THE GREATEST AIRSHIP TAKES THE AIR

To the enthusiastic cheers of thousands of spectators and the deafening tooting of a myriad of auomobile horns, the U. S. Navy's new airship Akron gracefully took the air on her initial test flight at Akron, Ohio, this week. Lieutenant Commander Charles E. Rosendahl was at the controls as the greatest airship in the world rose from her mooring mast. One hundred and twelve persons, including the crew of 57, were aboard at the take-off.

PENINSULA NEWS

The charts and carefully checked figures of the Eastern Shore of Virginia Chamber of Commerce and the Del-Mar-Va reveal that the tourist traffic in 1930 brought a cash return to the two Virginia counties of one million, five-hundred thousand dollars ($1,500,000) while in one year the total gross receipts from three crops—onions, cabbages and strawberries was only nine hundred, forty-six thousand, eight hundred and fifty-three dollars and fifty cents ($946,853.50.)

Twenty-three Wicomico High School youths are ready to do or die for their alma mater in true college style. Football, for more han a decade barred from county schools, is returning and a large squad has already answered the call for players, issued by C. H. Cordrey, principal of the school.

Whether the young Republicans of the Eastern Shore will succeed in throwing Miss Molly W. Stewart out as postmistress at Oxford is expected to be known within a few weeks. The Civil Servcie Commission has advised Senator Tydings that Miss Stewart again headed the list of eligibles as a result of the second examination held last month. In the last test she made a rating of 78.50; George H. Dodson, who, it is said, has been slated to replace her, made a much better showing this time, with a grade of 74.40, as against 52 in the first examination; Mrs. Ethel Whte 71.80 and Wm. H. Segelken, 65.20.

Bones of a human body believed to be that of James Bousard, 55, were found in the ruins of a fire which destroyed a one and one-half story dwelling on the Nancy Craft farm, near Indiantown, in Upper Dorchester county, Md., Sunday night it was learned today.

Bousard live dalone in the dwelling, moving there from Ohio about two years ago. When neighbors arrived at the scene of the fire they found many of Bousard's household effects moved out, including a trunk and some papers lying in the yard. It is believed that Bousard after saving these effects, went back into the burning dwelling to an upstairs room, where he was trapped by the flames and lost his life.

Mr. Louis E. Hartzell, of near Aberdeen, was fatally injured on Thursday morning when the double team he was driving was run into by a New Jersey truck on the Philadelphia road near Stepney.

APPOINTED FORESTRY WARDEN

Announcement was today made by the State Department of Forestry that Ralph K. Levering, Principio Furnace, Cecil County had been selected as District Forest Warden for Cecil, Kent, and Queen Anne's Counties.

The organization of these Counties into one fire control district is a new step in the Department's general organization plan. The duties of the new District Forest Warden will be to supervise and correlate the activities of existing Forest Wardens in the three counties and direct the detailed work of organization and fire control in the district. Hertofore, this work has been handled directly by the District Forester's office in Salisbury.

District Forester Kenneth J. Seigworth, Salisbury, plans to conduct Mr. Levering over the three counties beginning September 28.

THE ONLY NATIONAL BANK IN KENT COUNTY

"The Bank Where You Feel At Home"

Important Facts Every Checking Depositor Should Know

We want you association with this bank to be on the basis of Mutual Friendship and understanding. Therefore, the less mystery there is about our banking operations and the more knowledge you have of the ways in which we are trying to serve you, the better you can cooperate to your advantage.. The facts are submitted to you with this purpose in view. Please read them carefully.

FIRST, A bank is a business which must be conducted on business principles because the bank does not deal directly in goods over the counter, people often lose sight of the fact that banking is, nevertheless, fundamentally a business of buying and selling, which must be conducted like any sound business,—For profit as well as for service.

SECOND, A fair profit is essential to both good management and good service the commodities the bank deals in are money, credit, and service. It accepts and safeguards deposits, provides valuable facilities, and renders a great variety of helpful services. In return, it asks the temporary privilege of loaning part of these deposits in safe ways that will return enough money for the bank to pay for its service, with a little added profit besides.

THIRD, The bank that makes money is the safest place to deposit money, a well-managed bank, like a properly conducted business, should make money. If it does not make money it will not be a strong bank, and if it is not a strong bank it cannot be a safe place for a depositor's money. This fact should not be overlooked.

FOURTH, Good checking balances help to make a bank strong, every checking depositor should try at all times a keep a balance in his checking account large enough so that after all current checks are paid there will still be left on deposit, a sum that the bank can use profitably for the expense of rendering service. Intelligent co-operation of this character offers the best possible proof of individual ability and good management.

FIFTH, How the bank and its checking depositors may co-operate to mutual advantage, —service, in a bank, travels in a circle it is not something that passes from the bank to its depositors, never to return. The circuit must be completed. The depositor receives service and gives his co-operation in return. The ideal condition exists where both understand each other and work together closely for mutual benefit.

SIXTH, Every depositor, therefore, who maintains a fair checking balance in his account, is helping himself and at the same time making it easier for the bank to give him its best service at all times.
