P. G. Wilmer, President.

E. W. Emory, Vice President.

J. S. William Jones, Secretary.

Ernest H. Strong, Treasurer.

H. C. Hughes and R. Hynson Rogers members of the Board of Directors.

The report of the Treasurer showed the club to be in excellent financial condition and the reports of the various committees showed every department to have progressed during the past year.

POULTRY A CASH CROP

POULTRY PRICES NOT LOW AS OTHER FARM PRODUCTS

Every survey of the farming industry made during the past year has shown poultry to be one of the outstanding, profitable farm products.

It is true poultry prices and egg prices are reduced, but a recent survey shows poultry prices declined only 6 per cent. and eggs 16 per cent. in 1931.

On the other hand, the decline in other farm products has been as high as 52 per cent. for wheat, while corn declined 43 per cent. and oats dropped 44 per cent. The average decline for all farm products, including hogs, lamb, cattle, etc., was shown to be 34 per cent.

It is a well known fact, that with hoges selling at from 3c to 4c a pound, they have been losing money for the farmer. Even with 40c corn the farmers were unable to make money on their hogs this past year.

Last year the prediction was freely made that poultry meat prices would be higher in the Fall, bringing four times as much as pork. This has more than come true, as poultry brought from five to six times as much as pork throughout the year.

With a reduction in poultry production last year, and an outlook for further reduction this year, it is more than probable poultry will maintain an average sale price of four to five times as much as pork.

Owing to the fact poultry raisers and farmers have their building, brooders, and in many instances, their feed, it is advisable that they continue to produce poultry in normal amounts as in former years, rather than reduce the flocks as was done last year, owng to unfavorable conditions..

The farmer who maintained his flock last year, found his poultry a good source of ready cash income and a profitable crop, when other prices and costs of raising poultry were considered.

A bushel of 35c wheat will feed a hen on the farm one year. In that time a hen should lay 10 doz eggs.

If average price of eggs is 10c a doz. you get $1.00 per bushel for wheat.

If price is 20 cents you get $2.00 for a bushel and at 30 cents your wheat pays you $3.00 per bushel if fed to your hens.

Indications are that poultry will prove to be a profitable cash crop this year.

TURKEY SHOW CREATED ENTHUSIASM

FIVE TURKEYS GIVEN AWAY

The success of the Maryland Turkey Show is still a topic of conversation and favorable comment. The Show had a distinct educational and stimulating value. Many people have expressed their surprise and interest. Many local people did not realize that four of the breeds of turkeys are found well represented in Kent County.

The success of the first Show indicates a bigger and better show next year. Other classes of poultry will doubtless be included in future shows. Plans for improving the show are now under way.

The five turkeys generously donated by the Baker Maryland Turkey Farm Williams' Red Acres Farm; Biggers' Wood Chester Farm; the Rambo Turkey farm; and Mrs. Robert Wallis were awarded to the following people: Claude E. Truslow, Chestertown, Mrs. Mazie A. Shaney, Queenstown, Md.; Wilson C. Hatfield, Dover, Delaware; Mrs. Thomas H. Bryan, near Chestertown; and William R. Miller, of Pennsylvania.

Corrections

We are glad to correct several errors in the report as published last week. In the Bronze breed, Yearling Tom, Fourth and Sixth place went to the Baker Maryland Turkey Farm. In the Bronze Cockerel class, Joseph W. Collinson, of Anne Arundel County, won 5th place. Ninth and tenth went to the Baker Maryland Turkey Farm.

In the Bronze Hen class, Yearling hens were listed as Adult hens. No adult hens were shown.

In the Bourbon Red Pullet Class, we did not state that the first prize pullet was also the best female of the breed in the show. B. Roe Wallis owns this fine bird.

VICTORY CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE MEETS

KENT TO RAISE $400 FOR VICTORY DRIVE FUND

FORMER PRESIDENT'S SON SPEAKS

The committees from the various districts in the county as appointed by County Chairman, Senator S. Scott Beck, met in the Court House on Tuesday afternoon of this week and in spite of the rainy weather 110 of the 180 committee members were present.

The meeting was opened by Senator S. Scott Beck who introduced Mr. Richard F. Cleveland, State Chairman of the Victory drive and son of former President Grover G. Cleveland. Mr. Cleveland stated that from all indicatons the prospects are bright for a National Democratic year, and for the first time in the history of the Democratic party real progressive steps have been taken, looking to a Democratic victory thus early in an election year.

Maryland's quota is $40,000 of which $20,000 has been apportioned Baltimore City and $20,000 to the counties. Kent's share in the quota is $400. The chairmen of the various districts as elected at the meeting on Tuesday and the quota for each district is as follows:

First district, Millington, Leonard C. Wilson, $35. Galena, Herman McCauley, $35.

Second district, Kennedyville, both precincts, E. L. Redmile, $60.

Third district Worton, Samuel Loller, $30. Betterton, Charles Brice $30.

Fourth district, Chestertown, Harrison W. Vickers, $100.

Fifth district, Rock Hall, B. Trew Durding $60.

Sixth district, Frank Wheatley $30.

Seventh district, Mrs. Edward Greenwood, $20.

It is expected that Kent's quota will be raised by today, Saturday, and that with the increased interest in a National Democratic Administration Kent will give a large majority next November.

TIME'S DAFFODILS

BY ALICE MATHEWS

Who are your friends? Ah do you know
The diference twixt a friend and foe?
Sometimes we feel so very sure
Enriched we are, firmly secure
In faithfulness, only to find
The friend we love, prove false, unkind,
Such is life truly—always brought
Before our notice, Time's own crowd,
Along the margin of deep thought,
Seems as the futtering of a cloud,
Sunshine today—tomorrow rain;
A golden haze beneath the trees,
A sprightly army seeking gain
Ten thousand dancing in Life's breeze,
So let us gather from Love's Hills
Our friends, like golden daffodils.
And if they perish by the way,
Along the margin of Time's Bay—
In love's unselfish pensive mood
Content let's be with Solitude.
Who are our friends, the great God takes
And also gives—while man forsakes!
So as the heart with gladness fills,
Let's gather now Time's Daffodils.

DEATH OF WM. F. RUSSELL

LIFE-LONG RESIDENT OF CHESTERTOWN PASSES AWAY AFTER SHORT ILLNESS FROM HEART TROUBLE

(BY POLK T. BRAMBLE)

After an illness from heart trouble which lasted less than three months, Mr. William F. Russell, a life-long resident of Chestertown, and one of the most highly-respected and most well-known figures in the business life and activities of Kent County, early on Tuesday morning reached the end of a long and useful career and laid his burdens down. While the entire community knew that the condition of Mr. Russell was serious, his death came as a shock to most of his fellow citizens.

Mr. Russell suffered a serious attack in November, but was taken to Easton Hospital, where skillful surgeons and nurses fanned into life again the feeble spark of life, until it was thought that with months of repose in his own home where he could have the kindly ministrations of his loving wife and children, he would be able once more to resume his place in that active field of useful endeavor which he loved so well. But it was not to be, and in spite of all that could be done, by physicians and nurses and friends, he passed into the Great Beyond.

Mr. Russell is survived by his widow, Mrs. Allie Elizabeth Russell; one son, William F. Russell, Jr., Esq., of Chestertown; and three daughters, Mrs. James Dykes, of Charleston, West Virginia; Miss Louise Russell, of Chestertown; and Mrs. George Chandler, of Salisbury, Md. Also four sisters, Mrs. Fannie Wheatley, Miss Lottie Russell, Mrs. A. M. Culp and Mrs. D. B. McMenamin, all of Chestertown. He was 64 years old. Funeral services were held at his late home on Spring Avenue, conducted by Rev. E. A. Sexsmith, pastor of Christ M. P. Church, Chestertown. Undertaker C. L. Dodd, life-long friend of the deceased, had charge of funeral arrangements. Interment was in Chester cemetery. The pall bearers were as follows: Messrs. Fred G. Usilton, Harry C. Coleman, Howard Turner, Alan A. Harris, Wm. A. Hyland, Dr. H. G. Simpers, L. Bates Russell, Sr., and C. Romie Skirven.

Mr. Russell was one of the organizers of the Kent County Savings Bank, and was greatly instrumental in the growth and activities of that institution. He was a graduate of Washington College, and always took keen interest in the development of that place of learning, as well as in the athletics of the college in all branches. He took great interest in politics, both local and national, and could discuss either, with anyone, without that bitterness which is prevalent in most of us at times when the situation becomes tense and when differences of opinion render old friendships asunder. He was one of the leaders of the Democracy of Kent County and the Eastern Shore, and was elected State Senator from Kent, and served his county with honor to himself and his constitutents. In the Senate he made many friends, both among Democrats and Republicans, because of his liberal views on many subjects of interest, and maintained those friendshps until the end. He also served his party in many other capacities with great credit, and his wise council was always sought at times when political conditions needed his keen judgment and his wise foresight.

Mr. Russell was an active lodge man for a great many years, and before time robbed him of his great reserve of strength, he was an orator of exceptional power, and the lodge rooms of the county and the Eastern Shore resounded to his eloquence, while the members were inspired by his words and were touched to higher ambitions by his patriotic zeal and by the high ideals that were the keystone of his career. Mr. Russell was a member of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, Patriotic Order Sons of America and the Modern Woodmen of America. He was also a member, at one time, of the Kent County Board of Education.

The long and useful life of Mr. Russell is well known to most of the people of our section. He was an honest, earnest, gifted, sterling man, whose word was all that was needed in any transaction, sympathizing with the unfortunate in all walks of life and holding in supreme abhorrence falsehood and any form of tyranny. But Mr. Russell was one of the most modest of men, and only his closest relatives and friends knew him best, discovered the modest motives of his life, the depth of his thought, the force and volume of his brain, his great candor, the limitless extent of his far-flung information, and the perfect integrity of his soul. He lived his long and useful life, and died without leaving in the memory of his family or his friends the record of a single unkind act.

Mr. Russell was a quiet man. He led a quiet life. He was interested in the things that pertained to the home, rather than the mad rush for fame and recognition in the turmoil and strife of the city's unending roar. He loved his family; his wife, his children, his grand[illegible] and to be with them meant [illegible]m than to have the association of politicians of power and financiers of ability and renown. His home life was one of the predominating characterists of his life. He loved good literature, and was touched to tears by music. Great orators thrilled him, and statesmen who have made the country great held his earnest attention, no matter to which party they held allegiance.

We knew him well, and we unhesitatingly went to him for advice or to discuss the issues of the day, as they came, or to seek some information that might be useful. We numbered ourselves among his many friends, and talked with him as freely as if we were one of his family. And we were only one of the many hundreds who did likewise.

When the turmoil of 1914 engulfed the world in a sea of strife and bloodshed, and when the country needed help to carry on the gigantic task into which we became involved, one of the most eloquent voices raised in behalf of the government loan among our people was that of Mr. Russell, and he gave his time and spent his strength and energies in a successful effort to help the great cause. As a result, Kent county more than did its part in every effort of the government here.

Only a few days ago we talked with Mr. Russell. He had been ill for several months, but his interest in all human things was just as deep and keen, his love of freedom and his hatred of all oppression, were just as intense, just as fervid, as in the days of his perfect health. True, his body was mature in years, but his mind was young, and his heart, like a spring in the desert, bubbled over as joyously as though it had the secret of eternal youth. Shortly afterward, it had ceased to beat, and the mysterious veil between the present and the future had fallen once again between the living and the dead.

And yet we hope and dream. May be the longing for another life is but the prophecy that death alone fulfills. We cannot tell. But this we do know: Good deeds are never lost; a noble act does not die; a great life goes on forever. Mr. Russell scattered in his life many priceless seeds, and we who remain should reap the golden harvest.

BARON TWINS IN PERSON

AT THE NEW LYCEUM

The management of The New Lyceum Theatre announces with much pleasure the booking of the BARON TWINS as a Special Added Attraction ON THE STAGE for Friday and Saturday, February 12 and 13. The Baron Twins, William and Wilbur are vaudeville's leading juvenile entertainers and will present the same song and dance act which has won them fame in the large city theatres. These young stage stars are also quite well known through their radio appearances and were the first young artists to broadcast on a Television program. One critic has the following to say about the Baron twins. "The Baron Twins will sing and dance their way nto the hearts of any audience, because they have an act that rivals any child act on the stage. They are so cute and ust as clever as they are cute . . . they have such big serious eyes, are such tiny tots, and are so earnest in their songs and dances you just feel like hugging them when they take their bows with faces as sober as an old Puritan judge."

The feature film at The New Lyceum Theatre for February 12 and 13 is "EVERYTHINGS ROSIE" starring the comic sensation Robert Woolsey, and the Baron Twins will appear both evenings and also at the matinee on Saturday, February 13th.

REPRESENTATIVE GOLDSBOROUGH INTRODUCE TWO BILLS

On February 2 Congressman T. Alan Goldsborough, of Maryland, introduced two bills, one, "To equalize tariff duties by compensating for depreciation in foreign currencies," and the other, "To amend the Antidumping Act of 1921."

The immediate necessity for the legislation, involved in these two bills, is that Canada, with a depreciated currency, is selling canned fruits and vegetables in the United States at a price below the cost of production to the American producer. This condition affects very acutely not only the canner but the farmer who sells to him, and the laborer in the canning factory and on the farm.

Maryland, and especially the Eastern Shore, has a very large canning industry, so that the enactment of these bills into legislation will be very important to that State.

These bills are identical with bills introduced by Congressman Hawley, of Oregon, former Chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, with whom Mr. Goldsboorugh is cooperating.

ABBIE PANELING IN BALTIMORE

BEING PLACED IN BALTIMORE MUSEUM

The work of removing the paneling in the Greate Room of the Abbey on Front street in Chestertown to the Baltimore Museum of Art has been completed and is now being placed in the museum.

The removal of this paneling brought protests from a number of the residents of Chestertown as well as former Eastern Shoremen now living in Baltimore.

The removal of this panel work has created a great amount of publicity and interested visitory have come to Chestertown from many Atlantic States to see the house.

Numerous reports have been circulated about the selling of other parts of the beautiful old home. Visiting architects have admired the construction of the house from cellar to roof.

Card Party Series Ended

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Kent County Home, held Wednesday, February 3rd, 1932, the following resolutions were passde in expression of the deep sense of loss in the death of Mr. Harry C. Willis, many years a member of this Board.

Whereas, in His wise providence it pleased our Heavenly Father to take to Himself the soul of our friend and brother Trustee—We desire to place on record our profound sense of loss at his removal from our body and the communty; and also our sad privilege to endeavor to give expression, inadequate though it must be, of his great worth both as our fellow Trustee and as a man..

Therefore be it Resolved. That in the death of Harry C. Willis, The Kent County Home has lost a Trustee whose udgement and advice we valued highly and followed with great advantage to the Home. He was conscientious in his attendance and in all the details of his position. We shall miss greatly both his presence and counsel.

He was a friend to those in our Home and of the worthy poor, to whom his advice and means were always accessable.

His many friends to whom his geniality, hospitality and frequent intercause were a boon highly prized, feel that one has gone from among them whose absence leaves a sense of want that cannot be replaced.

But to his family, who knew him best, and were united to him in bonds of the closets and warmest affection, will and do mourn him most.

His devotion to them was most beautiful—a man beloved and respected in every walk of life.

Be it Further Resolved; That we herewith extend to his sorrowing family and friends our brotherly sympathy in their irreparable loss, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family and the same shall be entered upon the records of the Kent County Home, and published in the county papers.
