"PARLOR, BEDROOM AND BATH"

AT NEW LYCEUM THEATRE

"Parlor, Bedroom and Bath," with Buster Keaton wading through the trials and tribulations of a "wife-stealer" will be shown at the New Lyceum on Friday and Saturday, April 24 and 25. The picture, adapted from the celebrated stage farce, provides the frozen-faced comedian with one of the liveliest vehicles he has had since the advent of talkies.

Buster plays the timid Reggie Irving who gets himself advertised as a "great lover" and then finds life nothing but complications in which too many pretty women and a jealous husband figure largely and hilariously.

Edward Sedgwick did an even funnier job with this comedy than with his last two Keaton vehicles, "Dough Boys" and "Free and Easy." Hilarious interludes include a riot in a fashionable hotel when the jealous husband starts shooting; a "murder mystery" in which Keaton is found in a room with the inert body of another man's wife; a race between a tiny roadster and a train; and a number of love scenes in which the comedian tries his hand at displaying "It."

Keaton is ably abetted by a large group of supporting players. Charlotte Greenwood, elongated comedienne, is inimitable as Polly, the character she portrayed in the original stage version; Reginald Denny reveals his skill as a farceur in the role of Jeff, the fellow who press-agents Buster as a Lothario, and Cliff Edwards gets his usual quota of laughs as a bellhop.

NOW AND THEN

SIT DOWN, CAPTAIN

Sit down, Captain Winter, and rest
your weary bones;
Sit down, Captain Winter, and cease
your awful groans!
Sit down, ancient spirit,
And rest yourself awhile
Upon the April doorstep
Of spring's immortal smile!

Dredge boats hauling anchor and homeaway for rest;
Crab boats getting ready for the crabbing at its crest:
Sit down, Captain Winter,
And light your pipe and smoke;
The spring has many children
And they're all such playful folk!

Sit down. Captain Winter, and smooth that wrinkled brow!
The world is full of gladness and it's half- past April now:
Sit down, hardy veteran,
And let us smile and sing
In memory of the blizzard
You almost failed to bring!

—B. B.

We have copied the above poem of the Benztown bard. It is apropos of the season, and also after a very pleasant visit from the Bard himself, where he captured all who met him with his engaging personality.

People talk of the number of spring poets. Of course there are numbers of them. Who would not be a poet when everything is growing and filling the world with beauty. We motored to Washington this week to see the cherry blossoms. It was certainly a sight for a poet. The blue water surrounded by the great number of flowering trees, the trees that gives Japan the name of the Flowery Kingdom. Surely there are flowers everywhere. Chestertown has many attractive things to show the gold of the Forsynia the white and pink of the Grands Flora and the loveliness of the Japanese plum trees, yes, there is surely beauty where ever one looks.

So Alfonza has abdicated, peacefully and has left Spain, while Queen Victoria with her children are on their w ay to England. She is an English princess, being the daughter of Beatrice, the youngest daughter of the late Queen Victoria, and she bears her name. England is quite an asylum for dethroned monarops.

It was to England that the dethroned Napoleon III went to join his wife Eugenie and there they lived and they are buried on England's soil.

King Emmanuel and his queen mother fled to England and have never returned to Portugal.

Only Norway Sweden, Denmark, Belgium and England have kings now.

What a worl dof responsibility has rolled from the King of Spain's shoulders. "Uneasy lies the crown" that wears the crown has been said by many since Henry IV said it so long ago.

D. A. R.'S MEET

By special invitation, the Old Kent Chapter, D. A. R. met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. Page Gale on April 11.

An interesting meeting was held with an unusually good representation of members present. The Regent, Mrs. Charles Skirven, Vice-Regent, Mrs. William G. Smyth, and Mrs. Wm. T. Brown having attended the State Conference in Baltimore, brought home to the Chapter pleasing reports.

During refreshments the Daughters were served coffee from a very beautiful silver coffee pot, which was buried, for safe keeping, in the fire place during war of 1812, when the British came up to Rock Hall.

After one of the visits made by George Washington to Washington College, he had to wait at Rock Hall for a packet, and while waiting used a handsome old table on which to write a letter. This table is another heirloom treasured by Mr. and Mrs. Gale.

HEALTH NOTES.

TAKE PRECAUTIONS AGAINST MEASLE EPIDEMIC

From the State Department of Health there comes a warning that measles is on the increase throughout the State. As the disease is particularly dangerous for young children and as it is very easily caught, mothers are urged to keep the babies and their older brothers and sisters away from children who are ill with it, or who show signs of coming down with it. The possibility of preventing serious illnesses among children who have been in contact with the disease, through vaccination with convalescent measles serum is also pointed out. Here is the message which comes from Dr. R. H. Riley, Director of the Department.

"Measles," Dr. Riley said, "like certain other diseases, tends to flare up in epidemic form every two or three years. The last time we had a serious outbreak in Maryland was in 1928 when 17,332 cases were reported. In 1929, 2,024 cases occurred and last year the number went down to 1,255 for the entire year. But this winter, there has been a marked increase. During January, February and March, 7,814 cases have been reported throughout the State, 1,366 of which have occurred in the counties.

"Because of the complications which so often accompany measles, it is a mistake to say Oh! it is only measles. Let them have it and get over it.! Measles is one of the diseases that is particularly dangerous for babies and young children. Like whooping cough and scarlet fever, it is a veritable wolf in sheep's clothing. It should be avoided and the children should be protected against it, as far as possible, quite as they would be against a destructive animal.

"Like many other diseases, measles usually starts in with what may seem to be 'only a cold.' But the careful mother has learned that a cold may be more than it seems, and that the best place for a child who has a cold, is in bed. Knowing also that the best person to advise her is the family doctor, she sends for the doctor. And if she can possibly do so she will keep the well children away from those who are sick.

"It has also been found that children who have exposed to measles but who have not developed the disease, can be protected against it if promptly vaccinated with convelescent serum, that is, with serum taken from a person who is recovering from measles or who has had the disease. In some cases, this protection has prevented the disease from developing; in other instances, the disease has developed, but in a light form and with less tendency toward serious complications. Mothers who are interested in having the convalescent serum used, should consult the family doctor."

BARGAIN, INDEED!

The arrival of triplets to her mother was told to Ethel, the ten-year-old daughter.

"Oh, dear," sighed the little girl, "mamma has been getting bargains again."

COURT CONVENES MONDAY

The April term of the Circuit Court for Kent county will convene here next Monday, April 20th.

Indications point to the largest criminal docket for years as between 55 and 60 cases will be before the Grand Jury, most of which are larceny and violation of the Local Option Laws. In addition to this there are 12 criminal appeal cases from Magistrate's courts. The civil docket will contain the uscal number of cases.

Judges Lewin W. Wickes and Thomas J. Keating will be on the bench. This will be the first time Judge Keating has been on the bench in Kent county since October, 1929, having just recently recovered from a serious spell of illness.

The jurors for this session of court are:

FIRST DISTRICT—John W. Naylor, William T. Jones, Clayton H. Johnson, Jesse E. Ireland, A. Woodall Jones, Clem A. Davidson, H. Scott Rosin, Paul Comegys.

SECOND DISTRICT—Nicholas V. Walters, William H. Bonwill, George M. Glenn, Albert Jervis, S. Tilden Cooper, Edmond S. Hurtt, William L. Ford, William B. Hepbron.

SEVENTH DISTRICT—James B. Newnam, Jr., Charles M. Vickers, Edward M. Emory, Thomas W. Trew, Percy V. Hendrickson.

A bill which recently passed the Legislature and will become a law when signed by Governor Ritchie, gives magistrates the jurisdiction of larceny cases where the property stolen dose not exceed $25. This will greatly facilitate the work of the Circuit Court and reduce the Court expenses as a large number of the larceny cases to be tried next week would come under this amount.

EMPLOY THE UNEMPLOYED

MRS. W. W. HUBBARD ADVOCATES TREE PLANTING

The following paper, Employ the Unemployed," was read by Mrs. W. W. Hubbard, before the Democratic Women's Club in Washington and was afterward read in the Senate of the U. S.

As Arbor Day is approaching we are glad to have the opportunity to publish it, as it is conceded by most scientists that drouths are caused by our lack of forests.

The nation's great "Business Colossus" lies prostrate.

The brains of our business men and financiers seem payalyzed.

We the greatest nation on earth are standing by, seemingly helpless to cope with the financial disaster that has befallen us.

Men are producoing the great "Business Colossus" here and proding it there trying to get it to start turning over.

They get a little sign of life then she drops back apparently dead as before.

Meanwhile men are walking the streets of our great cities begging for work.

Men, women and children in this land of plenty are starving.

People are hungry while our grain elevators are choked.

Yet men who not what to do with their surplus wheat.

The great "Business Colossus" had found no way to get this grain into the stomachs of the starving.

Farmers can get almost nothing for their crops.

Often leaving them in the fields to rot while hunger stalks the land.

Their barn stored wheat and corn is at the mercy of rat and weavel (who know no law.)

Yet they still hold this grain hoping for a price that will enable them to live and grow next year's crop.

Many farmers because of the great drought have nothing to sell and no food to feed their stock.

What has been the answer to this our great National tragedy.

Some have said building, but so far the only answer has been Charity, age old charity.

But what man or woman, worth of the name, wants charity.

Isn't this a terrible indictment of one of the greatest nations on earth?

Farmers flat. Food rotting in the field for want of a market. Grain choking our elevators. Banks failing. 5,000,000 men walking the streets wanting work, they and their families starving.

Congress wants to help but so far the only way suggested is to appropriate government money to be used for our unemployed.

Our business men are giving money money with a lavish hand which again means charity.

We must have charity to meet the present emergency, but can't we find a better way?

Are we not looking at this problem in parts rather than as a whole? Is not each one concentrated on his end of this great disaster, trying to pull himself through, when we should be looking at the thing as a national disaster which we could only cope with by pulling together.

Women have been known to step in where Angels dared to tread.

Women are now distributing charity.

Women are cooking food to be given as charity to the unemployed.

Men are giving money. Congress is appropriating money.

Legislatures are giving money.

All this work of men and women is for charity.

5,000,000 men are asking for work, not charity.

Can we not pool all of this great effort and give these 5,000,000 men work?

Let us turn away from the sordid hard things. We have had enough of them in the last fifteen months.

Let us turn to nature, the great out of doors, and let beauty heal our wounds.

We have destroyed our forests with wanton waste to plant grain.

Now that same grain to be destroying us.

Then let our slogan be "Plant Trees."

"Plant Trees" now when cement from Ocean to Ocean.

"Plant Trees" from the Gulf to the Canadian border.

"Plant Trees" now when coment roads cannot be built.

Here is work for the skilled labor as well as the unskilled labor.

The unskilled labor under directors can dig holes and make the beds.

The skilled labor can wrap and transplant the trees.

Here your farmers can find work with nature, where he is at home.

Many trucks belonging to farmers are now idle all over the land.

Uncle Sam can employ these trucks
