Betterton, Md., July 6, 1932:—Two dance orchestras are now regaling resort visitors here who nightly "trip the light fantastic" at the Casino and at the new Beach Amusement Pier dance pavilion where the Marylanders, an aggregation of Baltimore musicians, are furnishing music to the accompanymemnt of breezes from the Chesapeake bay.

Among license tags on automobiles visiting this playground during the week Connecticut, Massachusetts and Tennessee were represented, in addition to Maryland, Delaware, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia. A diverting feature of the week's activities was a large assemblage of agricultural club girls from Kent county who spent their annual outing under direction of the University of Maryland Extension service. A style show, community singing and outdoor games featured the event which was directed by Miss Helen B. Schellinger of the Extension service. There was dancing at the Casino.

NOW AND THEN

To Let

There is a bungalow within the woods
With low thatched roof hid in a shady nook,
A winding ribbon amid the trees,
And at the end—a lovely sparkling brook.

lamp,
A prttyttiiinnsrhdlushrdlushrdluhrh
A pretty book shelf, and a painted chair;
A desk lies open with its papers strewn,
The songs of happy bluebirds fill the air.

There is a rambling rose bush near the door,
Has lived through summer's sun and winter's gale,
A tragedy is written 'er the gate—
A sign which reads, "A Bungalow for sale,"

Jean Douglas.

Chestertown surely had a sane "Fourth." Few crackers and no accidents. In fact old Pluvius reigned supreme until all plans for spending the day were laid aside. But the ending was beautiful with the gorgeous sunset, which lighted up the heavens. Fireworks from many yards, too, showed that the spirit of the Fourth still reigned.

It is hard to imagine Smith the happy warrier, become Smith, the unhappy worrier. Perhaps before the campaign is over, he will be smiling again.

Yesterday I saw a little Philodice, butterfly flying in the sunshine when a bird flew and caught it on the wing. And so it is in nature. The spider weaves its web to catch the unwary fly, while sharp eyes are watching for a chance to devour the spider. The prairie farmers are asking that the hunters do not kill so many coyotes, as they feed on rabbits, and because of the scarcity of the coyotes, the rabbits multiply rapidly and destroy the crops.

Someone has written a poem to preserve children, it is this:

"Take one large, grassy field,
One-half dozen children,
Two or three small dogs,
A pinch of brook and some pebbles.
Mix the children and the dogs well together and put them in the field, constantly stirring.
Pour the brook over the pebbles;
Sprinkle the field with flowers;
Spread over a deep blue sky and bake in the hot sun.
When brown, remove and set away to cool—in a bathtub."

A candidate for President went out to California and viewed the heavens through the hugh telescope on Mt. Wilson. He was awed and amazed by the magnificent outlook.

As he gazed at the great spaces, he said, "What difference does it make to God, who is President?" He felt that all the petty bickerings and abuse of the other candidate was but a blot on the great immensity. Could we all gaze as he did, our little worries and quarrels would vanish away.

If anyone wishes to go back to the good old times, let him go to the Island of Sark, one of the Channel group. Here there are no autos allowed, no movies, no taxes. The population is an assembly of farmers and cattlemen with an inspector and his wife, who with the people, make the few laws which are necessary on this small island. The approaches are all rocky, but there is a little steamer that runs daily from Guernsey Island to this place to bring the few things they need and to carry back the abundance of vegetables and flowers which grow there. It is truly a land of flowers. They grow every where on rocky cliffs and where-ever a bit of earth can be found. Blue skies and sunny warm weather generally prevail but in winter the waves lash the shores and often the little boat cannot land. The inspector and many others have radios so they know what is going on in the outside world. Peace and plenty are in this little land, freedom from carking cares and neighborly friendship and love prevail.

DR. JONES LIKES LOS ANGELES

Dr. J. S. William Jones, dean of Washington Colege is pleased with Los Angeles and thinks it is far ahead of most of our Eastern cities. Oranges are selling in the markets there, for as low as five cents a dozen. Fruits are in the greatest abundance.

Dr. Jones is attending summer school in Los Angeles and will leave there about the middle of August.

DEMOCRATIC NOMINEES FOR PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT

FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT

JOHN N. GARNER

Franklin D. Roosevelt and John N. Garner were nominated last Saturday at Chicago as the Democratic Standard bearers for President and Vice-President of the United States.

RURAL CARRIER RETIRES

RURAL CARRIER'S SALARY CUT—DAVID B. KENDALL RETIRES

Mr. David B. Kendall, rural carrier of No. 1 Route out of Chestertown Post Office, will carry the mail for the last time today, Saturday.

Mr. Kendall has been in the service for thirty years and will receive full pension.

It is thought that no one will be appointed to take Mr. Kendall's route as there has been a move on foot for some time to consolidate the routes and in all probability they will now consolidate the six routes into five. No. 1 route takes in the section of Queen Anne's county which is served by the Chestertown Post Office.

Rural Carriers now face an eight and a fraction cut in salary and one-half a cent a mile less allowance for equipment. By consolidating the routes it would give the other five more mileage and in that way a littli more salary to make up for the cut and would also be a saving to the local office.

Mr. Kendall is the third rural carrier from the Chestertown office to retire in the past few years. Colonel Charles Wood, former carrier of Route 3, retired several years ago and Mr. Thomas Willis, former carrier on Route 4, retired last year.

LOCAL-MADE FILM AT NEW LYCEUM

CHESTERTOWN AND KENT COUNTY break into the movies. Sounds strange but never-the-less it is true. For the first time in its history Chestertown and Kent County residents will have the opportunity to see and hear moving pictures that were filmed in this locality. Through the courtesy of the RKO Film Corporation and Dr. Paul E. Titsworth of Washington College the NEW LYCEUM THEATRE will show as a SPECIAL ADDED ATTRACTION on its screen JULY 13-14-15 16 the pictures taken during the BI-CENTENNIAL COMMENCEMENT program at Washington College.

This film made up by the Pathe News Corporation includes scenes from the parade, pictures of the various prize winning floats, George Washington receiving his degree, Col. Hiram S. Brown introducing the main speakers of the day, including Governor Albert C. Ritchie, the conferring of degrees on the College Graduates, and other scenes of the day's festivities.

The entire picture is filmed with sound and makes a fine record of Chestertown's biggest day and greatest celebration. As stated above this BI-CENTENNIAL film will be shown as an added attraction to the regular shows at the NEW LYCEUM and at NO ADVANCE IN PRICES.

LOCAL PORT ACTIVE

B. S. FORD AND BERTIE TULL IN HARBOR

Fifteen work boats were in Chestertown harbor on Thursday morning of this week. Most of these boats are waiting to haul grain. The docking facilities are overcrowded.

The Phillips construction company, who are building new roads near Prices Station and Millington, are using the electric light wharf to unload material. Sand and stone are being brought to Chestertown by boat and then trucked to the construction points. It is expected that this unloading will continue for at least two more weeks. They have four canal barges here.

Three sailing schooners, a tug and several motor driven work boats make a total of fifteen. No oil barges are here at the present time.

Most of the gasoline coming to Chestertown now is coming by boat. Chestertown is becoming a distributing center for gasoline due to its central location and ideal harbor. The Holt Oil Company is finishing the construction of a large distributing plant on the Quaker Neck Road near town.

The local fire company tested the tanks this week by pumping them full of water.

Two Old Timers Return

The Bertie Tull, formerly owned by the late Captain Jack Nickerson and C. W. Kibler & Sons, is laying at the foot of High Street. The only way one could recognize her is by her name as she no longer has the appearance of a gay boat. All the cabins and decks have been cut away and she now has the appearance of a large tomato or grain boat.

The B. S. Ford has lost all the appearance of a side-wheel steam boat. Practically all the super-structure has been removed and some of the decking on one side has been cut off. She has no engine and is merely a barge. To look at her one cannot connect her with the proud old B. S. Ford that plied the Chester on the daily runs between Baltimore and Chestertown carrying passengers and freight. She is laying at the Massey and Wilmer Fertilizer wharf.

DR. J. P. FRANKLIN MARRIED

Dr. J. P. Franklin and Miss Jean Arendes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Philip J. Arendes, of Cumberland, were married in Baltimore last Tuesday. The wedding was a quiet one, only the brides' parents and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Maxwell of this county, attending. The bride was a student of the Mary Lyon school and also the King Smith Studio in Washington, D. C. She holds the Woman's Championship for Golf in Cumberland County.

Dr. Franklin is a graduate of the Baltimore Medical School. He was Kent County Health doctor and made many friends here. At present he holds the same position in Alleghany county where the young couple will make their home.

AMBULANCE ANSWERS 3 CALLS

CARRIES INHALATER TO BETTERTON AND BOAT CRASH VICTIM TO HOSPITAL

The ambulance was called Wednesday to rush the inhalator, owned by the Fire Company, to Betterton. A young lady at Betterton was in a critical condition and the call was made for the inhalator so as to give her oxygen. The use of the oxygen may be credited with saving her life.

Tracy Johnson, of Philadelphia, was cut seriously about the face while riding in a boat race at the Tri-State Yacht Club which is located on Worton Creek.

Johnson was riding as a companion for a lady in a lady's stock runabout race. Spray on the windshield of her boat caused the lady to run into a sail boat which was being used as a buoy, and the crash threw Johnson into the windshield. He was rushed to the office of Dr. H. G. Simpers where he was treated and later taken to Easton hospital in the local ambulance.

This was the only serious accident reported during the holidays.

A small boat burned at the wharf of the Tri-State Yacht Club Sunday evening.

Miss Bessie Duyer, of Chestertown, was taken to the Easton Hospital on Monday of this week, in the Kent County Ambulance. She was operated on Wednesday for gall-stones and at this writing is very much improved.

RAILROAD RATES ON GRAIN REDUCED

R. delivery; to the destinations where Central Railroad of New Jersey delivery is required, we are now awaiting advice from the Interstate Commerce Commission, in response to our application, to also establish these rates on short notice. We hope to have this information very shortly, upon receipt of which you will be promptly advised as to the date on which those rates will become effective.

"Your cooperation in this matter is indeed appreciated and it is sincerely hoped that publication of these rates will have the effect of completely eliminating the truck movement.

"With kindest regards, I remain
