ARMORY CONTRACT

The contarct for building the Chestertown armory was let this week to Mr. Carl Schmidt, of Baltimore, and work will start shortly.

R. A. Schields was the lowest cash bidder but other considerations as to time, etc., made Schmidt the lowest bidder.

DR FOX'S REMAINS ARRIVE IN NEW YORK

Word was received yesterday that Mrs. Fox will arrive in New York today, Saturday, with the body of her husband, Dr. Erol L. Fox, professor of Chemistry at Washington College, who died suddenly in Munich, Germany of appendicitis while doing research work there during the summer months.

The body wil be taken to Akron, Ohio, for burial. Mrs. Fox will return to Chestertown where she will continue as Librarian at Washington College.

..CARNIVAL PARADE AT ROCK HALL

The annual firemen's parade at the Rock Hall firemen's carnival will be held next Wednesday, August 5th.

A number of neighboring fire companies with bands of music will compete for prizes.

This anual affair draws the largest crowd that ever assembles in this bay shore town and a large affair is expected for next Wednesday evening.

THE WHEAT CROP

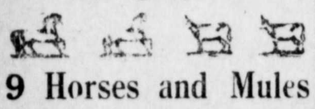

Wheat threshing will be about over in Kent County after today. An unusual good yield of from 25 to 50 bushels an acre has been reported, with prices ranging from 25 cents to 44 cents per bushel, the lowest price in the memory of the present generation. Every farmer who has sold his wheat at the above prices has lost a plenty of money on the crop.

THE ONLY NATIONAL BANK IN KENT COUNTY

'The Bank Where You Feel At Home"

Important Facts Every Checking Depositor Should Know

We want you association with this bank to be on the basis of Mutual Friendship and understanding. Therefore, the less mystery there is about our banking operations and the more knowledge you have of the ways in which we are trying to serve you, the better you can cooperate to your advantage.. The facts are submitted to you with this purpose in view. Please read them carefully.

FIRST, A bank is a business which must be conducted on business principles because the bank does not deal directly in goods over the counter, people often lose sight of the fact that banking is, nevertheless, fundamentally a business of buying and selling, which must be conducted like any sound business.—For profit as well as for service.

SECOND. A fair profit is essential to both good management and good service the commodities the bank deals in are money, credit, and service. It accepts and safeguards deposits, provides valuable facilities, and renders a great variety of helpful services. In return, it asks the temporary privilege of loaning part of these deposits in safe ways that will return enough money for the bank to pay for its service, with a little added profit besides.

THIRD, The bank that makes money is the safest place to deposit money, a well-managed bank, like a properly conducted business, should make money. If it does not make money it will not be a strong bank, and if it is not a strong bank it cannot be a safe place for a depositor's money. This fact should not be overlooked.

FOURTH, Good checking balances help to make a bank strong, every checking depositor should try at all times a keep a balance in his checking account large enough so that after all current checks are paid there will still be left on deposit, a sum that the bank can use profitably for the expense of rendering service. Intelligent co-operation of this character offers the best possible proof of individual ability and good management.

FIFTH, How the bank and its checking depositors may co-operate to mutual advantage, —service, in a bank, travels in a circle it is not something that passes from the bank to its depositors, never to return. The circuit must be completed. The depositor receives service and gives his co-operation in return. The ideal condition exists where both understand each other and work together closely for mutual benefit.

SIXTH, Every depositor, therefore, who maintains a fair checking balance in his account, is helping himself and at the same time making it easier for the bank to give him its best service at all times.
