PRINCESS MARY

Among the most interesting Characters of English royalty is the Princess Mary, only daughter of King George of England. Mary is pretty and interesting, but like all other princess, she could not marry the man of her choice so she married Lord Lascelles who is an immensely rich man, though her fine children will never have a chance to become Kings of England as her husband is a commoner.

As a New Year's gift, Princess Mary, Countess of Harewood and the only daughter of the British King and Queen, was given the title of Princess Royal. Only the eldest daughter of a sovereign is eligible for this title and it cannot be achieved until there is a vacancy. There has been a vacancy for a year; the last Princess Royal was the Duches of Fife, eldest daughter of Edward VII and sister of the present King, who died on January 4, 1931.

Although she inherited many of the conservative qualities of her mother, Princess Mary has rivaled some of her brothers in being an innovator. She was the first of King George's children to marry a commoner, for her husband, Lord Lascelles, as he was then, held a title only by courtesy in being the heir to an earldom. In the days of the Coue health abracadabra, the Prince of Wales sprung the paraphrase, "Every day I get commoner and commoner and every day Lascelles gets royaler and royaler."

Another of Princess Mary's innovations was the introduction of jazz music at the first ball she gave after her marriage. The favorite was a tune out of Harlem "I'm Just Wild About Harry." More sedate music was the rule at Buckingham Palace, but torrid rhythm appears to have found favor among older members of the British royal family, for the cables told recently of Queen Mary's request for the Guards band at Windsor to play "The Peanut Vendor."

As a housekeeper, Princess Mary has managed even to out-economize the Queen. Some time ago foreign dispatches dealing with international problems were livened by an item which announced that Princess Mary had cut down the household accounts at Chesterfield House to sixty cents less a person than was expended for food at Buckingham Palace. But now further economies have been made, for, although the Earl of Harewood inherited one of Britain's greatest fortunes, it has been necessary to sell Chesterfield House in London and rent Goldsborough Hall, his Yorkshire estate.

S. T. WILLIAMSON.

BEAUTY HINTS

If you wishes to freshen the complexion be sure to let the April Showers wet your face. It is said that is the reason that women living in damp climates like Sweden and England have such fine skins they realize how humidity improves it. Hot houses with dry heat should have something to create moisture on the radiators. Dry hot air is apt to shrivel the skin and make it dry and porched.

LA MODE

"Doggy" Umbrellas

The style in umbrellas has "gone to the dogs"; actually the most individual handles represent some kind of canine head. Smartest among them all are the cane umbrellas. They are short and easy to carry. The umbrella slips to a slight wooden case that telescopes. The handle of one is in brown and looks just like a pet wire-haired terrier; the silk matches, the case is of maple.

Evening Gowns Exact One-Piece Underwear

"What style of underthings a woman wears has never been so important as it is today," says Marion Shilling, of the motion pictures. "Close-fiting gowns call for closefitting underwear. The most practical kind for the new dress is a one-piece affair consisting of brassiere, chemise and step-ins.

For transparent gowns there is a fitted slip with brassiere and step-ins combined that makes a smooth and comfortable foundation.

Such a Lot of Pink

The nightgowns of Paris, for night-gowns at the moment are as popular as pajamas, are of pink crepe de chine trimmed with openwork embroidery or faggotting. Or of pink flat crepe trimmed with yards of pink lace. Or of pink crepe de chine trimded with bias bands of blue chiffon. Or of white satin trimmed with incrustations of white georgette.

Luscious Lace

Lace is more fashionable than ever, despite various predictions that it would not reapear this spring. Not only are there luscious lace dinner and evening gowns but there are equally luscious lace nightgowns there are often lace bed jackets to match.

Button Up Your Overcoat

There's a very swagger air to the newest London sports coats. Of soft but often shaggy wool they are double-breasted and fastened with big butons, woll-covered. The lapels are large, the collar upstanding, and the shoulders broad. At the slightly tapering waistline is a belt which generally goes only across the back.

RECIPES

Noodle Ring With Spinach Center

Boil a package of noodles in salted water until tender and drain in a colander. Pour cold water through the noodles and set aside to drain thoroughly. Mix two tablespoonfuls of butter with the noodlets and place in a butter ring mold which has been well sprinkled with fine bread crumbs. Cover with grated cheese and a cupful of thin white sauce mixed together and place in the oven preferably in a pan of water as a custard, and bake for an hour. Unmold on a heated round platter and in the center place two cupfuls of hot cooked spinach seasoned to taste with salt and pepper. Serve at once.

One-Egg Muffins

2 cups flour
2 tablespoons sugar
2 tabelspoons butter, melted
1 cup milk
4 teaspoons baking powder
1-2 teaspoon salt
1 egg

Mix and sift the dry ingredients, then add the milk gradually, the egg, well beaten, and the melted butter. Bake in buttered gem pans 25 minutes.

Lemon Custard Pie Always Makes Appeal

7-8 cup sugar
3 tablespoons flour
1 cup water
2 eggs (reserve whites for meringue
Grated rind of 1 lemon
3 tablespoons lemon juice

Mix sugar and flour; add the water beaten egg yolks, grated lemon rind lemon juice, and butter; cook in a double boiler until thick; put in a baked pie shell and cover with meringue. Bake until a delicate brown in a slow oven (275 degrees F.) from 15 to 20 minutes.

Dressing Up Desserts

An easy way to-give springtime party desserts a touch of seasonal coloring is to use tinted coconut, which not only adds to the attractiveness of many kinds of desserts, but to their tastiness as well.

The manner of tinting it is simple: Sprinkle the coconut on white paper. Dilute a tiny bit of vegetable coloring —paste, tablet or liquid—in a small amount of water, pour over the coconut and rub evenly through the shreds.

To toast coconut, sprinkle it in a thin layer in a pan or baking sheet. Place under broiler in a hot oven. Toast until a golden brown, being careful that it does not burn.

Record Group of Statesmen

Elson says: "An abler body of statesmen has not assembled in modern times than that which made our Constitution in 1787, nor has any assembly met with truer motives, or produced a grander result. The whole number of delegates was 55, and there was scarcely a man among them who had not been distinguished in the state or in the field, who had not been a governor, a member of congress, or a commander in the army. A few had served in the Stamp Act congress in 1765, others had set their names to the immortal Declaration in 1776, and one had framed the plan of union at Albany in 1754. Could these men have looked into the future they would have seen two of their own number become Presidents of the United States, one a Vice President and many others foreign ministers, members of the Supreme court, cabinet officials and United States senators."

Nearest Planet

The relative sizes and distances of the planets have been explained by Sir Norman Lockyer by analogy. In accordance with this, the Sun is a globe 2 feet in diameter; Mercury, a grain of mustard seed, 164 feet away; Venus, a pea in an orbit of 284 feet; the Earth, a pea, 430 feet distant; Mars, a pin-head, 654 feet away; Jupiter, an orange, at a distance of half a mile; Saturn, a smaller orange, four-fifths of a mile away; Uranus, a small plum, one and a half miles away, and Neptune, a larger plum at a distance of two and a half miles.—Literary Digest.

Bugle Old Instrument

The origin of the bugle, in common with that of the hunting horn, is of the remotest antiquity, writes William C. White, United States army band leader, Sixteenth infantry, in the United States Recruiting News. Tubas, horns, cornets and bugles have as common archetype the horn of the ram, bull or other animal, whose form was copied and modified in bronze, wood, brass and silver. Of all these instruments, the bugle has in the highest degree retained the aqoustic properties and the characteristic scale of the prototype, and is still put to the original use for giving military signals.

Soldiers Refused Votes

Many of the soldiers of the Revolutionary army never cast a ballot in the Republic they had helped establish, because of property qualifications required for voting. New York's constitution permitted no man to vote for governor who did not own land worth $500 free of debt. In 1800 Tammany hall bought land for members to enable them to qualify for voting. The organization obtained a majority in the common council in this manner.

High Honors Accorded Champions of Olympiad

The Olympic games, forerunners of the modern international contests bearing that name, date back to the year 776 B. C. in Greece. They were originally held on the level plain of Olympia and were limited to Greek contestants. Once in five years the Olympiad was held, and during the period of the games and the pre-game training period of ten months war was forbidden among the Greek states.

The contests were held over a period of five days, and the various tests of skill included running, jumping, wrestling, throwing the spear, throwing the discus, boxing and chariot racing. When the champions were designated they appeared in a grand review on the fifth day, at which time their names and feats of skill were announced to the crowds and they were awarded palm branches and crowns of olive twigs.

After the Romans conquered the Greeks, they, too, were permitted to take part in the contests, which were of the nature of a national festival, as the contest winners were exempted from taxes and were maintained during the period following the games at the expense of the state. The erection of statues to the winners was also common.

The games were finally abolished in 394 by Emperor Theodosius.

Chemist Eulogizes Sea in Transport of Words

"O Sea! Thou saline and undulant aqueous solution of halides, carbonates, phosphates, sulphates, and other soluble inorganic compounds! What mysterious colloids are dispersed within thy slightly alkaline bosom? What silent and unseen reactions vibrate in dynamic equilibrium, constantly destroyed and instantly restored, among thy unnumbered oscillating molecules? What uncounted myriads of restless ions migrate perpetually throughout thy tentatively estimated volume? What unguessed phenomena of catalysis, metathesis, and osmosis transpire in thy secret fluid profundities under excessively increased pressure? What cosmic precipitates descend in countless kilograms upon thy argillaceous, gelatinous, siliceous, diatomaceous, and totally unillumined bottom? In short, most magnificent reservoir, what is thy flow-chart and complete analysis?"—Norman L. Knight, in "Industrial and Engineering Chemistry."

Rights of Patentee

There is a popular but erroneous notion that it is not an infringement of a patent for an unauthorized individual to make a duplicate of a patented article for his own use, particularly if it is a tool, implement or device employed in gaining a livelihood. In a letter to us the United States patent office says: "The grant of a patent by this office gives to the patentee, his heirs or assigns the right to exclude others from making, using and selling the invention covered by the claims of the patent throughout the United States and its territories for a 17-year period. An individual would have no right to make for his own use an article covered by the claims of an unexpired patent without the consent of the owner of the patent."—Pathfinder Magazine.

Arabic Organization

The organization of the nomadic Arabs is represented by the tribe under the control of a sheikh, an office normally hereditary, but sometimes elective. Within the tribe are a number of sections with patrilineal descent, themselves often formed by smaller groups. Each section has its own sheikh, subordinate to the tribal sheikh, and much importance is attached to the preservation of tribal and sectional genealogies. The size of a tribe or section may fluctuate from time to time with the popularity and strength of its leader; a strong and just man will attract to his unit families or groups of families from other tribes, and these in time may give rise to sections or lose their identity in that of their adopted unit.

Intelligence of Termites

Termites, a species of white ant, are among the world's most destructive insects. Social in disposition, they live in colonies, eating wood and behaving in a way that excites endless surprises. Some of their practices are too unpleasant to be described. On the other hand, they are industrious, and highly intelligent, observing complex social rules. At the head of each community are a royal pair. The queen ranks as one of the most remarkable insects in the world. She is carefully guarded by the workers and protected by the soldiers. The government is democratic, not monarchial. The queen's actions are regulated by the workers. The whole community is under their control.

Regret

The man of regrets is almost invariably a fellow of flimsy texture. Continually bemoaning the fact that he has done the wrong thing, he shuffles through life a sad and pathetic performer. His hopes are always empty. His cup of sorrow is ever full. Its ingredients are spilt milk and tears.—Kansas City Times.

"What's Jones So Puffed Up About ?"

IT'S an old, old, story . . mates. A few months ago, Jones was one of that short-sighted group that figured "Advertising just a waste of money." His business went from bad to worse until, in desperation, he decided to "try it just once."

The results were so gratifying, that he's been ADVERTISING CONSTANTLY ever since. No wonder he's smiling and content now.
