THE VARIOUS GARDEN clubs and officials of the first annual flower show are to be congratulated on the show staged at the armory in Chestertown. It compared favorably, although on a smaller scale, with flower shows of larger cities. The 338 exhibits from all parts of the county, filled the armory with a colorful attractive array of blooms. The zennia garden which occupied the back part of the floor space was a credit to the women who collected the flowers from all parts of the county and arranged them in a tasteful display. The enthusiasm aroused by the exhibition, promises a much larger display in the future.

THE LEAGUE SEASON of the Chesapeake Bay League is over and the addition of Rock Hall and Millington in the league this year made it practically a Kent county affair. Each team has had the backing of its community and the competition has created a friendly sporting rivalry between the various sections of the county. Rock Hall from the strat was a strong competitor for the championship of both series, losing a tie playoff in both loops. The league has brought the best ball players in this section together and has shown Kent county a better brand of base ball.

UNEMPLOYMENT THIS WINTER ESTIMATED AT 5,100,000

"Seven million unemployed this winter is the latest estimate of William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor. He estimated the jobless on August 1 at 5,1000,00 which was a slight gain for employment, but only 'seasonal.'

"Allowing for the temporary Fall gain in employment, he said, "we will have some 2,000,000 more to provide for (this winter) in addition to those now out of employment. By November we will have some 500,000 farm laborers out of work, and this number will double before the winter is over. If industry lays men off at the usual rate, we may expect some 120,000 to lose their jobs between October and January."

With the above estimate of the conditions confronting us, it is very apparent that but few realize what they will be up against when the winter, with its many needs, closes in upon us. We venture to say but few are making the necessary preprations by conserving the abundance of food that can be had at the present time at a very low price.

SUGGESTS SOLUTION OF HIGH SCHOOL PROBLEM

When school opened last week officials of the Chestertown High School were confronted with a problem of taking care of twenty-one more pupils in the commercial department than that department would accommodate.

The process of elimination by scholastic standing was adopted leaving twenty-one pupils unable to take the course of study which they selected.

A meeting of the pupils and their parents with school officials was held Monday afternoon and various suggestions were discussed without any solution of the problem.

Professor Owen C. Blades principal of the Chestertown High School, who has been very efficient during the past two years in using every available space in the building and accomodating twice the number of students that the building was designed for worked out a plan to accommodate the twenty-one additional students in the commercial department. His plan is to departmentalize the commercial department. This plan, if successful, will provide for the additional pupils and provide equipment such as typewriters, etc., at a cost of approximately $450.

The enrollment in the Chestertown High School has increased since the opening day to 310 pupils which is the largest in the history of the school. The largest number of pupils enrolled last year at any one time was 297.

The crowded condition of this school has made it necessary to divide the rooms with petitions and petition the auditorium off into class rooms.

The building was originally designed for 150 pupils.

THE ONLY NATIONAL BANK IN KENT COUNTY

"The Bank Where You Feel At Home"

Important Facts Every Checking Depositor Should Know

We want you association with this bank to be on the basis of Mutual Friendship and understanding. Therefore, the less mystery there is about our banking operations and the more knowledge you have of the ways in which we are trying to serve you, the better you can cooperate to your advantage.. The facts are submitted to you with this purpose in view. Please read them carefully.

FIRST, A bank is a business which must be conducted on business principles because the bank does not deal directly in goods over the counter, people often lose sight of the fact that banking is, nevertheless, fundamentally a business of buying and selling, which must be conducted like any sound business,—For profit as well as for service.

SECOND, A fair profit is essential to both good management and good service the commodities the bank deals in are money, credit, and service. It accepts and safeguards deposits, provides valuable facilities, and renders a great variety of helpful services. In return, it asks the temporary privilege of loaning part of these deposits in safe ways that will return enough money for the bank to pay for its service, with a little added profit besides.

THIRD, The bank that makes money is the safest place to deposit money, a well-managed bank, like a properly conducted business, should make money. If it does not make money it will not be a strong bank, and if it is not a strong bank it cannot be a safe place for a depositor's money. This fact should not be overlooked.

FOURTH, Good checking balances help to make a bank strong, every checking depositor should try at all times a keep a balance in his checking account large enough so that after all current checks are paid there will still be left on deposit, a sum that the bank can use profitably for the expense of rendering service. Intelligent co-operation of this character offers the best possible proof of individual ability and good management.

FIFTH, How the bank and its checking depositors may co-operate to mutual advantage, —service, in a bank, travels in a circle it is not something that passes from the bank to its depositors, never to return. The circuit must be completed. The depositor receives service and gives his co-operation in return. The ideal condition exists where both understand each other and work together closely for mutual benefit.

SIXTH, Every depositor, therefore, who maintains a fair checking balance in his account, is helping himself and at the same time making it easier for the bank to give him its best service at all times.
