TAGGED FISH CAUGHT AT ROCK HALL

Two months after a metal tag had been attached to one of its fins by Dr. John C. Pearson, assitant acquatic biologist, United States bureau of fisheries, a rockfish weighing about a pound and a quarter bobbed up again in the barrel of a fish dealer in Market place.

Frank Plum, an employe of the dealer, reported the discovery to E. Lee Compte, State game warden. The fish had been caught near Rock Hall, Kent county, September 2, and received the next day by the company.

When told that the tag was inscribed with U. S. B. of F., 71,004, Dr. Pearson checked back and found that was one of the first of about 300 fish he had tagged and released in the vicinity of Annapolis, July 7. The biologist has been stationed at Annapolis to study the migration of fish in the waters of the Chesapeake and their spawning habits.

Return of the tags he has attached to various fish indicate that the rockfish or striped bass tend to head toward the upper bay and fresher water, he told Mr. LeCompte. Practically all of the tagged fish reported to him have been caught above their point of release at Annapolis, which shows a tendency to move toward the head of the bay to spawn ,he added.

Plum will receive the bounty of 50 cents offered by the Bureau of Fisheries for the return of each tag if he applies for it, Mr. LeCompte said.

N.A.A.S. RECORD LAUDED

By S. E. Perkins, III.

Criticisms by a group of agitators publicly made against the National Association of Audubon societies has been investigated by an impartial committee. Their report lands the achievements of the association which through its efforts has saved several species of herons from extermination at the hands of plume-hunters, has effectively assisted in obtaining laws for the protection of game birds and has established large game preserves in several states where thousands of birds of many species are never permited to be hunted. Its efforst have been since its organization to increase the countries wild life population, both because of their beauty in garden and farm-yard and because of their immense help to the orchardist and agriculturalist by their destruction of insect pests, now recognized as an undisputable fact throughout the world.

In recent years it has added to its other activites an educational program for informing school children of the salient facts about birds habits and calling attention to their growing changes in the places in which they live.

Hundreds of thousands of persons through our land owe their acquaintance with bird kind directly to the National Association of Audubon societies.

CONSTRUCTION WORK HERE BOOMING

There is apparently no depression in the building line in Chestertown as an unusual amount of construction work has been underway during the past year.

Among the construction work that has been completed during the past year is Chester River Bridge, paving Washington Ave. the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bartley, Dr. G. H. Dana, Mr. James Thompson and Colonel Schwab, near Chestertown, the home occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Caldwell and the home of Col. I. Price Ewing.

The construction work now underway is the Chestertown armory, a large bulk station of the Atlantic Refining Company, the homes of Messrs. H. D. Knotts, Clinton C. Jones and Howard B. Strong.

A conservative estimate of the value of this construction work is $565,000.

During the year before the million dollar road bond building program was completed.

BUILDING NEW HOME

The contract to build the new home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard B. Strong was let on Tuesday of this week to Mr. Ralph MacMuray, of Baltimore, and work started on Wednesday.

The new home will be locatel on the property on North Queen street adjoining the property of Mr. W. Duncan Derringer and will be a great addition to that section of the town.

The home which will be frame and along the lines of early English Colonial architecture, was designed by Mr. W. H. Emory, architect of Baltimore. It is understood that the contractor will employ local labor. Construction work is expected to be completed during January.

Mr. and Mrs. Strong will sell their present home on Washington Avenue.

OBJECT TO WHARF CONSTRUCTION

1. The hearing on the application of Mr. William J. Byrd, agent for Messrs. Harry Esenwein, Milfred Carr, Thomas Tucker and Marion T. Miller, owners of the property, for permit to contruct a pile and timber "T"-shaped wharf in Chester river about 100 yards north of Durdin creek on the west shore of the river, was held at the U. S. engineering office, Customhouse, Baltimore, on Tuesday, of this week.

Representative of the Greys Inn Ducking club were present at the hearing and noted an objection to the construction of the proposed wharf on the gorunds that such a wharf would seriously interfere with the shooting of wild ducks off the property of that club.

Due to the absence of Colonel Warren T. Hannum, a decision on the matter will not be made until September 25th.

200 TAKE TYPHOID SERUM

Two hundred people living in the neighborhood of Pondtown were given typhoid serum Friday night. These teatments wil continue being given each Friday night until every one in that section has been immunized against typhoid. The number treated Friday night was far in excess of that expected. The Health Officials and County Nurse believe that the contagion is well in hand now though a number of new cases may develope.

FINDS LOST RING

Mr. E. L. Pyle, this week, found a ring belonging to his wife in a pile of dirt which was dug out of the street on Mt. Vernon Ave., while building the new concrete pavement on the West side of Mt. Vernon Ave. a quantity of excess dirt was dug up and Mr. Pyle hauled some of it to fill a low spot in his back yard.

While spreading the dirt he found the ring which was lost four years ago. The dirt was handled four times before the ring was found.

EXHIBITING PATENT AT CHICAGO

Mr. Arthur M. Lusby, a young farmer living near Kennedyville is exhibiting drawings and description of the manure loader at the International Patent Exposition which is being held at Chicago from September 14th to 27th.

Mr. Lusby had his invention patented seven years ago. It is a machine for loading manure on a manure spreader. The machine is attached to the spreader and loads the spreader while driving through a pound. A large rotary picks the manure up and throws it on a carrier which transfers it to the body of the spreader.

BUILDING PAVEMENT ON MT. VERNON AVENUE

Work started this week on the construction of a four foot concrete pavement on the West side of M. Vernon Avenue.

This pavement was badly needed on this newly developed section and is being built under the town paving plan of the town paying for 2 feet and the adjoining property owner paying for 2 feet. Mr. Mack Patrick is doing the work.

The laying of this pavement was decided at the last meeting of the Town Council following a request for same by a delegation which appeared before the Council.

"HIDE TIDE" ANCHORS IN CHESTER

The High Tide, handsome new auxiliary schooner of Mr. Eugene E. DuPont is anchored off Naply Green in Grey's Inn creek, after recently returning from Cape Cod.

Mr. DuPont purchased the High Tide in August and took it to his summer home at Cape Cod. This boat is 72 feet long and recently won a race from New London, Connecticut to Cape May, New Jersey, against strong competition.

The yacht will be kept in Chester river until it is taken to winter quarters at Solomon Island.

MARYLAND FARMERS PLANT LESS WHEAT

Maryland wheat farmers, according to a recent report of the State Reporting Service, will plant about a twelve per cent smaller crop this fall than was sown last year, if present intentions are carried out. This would indicate about three hundred and sixty-one thousand acres, or about one hundred and fifty thousand acres less than in 1930.

At this time last year state farmers reported intentions to plant 430,000 acres but because of unfavorable weathed and soil conditions at seeding time were able to plant only 410,000 acres. This year seems favorable for soil preparations and seeding operations and it is not expected that the acreage planted will be much, if any, smaller than reported.

According to estimates the reduction in acreage in Kent county will conform with state figures.

TENNIS TOURNAMENT

VERNON KIRBY WINS CHESTERTOWN CHAMPIONSHIP

Vernon Kirby, winner of the lower bracket in the tournament staged this week, defeated D. B. Ford, winner of the upper bracket. Ford's defeat somewhat upset the dope. Ford, who plays a hard smashing game changed his style against Kirby and played an easy placing game. In this style he was no match for Kirby who played a good consistant game and won somewhat easily. Ford won the first set 6-4. Kirby took the next three 8-6, 6-4, 6-4. In he last set Kirby had Ford 5-1, and needed only one more point to win the match. He however lost that game and Ford staged a rally and won three games before he was subdued.

While Mr. P. F. Bounds, Mount Vernon Merchant was at lunch last Friday, thieves entered his store in that village and rifled the cash drawer, securing a sum of money, the exact amount of which Mr. Bounds is unable to determine.

CHURCH HILL CARNIVAL NETS $1000

Final returns from the carnival given by the Church Hill Firemen shows a net proceeds of $1,374.86, which is considered to be a fine profit considering the heavy expense and present conditions. The Firemen Company of Church Hill is greatly pleased over the results and expressed their deep gratification over the hearty support given the carnival. This net return includes the $380.40 which was taken in on the sale of automobile tickets.

KILLED BY TRAIN

Clifton Pierson, 80, of Grasonville, was instantly killed Saturday about 5.30 p. m., when he was struck by the eastbound passenger train of the Baltimore and Eastern Railroad Company. The train was running on schedule time and was making its regular run from Love Point to Ocean City, Md.

The accident occurred at King's crossing in Grasonville when the aged man attempted to cross the track. It is believed that Mr. Pierson, who was quite deaf and for some time had been losing his sight, must have stumbled as he reached the track and failed to hear the approaching train. The entire train passed over his body.

Mr. Fetter has broadcasted over the radio from Baltimore and Nashville, Tennessee and is also a member of the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company Band.

OYSTER MARKET DULL

Due to the continued warm weather during the past week, there has been little demand for oysters and prices in the tidewater sections of the county have remained comparatively low.

The prevailing prices paid during the first two weeks of the season have ranged from fifty to sixty cents per bushel.

Acording to oyster packers at the Kent Island Narrows, the demand in Baltimore and western markets is practically at a standstill. Besides the warm weather the business depression is believed to have some effect upon the demand for oysters in the manufacturing section of the West.

TRAILED THROUGH FOUR STATES

SHERIFF VICKERS AND DEPUTY ARREST ESCAPED CONVICT

Sheriff John T. Vickers and Deputy Whaland made a quick capture of an escaped convict from the Maryland House of Correction over the past week end.

Mike Welch, age 26 years, of Golts, was sentenced to six months in the Maryland House of Correction by Magistrate Moffett last month for wife beating and escaped from that institution last week. The warden notified Sheriff Vickers and requested that he make every effort to capture Welch.

The Sheriff and his deputy left Chestertown Sunday morning at 4 a. m. and followed a trail that carried them to Smyrna, Del.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Camden, Haddenfield, Collingswood and found Welch in a house in Penns Grove, N. J., at 7 a. m. Monday morning. He was in bed at the time that the Sheriff arrived and was so taken by surprise that no resistance was offered. The arrest was made with the assistance on New Jersey police.

Welch is now in the Kent county jail and will be taken back to the House of Correction Monday morning.

ATLANTIC REFINING CO. TO BUILD PIER

FIRE COMPANY TO MAKE INSPECTION OF PLANT

Work is scheduled to start Monday week on the construction of a pier at the new Atlantic Refining Co. plant.

This pier will be 590 feet long and will have a T head. The location of the pier will be just below the one of the Peerless Fertilizer Co.

Gasoline will be brought to the new plant via boat from Philadelphia. The route will be down the Delaware Bay and through the Chesapeake and Delaware canal into the Chesapeake Bay and up the Chester River. Oil companies find it much cheaper to ship gasoline by boat than by rail.

The new plant which has four tanks will have a capacity of 359,350 gallons of gasoline.

The Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company is to inspect the new plant Friday afternoon. They intend to pump the tanks full of water, so they can be sure there will be no leaks.

It is rumored that some of the other oil companies located in Chestertown will bring their gasoline in my boat. The Stnadard Oil, Sun Oil and Atlantic Refining companies are now using the river instead of the railroad.

TURKEY GROWERS TO MEET

The first fall meeting of the Maryland Turkey Growers Association of Kent County will be held on the regular meeting day, the fourth Friday in the month, September 25 at 1.30 p. m. at the office of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce on Court Street, Chestertown.

At this meeting marketing plans will be discussed and other matters pertaining to the fall season in connection with a possible tour or show will be considered.

This begins the fourth marketing attempt of Kent County growers the first having been begun by the Chamber of Commerce before the organization of the growers' Association. While the work is still in its infancy, organization has done much in this section to hold up the price of birds as compared with other parts of the shore where individual marketing goes on in a more haphazard manner.

The Association has had the assistance of the Chamber locally and the Extension Service has been unfailing in its efforts to promote good breeding, better and reasonable feeding and profitable marketing.

Mrs. Harry C. Williams, of Worton, is president of the Association and has, herself, already sold some birds this year at fair prices.

Early turkeys are said to be comparatively scarce in surrounding sections and a census of Kent's birds which will be taken by the Association will bring out the facts as to the number of Kent's turkeys which will be available for the Thanksgiving market or before.

All growers are invited to attend the meeting and join the Association.

ANOTHER SAMPLER

Mrs. M. F. Newnam, in unpacking some things that belonged in her mother's family, came across a sampler that was 107 years old. On the sampler is the name Miriam Taylor and the date 1824.

There are several more of these old pieces in the county.
