TALLEST LIVING THING

In a national park, about 20 miles from Sydney, Australia, there is a eucalyptus tree 572 feet high—17 feet higher than the Washington Monument. Trees of this species, native to the Antipodes, commonly range from 100 to 400 fet in height, but only the one single speciment is known to have reached the altitued of "the grandfather of them all." A brass plate attached to the trunk claims for it the honor of being the loftiest living thing in the world.

NEW FEDERAL LOANS

ONLY NINE FARMERS APPLY—27 LOANS LAST YEAR

With April 30th, the time limit for which applications may be filed for Federal loans to farmers, just one week off only nine farmers have made applications for these loans. Only 15 farmers have made inquiries about these loans at the office of County Agent McVean.

Last year there were 60 inquiries of which 32 applied for loans and 27 were granted totaling approximately $8,000.

The nine applications filed this year ask for loans ranging from $30 to the maximum of $400.

The few loans asked for this year may be attributed to the abundance of feed on hand and the poor outlook for canning crops.

The money from these Federal loans may be used for seed, fertilizer gasoline and oil for tractors, feed for work stock including horses and mules, repair of farm machinery and spray materials.

NOW AND THEN

TREES

I think that I shall never see
A poem lovely as a tree.

A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;

A tree that looks to God all day
And lifts its leafy arms to pray;

A tree that may in Summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;

Upon whose bosom snow hath lain
Who intimately lives with rain.

Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.

Joyce Kilmer.

The above poem is recited over the radio, by some one in the Davey's Tree Survey every Sunday afternoon, in their glorification of the beauty and use of trees and of their need of careful treatment. Coming as it does in connection with the sweet music of the Davey orchestra it is very impressive. It is wonderful how they can remove trees now. Great oaks are transplanted from one location to the other and the country is urging that the planting of trees will be one part of the Washington Bi-Centennial.

The moonlight night have been very beautiful this week. No wonder that the heathen of long ayo, iynorant of the real God, and who personified everything in nature, called the moon Diana the chaste and beautfful. There are no more lovely stories in Mythology that those concerinng this fair goddess. The story of her love for Endynion, the youth who was condemned to perpetual sleep, inspired the poet Keats to write his immortal poem.

Artists are admired and praised inasmuch as they copy nature, but there can be no painter to rival, in any way the glorious colors which the sun paints in his rising and setting. "He maketh the outgoing of the morning and evening to praise Thee," says the psalmist. Being an early riser, and a lover of nature it is a real joy to see this miracle day after day never quite the same, always with different colorings. A walk across the bridge quite repays the loss of a few hours sleep. To watch the fishermen tending their nets and dropping their silvery catch in their boats while the osprey above is watching them, ready to swope down on any unwary fish, which happens to be swimming near the surface of the water, so as to carry it to the hungry brood, waiting in some nearby nest. Yes. it is a pleasure to see the sun.

The secret of happiness and of success in everything, from work and love to after-dinner speaking, consists in watching the traffic signals — and knowing when to stop!

Flaw In The Social System

Our system shows a little flaw
Which keeps this world from perfect charm;
A farmer is not so good at law,
A lawyer cannot run a farm.

At last we have a real suggestion for the Federal Farm Board: Make the surplus cotton into sacks to hold the surplus wheat.—Judge.

NIGHT LIGHTS

Candle light is friendly light,
Dim, but bravely gay;
Electric light's a thief by night
To steal the dark away.

Candle light is pixy light,
Sister to the moon;
Electric light's a silly sprite
Imitating noon.

E. LOUISE MALLY.

In the event of a tie at the end of the schedule, the principals of the schools involved will decide on neutral grounds and date for the play-off game.

NEGRO THREATENS WOMAN

MRS LESTER SPRY HELD UP BY NEGRO WITH SHOT GUN

Mrs Lester Spry was held up at her home near Ingleside, Queen Anne's County, by a negro with a shot gun on Thursday of this week.

According to information received at the Transcript office, Mrs. Spry, who before her recent marriage was Miss Louise Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Smith of Queen Anne's County near Chestertown, was at her home near Ingleside on Wednesday alone. She was confronted by a negro farm-hand with a shot gun, who pointed it at her and told her he must have money. She told him she had no money, so at the point of a gun he made her get a check and fill it out.

After Mrs. Spry made out the check he told her to hand it to her and as she did so she grabbed the gun and wrestled it away from him. With the gun in her possession, she ordered the man off the farm. He fled and officers of Queen Anne's County captured him Friday morning and lodged him in the Centreville jail.

The colored man is from South Carolina and was employed on the Spry farm. He is reported to have a bad reputation and ready for most any kind of crime.

Mrs. Spry is a young woman and she displayed a great deal of courage and strength in wrestling the gun away from the man and ordering him off the farm.

COLLEGE CAGE LOOP LIKELY

C. W. KIBLER NAMED CHAIRMAN

The organization of a Maryland Intercollegiate Basketball League is expected to grow out of the meeting held in Baltimore last night of representatives of six Maryland colleges. Representatives of Hopkins, Loyola, Mt. St. Mary's and Washington College expressed a willingness to enter the league while representatives of Western Maryland and St. John's at the meeting wre not able to speak with final authority for their institutions.

With Western Maryland almost sure to enter it was decided to organize the league in the event that five teams could be secured and Tom Kibler, Washington College cage mentor, was named chairman in charge of the organization work.

A league of this kind will increase interest in college basket ball and will settle he ever disputed claim of State Champions.

"MAKER OF MEN"

"Maker of Men," the Columbia picture coming to the New Lyceum Theatre on Friday, April 29th, stars Jack Holt in the role of a college athletic coach—a builder of American youth—and features Richard Cromwell as his son.

A father and son drama, the story reveals the struggle of the boy to reconcile his own fears with his father's ambition to make a great athelte of him! He does not share his father's love of sport. To him it is brutal play with a maimed body poor reward for empty glory. He can't take physical punishment and he doesn't see why he should be called "yellow" because he doesn't want his body battered!

Why can't his father unlerstand the terror that paralyzes him? Will he be a craven all his life, or will he find his manhood in the depths of despair to which his failure plunges him? These are some of the interesting questions put forth and answered in "Maker of Men," an original story written especially for the new team of Jack Holt and Richard Cromwell by Howard J. Green and Edward Sedgwick, the latter also director of the picture.

of Wampas Baby Stars, plays the feminine lead. Walter Catlett and Paul Hurst provide comedy, Robert Alden and John Wayne are a couple of husky collegians and Natalie Moorhead, Richard Tucker and Sidney Bracy have prominent roles.

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS SAID OF WASHINGTON

"Washington, the warrior and legislator! In war contending, by the wager of battle, for the independence of his country and for the freedom of the human race; ever manifesting amidst its horrors, by precept and example, his reverence for the laws of peace and the tenderest sympathies of humanity; in peace soothing the ferocious spirit of discord among his countrymen into harmony and union; and giving to that very sword, now presented to his country, a charm more potent than that attribued in ancient times to the lyre of Orpheus."

—The water supply was turned off Friday afternoon due to a break in the mains on Court Street.
