CATCHES 60 LB. COD

FORMER CHESTERTOWNIAN HOOKS A BIG ONE

Little had been heard of Mr. Edmond S. (Speddie) Graves since he left Chestertown several years ago until last week when he broke into print on the front page of his home town paper in Dedham, Mass., last week. The article contained a picture of Speddie holding a cod fish as tall as he is, about which the article was written. We do not know whether fish stories in Massachusets are like fish stories in Maryland but here is the story.

Edmond S. Graves of 90 Richards St., went fishing last Sunday accompanied by eight stout seamen and the skipper, Dr. Edgar G. Hubbel of the kicker-propelled yacht "Hawk."

The day was bright and a mite of a swell kept the sea from being motionless seven miles out beyond the three mile limit with the Boston lightship just in sight. The anchor went down to the submarine mountains and there the fishermen lay to, when Graves hollered, "three!" From the way the line tightened it looked as though the hook had found a rock, but it gradualy began to yield under a dead weight, so-called. Graves had the usual visions of a lobster trap or an unexploded torpedo, a keg of beer, or something. Much to his surprise, two huge eyes looked askance when the cod's nostrils dilated to breath the fresh salt air.

The weight was too great to lift over the boat sides and the skipper came to the rescue with a gaff, giving the cod a right hook under the chin. Just as the prize was about to be lifted aboard, the rest of the party were ordered to the opposite side of the boat to prevent the craft from capsizing. However, the cod was lifted on board and measured 58 inches and weighed upwards of 60 pounds. Mr. Graves had hooked a prize and had won the bounteous pool of nine dollars to boot.

It seems that the cod had been attracted to a sculpin which had taken the bait of Graves' hook and had swallowed hook, line, sinker and sculpin, which "ain't" a bad story for so late in the season. There is no question but what a 60-lb. cod is a prize to boast but there have been larger ones caught. Just about a year ago Joseph DiBlasi of Revere was fishing in just about the same spot on board the good ship King Philip and landed a 98-pounder. This, of we are not mistaken, was on August 27th of last year. The cod measured five feet, nine inches.

Registration Notice

AFFECTING CITIZENS MOVING INTO THE COUNTY FROM ANOTHER STATE

Citizens moving into Kent County from another State and desiring to vote in the elections of 1932 must comply with the Acts of Assembly of 1902, which require that such persons must declare their intention of becoming citizens of the State of Maryland before the Clerk of the Circuit Court one year before the next general election in order to be eligible to register and vote in such election.

The General Assembly of 1929 attempted to repeal this law and enacted a substitute which the Court of Appeals has ruled unconstitutional. The Attorney General of Maryland, by whose opinions this Board is guided, has ruled that the decision of the Court of Appeals has made the Act of 1929 imperative and that it will be necessary for all persons moving into the State to declare his or her intention of becoming a citizen of Maryland before he or she is eligible for registration.

The opinion of the Attorney General in part, is as follows:

In 1902 the Legislature enacted a law requiring every non-resident moving into the State, wishing to vote, to register his intention of becoming a resident before a Clerk of Court one year before an election, in oder to register to vote at said election. The Legislature, by Act of 1929, Chapter 578, attempted to repeal said provision and to provide that a non-resident need not go before the Clerk, but might register upon his own affidavit and that of two voters, before the registration officers, that he had actually resided in the State a year. This new law, however, excepted two counties from its operation and on that account the Court of Appeals declared it unconstitutional (on October 31, 1930, in Bangs vs. Fey, in Md., 548), as the Constitution says that the General Assembly shall provide for a uniform registration of the names of all voters in this State, and the Court of Appeals further declared that the said law of 1902 therefore still in force.

"It is therefore, clear, under the law as it now stands, that no person who has moved into Maryland from another State is now entitled to registration unless he or she has complied with the above requirements of the law."

Persons who were able to get on the books under the act which was declared unconstitutional must appear before a clerk of the court in Chestertown before November 3 to declare their intentions. Otherwise, they may be placed on the suspect list and their names erased from the books. It would then be too late to file their intention and their right to participate in the Presidential election would be lost.

THE ONLY NATIONAL BANK IN KENT COUNTY

"The Bank Where You Feel At Home"

Important Facts Every Checking Depositor Should Know

We want you association with this bank to be on the basis of Mutual Friendship and understanding. Therefore, the less mystery there is about our banking operations and the more knowledge you have of the ways in which we are trying to serve you, the better you can cooperate to your advantage.. The facts are submitted to you with this purpose in view. Please read them carefully.

FIRST, A bank is a business which must be conducted on business principles because the bank does not deal directly in goods over the counter, people often lose sight of the fact that banking is, nevertheless, fundamentally a business of buying and selling, which must be conducted like any sound business,—For profit as well as for service.

SECOND, A fair profit is essential to both good management and good service the commodities the bank deals in are money, credit, and service. It accepts and safeguards deposits, provides valuable facilities, and renders a great variety of helpful services. In return, it asks the temporary privilege of loaning part of these deposits in safe ways that will return enough money for the bank to pay for its service, with a little added profit besides.

THIRD, The bank that makes money is the safest place to deposit money, a well-managed bank, like a properly conducted business, should make money. If it does not make money it will not be a strong bank, and if it is not a strong bank it cannot be a safe place for a depositor's money. This fact should not be overlooked.

FOURTH, Good checking balances help to make a bank strong, every checking depositor should try at all times a keep a balance in his checking account large enough so that after all current checks are paid there will still be left on deposit, a sum that the bank can use profitably for the expense of rendering service. Intelligent co-operation of this character offers the best possible proof of individual ability and good management.

FIFTH, How the bank and its checking depositors may co-operate to mutual advantage, —service, in a bank, travels in a circle it is not something that passes from the bank to its depositors, never to return. The circuit must be completed. The depositor receives service and gives his co-operation in return. The ideal condition exists where both understand each other and work together closely for mutual benefit.

SIXTH, Every depositor, therefore, who maintains a fair checking balance in his account, is helping himself and at the same time making it easier for the bank to give him its best service at all times.
