PENINSULA NEWS

Many truck operators on the Eastern Shore will be effected as the result of a new automobile law passed by the Pennsylvania legislature, under which no Maryland truck is permitted to make more than thirty trips into or through the neighbor State in any one calendar year, unless Pennsylvania tags are carried.

Because of the large number of Eastern Shore trucks operating into Philadelphia laden with live stock, poultry, farm and sea food prducts, it is said that hundreds of these carriers will exceed the 30-visit-a-year limit and will be required to purchase Pennsylvania tags.

A colored baby was born at the Easton Hospital one day last week with twelve toes, six on each foot. They are well developed toes, too, and no half way appendages. When told of it the mother replied that she had had twelve toes but when eight years old two of them had ben removed by operation, that the new baby's brother had twelve and the father of the mother also had the same number.

A letter from the State Roads Commission to the Chamber of Commerce, in reply to an inquiry as to when the new Dover Bridge would be built, states that plans are being drawn for this structure and that bids will be called for before very long. From the letter it is inferred by the Chamber that the bridge will be under construction, probably before the end of the year. This would give much employment to local day labor, and this was one of the things the Chamber had in mind when the Commission was written to about the bridge.

A jury in the Circuit Court of Wicomico county brought in a verdict last Tuesday afternoon in favor of Mr. Howard Anderson, who had been sued by the Franklin Credit Finance Company for money advanced a dealer on an automobile, purchased by Mr. Anderson.

Headed by Clarence A. Jackson, of Baltimore, a deep sea diver, who will serve as navigator, and carrying full equipment for extensive diving work, two Baltimore vessels and a complement of twelve men have resumed the work of searching for and raising the hull of the British sloop of war DeBraake off the Delaware capes.

When the sloop sank in 1798 off Lewes, it is believed to have had a cargo valued at $10,000,000 aboard. Two divers, George Tyzack and John Wikstrom, both of Baltimore, are aboard the vessels, the sixty-four-foot motor Katie Durum and the fifty-four-foot motor Cap.

Mr. Jackson was a member of an earlier expedition from Baltimore in quest of the DeBraake which employed the tug Columbine of the Union Shipbuilding Company. The Katie Durm and the Cap will represent the Baltimore Derrick and Salvage Corporation, of Curtis Bay.

A military mass in commemoration of the Bicentennial of Washington's birth will mark the celebration of the 228th year of the foundation of St. Francis Xavier's Church better known as Old Bohemia near Warwick, Md., on Sunday, October 2nd at 11 a. m. Old Bohemia was in the midst of the activities of the Revolutionary War and many of her sons took a prominent part in the struggle for independence.

A $10,000 trust fund for the Havre de Grace Hospital, the income of which is to be used for the care of needy patients, is established by the will of Benjamin Harmon, which was filed for probate Monday.

Illicit whiskey traffic in Cecil county was seriously crippled last week as 15 Federal prohibition officers, cooperating with Sheriff Albert G. Buckworth and his deputies, raided ten places and arrested 12 men and three women. Authorities believe that alleged intoxicants valued at $5,000 were destroyed.

While fishing near Havre de Grace last week Mr. Chetelat's rod bent. "Here comes a whale fellow," he shouted. The line spun around in the water. "Bluefish;" called out one of his friends. "Hardhead!" exclaimed another. "Trout!" observed another.

Just then Mr. Chetelat's hooks came to the surface. He almost fell overboard in amazement. He reeled in with much effort what looked like a bunch of fish. He had caught three fish on two hooks. When the amazing catch was hauled aboard in the handnet, the explanation of the unusual occurance was apparent. One of the hooks had snared a hardhead. The other a trout. A bluefish had attempted to seize the struggling hardhead, had swallowed part of the tail of the hardhead and had fastened its teeth so firmly in the hardhead's body that the bluefish could not let go.

Eight bombing planes of the 96th squadron United States Air Forces, flying from Langley Field, Virginia, ran into a dense fog near Snow Hill early Friday morning and immediately turned and headed for the Gelder Airport. They landed here about eight o'clock and stayed for perhaps two hours until weather reports showed that the fog had cleared and it would be safe to proceed.

SHOPPING 'JEFFERSONS'

There's so much to tell you about this week that I am forced reluctantly to curb my chattiness and proceed immediately and forcibly to business.

The girlish flutterings this week are caused by some new dresses just unpacked that would make the angels willing to wear clothes, (or do they anyway)

First is a sheer wool crepe in football brown. Its shoulders are swaggeringly wide, it has trick seaming that goes round and round and would make a Sylph out of an Irish washwoman. Deep button on pirate cuffs of waffled crepe and a hip pocket for luck! Oh, lady, what a dress! And the price of this paragon, dears, is a paltry $9.75.

Next in the cheer section is a perfect little trifle in navy blue spiral crepe, jumper style with a pale blue blouse, buttoned close to the neck. Highly recommended for any little devil of a girl who enjoys looking like a sweet innocent child to fool 'em.

There is also a collection of frightfully swanky chenille, striped wool frocks, so new they've not got their eyes open. These belong to the tailored or golfing type. A $5.95 miracle.

You know, these glowing ruby red shades that are being done this fall certainly add to the gaity of nations. Take that lovely ruby flat crepe with hand-drawn work, and impudent stiff little red and white flower. It would make any woman feel like the charming, magnetic, mysterious creation she'd just as soon appear to be.

And speaking of red, Jefferson's has a nice collection of hats in very subtle shades of ruby. Smart with a black coat, and ruby dress.

Last of all, you should go in and see the new cotton printed material that looks like expensive sheer wool, and is only 29c a yard.

Oh dear, the end,

LYDIA LEE.
