PREPARES WASHINGTON TRAVEL MAP

NORTHERN ROUTE PASSES THROUGH KENT COUNTY

The Maryland Commission for the celebration of the 200th Anniversary of the Birth of George Washington has prepared a map of the State of Maryland, showing all the roads over which George Washington traveled through this State, and ninety separate places at which he is known to have stopped.

This map, which was prepared by Mr. J. Spence Howard, has added to it a short account of each of the ninety places visited by Washington, with the dates of his visits and other information, compiled from his diaries and other authentic sources by J. Alexis Shriver, of Bel Air, Md., Chairman of the Committee on County Celebrations, Roads and Houses.

The map is printed in colors, and is a valuable historical record of the 127 trips made by Washington into and through the State of Maryland, which State he visited a greater number of times over a longer period of his life (50 years, from 1748 to 1798) than any other of the thirteen original States, except of course his home State, Virginia.

The map shows that Washington passed through Kent county on numerous occasions while enroute from Mt. Vernon to Philadelphia and other northern points. This route as followed by Washington was from Mt. Vernon to Annapolis, then by boat to Rock Hall and through Chestertown, Galena or Downs Corner, Georgetown, Wilmington to Phliadelphia. The return trip was also frequently made over this route. The map shows that stops were made at Rock Hall, Chestertown, Downe's Corner and Georgetown and the interest Washington took in Washington College.

2500 of these maps have been taken by Professor Albert S. Cook, State Superintendent of Public Schools, and will be sent to every school in the State. 1,000 have also been taken by Dr. David E. Weglein, Superintendent of Schools of Baltimore City, to be distributed among the Baltimore schools. 10,000 of these maps have been printed and are now ready for distribution. They may be had by applying to:

FISH AND CRAB DATA

100,000,000 CRABS CAUGHT ACCORDING TO ESTIMATE

Enough crabs were taken from the waters of the Chesapeake Bay and tributaries during 1931 to extend 2-3 of the distance around the world if laid end to end with outstretched claws it was calculated by Swepson Earle, State Conservation Commissioner.

Commissioner Earle estimated that 100,000,000 crabs were taken from the bay and its tributaries. Professional crabbers caught about 92,000,000 and amateurs accounted for the remaining 8,000,000.

The supply is still plentiful he stated. There are many millions more crabs which could be taken were there a demand. He suggested the season be lengthened from the last of October to hold through the month of November.

839,726,400 Fish Released

Using calculations said to be as accurate as possible, the division of fish culture of the State Conservation Commission has announced that 839,726,400 commercial fish were raised in the eight Maryland hatcheries last year and were released later in waters of the state.

Of the commercial group, the yellow perch group was the largest with 661,440,000 fry size being liberated. White perch were second with 138,120,000 fry size being placed in the streams of the state. There were 23,280,000 young herring, 6,809,600 shad and 76,800 pike released.

The commercial hatcheries are located at Severn Run, Aberdeen, Principio, Charlestown, Rock Hall, Millington, Crumpton and Denton.

It was estimated that more than 100,000,000 fish in excess of any previous year were reared at the hatcheries and later released.

HEALTH NOTES

CHILD HEALTH CONFERENCES

Provision is made in the schedule of health conferences for the current year, under the joint direction of the Bureau of Child Hygiene of the State Department of Health and the county health departments, for at least one conference every month in each county, for the health examinations of babies and their brothers and sisters under school age. Later in the spring, special conferences will be held, with the cooperation of the State Department of Education, for the examination of children who will reach school age this year in preparation for their admission to school.

There has been a steady increase, year by year, in the number of children brought to the health conferences. The report of last year's conferences, prepared by the Chief of the Bureau of Child Hygiene, Dr. J. H. M. Knox, Jr., shows that 8,423 children under school age, representing over 5,000 families, attended the conferences in 1931, an increase of 2,254 over the attendance in 1930.

Of last year's total, 5,879 were white and 2,544 colored. Of the white children, 2,212 ranged in age from babies a few weeks old to their older sisters and brothers nearing five, and 3,667 were from five to seven years old. In the colored group, 1,585 were under five and 959 from five to seven.

Including the stops made by the Department's healthmobile in its tour of Southern Maryland and the Eastern Shore last summer, 388 places representing every county in the State, were visited and 545 conferences were held. One out of every four children examined 2,201, or 26 per cent, was free from handicapping conditions. Thirty-nine per cent, 3,294, had decayed teeth or other conditions needing dental attention. Eighteen per cent had unfavorable conditions of the nose or throat, 1,508 with enlarged or infected tonsils and 440 with adenoids. Of these, 429 were mouth breathers. Fifteen per cent, 1,295, gave evidence of faulty nutrition; 169 had postural defects, and bone changes due to rickets were observed in 368. Unfavorable conditions of the lungs were reported in 82; of the heart in 122; 51 had some defect of vision; 16 of hearing, and 41 were mentally retarded.

A report of each examination was forwarded to the family physician. The importance of keeping the well children well by the careful observance of the rules of healthy living and by regular supervision by the family doctor was stressed at every conference. The necessity for having any conditions that needed correction attended to was urged upon the mothers.

BETTERTON

The community was saddened on Tuesday when word came of Mrs. Stokes' sudden death. Sympathy is extended to those who stand in the shadow and to her many friends.

Mrs. John Brice is critically ill at her home. Mrs. Brice has been in poor health for several weeks.

The Epworth League entertained at a Washington Birthday party last Tuesday evening in the Sunday school room. About one hundred twenty-five persons were present, over fifty of these were in colonial costumes. A splendid program of singing, readings, and living pictures, with music by the orchestra, was in charge of the third vice president. Refreshments were also served.

On Sunday evening the Worton Epworth League were the guests of the Betterton Epworth League at their Epworth League service. Mrs. Harvey Moore was in charge of the service and Washington was used as the theme of the evening.

About fifty members of the Worton friends were present and an invitation was extended by them to have Betrton folks visit them at their service the first Sunday in March.

The Women's Foreign Missionary Society was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Crew Thursday evening. The sixth annual banquet of the society will be held on Wednesday evening in the church basement.

Mrs. Thomas Silcox entertained her music pupils and their parents at a musical at her home on Monday evening.

Mrs. Edith Turner Anderson, of Philadelphia, is spending some time at her home here.

Mrs. William Brice, who has been with her brother in Boston for several weeks, has returned home.

Miss Elizabeth Brice spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gooding in Wilmington.

Mr. William Turner, Jr., and friend spent several days with his mother Mrs. M. V. Turner.

Prof. Horace Wheeler, of Baltimore, was at the home of his parents for the holiday.

Mrs. Bessie Robinson and son, Billy, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Albert Supplee.

Holy Communion will be celebrated at St. Johns Chapel next Sunday morning at ten A. M.

Talbot county has a real champion in Ralph Greenleaf, who lives in Broad Creek Neck. Mr. Greenleaf has a wonderful record as champion pocket billiard players of the world. He first won the world's title in 1921. He held this until 1925, when he lost the laurels to Frank Taberski. But Talbot county's pride came back strong the next year and won the championship. He retained the title until 1930, when Erwin Rudolph chipped his wings after a most spirited contest.

In 1931, however, Greenleaf came back strong again, not only winning the championship but establishing a new high run record of 117.

Work on the erection of the State police station on the road leading from Easton to Preston about three miles from Easton was begun on Monday.

The concerte foundation has been laid and the erection of the station which is to be one story with a rear dormitory building. The building is to be of frame, stuccoed. It is expected to be finished by the later part of March or the early part of April.

Third National Bank

Chestertown, Maryland

THE ONLY NATIONAL BANK IN KENT COUNTY

Sponsored by the U. S. Government

"Different from all other celebrations of its kind is the Bicentennial Celebration of the birth of George Washington. Sponsored by the United States Government and promoted by an especially appointed Commission of which the President is Chief, it will open on February 22, continue until Thanksgiving with particular local and national programs, taking advantage of all holidays, anniversaries, or other days which may be associated with the life of this great statesman.

"This is carrying a celebration to the people themselves and becomes in reality a crusade for better citizenship. It reveals Washington in the completeness and versalility of his talents. As the exponent of a well-lived life George Washington has no suprior in our history. Essentially a man of the out-of-doors, he maintained an active interest and participation in the social, religious and cultural life, as well as developing himself into a military genius and supreme statesman.

"Significant of his interest in field and stream is the Tree Planting Campaign which is a part of the Bicentennial. Local communities, through the co-operation of patriotic and fraternal societies, are planting rows of trees along the highway, or by-way, as a memoral to this great and good man.

"Churches are co-operating, for George Washington was an ardent devotee of religion. Every crisis found him turning to Divine Providence, not merely for help and guidance, but likewise in gratitude for benefits, blessings and protection. Exceptionally broadminded as to sectarian views, he attended church services wherever he happened to be.

"Through the agency of radio, schools and churches; fraternal, patriotic, educational and social clubs, the Bicentennial Commission hopes that every citizen of the United States will participate in the celebration of the two hundredth anniversary of the birth of the Father of Our Country, and reveal in a new light the true value of the glorious legends about the character of such a man."
