THE TURKEY SHOW, to be staged next week, is a step forward in the turkey industry in the county. Kent county is one of the turkey centers of of the country and for years Kent's show birds have been winning prominent places in National shows but this is the first time that local birds will compete with birds from other sections on our home grounds. The show bird competition creates better stock and will, no doubt, increase the quality of Kent county turkeys.

ON PAGE ONE in this paper will be found the notice of the death of one of Kent Countie's best citizens—Harry C .Willis. It has been our pleasure to have known Mr. Willis for many years and longer we knew him the more we became attached to him. Always pleasant and agreeable in manner, courteous in demeanor he made many warm and lasting friendships. The more one saw of him, the more they admired him. If his opinions differed with yours he accorded to you your right of thought in a pleasant way—never discourteous or abusive in his arguments. In politics he was an ardent Democrat and hs work with and advice to his party, carried consideration in party councils. A friend to the poor and needy with a helping hand to the friendless he has past to the sleeping that knows no waking.

NOT THE WORST DEPRESSION

(From The Literary Digest)

One of the commonest offhand statements of recent months has been: "This is the worst of all after-panic depressions."

But mere reiteration is no proof, and a writer in the financial section of the New York Times suggests that we examine the record. And upon examination it is found that the popular idea about this being the worst depression is all wrong:

The present depression is worse than that of 1921, because there was then no such accumulation of private indebtedness, contracted at inflated prices, here and abroad; in land, industrial plant, and stock speculation.

It is worse than that which followed 1907, because England and France were then little affected. and because the general public in America was in a reasonably strong position.

But it has not been as bad as the depression after 1893. The three years following that panic witnessed complete paralysis of American trade; imminent insolvency of the United States Government; ts rescue, by barely the margin of a day, from lapse to a depreciated silver standard; receiverships for one-fourth of the country's railway mileage; nation-wide strikes of employes, sometimes amounting to industrial insurrection, and almost entire prostration of our banking system, Wall Street itself used to say in those days that America "has no financial future."

BALTIMORE'S AUTO SHOW

TO BE HELD NEXT WEEK

Baltimore's Automobile Show, which opens Saturday afternoon, January 23 in the Fifth Regiment Armory, Bolton and Hoffman Streets, promises to be the "talk of the town."

More mechanical and body improvements will be introduced at the show this year than at any time since 1912, when the industry was startled by the announcement of electric startng, said John E. Raine, Show Manager as he declared the exhibit which will run all next week at the Armory to be the most important ever staged in Baltimore.

Some two hundred cars and chassis will be on display and there will be an extensive showing of accessories, and shop and garage equipment. In this connection a wide spread interest is expected to develop in the many trouble diagnosing devices for determining the location and extent of motor and electrical trouble in automobiles.

Influenced by the remarkable developments in the industry, the Baltimore Automobile Show will be staged upon a plane more elaborate and spectacular than ever. The decorative theme is masterful. Mt. Vernon, the historic home of George Washington will be reproduced in exact detail even to the newly erected flag staff on the front lawn. The broad and placidly beautiful Potomac River will be brought to the Armory in the form of a tremendous 200 foot mural painting which will cove rthe entire east wall of the big drill hall. The new cars for 1932 will be displayed on the broad 'lawn' that runs from the mansion to the river.

PENINSULA NEWS

R. B. Diffin, Salisbury Bond Salesman, was arrested on Wednesday, on a writ charging conspiracy, in connection with transactions through the Peoples Bank of Somerset County, which closed its doors on November 9.

Under the same charge Omar J. Croswell was arrested on Tuesday, and released under $2500 bail. This brings the total bonds of Mr. Croswell, who was cashier of the Peoples Bank, to $22,500. Diffin's bail was also fixed at $2500, and was furnished by Salisbury friends.

The charged conspiracy under which Croswell and Diffin were arrested, is said to have grown out of an alleged forgery of two checks, put through the Peoples Bank here before the closing of that institution.

William Bloxom, a colored man of Worcester county, was hanged in the Maryland Penitentiary just after the clock struck midnight on Thursday. Bloxom paid the extreme penalty for shooting Randolph Taylor, another Negro, to death on the streets of Snow Hill last October.

The two men had a dispute over a bill Taylor was said to have owed Bloxom in a pool room operated by the latter. Taylor left the place and walked up the street where Bloxom overtook him and shot him down while Taylor, unarmed, was pleading for his life.

The sheriff of Talbot county tipped off on Monday last that the colored folks of Easton were about to storm the jail in search of James Stanley, colored, who confessed to killing Pearl McDaniel also colored, back of Hotel Queen Anne last Monday week. A number of officers were on hand to give the visitors a warm reception in case they stormed the jail. Nothing happened, however, except the officers remained on duty for long after midnight.

Sudlersville Fire Co., was called out Monday afternoon to aid in fighting a farm fire on the Starr Farm, near Felton School. The Hartly, Del., Fire Co., had already been called to the scene of the fire but owing to the high wind and character of fire called for assistance from Sudlersville.

LOSES MONEY HIDDEN IN JAR

Fred Kellam, keeper of a terrapin farm in the Jersey secton of Crisfield, recently withdrew $7,000 which he had on deposit in one of the local banks and hid it in a glass jar. This action was taken because of many bank failures being reported in different sections of the country.

Kellam, fearing that the same thing might happen in Crisfield, and his life savings be lost or at least tied up until the assets of the bank could be liquidated, buired the money in a glass jar in the marsh near his home. The rains and high tides of last week caused the water to rise above it and fearing that the water might get into the jar and ruin the money, which was in bills of large denominations, dug up the jar and placed it in the bow of his boat and concealed it with bed covers and pillows.

Last Saturday he went to his boat and, upon examination, found that $4,000 of hs money had been taken and $3,000 was left intact.

It is understood that no clues have been found to the identity of the party stealing the money.

Wallace Woodford was re-elected Mayor of Dover at the annual municipal election Monday for his eighth consecutive term. Eacn year he was been unopposed. The total vote of Monday's election, 19, was about the smallest ever polled at any city election.

THE NAVY'S BIG PARADE. The kind of laughs you got from "What Price Glory" and "Cock-Eyed World," with the kind of thrills you got from "Big Parade" and "Hells Angels." A mighty spectacle of the sea with U. S. Navy Destroyers, Submarines and thousands of gobs. Loaded with laughs that will leave you limp, thrills that you have never known the inside story of the daring scheme that licked the submarines.
