LAUDS LOCAL GOLF COURSE

NEW PRO GIVES RADIO TALK

Mr. N. H. Jervis, who has been employed by the Chester River Yacht and Country Club as Golf Professional, has been giving a series of radio talks on golf this winter in Philadelphia. In connection with his talk this week he made the following comments regarding our local course:

Within driving distance of Philadelphia there are hundreds of sporty, little nine hole courses that will equal some of our big eighteen hole championship links. None surpass the beautiful Chester River Yacht and Country Club course at Chestertown, Maryland. Its natural terrain and water hazards with beautiful fairways will catch the sporting spirit of every golf enthusiast. This course is conveniently located on a main highway down the famous Eastern Shore. It is also accessible for yachtsmen of the Chesapeake Bay by water. Excellent docking facilities are provided.

No. 1 tee makes a beautiful picture. It is located right on the banks of the Chester River which winds its way north and south. In front is a pond fringed with trees. Rolling fairways wind their way through the natural hazards. I have no hesitation in stating my belief that the little foursome starting out on their first big adventure going over all and each of the entire shots will only too readily be impressed with these grounds which are entirely different from any they have ever played before. The laying out of the holes gives the master as well as the lesser brilliants ample opportunity to show their skill. The club house is located on the banks of the Chester River. It is completely equipped with showers, lockers and everything the golfer needs. Provision is even made for the members and guests in time of bad weather. PingPong and other games are provided for their amusement.

Mr. Jervis is expected to come to Chestertown next week and will assume his duties at the local club.

TO PROTEST CRAB LAW

Maryland's protestants against the bill recently passed in the Virginia Legislature permitting the taking of egg-bearing carbs was heard by Gov. John Garland Pollard at noon Friday.

Swepson Earle, State Conservation Commissioner, lead the delegation to the Virginia capital. Other persons interested in the State's crab industry, including Joseph P. Healy, chairman of the Maryland Development Bureau's committee on administration of the Baltimore Association of Commerce, accompanied him.

The party left Baltimore early Friday morning and returned that night. It is claimed that passage of the bill seriously would menace Maryland's crab industry by depleting the supply of egg-bearing crabs.

Since the Virginia law, prohibiting the taking of egg-bearing crabs, has been, in effect, the crabs in the upper part of the Chesapeake Bay have increased materially.

DEATHS

Miss Ingebra C. Cooper passed away early Friday morning, at the home of her niece, Mrs. Sewell J. Lee in Worton where she has made her home. She was 89 years old and died after a shirt illness. She was a faithful member of the first Presbyterian Church. Born in Delaware she spent most of her life in and near Worton.

She is survived by the following nieces and nephews: Mrs. Jesse Ashley, Mrs. Agnes Crowding, Mrs. Bessie J. Lee, Mrs. Clara Rasin, Mrs. Mary Moffett, Mrs. Eunice Duyer, Mrs. Stanley Mathews, Mrs. James Matthews, Misses Janie and Addie Cooper, Messrs. George, Barney, Tilden and Morris Cooper; also five nieces and nephews in Delaware.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afernoon at 1.30 p. m. at her late home in Worton. Interment in Chester Cemetery, Rev. J. Lee Marker and Dr. S. S. Hepbron to officiate. B. R. Fellows, undertaker in charge. The bearers will be her nephews.

John J. Davis died suddenly at the home of his son-in-law, Snowden Maslin, in Chester, Pa., Monday, March 21st, 1932, aged 79 years. The deceased was a Rock Hall citizen and still spent his summers there, while he and his wife were winter guests of their only surviving daughter, Mrs. Maslin. The other daughter was the late Mrs. John E. Joyner, of Rock Hall. His wife, who survives, was formerly Miss Henrietta Stevens and his sisters are Mrs. Charles R. Kerr and Mrs. Lawrence Whaland. He leaves also twelve grand-children and about the same number of great grand-children.

Funeral services were held in Chester Wednesday morning and the body brought to Wesley Chapel cemetery for interment at noon where the local Knight of Pythias were in attendance.

TWO FIRE ALARMS

The Chestertown Fire Co., was called to a grass field fire in front of Culp's lumber yard, which endangered a dwelling house, occurred about 2.30 Friday afternoon and by the time the firemen answered that call a second alarm was sounded for a fire of the outbuildings of Mr. Wm. McGinnis in Queen Annes which was answered by fire truck No. 2. No damage was done in the field fire. We have not learned what damage was done at McGinnis

NOW AND THEN

EASTER FLOWERS

BY ALICE MATHEWS

Sweet Easter flowers, how fair you grow,
Is it you love for God to show
In this all fragrant pleasing way—
And to proclaim Him King to-day?
Your voiceless eloquence is such
It needed, but an Easter-touch,
To fill the air complete around
With perfumed loveliness profound.

Sweet Easter flowers, would I might don
For my dear Lord a golden crown,
For the fair Easter flowers so bold
Hold up their chalices of gold.
Ah yet a rift of splendor-thought
My prayerful spirit now has caught,
For in my soul deeply I've stored
Peculiar bloom-lore for my Lord.

Bright Easter flowers mingle I pray
Your sweetness in my heart this day,
So all who witness blossoming,
May "pair" us, flowers—because we sing
To-gether, in some mystic way,
You voiceless, on your sweet stalks stay,
I, prayerful, in my uttering—
Loud "Hallelujahs," joyful sing.

Resurrection what a beautiful name it is. It comes with the spring time. A sad world this would be were there no resurrection.

"Suppose when the flowers die there would be no hope of seeing them again that the trees which lose their leaves in winter would stand with their limbs bare all summer. As it is Death is always a promise of renewal. So we can always repeat when we lay our dead away. "O death where is thy sting: O grave where is thy victory."

We have heard of the Strasburg clock with all of its mechanical wonders. Here is a clock that excels it any way in usefulness.

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 27.—A marvelous clock constructed by David Olson, an engineer at the Bofors factory, tells besides ordinary time the course, rising and setting positions of the sun and moon, also dusk and dawn, phase of the moon, the year, the month, the week, the date and owner's name day and astronomic indications.

A rotating star map shows movements of the firmament and two revolving globes give the exact hour in different parts of the world. The clock has a radio apparatus, a loudspeaker and a gramaphone that are started automatically at a certain minute. It can switch on or off the electric light and set the coffee pot to boiling. On top is a blacksmith with a glowing heart, who strikes the hours. The mechanism functions with such accuracy that even changes caused by leap year are registered.

It is a fine thing to leave behind when one dies, the record of a life well lived; a life devoted to the uplift of his fellow men. Such a man was Sousa.

John Phillip Sousa

Somewhere beyond the headlands—
Up in the Promised Land,
If there is stirring music,
Sousa now leads the band.

Calling for martial tempo,
Sweeping the strong and bold—
Prince of the old-time bandsmen,
Trouping it as of old!

A Swede was being examined in a case in a Minnesota town where the defendant was accused of breaking a plate glass window with a large stone. He was pressed to tell how big the stone was, but he could not explain.

"Was it as big as my fist?" asked the nervous judge, who had taken the examination over from the lawyers in hope of getting some results.

"It ban bigger," the Swede replied.

"Was it as big as my two fists?"

"It ban bigger."

"Was it as big as my head?"

"It ban about as long, but not so tick," replied the Swede.

Have you spent your dollar?

I feel so guilty—
I know it's wrong
To have a dollar
For very long.

My conscience is
Quite sorely struck—
But still I think
I'll save that buck!

BUILDING NEW HOME

Work started this week on the erection of the new home of Mrs. M. A. Toulson on the corner of Mt. Vernon street and Campus Ave.

Mr. W. R. Pippin & Son, contractors are building the new home which will face Washington College Campus.

A persuasive smile is least resisted and the smile of confidence inspires the most timid.

ESSAY CONTEST

Pupils of the Chestertown High School have entered into competition with those of three hundred other high schools throughout the country to win some of the awards which are being offered by Cleanliness Institute of New York City for the best articles and drawings on the subject of cleanliness. Ten dollars each is being paid by the Institute for the best essays, editorials, cartoons and photographs about the value of cleanliness in personal and community life which appear in high school publications.

KENT BOYS 4-H CLUB ACTIVITIES

PINEY NECK

The Piney Neck Boys' 4-H Club held a St. Patrick social at the school Friday evening, March 18th. The entire group was divided into four families each with an Irish family name. Decorations were of green paper. Various games were played such as the potato race, walking and Eskimo hop relays, Popularity and other games. The games were conducted by Stanley Sutton Assistant County Agent and everyone cooperated in making them a success. Pie and coffee was served and everyone seemed to enjoy the evening very much.

The Swan Creek 4-H Club

The Swan Creek 4-H Club met at the home of Ringgold Willson, near East Neck Island, Saturday afternoon, March 19th. President Willson presided and after the business meeting the club inspected Ringgold's Pure Bred Holstein Cow and calf. Assistant County Agent Stanley Sutton and Mr. M. P. Edwards, local leader, instructed the club in sketching animals for registry and practiced on Ringgold's young calf, as he wanted to have it registered.

Farm Bureau Offers Junior Membership

The Kent County Farm Bureau offers a Junior Membership to all Boys' Club members of Kent County who have had at least one year's experience and who are actively engaged in one or more projects. This membership entitles the holder to membership in the organization until he has reached the age of twenty-one, at which time the membership certificate will be worth a substantial sum toward regular membership dues.

Radio Program

The regular monthly radio program which is broadcast during the National Farm and Home Hour will be on the air from 12.30 to 1.30 p. m., Saturday, April 2nd. This program will be heard over 58 radios stations from coast to coast. There will be a 4-H Club Boy, a 4-H club girl and two adult leaders speaking on the program in addition to the U. S. Marine Band. The theme of the broadcast is "4-H Club Work has Economic Value." A very interesting program for all who are interested in Club work.

Schedule Of Meeting For Week Of March 28th

Monday, March 28—at 1.30 p. m. Swan Creek Club at the home of Ellen Davis, near Swan Point.

Thursday, March 31—at 7.30 p. m. Piney Neck Boys 4-H Club at the school.

SCALE INSECTS

IS SUBJECT OF NEW COLLEGE PUBLICATION RELEASES CIRCULAR

Owners of trees and shrubs will find of especial interest and value a new publication which has just been prepared by George S. Langford of the University of Maryland Extension Service. The circular is called "Timely Notes on Insect Control" and copies may be obtained by writing the Institution at College Park.

The author has confined his work to an investigation of scale insects. In the opening paragraph he says "Many scale insects are small and insignificant in size and, therefore, are easily overlooked until valuable trees and shrubs are seriously devitalized or killed. Examine your plants carefully. Prune out heavily infested shoots and spray the shrubs."

Various scales discussed by the author are: Oyster Shell scale, Euonymus scale, San Jose' scale, Scurvy scale, Juniper scale, European scale and Terrapin scale. A description is given of the type of plant attacked by each of the scales, its life history and the control measure to be use, together with an illustration.

County Agent McVean suggests that those whose trees or shrubs are infested with scale insects which they wish to control send a letter and specimen to Dr. E. N. Cory, State Entomologist, at the Unixersity of Maryland, College Park, Maryland. In this way a detailed report can be obtained on just what kind of scale it is and the best method of control.

KNOCKING HER COLD

The advertising man was proposing. "Remember," he said, "this is the last day for this astounding offer."

TO REDUCE ELECTRIC RATE

SUBSTANTIAL REDUCTION PROMISED SOON

Indication of a reduction in the cost of electricity in Chestertown was made in a letter this week to the Mayor and Council from the main office of the Chestertown Electric Light and Power Company in Philadelphia. According to the letter a substantial reduction may be expected within the next sixty days. The present rate for lighting is 15c per K. W. H. for the first 50 K. W. H. and 13c net for over that amount. The power rate is on a sliding scale starting at 7 cents for the first 300 K. W. H. There is a special rate of 5c per K. W. H. for electric refrigeration and heating.

It has not been determined what the reduction will be. In the letter the power company stated that in comparison with the rate in Centreville, that plant is municipally owned and is not subject to the taxation that the Chestertown privately owned plant is. They stated that the taxes for 1931 amounted to over $4000 and in 1932 would reach $6000. The reduction in rate was scheduled for January but due to necessary repairs to the plant it was postponed.

Chestertown is paying $2,800 annually for lighting its streets with about 130 bulbs. Recently the Mayor and City Council had the electric light company make a survey of the street-lighting system with a view to improving the service.

'WOMANLESS WEDDING'

WILL BE PRESENTED BY METHODIST BROTHERHOOD

PRODUCTION SCHEDULED FOR APRIL 11 AND 12

Re hearsals for the "Womanless Wedding" to be staged under the auspices of the Methodist Men's Brotherhood of the Chestertown M. E. Church, are due to start next week. This comedy will be presented on April 11 and 12 in the Old Lyceum Theatre.

Under the direction of the Sympson Levie Producing Company, of Bardstown, Ky., eighty local business and professional men will take part in the production. No women will appear in the cast.

The "Womanless Wedding" has been staged recently all over the Delmarva Peninsula and has been greeted with large crowds wherever it has been produced.

SHORE RAILROAD SOLD

The Maryland and Delaware Coast Railway Company was purchased on Monday of this week by Winthrop Sargent, Jr., of Philadelphia, who made the only bid at a public auction in the main offices of the company here. His offer was $26,100.

The sale was made by the Pennsylvania Company for insurance on lives and granting annuities as trustee on decrees filed in Federal Coutr against the railway company.

The purchase included about forty miles of track from West Denton, Md., to Lewes, Del., all property, rights of way, buildings, equipment and rolling stock owned by the company, Sargent was required to make a deposit of $5,000 with his bid.

The title for the railroad was given the Maryland and Delaware Coast Railway Company on May 14, 1924, by E. B. Leaf Company, and was recorded in Caroline county, in Maryland and in Kent county, in Delaware. The railway company gave a mortgage to the Atlantic Exchange Bank and Trust Company on May 1 of that year.

POULTRY THIEVES ACTIVE

Poultry thieves are active in Queen Anne County, having raided the roosts of Senator Dudley G. Roe, Mrs. Austin F. Roberts and Walter W. Morgan, in Sudlersville; J. Wilbur Walls in Church Hill; and Dr. J. Lane Finley at Grasonville; Joseph S. Boyles, of Queenstown and many other poultry raisers. In some instances every chicken was taken.

Despite the vigilance of the county constabulary, the theives continue to successfully raid innumerable poultry yards, and during the current winter several thousand dollars worth of hens, turkeys, geese and ducks have been stolen and spirited away by trucks to nearby city markets.

No recent roberies have been reported in Kent county.

CLUB NOTES

Still Pond Womens Club meet at the home of Mrs. Baynard Harpers March 18th with an attendance of twenty ladies. At eleven o'clock Mrs. Schellinger gave a lesson on planning the meals in different seasons. Twelve o'clock is the social hour when a delightful luncheon was served. One o'clock Mrs. Harris and Mrs. Hepbron gave talks on types of gardens Hardy borders, Rock gardens and lily pools. Still Pond Club's project this year, is the donation to Easton hospital, one dozen and half metal flower containers, which were shown at this meeting and approved. Two o'clock is the hour of business when every lady answered to roll call with a special hobby of hers which was quite amusing. It was decided to have one more all day meeting with Mrs. Harris in April.

TALK ON CHARITY

JAMES M. HEPBRON ADDRESSES ROTARIANS

Taking as his subject, "Organized Charities," Mr. James Hepbron, Director of the Community Fund of Baltimore, in a talk before the Chestertown Rotary Club on Monday of this week, described in detail the charitable problems that have to be faced in large metropolitan centers.

He stated that charity has become a big business and in Baltimore alone involves the expenditure of millions of dollars. He described the different classes of people dependant on charity—The family in need due to unemployment where there is a desire to work but no job available; the unemployed floater; the tramp and the begging impositor. He stated that the work test where by a man has to work 45 minutes for a place to sleep and the same length of time for a meal eliminates a large proportion of the applicants, and all methods have to be used to get ahead of the unworthy cases and at the same time take care of the worthy ones. His talk was very interesting and instructive.

JR. O. U. A. M. HELD OPEN MEETING

MEETING HELD IN CHESTERTOWN

Members of Junior Order United American Mechanics lodges in Kent and Queen Anne's counties held a mass-meeting in the old Lyceum Theatre under the auspices of the state and national councils of the order.

The meeting was for the purpose of acquainting the Shore lodgemen with the work being done at the orphanages supported by the National Council at Lexington, N. C., and Tiffin, Ohio, and to lay plans or an increased membership in the State.

Mr. Charles N. Satterfield, National Representative, presided and addresses were made by W. S. Howe, national vice-councilor, Baltimore; E. L. Llewylyn, past national counciler, Cincinnati, and Earle A. Dize, Maryland State councilor, Crisfield.

COUNTRY CLUB ACTIVITIES

DANCE TO BE HELD APRIL 1ST

The activities at the Chester River Yacht and Country Club for the holidays will include a buffet supper at the club house on the evening of Easter day at which time one hundred and fifty members and guests are expected to be present. Mrs. Dr. Edward V. Clark is chairman of the supper committee.

The Easter dance will be held on the evening of Friday, April 1st.

The golf course has been in constant use during the past winter and will be in great demand during the Easter holidays.

KILLED BY LIVE WIRE

Julian Rosin, aged 29 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Rosin, of near Sassafras, was instantly killed while working on electric wiring at his home in Collingdale, Pa., on Wednesday of this week.

He was an inspector for the General Electric Company and was fixing a wire in the bath room when his evidently came in contact with a water pipe. His wife found him lying on the floor dead. He attended Chestertown High School and Batlimore Polytechnic Institute. He at one time was in the employ of the State Roads Commission in Chestertown. Besides his parents he is survived by brothers and sister.

It is important that everyone should attend this meeting.

Stanley Sutton, Sec'y.

GALES HALT TOLCHESTER BOAT

HEAVY SEAS AND WIND PREVENT CROSSING WEDNESDAY

The Tolchester steamer Annapolis was compelled to turn back shortly after leaving Baltimore Wednesday afternoon. The steamer was near the mouth of the river when the strong northwest wind reached gale proportions, indicating the impossibility of landing at Tolchester, and the boat was turned around and held to the Anne Arundel shore all the way back to Baltimore. She did not dock at the Light street wharf until 5 p. m. A number of passengers aboard made the trip home by Elkton. A number of college students, on their way home for the Easter vacation were left at the Tolchester wharf.

Due to an unusual high tide the waves were breaking over the wharf at Tolchester.
