DISCUSS BI-CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

18 ORGANIZATIONS REPRESENTED AT MEETING

A meeting of representatives of the various organization of Kent county was held at the offices of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce on Wednesday evening of this week.

Mr. J. Alexis Shriver, of Bel Air, Chairman of the Maryland Washington Bi-centenial Commission was present and told of the numerous visits George Washington made to Chestertown and the places at which he stopped. His information was taken from Washingtons diary. He referred in his diary to Rock Hall and Chester New Town, which is now Chestertown, on several occasions. He also speaks of Down's Cross Roads which is supposed to be near Galena, and George Town. He speaks of stopping at Worrell's and Ringgold's at Chester. Worrell's tavern is supposed to have been the old tavern on the corner of Queen and Cannon streets which was bought and torn down about twenty five years ago.

Miss Caroline Thompson, who died in 1885 at the age 99 years and 8 months used to describe Worrell's Tavern as having a large ball room where a band played and large dances were held after fox hunts.

Dr. Paul E. Titsworth was appointed director of the celebration committee and Mr. Fred Dumschott assistant. Dr. Titsworth will appoint five directors who with the director and assistant will form the committee.

According to tentative plans which are being discussed the celebration will be in the afternoon following the commencement exercises at Washington College which will be in the morning in June. Washington College will celebrate its sesquicentennial celebration at the commencement exercises.

The nature of the afternoon's celebration has not been decided a number of plans being under consderation.

Well, Windy, everything seems to be very quiet around town now.

Yas, it is kinda quiet now but mark my word it will be noisy enough soon.

Why is that?

Wal, according to reports they is getting ready to build a new postoffice. Every new thing they build around here now there is always a big fracus about the location. When they were to build the new bridge just think of the big fuss they made.. They had to settle that question by building the new bridge just about where the old one was. When they was talking Armory just look at the suggestions and criticism offered. Them Armory people they just went ahead and built the thing but the State Road Commission had a big hearing before they decided where to build the bridge.

Where do you think the new postoffice will be built?

There is a movement on to have it built down at the station. They claims they would not have so-far to haul the mail. I guess they is afraid some of these hot magazines they print now might git cooled off.

Are many of them sold around town?

I should say; they has taken a lot of popularity away from the traveling salesman.

Are there any objections to this location?

Oh, yes, they objects to it and will to most any place that is suggested. Some of the women is very much up against the station location on account of the neighborhood.. Everybody most will have a new location. I is expecting somebody to suggest using the money for a new high school instead of a new post office.

They could not do that because the money comes from an altogether different source.

I ain't aruging about it I just says, "I is expecting the suggestion." No wonder Andy Mellon is yelling for more taxes, when he is financing all these fancy buildings. . He is very considerate of the little boys too. He wants to see that they are not left out of paying the income tax. We certainly ought to appreciate his efforts.

They had a jail-break last week didn't they?

Yea, three of them flew the coop but one of them went all the way up to Pennsylvania and then come back of his own free will and accord.

Why did he come back?

From what I hear they say he found out this "continued prosperity" and "full dinner pail" stuff was all bunk. He thought times were better in a class D jail, (the worst jail in the State according to reports of the jail inspectors), than there were in great wide open looking for work.

Some place in town were robbed last week, do you think they will catch the thieves?

The people whose places were entered should feel highly complimented that anybody thought they had any money. Nothing was disturbed and the poor boys who must have had high hopes broke ther screw driver.

I understand they attempted to rob the safe of the city council

From all reports it has been robbed before but the boys the other night jest used a different method and it didn't work so well as the methods used before.

How is the lynching probe coming along.

Huh, that got a big set-back this week. When the citizens of Salisbury, indignant over the way the administration of justice was being handled and took matters in their own hands, that was considered a terrible thing. Now out there in Hiwahyee they done went and lynched a native. This latter deed was done by prominent society people. Of course from the reports the papers give they was purfectly justified in what they done and I guess we all agrees with them about that. Them people in Howahyee was prominent on the social register, so it looks like you have to be prominent in society to git the applause of the people for justifiable cases of lynching. It looks like the city papers that layed it on the Eastern Shore so hard has had to change their opinion since Washington society has taken a hand.

We all have to change our opinions sometimes.

Sure, change of opinion is all right and shows broadmindedness. We all has to change our opinion every now and then. Look at the way some of the people was hopping on Col. Brown cause R. K. O. stock went down. Now they should be patting him on the back for saving the works.

How are the churches standing the depression.

All right I guess, they still is having benefit suppers. Always attend church suppers cause that is the one way a church returns direct value for money received. My but I is beginning to feel my old age. It is getting late and think I'll go home. Look at them two stars shinning.

I don't see any stars down that way. You must be seeing those street lights.

Is they street lights? Well I has a hard time telling these here street lights of ours from the stars. Good night.

TURKEY SHOW PLANS COMPLETE

ENTRIES FROM SIX COUNTIES. INTEREST IS KEEN MANY VISITORS EXPECTED JANUARY 27 and 28, 1932

Chestertown is to be host to the First Annual All Turkey Show sponsored by the Maryland Turkey Growers' Association of Kent County, on January 27 and 28, 1932. The splendid birds from six counties (three eastern shore and three western shore) are to be housed in the Cross Street warehouse of the Eliason Motors Inc. The educational program is to be presented in the Court Room.

State-wide and Regional contests (Eastern Sho' and Western Shore growers compete against each other in the state contest and each shore competes by itself in the regional contests) are offered.. The classification includes six breeds (Bronze, W. Holland, Bourbon Red, Black, Naragansett, and Slate). Six classes in each breed are listed: adult, yearling, and young (cockerel or pullet) male and female.

A printed catalogue and program will go into the mails next week. Local response has been most gratifying.

Birds will be received on the 26th if desired by out of county exhibitors. All birds must be in place by noon of the 27th, Wednesday. The judging will take place imediately. In the evening a splendid speaking program is scheduled for the Court Room which will be crowded.

On Thursday morning (28th) demonstratons will be staged, also a Round-Table Discussion of problem-questions submitted by the growers of this and nearby states. A question box is ready to receive the questions, now and during the show. Birds released at 3.30 p. m.

Ringside judging, with the giving of reasons for the placings, demonstrations, the discussions, the speaking, the swapping of ideas, information, and experiences mark this Show as being of high educational value. Much interest has been manifested. Chestertown becomes the center of turkey interest. Competition will be keen, friendly rivalry stimulates, education follows.

Mrs. H. T. Williams, of Worton is President of the Association. Mrs. Neil C. Westcott is Secretary; Mrs. L. A. Sutton is Treasurer. The committees named are as follows:

Program:—Mrs. William, Mrs. J. W. Biggers, Mrs. Charles Hague, Mr. L. A. Sutton, Mrs. Julian Jones.

Publicity:—Mrs. W. B. Harris, Mrs. Edward Hepbron, Mrs. Robert Wallis, Mrs. Mary Matthews, Mrs. Wm. Whiteley.

Advertising:—Mrs. H. T. Williams, Mrs. H. M. Baker, Mrs. Daisy Reinhart, Mrs. W. W. Rambo, Mrs. J. A. Bigelow.

Concessions The Directors.

Treasurer, Mrs. L. A. Sutton.

Show, J. D. McVean, Chairman.

Turkeys were donated to be "chanced off as a means of helping to finance the Show, by the following public spirited growers. Red Acres Farm (Williams): Baker Turkey Farm: Wood Chester Farm (Biggers, and Rambo Turkey Farm.

No money prizes are offered. Prize ribbons will be awarded in all classes. The number of ribbons to be in proportion to the number of entries per class. The championship ribbons in the state-wide and regional classes wil lbe the usual "royal purple." The growers expressed their preference to omit the cash prizes and to make the Show strictly educational in nature. Next week we will announce the speakers, the breed superintendents and more details.

DEL-MAR-VA BOARD MEETS

DUCKING LAW DISCUSSED—OTHER PROBLEMS TAKEN UP

With representatives of practically all waterfront counties in Del-Mar-Va registering objection to present regulations of the Department of Agriculture in curtailing waterfowl shooting to a thirty day period, the Del-Mar-Va Eastern Shore Association, at the meeting of its Official Board, on Monday, in Century Club Rooms, Dover, Del., took action to unite with the national movement requesting a change in the regulations.

President Stewart K. Powell, in behalf of the Virginia Eastern Shore Counties stated that feeling in that section was very strongly opposed to the present open season limit and that it is of vital importance to many residents in that section. Former P. Watson Webb said that in the vicinity of Cambridge and along that section of Chesapeake Bay duck and goose shooting had developed into an industry running into huge sums and pointed out that the present ruling has rendered a great hardship on caretakers of ducking shores whose usual employment covered a period of three and one half months and at the same time the thirty day ruling leaves the shores without protection except for a limited number of State and Federal Game Wardens.

Richard H. Collins, Jr., of Chestertown, Md., Editor of the Transcript who has fought in behalf of sportsmen in his section as well as those regularly employed as guides and caretakers voiced the same opinion in a letter submitted to the Association.

From information presented not only sportsmen but a very material number of employees who are given work during the shooting season are unanimous in wanting the three months season re-established with restricted shooting days each week.

It was decided the Del-Mar-Va Association will unite in the general appeal to have the season extended over the three months period with two or three days each week allowed for shooting. Resolutions covering this action will go to the Department of Agriculture as well as to the Representatives in Congress from Delaware, Maryland and Virginia.

Congressman Robert G. Houston, of Delaware, who had expected to attend to present his views on transportation facilities was unable to be present but submitted a letter in which he suggested increase in waterway transportation especially for grains and other non-perishable products. This was also referred to the Special Committee on Traffic and Transportation..

A plan to further foreign born colonization in Del-Mar-Va was presented by Henry I. Hazelton, of Salisbury, and the Del-Mar-Va Association will extend its cooperation toward promoting this. Mr. Fred P. Adkins was named as Chairman of a special committee to work out a program to be presented before service organization on the Peninsula.

Charles Gibbs, Manager of the Hotel duPont- Biltmore, will cooperate with the Association's Secretary in determining the best method of reaching hotel chefs throughout the country and interesting them in practical methods of using sweet potatoes so that a greater consumer interest may be developed. Action on this was requested by H. C. Watson, President of the Eastern Shore of Virginia Chamber of Commerce, and a practical plan of stimulating interest will be undertaken.

J. Edward Tikiob, Rehoboth, Del., requested the Association to take action in a Peninsula-wide movement for extermination of mosquitoes. Gerrish Gassaway, Manager of the Wilmington Chamber of Commerce, stated that this was a feature of decided interest to the Peninsula and suggested that the United States Public Health Service be asked for advice and also to make a survey. Former President, L. A. Drexler, suggested that the State of Delaware, through its Highway Department, be called upon for assistance in having certain tracts of swamp or marsh land properly drained. The Association will extend their requests for assistance in this matter to each State Health Department as well as the Federal unit.
