ADVOCATE MARKET PLACE

LISTING OF KENT'S PRODUCTS BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

The third of a series of group meetings sponsored by the Kent County Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of finding some way to aid business in Kent County was held at the Chamber headquarters Thursday evening with farmers, business and professional men and women from various sections of the County.

The need for a market place for the convenience of farmers and townspeople was again emphasized as one of the more practical ways of bringing about a closer cooperation between the rural sections and the towns and making for home buying of home grown products.

It was suggested that the Chamber compile a list of farmers and their special products and have printed cards that could be placed in outgoing mail to nearby cities showing individuals what can be purchased from Kent's farmers.

Some of the items suggested for listing were potatoes, honey, preserves, jellies, jams, pickles chili sauce, cottage cheese, butter, eggs, Maryland beaten biscuit, cakes, pies, dressed poultry (ducks, chickens, geese, turkeys) home-cured hams, sausage.

Those who grow or make a high grade of the above products and who want to increase their trade are urged to communicate with the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. The matter of a high standard is of utmost importance.

Town people who want country products are invited and urged to make their wants known to the Chamber of Commerce so that the producer and consumer can be brought together to their mutual benefit.

NOW AND THEN

Such a short time ago we greeted the year 1932, wondering what it had in store for us. For many it has brought care and deprivation, and to some, bitter sorrow, but it is rapidly passing and it will not be long before we greet another year. "Tempus fugit we say, and make the best of it."

ALL TOO SHORT!

Smooth out the wrinkles and banish the frown.
Life is too short to be cross!
What is the worth of the monarch's gold crown
If in the evening, the sun going down,
Leaves him the most fretful man in the town?
Life is too short to be cross!

Swiftly the moments are gliding away;
Life is too short to be cross!
Over our path streams the sunshine today,
Gather no shadows to darken the way.
Smile at the trials and cheerfully say,
"Life is too short to be cross!"

Reason a moment and surely you'll know,
Life is too short to be cross!
Just a few seasons we linger—then go
Leaving the trifles we battle for so.
Make the world brighter, don't add to its woe.
Life is too short to be cross!
—M. Gertrude Robertson.

The rain so longed for has come at last. How unprepared every one was! What a scurrying to find umbrellas and rubbers while cars which ought to have been in the garage, dripped with the rain, though every one was glad of its coming.

The world has always loved Burns because of his musical and nature loving poems, and pitied him for being wild and caring too much for the convivial cup.

Prof. Snyder, of Columbia University has been visiting the poet's birth place this year and has been studying his environment. He finds that all his faults has been exaggerated by posterity, that in reality he was a good and hardworking family man, not always a good manager, but trying always to pay his debts, the sums of which were small. Mr. Frederick Knowles wrote the following on the fly leaf, of a book of songs by Burns.

These are the best of him,
Pathos and jest of him;
Earth holds the rest of him.

Passions were strong in him,—
Pardon the wrong in him,
Hark to the song of him!—

Each little lyrical
Grave or satirical
Musical miracle!

There was no poet closer to nature than the ploughman Burns.

The "Wee Crimson tipped flower," or the Field mouse's fright as he plowed through its home both called forth a touching poem.

Our Literature is much richer for "The Cotters Saturday night," "Auld Lang Syne," and "Highland" Mary and he sends out a warming to those who seek pleasure only:

Pleasures are like poppies red.
You seize the flower the bloom is shed;
Or like a snowflake in the river,
A moment white; then lost forever."

Were you a listener in at the Atwater-Kent Audition contest last Sunday? As the announcer gave only numbers it required careful attention to pick out those who sang for Kent County. Both Miss Johnson and Mr. Harris sang well, but they were out distanced by others who had more training. While we are sorry that they did not win, yet they are to be congratulated for their effort. That both have fine voices there is no doubt, and one is sure to hear of them again in the musical world.

In a company of deep thinking men and women, sometime ago a young man got up and asked their preference for the different candidates. Hoover received a good many votes and so did Roosevelt, but one outstanding man called out "Norman Thomas. It set us all thinking. We all know that Thomas is a fine man but a vote for him will be thrown away this campaign. Is socialism growing in our country? Thomas knows he will not win but the sentiment is growing.

Jimmie Foxx, of Sudlersville, has been picked by the Baseball Writers Association as the most valuable player in the American League during the 1932 season. Jimmie is holding up the reputation of the Shore with the Philadelphia Athletics since the retirement of Frank (Homerun) Baker, of Talbot county.

URGE REDUCTION OF SCHOOL BOND

COMMISSION URGE REDUCTION OF EXPENDITURES TO $55,000 IF ISSUE PASSER

The Chestertown Public High School Commission, in session on Monday of this week, decided to request that the expenditure for the enlargement of the Chestertown High School be reduced from $100,000 to $55,000 if the bond issue, which is to be voted on next month, passes.

The citizens of Kent County will vote for or against the proposed bond issue at the regular November election.

The vote will be on a separate ballot from the regular election ballot.

Members of the Chestertown Public High School Commission are: W. B. Copper, chairman, Thomas W. Eliason, Allan A. Harris, Fred G. Usilton and Louis C. Robinson. These men were named in the bill with the exception of Mr. Usilton, who was appointed by the Board of Education in the place of W. F. Russell, deceased.

The preambles and resolutions adopted by the Commission are as follows:

Whereas, the crowded conditions at the high school located in Chestertown, Maryland, make most urgent the need for additions to and the remodeling of the present high school building, and

Whereas, a bill with a referendum was passed at the last session of the Maryland Legislature providing for a bond issue not to exceed the amount of one hundred thousand dollars for the erection of additions to and the remodeling, renovating and equipping of the high school located at Chestertown, and

Whereas, according to one of the provisions embodied in the bill, this bill must be submitted to the legal voters in Kent County, Maryland, at the next general election to be held on Tuesday, November 8, 1932, and

Whereas, after very careful study of the probable cost, by and with the advice of experienced architects and contractors, it has been found that the necessary additions to and the necessary remodeling and renovating of the present high school building can be made at the present prices of materials and labor for approximately fifty-five thousand dollars ($55,000) therefore, be it

MILK PRODUCTION INCREASED

BASIC PRICE TO BE PAID FOR 80 PER CENT

The following statement was received from the Interstate Milk Producers Association which is self explanatory:

Finding that the production of milk was increasing to such an extent over that of September, that it became a burden on the market, it was felt that a conference be held to-day with the distributors and Dr. Clyde L. King as Milk Arbitrator, to go over the situation and give it due consideration.

After being in conference all afternoon the Arbitrator finally made the following statement, which you will find below.

We do hope that our members will heed the warning and hold their production in line to meet market demands as outlined in his statement.

H. D. ALLEACH,
President.

Statement by the Arbitrator

A marked increase in production has followed the announcement made on October 1st, giving the producers an opportunity to count October production as half of their basic for next year, reduced by whatever percent is necessary in order to make basic production equal basic sales, so that the dealers will pay basic price for all the milk they put into their bottles, no more and no less.

For the first two weks in October, production increased about fourteen percent over that of September 30th.

To met this market situation the conference to-day agreed that for the last two weeks in October the dealers would pay basic price for eighty percent of the present established basic, in lieu of the ninety percent to be paid for during the first two weeks in October, in which is included ten percent for cream.

In the report, which follows, special emphasis was put on the necessity of economy so that the levy and tax rate fr 1933 may be reduced. The urge to break up the theft of chickens on a large scale was included in the report with the suggestion of hiring private detectives if necessary.

The report follows:

To the Honorable Judges of the Circuit Court, State of Maryland.

The Grand Jury of the October term of the Circuit Court of Kent County, State of Maryland, 1932, begs leave to report the following on completion of their labors:

We have interviewed the Sheriff and different officers in the County as to violations o the Criminal Law.

In presenting our report, this body wishes to call special attention to the Court of our tax problem. Expenses must be cut from every quarter possible and many undertakings should be abandoned or postponed for the present, in order that our Levy Court can so arrange its budget to relieve our tax payers, in these distress times, of a large portion of the tax assessment for the coming year, 1933.

The Jury extends its appreciation to the Honorable Court, the States Attorney, the Sheriff, the Clerk and all other officials for the courtesy extended.

The Grand Jury recommends to the County Commissioners that they take more drastic action to apprehend the organized gang of thieves operating by truck in this County and that they appropriate sufficient money for that purpose and if necessary employ outside detectives.

DEATHS

George W. Carter, Sr., died at his home on High street, Chestertown, at 5 p. m., on Wednesday of this week, aged 80 years.

He has been in failing health for the past few years but on Tuesday his condition became suddenly worse. It is thought that the sudden death of his son, George W. Carter, Jr., which occured last week, was the cause of the sudden change for the worse. He has lived a retired life for a number of years and before his retirement he worked for the State Roads Commission in this section.

He is survived by his widow, who before her marriage was Miss Katherine Rollison, of Kent county. The following children also survive:

David Carter, of Nottingham, Pa., Howard, Henry and Levison, of Baltimore; Charles, of Centreville, Julian, of Church Hill, Mrs. Bertha Lee, of Church Hill, Mrs. Price Vansant and Mrs. Catherine Frazier, of Wilmington, and Mrs. John Wothers, of Hillsboro.

Funeral services will be held today, Saturday, at 2 p. m. at the home on High street, to be conducted by Dr. E. A. Sexsmith, rector of Christ M. P. Church. The bearers will be six grandsons. W. H. Good, undertaker.

Mrs. M. Isabella Haley, a former resident of Wilmington, died in Philadelphia Tuesday after an illness of about a month of complications. She was in her 79th year.

Until five or six years ago Mrs. Haley had resided in Wilmington practically all her life. Of late she had made her home with a daughter, Mrs. Harrison Barnes, in Philadelphia, where she died. Besides Mrs. Barnes she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. J. Willard Jester. also of Philadelphia; a son, John M. Haley, of Wilmington, and three grandsons. She was the widow of William H. Haley. Prior to the remarriage she was Miss M. Isabella McKinney.

The funeral took place from the home of her son, 715 West Twenty-eighth St., Friday afternoon with services at 2 p. m. Burial took place in Mt. Salem cemetery.

Mrs. Haley was well known in Chestertown, having been a frequent visitor here.

WOMAN'S MARKET EXCHANGE NOV. 5.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO STAGE MARKET TRYOUT

A simple market and women's exchange day will be held at a central location in Chestertown, which place will be announced later, Saturday morning, November 5 beginning at 9.30 a. m. until 1.00 p. m.

The Kent County Chamber of Commerce which is behind the movement has asked the support of farmers and farm women for marketable products in return for which the Chamber will have printed a directory of names, addresses and telephone numbers with each farmer's special line of production which he may desire to market throughout the coming months. This card will be distributed with each purchase and a supply will be on hand to be mailed out to nearby cities. In the course of the winter a revision of the card will be made with additional names which will have been gathered in the meantime.

Orders will also be taken for future sales. Each article offered for sale will carry the name of the farmer or farm housewife thus fecilitating the matter of future orders. It is not intended that prices shall undercut the Chestertown merchants.

This attempt to bring together grower and consumer in Kent County will be the only one at which a percentage of the profit will be turned over to the operation of the Chamber of Commerce in its sincere endeavor to discover a method of circulating more money within the county to the benefit of towns and rural sections.

Such a marketing day will be a feeler for the establishment of regular market days for farmers, possibly after the order of the curb markets at Centreville or some other method of setting up a marketing center for Kent County growers.

The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce visited this week the Bethesda, Maryland, farm woman's market which has brought prosperity to the farming sections of Montgomery County far beyond the expectations of the sponsors. With a large territory to draw upon of Washington suburban sections, some of the farm women sell from $50 to $65 worth of produce each Saturday and about half that amount on Wednesday. A $1500 business is done weekly in the Bethesda market.

While Kent County is not situated on the edge of any such thickly populated districts, a good amount of success on a smaller scale should come to Kent County farmers and thus benefit the entire community if a marketing system ca be established.
