W. C. T. U. MEETINC APRIL 28TH

MRS. MARY HARRIS ARMOR, LL. D. TO BE FEATURE SPEAKER

Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, of Georgia will be the principal speaker at the W. C. T. U. meeting to be held in the Chestertown M. E. Church next week, April 28th.

The morning and afternoon programs will be devoted to business sessions but the evening program which starts at 7.30 p. m., will be open to the public. The children, of Kennedyville will give a demonstration under the direction of Mrs. Robert Young during the afternoon session.

The evening program will open with a prayer by Dr. Sexsmith which will be followed by the presentation by Rev. C. L. Atwater of the prize for the essay contest at Washington College. The essay will be read by the writer, Walter Avery Branford. An address will follow by Mrs. Mary Harris Armor, LL. D., of Georgia. A duet will be sung by Mrs. Howard Toulson and Mrs. Fred G. Usilton.

The church choir and Washington College orchestra furnish music during the evening.

Mary Harris was born in the university town of Penfield, Georgia, and the saying that a celebrity is seldom honored in his own country, does not hold good in her care.

Her countrymen are proud to refer to her as a "Georgia Product." Her father, an honor graduate of Mercer University, taught her to read as soon as she could talk, and when four years of age had read through the fourth reader.

In 1883 she married Mr. Walter F. Armor, a college graduate, and son of a confederate colonel, and with their two sons and two daughters, are heartily in sympathy with her efforts to terminate the liquor evil.

She has traveled extensively in this and other countries and altho she has never sought an invitation to speak, it is impossible for her to fill all the date requested.

She was one of the principal speakers at the World's W. C. T. U. conventions in Boston, 1906, in Glasgow, Scotland, 1910, Brooklyn, N. Y., 1913, and in London, England, in 1920. Those who have heard Dr. Armor speak once or a dozen times are eager to repeat the experience. She never fails to sway her immense audiences with her indisputable logic, refreshing originality, delightful humor, or stinging sarcarm.

This great speaker will be in Chestertown on Thursday next and each and every one of us may avail ourselves of the opportunity to hear her speak.

NOT SURPRISING

The Baltimore Evening Sun of Wednesday under the above heading had the following to say about Kent county:

"There is something exceedingly pleasant, though hardly surprising, in the little dispatch from Chestertown carried in the morning papers which says that the members of the grand jury, after sitting two days and examining the financial situation of the county, counseled strict economy and, to prove their sincerity, refused to accept the customary pay for their service.

"The pleasantness of the gesture is obvious. The reason it is not surprising is because the State has come rather to expect a certain sort of public spirit from Kent. Kent, more than any other county on the Shore, seems to be proud of being a part of the Maryland Free State. It has a way of sending able men to the meetings of the Legislature. It seems to have some affection even for the city of Baltimore, and that is saying a lot about any county. It might, for instance, have raised a considerable todo over the fact that Baltimore recently took one of its chief colonial treasures; but instead it accepted the situation with no little grace.

And Baltimore, Kent countians may be sure, has not forgotten that of all the State Senators from the Shore at the last meeting of the Legislature only one, Scott Beck, of Kent, had the grace to vote to allow Baltimoreans to decide for themselves how they should spend their Sundays.

"With her fine background and her present determination to conserve what is good in that background, it is no wonder to see the citizens of the county practicing on their own accord the economy they preach."

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

WHEREAS, God our Father, in His wisdom, has taken from our midst our associate, sincere friend, and brother worker, Frank M. Payne, to abide with Him, and

Whereas, The suddenness of this stroke of Providence has shocked us almost beyond expression in words because of the manner in which Mr. Payne, as competent Secretary and Treasurer, had endeared himself to one and all.

Therefore Be It Resolved, That we, the Directors of the Maryland Farm Bureau in meeting assembled, do hereby express our deep sorow in the loss of this unusually capable, useful, and friendly man, and express our heartfelt sympathy to his Mother, Brothers, and Sisters in their bereavement,

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this meeting and a copy sent to the family of the deceased.

Well, Windy, I see the Baltimore Sun commended the Kent County Grand Jury for donating their services free.

Yas, and so did the Baltimore News. That there Sun editorial was just an excuse to compliment Kent County for letting Baltimore deal with its own local problems. We allow them to be sacreligious on Sunday and we are fine people, but you noticed their tune, when we had an attemped "honor slaying' over here.

They had to butt in on us and I betcha now that they is enjoying themselves about this here Hiwaii affair. Out there the state seems to be prosecuting and persecuting a woman for allowing a bunch of natives to assault her. Us Eastern Shoremen likes the editorials Mr. Hearst writes about these kind of cases. He seems to be in favor of justice, decency, and consideration for women more than he does about lawyers making reputations.

So you read the papers do you?

Yas, I reads the Baltimore, Wilmington, Washington and Philadelphia papers and I is becoming more convinced all the time that the "Reds" is putting on bigger and better riots in the cities and I notices that, when the "Reds" start something in small burgs, they generally get the dickens beat out of them, by mobs of citizens. The students did not get very far in Kentucky.

What is the news of the Peninsula, Windy?

In reading the papers of the Peninsula I notices three things particularly. One is that in most every case of a bank failure, it was caused by crookedness of the officials and not by the condition of their investments. Another thing I notices is that most of the counties is having to borrow money. The third thing what has come to my attention, is that, in most every case of muncipal ownership of power, that the towns is making money on them. Here in Chestertown we has municipal owned waterworks and it is highly satisfactory. I notices that towns what owns the gas and power plants is enjoying low rates from them. My but I bets it would cause a lots of fuss around here if they was to consider the town taking over the power and gas company.

Has the State Roads building work started yet?

No, they ain't decided where they is going to build it yet. They always has a big time around here about locating things. What they needs is some zoning laws in this town.

The way it is now, residential sections have no protection and business does not have a fair chance either. The best thing to do, is to make some zoning laws and make them fast.

How are the river banks coming along.

The river is just as dirty as it ever was. If they do any zoning down on the water front they beter employ Chic Sales, "The Specialist." One look at our beautiful water front on low tide, is enough to make one think Chic could get an inspiration from it

Are any efforts being made to beautify the town.

Go up and take a look at the park and you can see for yourself. I do uderstand that efforts are being made to have a public market built at the lower park. Wouldn't a market be a beautiful thing in the lower park. There used to be women organizations around here that took interest in beautifying the town but they is now all taking interest in politics and trying to get in on the jury dirt.

Have they decided whether or not they are going to build an addition to the high school yet?

No, we has to vote on that in November but I thinks they is going build it. Right at present, things don't look very favorable for it but by November things will be sitting pretty. They was a long time putting through the consolidation program but it looks now as though they had put it across. Those in favor of the bond issue will have a strong organization, while there will be no organized opposition.

LOCAL PREACHER ASSAULTED

Rev. and Mrs. L. L. Powell, of Pomona, had a narrow escape Wednesday evening when a brick was hurled through the windshield of their automobile. Rev. Powell is pastor of Bond and Mowbray Chapels in Quaker Neck.

The were returning from Cliff City where choir rehersal had been held and as they neared Bond Chapel following two other cars the brick came crashing throuyh the wind shield. Rev. Powell immediately stopped the car and went back in search of the assailant and althouyh he explored a culvert where he could smell cigarette smoke he could find no trace of his assailant. He stated that the brick must have been intended for some one else as he has no enemies and can not imagine why any one would wish to harm him.

Neither Rev. or Mrs. Powell were injured although the windshield was broken to pieces. One of the cars ahead of Rev. Powell reported seeing two colored men and a colored woman standing on the side of the road near where the accident happened.

WARDING OFF THE "TOUCH"

Deadbroke: I hear you have all kinds of money.

Badlybent: Yeah, pennies, nickels, dimes and juarters.

"Stepping Sisters" Here On April 27-28

Louise Dresser, Minna Gombell and Jobyna Howland, a trio of outstanding stars of both stage and screen, play the featured roles in "Stepping Sisters," the Fox comedy drama described as a laughing riot, coming to the New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, April 27 and 28. In the story, they are old time amazons of the burlesque show chorus, reassembled, by chance, in a Long Island home where they hold a good old reunion.

Shopping Jefferson's

Dear Lady Shappers:

(No harm done either, if the men read this!)

By this time you all know I think Jefferson's is a pretty good place for you to do your shopping in—Of course they don't sell "price" there. Never trust a store that plays up price only. But sometimes the price is real news—That means when you get fine quality, new style and good looks at a price lower than normal for even these low price days—

Now for instance I noticed a printed Silk Crepe dress there, of fine quality in a really unusual color scheme of brown, orange and cream. It was smart. And its been expensive. But If you wear a size 16 you can have it for half its usual cost if you come in before this weeks over—

And small women or girls—Take notice! A darling navy blue Georgette with a little cape jacket.—small size,—but a dream of a dress—

Among those really remarkable $5.75 dresses I found another navy blue with white polka dots, a jacket and big silver buttons—Navy blue you know is a headliner this Spring, and polka dots are as smart as Paris—

Next I must mention a bargain—Some pillows,—You know, for an extra one in this chair or that couch—good looking they are—clear good colors—Special at $.95 and $1.95. In the city at double this price they'd be thought good bargains — It's your chance to shop at home ladies?

Then comes the new shoes, just in. Have you forgotten how nice your feet look in new shoes? Go in and try on the new buckskin. Summer shoes—You'll feel like a brand new woman.

And last of all—Patterns! new ones! you can't resist 'em—Spring Sewing fever hits us all—And these patterns are so easy to follow—Go in and see how tempting they are.

Yours for Better Shopping—
LYDIA LEE.
