OTHER OCCUPATIONS FOR POLITICAL LEADERS

President Lebrun of France isn't ashamed of being a farmer boy. He is harvesting wheat in the fields of the paternal farm. And wheat harvesting at Mercy-le-Haut is not like riding round on a machine in Nebraska.

If we remember correctly, President Harding figured as a wheat harvester in Kansas. Calvin Coolidge, while still President, was a maple sugar manufacturer at Plymouth, Vt., proud of wearing a yoke that had no political significance, a yoke with a bucket of sap at each end. Others of our Presidents have emphasized their humble beginnings. We recall the Republican campaign song in 1872:

The Keystone State flings out
The glorious starry banner;
Ohio in her might
Hurrahs for Grant the Tanner.

Lincoln was starred, the country through, as the rail-splitter; but he never split rails on the White House grounds. He had more important matters on his hands. Andrew Johnson was rather pround of the tailor's bench from which he had graduated. Garfield was the tow path boy of the canal, in our folk lore. And so on and so forth.

All that lot, piece or parcel of ground situated in or near the village of Chesterville in Kent County, Maryand, upon the southern side of the public road or street leading through said village to Urieville from Millington, and adjoining the lot purchased by John A. Schwatka of William T. Spry, and which is described as follows: Beginning at a point in the center of said public road or street being also the point where the northwest corner of the said Schwatka lot is located and running thence with the third line of said Schwatka lot reversed by magnetic bearings south twenty and a quarter degrees west nine perches and ninety six hundredths of a perch to a stone on the said Spry lands; thence with said Spry lands the two following courses and distances North sixty nine and a quarter degrees west twenty four and fifty two hundredths of a perch and north twenty and a quarter degrees east nine perches and sixty two hundredths of a perch to the center of said public road, then with the said public road reversed south sixty nine and three quarters degrees east twenty four perches and five hundredths of a perch to the place of beginning containing one and one half acres of land more or less. being the same tract of land conveyed to the said Emma A. OUR NEXT PRESIDENT

FROM THE WILMINGTON EVERY EVENING

Franklin Delano Rooevelt, governor of the State of New York, will, we believe, be the next President of the United Staes. The overwhelming vote he received when he was nominated at the Democratic convention in Chicago last month, 945 out of the total of 1,148 —plainly indicate that he is the popular choice of his party. It is our conviction, furthermore, that his nomination is welcomed by a very large element in the Republican party that is quite as anxious as the Democrats are for a change at Washington.

Every Evening gives Nominee Roosevelt its full indorsmeent. The selection of the New York governor as the standard bearer of the 1932 campaign will give new inspiration to Democracy in Deaware, as well as in the rest of the country, with the strong probability that the electoral vote of this state will help to place Roosevelt in the presidential chair.

Governor Roosevelt's administration of the government of New York, and his declarations on national affairs, have stamped him as a safe and wise executive; one who understands and appreciates the needs of the country, as well as of his state, and one who believes in the theory that it is the busines of government to serve the ineress of all of the peolpe alike, and not to single out special groups for favors.

In fact, Governor Roosevelt has plainly shown that he has as sympathetic interest in the welfare of those of the people who have been in the background, practically forgotten, because they had no way of pleading their cause. The fact that he was re-elected to his present office, by a tremendous plurality, when his state was carried by the Republicians in the Hoover landslide, further stamps him as a popular favorite and is high indorsement of his ability to govern.

With him at its head, we believe the government of the United States will, after March 4 next, be in safe hands, and that the hopes that have inspired the storm of American sentiment for a change in the national administration will be fully realized.

Governor Roosevelt is a typical American. His life has been an open book. Much of it has been devoted to work in the interest of his fellow citizens. He was born in Hyde Park, N. Y., January 30, 1932, being a son of James and Sara (Delano Roosevelt. He is distantly related to the late President Theodore Roosevelt, as is also Mrs. Roosevelt, the wife of the governor, whose parents were: Elliott and Anna (Hall) Roosevelt of New York City.

The governor graduated from Harvard with the degree of A. B. in 1904 and from Columbia Law School in 1907. Following graduation he engaged in the practice of low in New York City up to the time of his election as governor.

His entry into public life began with his election to the New York Senate in 1910. He resigned this office in 1913 to become assitant Secretary of the Navy under President Wilson, in which office he served until 1920. In 1928 he was elected governor of New York and re-elected in 1930. He was the Democratic nominee for Vice-President of the United States in 1920.

Governor Roosevelt's fine personality, his interest in his fellow man and his wilingness and ability to serve the public have brought him many honors, each of which was deserved, and in none of which has he failed to show that the confidence placed in him was merited. He has been an overseer of Harvard University and is a trustee of Vassar College, St. Stephen's College, Cornell University, the Woodrow Wilson Foundation and the Seamen's Institute and is president of the Boy Scout Foundation of New York City and the Georgia Warm Springs Foundation. He was in charge of the inspection of the United States Naval forces in European waters in 1918 and of the demobilization in Europe in 1919. He is a Mason, a member of the Episcopal church, the Alpha Delta Phi and the Phi Beta Kappa. His home is in Hyde Park, Dutchess county, N. Y.

With Governor Roosevelt at the head of the ticket, and Speaker John N, Garner of Texas as his running mate—Democracy can hold its head high and go forward to victory without need for apology. We have the same high regard for the Texas statesman as we have for the New York governor.

The convention has been a typically Democratic gathering. Leaders of different views and their followers fought for their favorites, as they had a right to do, but when it was evident what he result was going to be most of the defeated ones yielded gracefully and gladly cntributed their mite to the victory.

The Democrats of the United States have done a good job. Now for the hard work—everybody pulling together—to make the glory complete in November.
