THE DEATH OF Mr. William F. Russell came as a decided shock to the entire community. It marks the loss of a useful and much respected citizen. His entire life was spent in Chestertown and although in recent years his health necessitated his retirement from public activities, his life was one of service to this community and he was interested in all progressive moves that pointed toward its betterment. We extend our sympathy to his family.

MR. F. G. USILTON ELECTED VICE-PRESIDENT

Mr. F. G. Usilton, editor of the Kent News, was elected vice-president of the Del-Mar-Va Press Association, at the annual meeting held last Saturday, at the Hotel DuPont in Wilmington.

Mr. S. E. Shanahan, editor of the Easton Star Democrat was one of the speakers and he stressed the point that more and more business from the peninsula was leaving Baltimore and going to Wilmington.

COMMENDS WARNING AGAINST OVER-CONFIDENCE

"For nearly three years the Democratic National Committee, through the generosity and remarkable rommon sense of John J. Raskob, National Chairman, has made a great and telling fight for party principles and party success. Mr. Shouse, as Executive Chairman, has taken a major part; he has proved himself to be Democracy's Iron Man of Service. Having been in almost every nook and corner of the land, he knows the situation—Democratic victory is assured if Democrats perform.

THE MARYLAND FAMILY

MAJORITY POPULATION BETWEEN 35 AND 44 YEARS

Do you happen to know what age group in the population of Maryland has the largest number of persons in it? Would you believe that one out of every seven, is in the group from 35 to 44 years old?

In order that the disease fighters in city and state departments of health may map out their disease prevention campaigns intelligently, it is necessary for them to know not only where and what diseases are occurring, but also what age groups of the population are likely to be afected by them. For this and various other reasons, estimates based upon the U. S. Census reports are made every year by the State Department of Health, of the number in each age group in Maryand. The estimates for the current year were made by the Bureau of Vital Statistics and are based upon the Census returns of 1920 and 1930.

Considering the people of Maryland as one big family, it is interesting to note that there are more people living in the State who are from 35 to 44 years old what may be called "the young middle aged group" than in any other age group. Out of a total population of 1,671,448, there are 239,447 in this group, or 14.3 per cent of the total. This proportion holds good in both white and colored populations.

Since 1920, there has been a gradual decline in the birth rate, not only in Maryland but throughout the country. This has been offset in Maryland in two ways, the steady saving of infant lives and the prolonging of life in the older age groups. These changes have brought about some shifting in the present relative sizes of the different age groups, in comparison with the former proportions in these groups.

For instance, in connection with these estimates, Dr. John Collinson, chief of the Bureau of Vital Statistics, points out that at present 27.9 per cent of the total population is made up of the babies under a year old—of whom there are 25,982—their older brothers and sisters in the preschool age and those in the school age up to 14 years, a total of 466,333 children. He also shows that in 1920, when the total population of the State was 1,449,661 there were 430,579 children or 29.6 per cent of the total population at all ages in the group under 15 years old.

One-third of the present population 559,157, or 33.4 per cent. of the total, is in the group from 15 to 34 years old. A little less than a third 544,170 or 32.5 per cent of the total is in the group from 35 to 64 years old, with 239,477 from 35 to 44; 182,391 from 45 to 54 and 122,302 from 55 to 64. There are nearly 100,000 persons in the State 97,472, to be exact, 5.8 per cent. of the total—who are 65 years old or older. Of that number 70,020 are from 65 to 74 and 27,452 are 75 years are older.

THE ONLY NATIONAL BANK IN KENT COUNTY

Sponsored by the U. S. Government

"Different from all other celebrations of its kind is the Bicentennial Celebration of the birth of George Washington. Sponsored by the United States Government and promoted by an especially appointed Commission of which the President is Chief, it will open on February 22, continue until Thanksgiving with particular local and national programs, taking advantage of all holidays, anniversaries, or other days which may be associated with the life of this great statesman.

"This is carrying a celebration to the people themselves and becomes in reality a crusade for better citizenship. It reveals Washington in the completeness and versalility of his talents. As the exponent of a well-lived life George Washington has no suprior in our history. Essentially a man of the out-of-doors, he maintained an active interest and participation in the social, religious and cultural life, as well as developing himself into a military genius and supreme statesman.

"Significant of his interest in field and stream is the Tree Planting Campaign which is a part of the Bicentennial. Local communities, through the co-operation of patriotic and fraternal societies, are planting rows of trees along the highway, or by-way, as a memoral to this great and good man.

"Churches are co-operating, for George Washington was an ardent devotee of religion. Every crisis found him turning to Divine Providence, not merely for help and guidance, but likewise in gratitude for benefits, blessings and protection. Exceptionally broadminded as to sectarian views, he attended church services wherever he happened to be.

"Through the agency of radio, schools and churches; fraternal, patriotic, educational and social clubs, the Bicentennial Commission hopes that every citizen of the United States will participate in the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Father of Our Country, and reveal in a new light the true value of the glorious legends about the character of such a man."
