PENINSULA NEWS

HE DIDN'T KNOW

A dealer in South George carried Rastus Johnson during the Spring and Summer so that Rastus could make his cotton crop. It turned out to be a good year and Rastus had enough money to pay his account at the store and still have some left over.

After paying his account, he went across the street and bought quite a lot of goods for cash. The dealer who had given Rastus so much credit learned of this and the next time he saw him said, "Rastus, I carried you all Spring and Summer and now you go across the street and buy stuff for cash. What's the idea?"

"Why, Mistah Boss," replied Rastus in a surprised tone, "Ah didn't know you all sells fo' cash!"

Fifteen leading farmers of Queen Anne's County met on Monday evening at the County Agent's office in Centreville to discuss plans for the bringing in of from five hundred to one thousand feeder hogs for the utilization of cheap feeds now on county farms. Those present represented nearly every section of the county and all agreed that an importation of light hogs at this time would well serve as a relief measure in the present emergency.

The two colored men, held in Easton jail on a charge of holding up H. N. Davis, driving him to his store at the point of pistols and making him open his safe and hand over $196, are implicated in an attempted jail break last week by cutting a hole in the jail wall.

Sheriff J. Elmer Anthony, of Queen Anne's county, was operated on Wednesday morning having the middle finger and part of the bone of his right hand removed at a hospital in Philadelphia.

His hand was severely cut some weeks ago when he was taking a knife away from a negro, who had just been arrested.

The Department of Agriculture has opened a branch office in Easton for the purpose of grading canned fruits and vegetables picked on the Eastern Shore of Maryland and Virginia and in Delaware. The recent Federal law passed by Congress requires certain standards in canned fruits and vegetables before the containers can carry the Federal approval.

A sea disaster was averted at Cape Charles, on Thursday afternoon of last week, as the Pennsylvania Railroad ferry steamer Maryland was beached off Cape Charles Light. The propeller shaft broke about six miles out in the Chesapeake Bay and water flooded into the lower cofpartments.

The project of widening Market Street, Pocomoke, is proceeding about fast as the law will allow it. Condemnation of the properties of those opposed to the improvement, will be taken up by a jury summoned by the court, and the date for a hearing was fixed on August 27.

Last Monday evening a state bank examiner and officials of the State Bank of Trappe were busily engaged in going over the affairs of the Trappe Bank.
