BOWELS need watching

Let Dr. Caldwell help whenever your child is feverish or upset; or has caught cold.

His simple prescription will make that bilious, headachy, cross boy or girl comfortable, happy, well in just a few hours. It soon restores the bowels to healthy regularity. It helps "break-up" a cold by keeping the bowels free from all that sickening mucus waste.

You have a famous doctor's word for this laxative. Dr. Caldwell's record of having attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby is believed unique in American medical history.

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your drugstore and have it ready. Then you won't have to worry when any member of your family is headachy, bilious, gassy or constipated. Syrup Pepsin is good for all ages. It sweetens the bowels; increases appetite—makes digestion more complete.

Cradle of Icebergs on Greenland West Coast

The world holds few more awe-inspiring spectacles than the movement of icebergs out of Jacobshavn fjord, into Disco bay, on the west coast of Greenland. Jacobshavn glacier is the world's greatest mother of icebergs, the experts claim. On the average, it calves more than 1,350 bergs each year. The Jacobshavn fjord is a giant trough in the solid rock, four miles wide and running back inland fifteen miles, between high precipitous walls, to the front of the glacier. When the investigators ran the prow of their little craft into the mouth of the fjord, they were met by an impassable wall of bergs.

The hunters made their way afoot to the top of the rocky bank. As far as eye could see in the fjord, icebergs were packed tightly, row on row, a breath-taking aggregation of white pinnacles and domes. They estimated that the great rock-walled trough held between 4,000 and 6,000 bergs.

The movement of the bergs is not a steady march. Most of the year they lie there, packing in tighter and tighter. About once a month they move.—Popular Mechanics Magazine.

Judges' Charges Short but Much to the Point

American love of "wisecracks" extends even to the judicial bench, and a Pennsylvanian magistrate received commendation for what is claimed to be the shortest summing-up on record: "The ham was there, the prisoner was there. The ham was gone, the prisoner was gone." For lucidity as well as brevity that certainly will take some beating, but some of our own judges have run it pretty close, writes a columnist in the Manchester (England) Guardian. The late Justice Cave, in a case where there had been much hard swearing on both sides, addressed the jury: "Gentlemen, one side or the other is telling lies. Perhaps you can tell which it is. I cannot." Lord St. Helier, too, once delivered his charge to the jury in a divorce suit in two brief sentences: "If the husband were the brute his wife says he was, she is well rid of him. If he is the saint he makes himself out to be, he is far too good for any woman."

Politeness Personified

Our recent anecdote about the child who rendered the second line of the Lord's Prayer: "Hollywood be thy name," has brought to us from Mrs. C. M. R. a story which is, new to us if not to all of our readers:

A little girl from Boston whose name was Halliwell was spending the night with the Cabots. She knelt at Mrs. Cabot's knee to say her evening prayer.

"Our Father Who art in heaven," the little one began devoutly, "Cabot by Thy name."

"What? That is not right, dear!" said the startled lady.

"Oh," said the child, "of course at home I say 'Halliwell be Thy name,' but here I thought it more polite to say 'Cabot.'"—Boston Transcript.

Gem Long Prized

The aquamarine is among the oldest of gems. It is simply a transparent variety of beryl, typically of a bluish green color. Hence the name, meaning "sea water." The emerald is another variety of beryl, a stone which, in its various tints, was much prized by the ancients. There are many Greek intaglios of these gems, displaying the finest workmanship. The beryl was one of the stones of the breastplate of the Jewish high priest, and the Roman jewelers, who put it to a number of purposes, anticipated one of the popular modern uses of the aquamarine by making ear pendants of it.

Another Cincinnatus

The folk tales of most European nations have many stories about national heroes who were summoned from the plow to free the people from a foe, says an article in a Boston paper. In Bohemia, now part of Czechoslovakia, legend attributes the role to Premysl, a peasant who was working in his fields when a deputation of his countrymen besought him to be their leader. He drove out the enemy, married Libussa, who is regarded as the foundress of Prague, and their descendants ruled Bohemia as dukes and kings for many centuries.

Motors' Peculiarity

That airplane motors operate more efficiently early in the morning than at any time is one of the mysteries of mechanics which automotive engineers have vainly tried to solve. It is an established fact that for a period slightly before dawn at the earth's surface to an hour afterward an airplane motor operates at its highest efficiency. A similar although modified effect is noted for a like period immediately after sunset. Automobile motors on the ground are affected, but in a lesser degree.

Shaw's View of Life

I am of the opinion that my life belongs to the whole community, and as long as I live it is my privilege to do for it whatsoever I can. I want to be thoroughly used up when I die, for the harder I work the more I live. I rejoice in life for its own sake. Life is no "brief candle" for me. It is a sort of splendid torch which I have got hold of for the moment, and I want to make it burn as brightly as possible, before handing it on to future generations.—George Bernard Shaw.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Have you wondered why your lights went out and your machinery suddenly stopped around ten o'clock Monday morning? It was all because of our Physics class. Mr. Willis, heeding our frantic pleas, took us down to the Chestertown Electric Light Plant Monday morning. It didn't take long to go and when we arrived—oh joy—there was enough machinery and noise to delight the most unenthusiastic girl. Personally, nothing could have suited me better. I was in my seventh heaven as I looked over all of the numerous gadjets (Mr. Willis, I've forgotten the names!) Mr. Joiner showed us a great many things including the pipes charged with enough electricity to electrocute a person if that person was so unlucky as to lean against them. While explaining the town current Mr. Joiner accidently put a plug in the wrong way and flash!—well, that was the instant your light suddenly went out.

Mr. Beilhartz, the supervisor of the Electric Light Plant. was unusually informative. He explained more in one hour than I had even wildly guessed at in sixteen years.

Not that I understand everything about the making and generating of electricity—my poor brain is not large enough for that—but I did catch the magnitude and a great deal of the grandeur that is—electricity.

Harriett Louisa Rogers, you're an actress! And Carolyn Jewell, you WERE Miss Phoebe, darling Miss Phoebe of the ringlets, Friday night, weren't you? Both of you with Vernon Seward, remembered by many as the dashing Valentine Brown, put over the best play ever given by dear old C. H. S. Those who came that night saw something that they will never forget—for they will not WANT to forget. I know that Miss Bryan's coaching was excellent and that it was her influence that raised it to the high standard of entertainmen it attained. It really didn't matter that my first finger was numb from holding back the curtains. I was watching a grand play, a play that will always be associated with my Senior Year. In fact, thinking about it now, I didn't even realize that my finger was numb until the final scene had ended.

After holding discourse in the clouds I suppose it is necessary to return to the solid soil and tell you about the business end. After all of the expenses were paid, ten dollars was left. No one is disappointed.

Did you know that:

The faculty were the guests of the Rotary Club Monday evening?

Esther Robinson and Dorothy Jones get bronze pins as a reward for typing forty words a minute?

Daisy Starr, Hilda Perry and Myrtle Vansant will receive silver pins because they typed fifty words a minute?

In the trial of M. Baxter Hart, farmer residing near Mappsburg, Eastern Shore, Virginia, who was indicted for the murder of his wife, Mrs. Stella Guy Hart, the jury on Wednesday brought in a verdict of murder in the first degree with a sentence of 30 years in the penitentiary. Following this a motion was made to satisfy the verdict on certain grounds which will be head on a subsequent day of this term.

Mrs. Hart, wife of the defendant, died at the Memorial Hospital in Nassawadox, Va., at 3.34 P. M., Thursday afternoon, January 28th, never having regained consciousness after being knocked unconscious by her husband, at her home Sunday night, January 24th.

Moons of Mars

No moons belonging to Mars were known in Swift's day, but he makes the astronomers of Lilliput discover two Martian satellites, one revolving in ten hours and the other in twenty-one and a half hours. One hundred and fifty years after the publication of the book the two moons of Mars were actually discovered. One revolves in seven and a half hours and the other in thirty and a quarter hours—many times faster than the moons of any other planet.

Arches in Human Foot

There are three arches in the foot, in addition to the long arch at the inside which extends from heel to great toe, the longitudinal arch. The front or anterior arch extends across the ball of the foot, the arch at the outside of the foot from the heel to the base of the small toe and the arch across the middle of the foot under the instep.

Do Your Best

As neither he that singeth most, nor prayeth longest, but he that doth it best, deserveth the greatest praise; so he, not that hath most years, but many virtues, nor he that hath grayest hairs, but greatest goodness, liveth longest. The chief beauty of life consisteth not in the numbering of many days, but in the using of virtuous doings.—Lyly.

Odd Ceremonials That British Cities Retain

New mayors who wish to start picturesque customs might take lessons from ceremonies that English mayors must go through.

At High Wycombe the mayor has to undergo a kind of "weighing in" ceremony. He proceeds to the weights and measures department of his borough with his aldermen and councillors, and there, with due solemnity, each member of the council is weighed. Their weights are entered faithfully in the civic records.

The new mayor of Lincoln, and at several other places, has a ring placed upon his finger. The ceremony is intended to symbolize the wedding of the mayor to his borough or city.

At Hanley, in Staffordshire, and at Bournemouth the retiring mayor and the new mayor embrace each other. Strictly, they should kiss, but this part of the ceremony has been allowed to lapse.

The new mayor of Brightlingsea is elected to office in the belfry of the parish church.

There are also strict customs in connection with the banquet which follows the election. At Yarmouth a sprat feast is held. At Peterborough the mayor and his guests always consume sausages and champagne, though no one seems to know how this custom originated.

That "Borrowing" Idea Old Subject With Her

Edward Lowell, well-known book collector, said in an address:

"Book borrowers as a class are punk. For that matter, all borrowers are punk.

"A young woman ran into a neighbor's one day and asked:

"'Can I use your telephone, dear?'

"'Certainly,' said the neighbor.

"'I'm giving a little party Saturday night, and I want to invite a few friends.'

"'I see.'

"'It will be a rather gay party—the younger married set—poker and all that—so—well, naturally, you would—well, you would hardly—'

"'Not another word,' said the neighbor, 'I understand, of course. You don't want me to think you're cheeky for borrowing my telephone to invite people to a party that leaves me out. Well, set your mind at rest, darling. Mrs. Smith borrowed the phone the other day to order 10 tons of coal from Grigson's—it was nothing to her that my husband is in the coal business—and last week a man borrowed it to call John up at the coal yard and threaten him with a lawsuit if he didn't settle a disputed bill within 24 hours.'"—Springfield Union.

Phone Johnny on the spot for Coal--149.

Have you put off ordering your coal. Give it a thought right now and phone—telling us how many tons you require for the winter. We'll attend to your order at once.

Galena Leads In High School Group

Although St. Paul School broke its string of perfect attendance marks for the first time this year it continued to lead all Kent schools in attendance for January with an average of 98.8. Up until the first month of 1932 the St. Paul School, taught by Mrs. Lillian Orr Crouch, had registered four 100 per cent months in a row.

Pomona, taught by Mrs. Edna E. Faulkner, entered the select ranks this month and nosed out Janvier, long one of the leaders, for second place. Pomona had a mark of 97.7 and Janvier, taught by Miss Frances G. Orr, had a mark of 97.2.

Galena High, Miss Lelia N. Ware, principal, stepped into first place among the county schools of that group to lead the three others, all of which had marks better than 90 per cent.
