STATE TREES READY FOR PLANTING

FURNISHED TO RESIDENTS FOR NOMINAL CHARGE

The State Department of Forestry today announced that the State Forest Nursery at College Park is beginning to assign trees for spring shipment throughout Maryland. State Forester F. W. Besley says that orders for forest and roadside planting stock are coming in rapidly n anticipation of an early spring planting season. Some sizes of forest tree planting stock have been exhausted already and the unusual interest in tree planting incident to the George Washington Bicentennial Ceelbration is promoting special demand for State-grown trees. Orders are being received much in advance of the usual number at this time of the year.

The State Forester explained that the State Forest Nursery, although self-supporting, s run without profit, due to sale of trees at actual cost of production. Trees for forest and windbreak planting are sold as low as 1-5 cent each in quantities of 100 or more trees, although select trees of good size, in seedling and transplant classification, commonly sell in quantity at 1-2 cent to 1 cent each. Larger trees for roadside planting sell at from 30 cents to $1.10 each, in quantities of ten or more trees. A large order of trees has been assigned to the State Roads Commission for planting eleven miles of roadside trees along the Washington-Baltmore Pike in the spring. Other public road beautification projects are anticipated in celebration of the Bicentennial, according to Mr. Besley.

Nursery Superintendent Silas Sines reports from College Park that nursery stock is in splendid condition and terminal buds are beginning to swell as a result of the recent spring-like weather. He says that an addition to the storage shed at the nursery and other increased facilities are being placed in readiness for intense activity as soon as planting weather arrives.

Extension Forester Richard Kilbourne, who takes an active part in the forest planting activity in Maryland, announces that farm owners are taking an increasing interest in forest planting as a means of utilizing poorly producing farm areas. Forest plantatons of white, Scotch, Corsican, loblolly and red pines have proven successful in Maryland, as well as white and Norway spruce, which is used more extensively for windbreak planting and Christmas tree plantations. All of these species are being produced in quantity at the State Nursery.

State Forester Besley says there is a very real reason for landowners taking an increased in forest planting. He explains, "Theer are 180,000 acres of idle, waste land in Maryland, most of which is beter adapted to timber growing than for any other purpose, and which constitutes a land-use problem that can only be solved through reforestation. This area was cleared of its forest growth many years ago but was later found unfit for field crops. Most of it can be brought back to productive use by plainting it to forest trees. Half of the waste area, or 90,000 acres, should be planted in the next 20 years, requiring 4,500,000 small forest trees annually. The present production of the State Forest Nursey is 750,000 trees annually, which can be increased to five million trees annually, within a three-year period. Landowners interested in forest planting will be given expert advice upon application to the State Department of Forestry."

ANYBODY'S GUESS

Griggs: "I've never met your wife. She's a blonde, isn't she?"

Briggs: "I'm not sure. She's vsiting a beautician this afternoon."

HEALTH NURSE'S REPORT FOR DEC.

During the month of December 267 visits were made by the two nurses on the staff of the Kent County Health Department. 29 hours were spent in maternity service, 50 in child hygiene service and other work included visits to schools, instructive visits in homes, nursing visits and social service visits. The later type in increasing rapidly and requires much attention on the part of the nurses.

Clinics and health conferences during the month were particularly well attended.

Dr. Louis Seth held a Tuberculosis Clinic in the Health Center where one white patient and four colored patients were examined. A new colored case was diagnosed which has just lately moved into the State from South Carolina. Arrangements are being made through the South Caroline Tuberculosis Association and the Public Health Nurse to have the patient returned there for sanatorium treatment. One white patient died in the County of tuberculosis after a long illness.

Dr. F. A. Holden held the monthly Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Clinic and one patient was taken to Baltimore for treatment.

The class in Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick held four meetings.

Rock Hall reported five new cases of scarlet fever, in the town and vicinity. All homes have been visited and quarentined.

One colored child having scabies was excluded from school by Dr. R. G. Beachley. That home was visited and treatment outlined for the child. Twelve cases of impetigo have been corrected by use of adhesive tape supplied by the State for use in public schools.

Two cases of diphtheria reported this month have been released after two negative throat cultures were obtained.

Efforts are being made to send a patent to Rosewood Training School.

The county nurse, Miss Fanny Beckham, cooperated with the local Chamber of Commerce and the Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company in distributing packages of clothing, food and toys at Chirstmas time.

Pamplets on the care of nfants were sent to all mothers of babies born the previous month.

Four hundred and ten white children and four hundred and forty-nine colored children have received the toxin antitoxin treatment as a preventive of diphtheria which makes about two-thirds of the school children of the county and many of the preschool children immune from this disease.

The moveable dental clinic under Dr. James Smith has been operating with great success. During December the county nurse assisted the dental clinician in making the oral examination of about eighty-eight school children. All children in Pomona School received some dental care.

Fourteen white births were reported and nine white deaths.

THE NEW AUTO LAW

Kent's many motor vehicle operators are watching with keen interest current developments in connection with the automobile financial responsibility act, which became effective throughout the state two weeks ago. Numerous interesting phases of the law are being discussed and explained, and wihle many owners already have provided protection for themselves through special insurance, the great majority yet remain unprotected.

Cne of the provisions of the act is that the man who is caught driving an automobile while under influence of liquor and who can not produce insurance to protect the public against his acts just quits driving an automobile. He'll be more or less a marked man.

WASHINGTON LOSES 4 STATE GAMES

TO PLAY LOYOLA TONIGHT

After losing three state games in the past seven days the Washington College basketball is making every preporation for the game with Loyola tonight, Saturday.

In each of the three games lost, followers of the games, state that Washington lost to three weaker teams. It seemed that the local five, which in ability and training are equal to former championship teams, could not get going. Shot after shot under the basket failed to score until toward the latter part of the contests the local boys seemed to have lost confidence.

"Beat Loyola" is the slogan and pass word at the college this week and followers of the game believe they can do it. Washington has lost to Hopkins, Western Maryland and Mt. St. Mary's. Loyola defeated the strong Maryland team but lost to Hopkins and Mt. St. Mary's. Everyone is on edge about Saturday's game and who ever wins it will be a breath-taking game to watch.

In the three games that Washington last the scores were Western Maryland 24 to 23, Hopkins 32 to 22 and Mt. St. Mary's 25 to 15.

Funeral services were held in the coutny on Sunday for Grace Virginia Hepbron, 17, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Hepbron, of Baltimore, who died n that city last Friday after a long illness.

Interment was made n the cemetery at Shrewsbury. The Rev. Dr. Sewell S. Hepbron, officiated.

FLOWERS IN BLOOM

SCOUT LEADER TO SPEAK

KENT COUNTY SCOUTS TO GO TO WILMINGTON

Kent County Boy Scouts will hear Daniel Carter Beard speak at Wilmington, Del., today, Saturday, January 23, 1932. Eagle Scout, Charles E. Dole, of the Chestertown scouts will be on the reception committee at Wilmington.

"A boy's man," is a title that has been applied on many occasions to Daniel Carter Beard, vice-president of the Boy Scouts of America, National Scout Commissioner and Chairman of the National Court of Honor. His fame as an outdoors man and as a friend of boyhood extends beyond the bounds of his own country. Wherever there are boys they know of Dan Beard. They know that he, perhaps more than any other living man, has shown boys how to have real honest-to-goodness fun. He has been a leader in work among boys for many years, and he is still at it just as keenly and vigorously as ever. As a founder of the Boy Pioneers and the Sons of Daniel Boone many years ago, he was veritably a pioneer in pointing activities for boys, a fact which has been frequently recorded by Gen. Sir Robert Baden Powell, founder of the Boy Scout Movement, and many other leaders in work among boys.

The placé Dan Beard holds in the estimation of the Boy Scouts of America was expressed in a citation adopted by the Sixteenth Annual Meeting of the National Council of that organization when, a Silver Buffalo, awarded by the Boy Scouts of America only for distinguished service to boyhood, was conferred upon Uncle Dan. The citation read:

"Daniel Carter Beard, author, artist, outdoorsman, pioneer of outdoor movement for boys as founder of Boy Pioneers and Sons of Danel Boone, Honorary Vice President, National Scout Commissioner, Chairman, National Court of Honor and Charter Member of the Executive Board of the Boy Scouts of America, whose prestige, wisdom and experience have been pillars in the structure of the organization."

Daniel Carter Beard was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, June 21, 1850. He spent his early life in that city and in Covington, Ky. He spent much of his boyhood in a country where the memory of Daniel Boone's exploits was common to every household. The woods, fields and forests were Dan Beard's playground and before he had reached manhood he was a true Scout and knew how to live the life of the wilderness. He graduated as a civil engineer at 19 and engaged in map making. His skill as a draftsman was shown early. A chance visit brought him to New York and settled his vocation. He had specialized in sketches of animals and some of these attracted the atention of a magazine editor and lead to the beginning of Mr. Beard's successful career as an illustrator of animals and wild life.

A little later he started writing and is known today as the author of many books for boys. He was the editor of Recreation Magazine in the years 1905 and 1906, and he is a former president of the Campfire Club of America. Mt. Beard, adjoining Mt. McKinley, is named for him.

He still maintains active work as an author and illustrator and each month there is a page in the magazine, Boys' Life, to delight thousands of boy readers. Mr. Beard was married to Beatrice Alice Jackson, of Newtown, L. I., on August 15, 1894. They now live at Suffern, New York. For many years Uncle Dan was a resident of Flushing, New York once a delightful country town but one to which urban conditions have come with the opening of a new subway line. But he preferred to be out in his beloved country, so he packed up and moved to the hills of New Jersey.

NEW ONE ON EMILY POST

"Not as all.'

"Wasn't the food good?"

"Yes, very good—but I sat next to a lady who squinted, and she ate off my plate all the time."

TURKEY SHOW PLANS COMPLETED

TO BE HELD IN CHESTERTOWN JANUARY 27TH AND 28TH

The Maryland Turkey Growers' Association of Kent County has completed all plans for the two-day Turkey Show to be held in Chestertown, January 27 and 28. The show is open to all turkey breeders in the State.

On the first evening, Wednesday, January 27, a speaking program will be held in the Court House with Mrs. Harry T. Williams, president of the Association presiding.

Greetings to the assembly will be made by Mayor Saterfield, of Chestertown and address entitled "Coordination" by Dr. Paul E. Titsworth, president of Washington College and of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce.

Other speakers of the evening are Aaron Fell, Secretary of the Maryland State Poultrymens' Association; Dr. J. W. Sprouls of the University of Maryland and Lyman Peck, a representative of Merck and Co. Inc., Rahway, New Jersey who will talk on "The Control of Internal Parasites.

Problem questions are invited by mail or to be presented at this meeting and will be discussed the following morning.

The Show itself will be held in Ellason Warehouse.

One of the features of the Show will be the giving away of five turkeys which have been generously donated by the following growers:

The Baker Maryland Turkey Farm, Chestertown; The Red Acres Farm (Mrs. H. T. Williams) Worton; Wood Chester Farm (J. W. Biggers) Millington, Rambo Turkey Farm, Sudlersville and Mrs. Robert Wallis, Chestertown. Three of these birds will be given away Wednesday evening and the remaining Thursday noon. Opportunity is given the public to receive details about these birds at the following places of business: Stam Drug Company, Sterling Pharmacy, A. L. Sparks and Turner and Sons Garage.

The Advertising Committee received splendid cooperation locally and from outside. The programs will be in the mail some time this week.

Everyone is invited to attend the Show. No admission is to be charged as it is of an educational nature. No entry fees for birds are charged. Six classes in each of the following six breeds will be shown: Mammouth Bronze, White Holland, Bourbon Red, Naraganset, Black and Slate. A large number of entries have been received and the Show has been so arranged that it will be a mater of interest to all whether or not they be growers of birds.

Printed programs may be obtained from the President of the Association, Mrs. Williams, or the secretary, Mrs. Nell C. Westcott at the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

The Show is receiving cooperation from the Extension service under the direct supervision of J. D. McVean, Extenson Agent for Kent County and Chairman of the Show.

One of the educational features of the two days will be the ringside judging on Wednesday afternoon when reasons will be given. A preparatory demonstration on judging was given for the local turkey growers on Monday afternoon at the Farm Bureau by Mrs. Helen M. Baker. Mr. Rice will be in the County a day or two before the Show to help select show birds. The judge is J. Harry Wolseifer, Millville, New Jersey Quaker Oats Company. Rice of the Extension service will be Clerk to the Judge.

At the meeting of the representatives of Kent County organizations interested in properly celebrating the Washington Bicentennial in Kent County held Wednesday, January 13, Dr. Paul E. Titsworth was elected Director and Prof. Frederick W. Dumschott, Assistant Director.

Dr. Titsworth was authorized to appoint an executive committee of five to engineer the Celebration and has named Mayor Charles N. Satterfield, of Chestertown; President William L. Fowler, Chestertown Volunteer Fire Company; Dr. Esther M. Dole, Professon of History, Washington College; Superintendant Louis C. Robinson, Kent County Public School system; and Marion deK. Smith, Jr., Treasurer of the Kent County Chamber of Commerce. This committee is now preparing a set-up of sub-committees for the several parts of the celebration.
