CHURCH HILL TO REMAIN IN LEAGUE

As a result of a meeting of officials of the Chesapeake Bay League held Wednesday evening, it was announced that Church Hill will remain in the league and will be under the managership of Ralph Walls.

The withdrawel of Church Hill from the league, as announced last week, would have upset the schedule and created a serious problem as how to proceed. The'anouncement as a result of last nights meeting was very gratifying to the baseball interests in the county.

FURROWS

Mr. Editor:

It looks like things have sorter quieted down in Washington. A few weeks ago the democrats wuz runnin around in circles, crossin each other up and not gettin anywhere. It looked for awhile like we wuz goin to have a sales tax piled on our shoulders, but the news got out and the letters and telegrams come a pilin in so fast and stacked up on the desks of our Congressmen that their secretaries had to give up most everything else to read them. Mabe they didn't read alll of them, but I guess they read enough of them to realize that if the sales tax went through there would be a lot of Congressmen retired to private life in the next election.

Thre is nothin like a lot of letters from home to bring our Congresmen to their senses when they git to runnin wild over some question. And this here sales tax is about the wildest scheme that ever wuz proposed by the Congress of these United States. It don't make no difference what they say about it bein the only way to balance the budget, I ain't fer it. I'm agin it because it is a scheme to tax the poor people of this country the rest of the way to death. We ain't doin nothin now but groanin under the load of taxation that some of us can't budge. And to pile a sales tax on us would just about kill the rest of us off.

We have a few fellows in this country is always hollerin "soak the rich." and they have hollored that slogan so much that the boys who own most of the wealth of this country have got tired of it and so they got their henchmen down at Washington to start another slogan. Their slogan is "soak the poor," and they ain't satisfied with soakin the poor with high prices and low wages. They must try to put a sales tax on us. The trouble with the sales tax is that it will have to be paid by the people that are least able to pay it.

The leading democrats have let Mr. Hoover fool them into believin that it wuz their duty to balance the budget. But as I see it the budget belongs to the republicans and so does this year's deficit. The democrats of this country didn't tell Mr. Mellon and Mr. Hoover to unbalance the budget. They knowed that hard times wuz on us and they had no business runnin in debt so much. And they also knowed that these here hard times wuz brought on as a result of republcan policies. It ain't fair for the republicans to git the country so dep in debt that we don't know where we are goin and then try to make the democrats pull their chestnutus out of the fire. But that has been Mr. Hoover's policy ever since he wuz elected. The way to balance the budget is to cut down expenses.

I ain't goin to vote fer any Congressman that votes to saddle a sales tax on me and the rest of the poor folks in this country and I hope the rest of the democrats in this section of the state will join me in this. We've got a good Congressman now but I don't want him to go runnin around like he didn't know what to do and help put a lot more taxes on us. It's a lot better to "soak the rich than to "soak the poor."

Yours truly,
Josiah Allen Weatherby.

LESS WHEAT IN INTERIOR MILLS

MARYLAND MILLS SHOW INCREASE OVER LAST YEAR

Stocks of wheat in interior mills and elevators of Maryland on April 1 were estimated to have been 480,000 bushels, according to Richard C. Ross, agricultural statistician for the Maryland Crop Reporting Service. This indicates a decrease of about eight per cent since March 1 and is about 41 per cent greater than the stocks on hand April 1 last year.

United States Report

Stocks of wheat in interior mills and elevators of the United States on April 1, 1932, are estimated to have been 70,091,000 bushels. Stocks on the same date last year were estimated to have ben 71,623,000 bushels (revised.) This report is intended in include only wheat stocks in country elevators and the smaller interior mills which are not included either in the Department's reports on stocks of wreat in 39 markets or in the Bureau of the Census report on stocks of wheat in merchant mills and attached elevators. The estimate is based largely on reports from about 3,000 interior mills and elevators, representing roughly a fifth to a quarter of the elevator capacity in wheat producing and country milling regions.

Stocks on April 1, 1932, are 4,518,000 bushels less than on March 1, 1932. Tme reduction of stocks during the same period last year amounted to 11,582,000 bushels.

—The regular monthly meeting of "The Town Relief" will be held at the home of the President, Mrs. G. C. Rote on Tuesday next, May 3rd.

CAN THIS BE AMERICA

BY ALBERT A. BACON

Can this be America, land of the free,
Where thousands of aliens from over the sea,
Have found perfect peace on her beautiful shore,
Where tyrannical monarchs oppressed them no more,
With men begging bread in this plentiful land,
With men begging bread with a trade in their hand?

Can this be America gone to the bad,
With millions of resources still to be had,
While men seek employment and willing to do,
Faithful and loyal, kindhearted and true,
Begging a chance to support children and wife,
Have they no right to the pleasures of life?

Can this be America, home of the brave,
Where the star-spangled banner for freedom does wave,
Where poor litle children go hungry and cold
While millionaires hoard up a little more gold,
To squander for steam yachts and big limousines,
With their furs and their diamonds befitting the queens?

Can this be America, ruled by a few,
Grafting politicians with nothing to do,
But tax all our earnings and smoke good cigars
While riding around in their high-powered cars,
Must our farmers and merchants bear this burden alone,
Is there no hope of mercy being shown?

Can this be America, Gods chosen land,
Beautiful country so noble and grand,
Can this be the country for whom Jesus died,
To save it from sin, he was once crucified?
Then shame on America, land of the brave,
If our forefathers knew, they would rise from their grave.

'DISORDERLY CONDUCT'

AT THE NEW LYCEUM MAY 6 and 7

It may seem strange to have a hero and a heroine who detest one another throughout a picture—and stranger still when the heroine decides to marry another man at the conclusion—but these are only two of the unusual features of "Disorderly Conduct," the fearless and dramatic story of police adventure and politics which shows at the New Lyceum Theatre on Friday and Saturday, May 6 and 7, with Sally Eilers, Spencer Tracy and El Brendel in the leading roles.

Heralded as one of the most powerful characterizations in talking pictures, Spencer Tracy's role—that of an ambitious motorcycle officer who goes wrong when political influence shatters his hopes of promotion—has created nation-wide comment. Ralph Bellamy, who scored no notably in "Surrender." is said to do even finer work in this offering as Tracy's commanding officer, and Sally Eilers portrays the new type of heroine.

The cast also includes such names as Ralph Morgan and Allan Dinehart.

HONORED IN HEALTH SURVEY

IN HONOR GROUP IN HEALTH CONSERVATION CONTEST

Word was received by the local Chamber of Commerce that Chestertown has repersented an honor city among Class VI cities in the 1931 InterChamber Health Conservation Contest. The winning city in that group is La Salle, Illinois.

Of group 1 Milwaukee led with Baltimore, Detroit, Philadelphia, Pittsburg and St. Louis in the honor groups. Except for Baltimroe and Chestertown no other Maryland cities or towns held places in the higher ranks. Grouped with Chestertown were Lodi, California; Nonrovia, California, Palo Atlo, California and Shorewood, Wisconsin, making Chestertown the only Eastern city in its class to received honorable mention.

The 1931 contest was the most successful of any during the three years the contest has been held. The 265 cities competing represented 45 states, the District of Columbia and Hawaii. Although the requirements in 1931 were considerably more exacting than in 1930, more than 70 per cent of the cities in the contest for both 1930 and 1931 made higher scores for the latter than for the former year. Chestertown had made marked progress in the year and even though the laurels failed to come the Committee on Public Health and the local Health Department are not in the least discouraged by the score and the ranking of Chestertown.

The Chamber of Commerce of the U. S. A. states that the interest, particularly among businessmen that has been aroused in the competing cities is a significant feature of the Health Contest. This has had the effect of bringing about definite health improvements and has increased community cooperation on a broad scale.

Awards to the winning cities will be present on May 17, at the Twentieth Annual Meeting of the Chamber of the United States at San Francisco.

There will be no delegates at the meeting on the West Coast from the local Chamber which has been represented at the annual meetings for several years in Washington, D. C., and Atlantic City, New Jersey.

THAT FAMOUS PIPE

Chicago Tribune.

Charlie Dawes pointed his underslung pipe time and again at the Senate committee while he was making his impassioned address the other day, and the photographs of the scene show that the committee slunk down when the pipe was aimed at them and seemed to be considering crawling under their desks for safety. And we don't blame 'em. That underslung pipe that Charlie waves around is a dangerous looking thing, and, even if Charlie thinks it isn't loaded, we are of the opinion that it's going to go off some day and hit an innocent bystander in the left hind leg.

THE D. A. R. ELECT OFFICERS

The D. A. R. elections were less exciting this year than ever before. There were no opposing candidates for the offies of president general and other national officers, all the voting having been done before the congress opened. Mrs. William Russell Magna, the new president, won the presidency by her splendid work as chairman of the building fund of Constitution Hall, the new auditorium built by the Daughters, and much needed by them. Just what they will do ten years hence, if the congresses increase as they have in the psat, is beyond comprehension.

TO REMOVE OYSTERS FROM BARRED AREAS

CAMERIDGE AND SEVERN RIVER WATERS RULED TO BE POLLUTED

With the expiration on Monday of the limit set by law for the sale of oysters taken from Maryland waters, the State Conservation Department laid plans for the removal of oysters from two polluted areas to other bottoms.

Oystermen are prohibited during the season from taking oysters from the two polluted beds, one of which is located in the Severn river and the other off Cambridge. However, within a few days they will transfer oysters from these areas to legal bottoms, where the bivalves will lose their impurities within sixty days, according to Swepson Earle, State Conservation Commissioner.

The oysters taken from the Severn river will be distributed to oystermen for planting at diferent spots in the bay. The ones taken near Cambridge will be planted on the public natural oysters bars nearby, Mr. Earle said.

The oyster season closed April 15. This year's crop increased approximately 200,000 bushels over 1931, Mr. Earle reported.

Oystering is prohibited in the vicinity of Cambridge due to the fact that the waters are polluted by the Cambridge sewerage system emptying in the Choptank River. A bond issue to build a sewerage disposal plant was voted down recently by the citizens of that town. The ban on taking oysters from this area resulted in the condeming three years ago of Chesapeake Bay oysters by the Chicago Board of Health.

EASTERN SHORE TOWNS VOTE WET

LITERARY DIGEST POLL SHOWS 2 TO 1 MAJORITY

According to a report from the Literary Digest prohibition poll the ten largest towns on the Eastern Shore of Maryland voted two to one in favor of a repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment.

The town of Denton, Caroline county, gave twelve votes majority in favor of continuance of the present law, the vote being 72 votes for continuance and 60 for repeal. The nine other towns gave a majority in favor of repeal ranging from 2 and 3 to 1.

The town of Easton showed the greatest wet majority the vote being 93 for continuance and 306 for repeal.

Chestertown voted 75 for continuance and 196 for repeal, while Centreville gave a greater majority the vote there being 43 for continuance and 111 for repeal.

The Literary Digest has mailed millions of ballots to all parts of the United States and although the towns on the Eastern Shore voted 2 to 1 wet this majority is below the average for the country.

The vote in the ten Eastern Shore towns are as follows, Repl. meaning for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, Cont. meaning continuance of the present law and total meaning the total vote cast in that town:

CHESTERTOWN DEFEATS GALENA

CHESTERTOWN 9—GALENA 7

Behind the pitching of the deminutive Eddie Harris and Vernon Seward the Chestertown High School baseball team beat Galena 8-7 after the score had been knotted twice, in the fifth and seventh innings.

Chestertown broke the ice in the initial inning when Reinhart singled and scored on Price's drive that was fumbled. In the second inning this was repeated with Hopkins singling and scoring on Fall's drive that was fumbled.

Galena started a scoring spree in the third that neted them the lead and three runs. They put two walks and two runs together for their tallies.

The locals came back in the fourth with a single added to a pair of walks to shove two runs across the plate and regain the lead.

In the fifth Harris got wild and after being hit for a single and walking five men, forceing three runs in he was relieved by Seward who was replaced in center field by Wilson They batted around before the third out was made.

The score was tied at six all when the Chestertown boys batted out a triple and a double in their half of the fifth. Cornelius drove a triple to center field and Hopkins added a double to bring the tying tally.

By getting a walk and a single in the sixth, Chestertown nosed ahead again, but were tied by Galena in their half of the seventh when they added a double to a single to knot the score the second time.

Chestertown settled the issue in the eight when they scored two runs on an error after getting two hits. Seward struck out the last three men in the ninth to run his total for four innings to seven. Grant, the Galena pitcher, struck out nine batters and went the route allowing only seven hits.
