $22.00 is to be awarded for the best essay from each county on the Eastern Shore. Our Seniors are going in to win and we all hope they will.

Miss Bryan has placed a Ping Pong set in her room. This game has captured the interest of the school and many interesting battles have been fought. As every one knows this game is a sort of indoor Tennis played on a long table. Two of the tables in Miss Bryan's room are placed together and the net stretched across the middle. It would be an interesting thing if championship games were played and the best player of one grade playing the best player of another.

Despite all efforts to the contrary the percent of attendance in Chestertown High School was very low for the month of February. It was 91 per cent. The large number of cases of grippe is probably responsible for this. We hope that it will be higher in March.

At 10.45 Wednesday morning the hall bell sent out its signal for a fire. The Students filed out of their rooms in a rapid and orderly manner. There was no pushing or running but the whole school was cleared in a remarkably short space of time.

NEW POSTOFFICE FOR CHESTERTOWN

Word was received this week from Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough, that $75,000 has been appropriated for a Federal postoffice in Chestertown.

It is undertsood that options have been obtained on three locations and local citizesn have suggested a number of others but as the money will probably not be available until next year, there will be ample time for Federal officials to select a site with the cooperation of the wishes of the citizens of Chestertown.

DEFERRED ACTION ON SCHOOL CONSOLIDATION

The Kent County School Board deferred action on the recommendations of Prof. Louis C. Robinson, County Superintendent of Schools, in reference to the plan of closing sixteen elementary Schools and one high school as published in last weeks issue of this paper.

This action was deferred unti lthe next meeting, March 17th, at which time it is thought Mr. A. Linwood Redmile, who was appointed to the Board by Governor Ritchie last week, will be commissioned.

BETERTON DEVELOPMENT PLANS PROGRESSING

According to information received yesterday from the offices of the Royal Swan Hotels Corporation, in Philadelphia, plans are progressing nicely toward the large development which that company is planning at Betterton. Officials of the company stated that the sub-contracts for the construcion work were signed on Thursday.

The company is busy with the large number of details that have to be worked out in this development.

TOWN ROADS FINISHED

Court Street in Chestertown was slagged Friday morning. This will conclude the slaging of the roads in Chestertown for the time being. This work started about two weeks ago and the streets slagged were: Water St. between High and Maple Ave.; the whole of Cannon St.; College Ave., from Cannon St., to Campus Ave.; the whole of Campus Ave.; Mt. Vernon St.; Kent St. from Mt. Vernon to Cannon; Mill St. from Calvert to Cannon; Court St.

This will improve the streets of Chestertown very much. 6 boat loads of 90 tons each, and 4 carloads of 45 tons each, were used.

DEATHS

Mrs. Julia Ann Strong, 85, widow of the late Charles C. Strong, died at her home in Gratitude, near Rock Hall, on Tuesday, March 3.

She is survived by two sons, Charles C. Strong, of New Jersey and Roy T. Strong, of Rock Hall, and one daughter, Mrs. George B. Albee, of Laurel, Maryland, also one broher, Mr. Harry Webb, of Rock Hall.

Funeral services were held from her late residence in Gratitude on Friday afternoon, conducted by the Reverend J. W. Bexley, of Rock Hall. Interment was made in St. Paul's cemetery.

The bearers were: Messrs. T. Ringgold Jones, Miller Strong, Ernest Strong, C. P. Eaton, Walter H. Hadaway, and B. Neal Willson. Charles L. Dodd, undertaker.

Lee Aldrich, aged 66 years, son of the late Lucus and Matilda Alrich, died in Baltimore on Thursday, March 5th. He formerly lived in Kent county in the Worton Point section, moving to Baltimore about 30 years ago.

He is survived by three brothers, Benjamin, Lue and Clifton Aldrich, also two sisters, Miss Mollie Aldrich and Mrs. Virginia Gale, all of Baltimore.

Funeral services will be held on the arrival of the Tolchester Boat, this morning, Saturday, interment in Chester cemetery, Rev. C. L. Atwater to officiate. C. L. Dodd, undertaker.

The funeral of Mr. Robert Blackway who died on Friday of last week was held on Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m., interment in Chester cemetery, Rev. Harry Wright, officiating. The bearers were: Messrs. Harry Fowler, Thomas Kennard, William Nickerson, William Slagle, William Peregory and Foster Brown. W. T. Hicks, undertaker.

KENT W. C. T. U. WILL MEET ON WEDNESDAY, MARCH 11

The regular meeting of the Kent county W. C. T. U. has been set for next Wednesday, March 11, at 2.30 p. m

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. M. A. Hill, 102 West Front street, Chestertown.

—Hog Cholera is reported to exist near Chestertown. Precaution is urged to prevent the spreading of this disease.

TO DISCUSS HIGH SCHOOL CONDITION

MEETING CALLED TO DISCUSS PLANS FOR CONGESTION RELIEF

A group of interested parents whose children are attending the Chestertown High School have called a meeting of all citizens who are interested in that school, to be held in the Chestertown High School building today, Saturday, March 7th, at 2 p. m.

The meeting will be an open discussion of the present conditions at this school and possible measures for the relief of these conditions.

Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, president of Washington College, has consented to act as chairman of the meeting and a talk will be made by Prof. Louis C. Robinson, county superintendent of schools. Professor Owen C. Blades, principal of the Chestertown High School has been asked to be present to answer questions as to the present congested condition of the school.

Some of the points of discussion will be the present system of consolidation of High Schools; the enlarging of the present building by the building of a wing with the idea of an additional wing in the future and the immediate building of two wings.

Local citizens and parents are urged to attend this meeting and take part in the discussion. The crowded condition of the Chestertown High School has been an important point of discussion for some time and this is the first difinite action taken by citizens to relieve this condition.

Probably the most important topic of discussion will be the possible means of financing the project.

WILL OF LATE MARY SLAY

The will of Miss Mary Slay, dated August 16, 1919, was probated in the Orphans' Court on Tuesday of this week. Thre were two codicils to the will, the first dated December 3, 1929, and the second April 24, 1930. Messrs. Thomas C. Slay, Allan A. Harris and Herbert E. Perkins were named executors.

The provisions of the will are as follows:

To Thomas C. Slay a 160 acre farm in Delaware known as the Wm. Slay Farm.

To Sallie Powell and Hettie Collins, the John Slay Farm of 270 acres and the Black Bottom Farm of 94 acres, both in Delaware. Also the home in Chestertown on the corner of Maple Ave., and Queen street. Also $7,500 each.

To 22 relatives living in various parts of the country, $100 each.

To Miss Ellen Fisher $1,000.

CODICIL

The first codicil to the will was made December 3rd, 1929 provided an additional $5000 to Miss Ellen Fisher and to Annie E. Cooper, of Dover, Del., $5,000.

The second codicil, made April 24, 1930, provided an additional $2,000 to Miss Ellen Fisher making $8,000 in all. To Mary Anderson, colored cook, $400 providing that she was living with the maker at the time of her death.

To Miss Anna May Pennington $2000.

The residue of the estate was left to Thomas C. Slay, Sallie Powell, Hettie Collins, Emma O. White, Ollie S. Slaughter. Mary G. Parimore and Clare Muir, to share and share alike.

The estate, including real and personal property, was estimated at $90,000.

TWO FIRE ALARMS THIS WEEK

After answering two alarms this week, one on Court street when paper in a closet in a colored home caught fire and the other a field fire on the farm of Mr. Baynard Harper, local firemen were prepared for the usual third alarm. Truck N. 2 could not stand the suspense and on Tuesday night about midnight a crash was heard and J. T. Hadaway, who lives at the fire house, upon investigating found "old faithful" on the outside parked at the curb.

This truck had drifted down the incline an dcrashed through the big front doors.

OUT OF P. A. L. TOURNAMENT

The High School was eliminated from the P. A. L. tournament when it lost to Salisbury at Easton last Friday evening 31 to 23. ,

The Chestertown High School has a good team, but they lack a place to practice, and this is responsible for them not making the showing they should.

—Mr. Thomas Hoyle, of Philadelphia, visited his mother in Fairlee this week end.

SPORTS OF WEEK

WASHINGTON DOWNS LOYOLA IN GREATEST STRUGGLE OF YEARS—WESTERN MARYLAND HERE TONIGHT—OTHER SPORT NOTES OF INTEREST

BY POLK T. BRAMBLE

Nearly two dedcades of high-powered basketball between Loyola and Washington have made more athletic history of note than any simillar contests between colleges in the State of Maryland, and today, it would be hard to pick which team holds the honors as a whole for the long period during which Athletic relations upon the basketball floor have been maintained.

On last Saturday night, before the largest crowd of the year, a wild, nervous, tense crowd, which overflowed the regular seating capaciy of the Washington gymnasium, and flowed about in wild confusion on the stairways, around the door, and hanging from the windows up stairs, Washington evened up the county for the year, and revenged the 2 point defeat of earlier in the season. The score was 34-28.

The game was the most exciting of several years on the local floor. Gainor, picked as all-Maryland center, and the scoring ace of the team, a versatile and energetic center, with speed, shooting accuracy, and everything that goes to make up a great player, was halted by the fast-moving Loyola cagers, and, in fact, about stopped, although he continued to work the ball from the rear court and did good floor work, by advancing the ball toward the basket of the opponents. However, he failed to develop into that whirlwind of action which has made him the best center in the state. He left the game for four personal fouls early in the second half, Ross taking his place.

Twardowicz, captain and star and all-Maryland forward, was also held safe by the sturdy and hard-fighting Robinson. Twardowicz is perhaps the fastest man ever seen on the local floor. Tireless in his efforts, he never relaxes for an instant, and, if unguarded for an instant, flashes down the floor with tremendous speed. But on Saturday night, wherever he roamed upon the floor, he was confronted by the red menace of Robinson. He made but two points.

The game started slowly, like a whirlwind beginning to materialize. Then it broke into a perfect fury of action. At times all systems of defense and offense seemed to be thrown to the four winds, and it became a man-to-man contest, with each time trying to accomplish everything possible upon his own initiative. The speed of the game never relaxed, except to gather fresh impetus for faster action.

Loyola was the first to score, when Liston caged the hall at the very outset of the contest. Their lead, however, was but shor-lived, for Washington seemed to be inspired by this goal scored against them and unleased an attack which soon gave them a substantial lead, which they maintained during the entire first half, which closed with the score standing 17-13 in their favor.

The second half had hardly gotten under way when out went Johnson, who had starred in the first half, and Giriatis took his place. Then Gainor went out by the same route. Curtis, center for Loyola had four fouls, and he, too, was banished from the game. However, this did not seem to detract from the attacks which each team launched at the other, and Loyola, with the aid of a number of free shots from the foul strip, and the wonderful shooting of Liston, soon took the lead, 22-20. However, their lead was but short-lived, and Washington tied them and passed them, and increased their lead, until right before the final whistle.

For Washington College, Stevens held the highest honors for scoring, getting 14 points, while Proudfoot, scored 8 points, Johnson 5, Robinson 4, Giriatis 2, Gainer 1. For Loyola, Liston scored 16 points and Carlin 7 points.

University of Maryland won the title of basketbal champion of the Southern Conference.

Western Maryland will play on the local floor with Washington College tonight. The basketball record of Western Maryland is not so good this year, but the game should be well worth seeing. Washington is picked to win by everyone.

The Chestertown High School quintet won from Easton, 24-21, preliminary to the main event Saturday night at Washington gymnasium.

Thirty candidates were out for lacrosse at Washington College this week. Coach Crothers has charge of his sport. Lacrosse has replaced baseball at the college for the time being.

Cambridge won from Chestertown High School at Cambridge on Tuesday night, by a slight margin of technicals.

—Fine pictures all next week at the New Lyceum.
