KENT TURKEY GROUP ELECTS 1931 OFFICERS

Mrs. Harry T. Williams Chosen President

COMMITTEES NAMED

March Meeting Of Group Omitted

Mrs. Harry T. Williams was elected president of the Maryland Turkey Growers Association of Kent county at its annual meeting held in the Court House here last Friday. The meeting marked the close of the second year of the organization and the third year of cooperative selling in Kent county.

Other officers chosen for the next year were: Albert Jervis, vice-president; Mrs. L. A. Sutton, treasurer; and Mrs. Nell C. Westcott, secretary.

L. A. Sutton was again named chairman of the marketing committee. Other members of that body are H. M. Baker and Albert Jervis. The executive committee, representing each district of the county, is as follows: J. W. Biggers, first district; Mrs. Walter Harris and Albert Jervis, second district; Mrs. Mary Matthews, third district; Mrs. L. A. Sutton, fourth district; Mrs. J. A. Bigelow, fifth district; Mrs. Daisy Reinhart, sixth district; H. M. Baker, seventh district and Mrs. W. W. Rambo, of Sudlersville, member at large.

In 1928 the Kent County Chamber of Commerce undertook to stimulate the selling of Kent turkeys by acting as a go-between for buyer and grower. In 1929 the Growers organized under their own name and have had the cooperation of the Chamber of Commerce.

During the past two years the Kent County Farm Bureau cooperated with the Growers' organization by permitting their building to be used as a shipping depot. The University of Maryland Extension Service, through its representative County Agent J. D. McVean, also came in for a share of appreciation from the turkey group.

Mrs. Williams, who was elected to head the body for the next year, has acted as president since last October when W. M. Kenly resigned that post because the work took him out of the State and prevented his attendance at the meetings.

The meeting in March, which ordinarily would be held on the fourth Friday, will be omitted. In April County Agent McVean is making arrangements for a special speaker who will discuss the problems of state-wide marketing.

USELESS EXPENDITURE

"Before we were married, Henry," said the young wife reproachfully, "you always gave me the most beautiful gifts. Do you remember?"

"Sure," replied Henry cheerfully, "but, my dear, did you ever hear of a fisherman feeding bait to a fish after he had caught it?"

Film Ranks With Finest

"Common Clay" Features Constance Bennett And Lew Ayres

Perhaps it's a truism to say that good drama is always good, but the fact remains that worth-while offerings of the stage will find an even greater field in talking pictures.

A case in point is that of "Common Clay," Cleves Kinkead's Harvard prize play in which Jane Cowl rode to fame before the footlights. Under the skilful directorial guidance of Victor Fleming, Constance Bennett seems about to reach international eminence in the screen version of this drama, judging from the reception accorded the film at all its showings. "Common Clay" will be the feature attraction at The New Lyceum on Monday and Tuesday, March 9 and 10.

Miss Bennett's work is, of course, the outstanding feature of the production. Her portrayal of the pleasure-loving girl whom Fate seems bent on destroying, and who eventually manages to reach some measure of happiness after a heart-breaking struggle, is unquestionably one of the finest things the speaking screen has yet given us. For the first time since her advent in pictures this noted actress has full opportunity to develop her unusual abilities and she takes commendable advantage of it.

Lew Ayres, the youngster who scored so heavily in "All Quiet on the Western Front," is remarkably convincing in the featured male role, that of the likable but thoughtless youth who causes Miss Bennett's major difficulties.

Those fine players, Tully Marshall, Matty Kemp and Beryl Mercer, give splendid performances. Hale Hamilton, Purnell Pratt, Charles McNaughton, Ada Williams and Genevieve Blinn all do notable work in their roles—in fact, the entire cast is quite perfect, for which Director Fleming may receive much credit. He deserves it. "Common Clay" is a real achievement of Fox movietone.

World Owes Vast Debt to Icelandic Writers

In that strange island Iceland—burst up, the geologists say, by fire from the bottom of the sea; a wild land of barrenness and lava; swallowed many months of every year in black tempests, yet with a wild gleaming beauty in summertime; towering up there, stern and grim, in the North ocean . . . where of all places we least looked for literature or written memorials, the record of these things was written down. On the seaboard of this wild land is a rim of grassy country, where cattle can subsist, and men by means of them and of what the sea yields; and it seems they were poetic men these men who had deep thoughts in them, and uttered musically their thoughts. Much would be lost, had Iceland not been burst up from the sea, not been discovered by the Northmen! The old Norse poets were many of them natives of Iceland.—Thomas Carlyle in "Heroes and Hero Worship."

Sobelle

It was during a domestic economy lesson in a Cleveland high school that the instructor remarked:

"Most men insist that the girls they marry must be good cooks."

"Well, that lets me out," snapped a girl in the back row, "because I don't intend to get married to any fellow who isn't able to hire a cook."

Lands of Interest Seen by Visitors to Tropics

One of the quaintest places in the world is the little Dutch island of Curacao. The island itself is like a bit of old Holland, with a tropical flavor lent by its red-roofed houses, palm trees and warm climate.

Martinique is French and famous for the garish, brightly colored costumes of its native women. The city St. Pierre is an awe-inspiring sight. Once it nestled cozily at the foot of Mount Pelee, a lowering volcano which blew its own head off back in 1902 and wiped out the city below. Today it is in ruins, covered with lava dust, a city of the dead.

Trinidad, "land of humming birds," is a city of flowers, of strange peoples and races, and the home of the world-famous Pitch lake of La Brea, from which comes asphalt to pave the roads of the world. Here are many Hindus, remnants of East Indian slaves introduced into the island in 1839. The men wear flowing white robes, turbans and silk blouses, while the women carry their family wealth with them at all times in the shape of gold rings, anklets, heavy earrings and silver bracelets which cover their arms from wrist to elbow.

"Let's call him up!"

WHEN plans of any kind are afoot nowadays, the first thing people turn to is the ever-ready, ever-faithful telephone. It's the natural thing to do.

Telephone service has become a vital necessity in the management of our daily affairs. Why? Because this is the day of speed—of rapid transportation, and above all of quick communication. Things must be done at once and by means of the telephone we can get them done at once. It serves a thousand and one useful purposes requiring quick action.

One of the most important reasons for the wide-spread use of telephone service is the extreme reasonableness of the charges. There's a class of service to fit every need and a price to fit every pocketbook.

It is our policy to furnish the most telephone service and the best at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety.
