TO UNVEIL TABLET

The Men's Club of Emmanuel P. E. Church will unveil a tablet Nov. 9th, on the outside of the church which will read, "In this Church was held te first convention which proposed and adopted the name, Protestant Episcopal Church, November 9th, 1780. Erected by the Men's Club of Chester Parish."

KENT COUNTY SOCCER LEAGUE

Galena High School at present is leading the County Soccer League by a half a game.

Chestertown and Rock Hall played to a tie. Galena defeated Rock Hall by a big margin. Chestertown defeated Galena 15-0 and Galena turns around and trims Chestertown 6-0.

Milligton last week held Rock Hall to a small score. The championship of the county depends on the future Galena-Rock Hall game. Galena should win considering their record this season but the way the dope has been upset so fr they might get a set back.

This year marks one of the first that 3 high schools have figured in for the championship. Usually Chestertown because of its large enrollment has been able to walk away with the championship. This year however, Galena, Rock Hall and Chestertown have all been in the running and it has not been decided yet.

SAMPLE MARKET TODAY

The Kent County Chamber of Commerce is staging a sample Farm and Home Market on Saturday morning, November 5 in front of the Ellason Building on High street, Chestertown, to bring together Kent growers and consumers.

One of the major features of the sample market will be the distribution of a directory giving the names, addresses and telephone numbers of the twenty-five of more cooperating farmers and hommakers, together with the products in which each one specialized. The directory is printed in folder form on stiff paper that can easily be kept in a convenient spot for reference and it is hoped many orders throughout the winter will be forthcoming.

The suggestion is being made to the community that they make a Christmas of practical giving and use some of the delicacies listed in the directory as Christmas gifts. Especially among one's city friends are such gifts welcomed with that touch of home-madeness about them that can not be bought in city shops.

Another feature of the Saturday market is the giving away of a turkey at noon.

The public is asked to keep the hours of the market in mind and patronize it, being sure to obtain one of the directories for future use in ordering. The response to the marketing theory has been very good and great interest is aroused in the County particularly among those who stop to think of the benefit such a selling method can be the financial standing of the County.

RESOLUTION OF RESPECT

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Kent County Home held Wednesday, November 2nd, 1932, the following resolutions were passed in expression of the deep sense of loss in the death of Mr. M. Wilbur Thomas many years a member of this Board.

WHEREAS, In His wise providence it pleased our Heavenly Father to take to Himself the soul of our friend and brother Trustee, we desire to place on record our profound sense of loss at his removal from our body and the community; and also our sad privilege to endeavor to give expression inadequate though it must be of his great worth both as our fellow Trustee and as a man. Therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of M. Wilbur Thomas, The Kent County Home has lost a Trustee and Secretary whose judgment and advice we valued highly and followed with great advantage to the Home. He was conscientious in his attendance and in all the details of his position. We shall miss greatly both his presence and counsel.

He was a friend to those in our Home and of the worthy poor, to whom his advice and means were always accessable.

His many friends to whom his geniality, hospitality and frequent intercourse were a boon highly prized, feel that one has gone from among them whose absence leaves a sense of want that cannot be replaced.

But to his family who knew him best and were united to him in bonds of the closest and warmest affection that will and do mourn him most.

His devotion to them was most beautiful a man beloved and respected in every walk of life. Be it further

Resolved, That we herewith extend to his sorrowing family and friends our brotherly sympathy in their irreparable loss, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to his family and the same shall be entered upon the records of the Kent County Home, and published in the county papers.

KENT BOYS 4-H CLUB NEWS

4-H HALLOW'EEN SOCIALS

The Kent 4-H Clover Calf Club held a Hallow'een social Wednesday night at the Fletland School Building and the Millington Boys' 4-H Club held one on Thursday night at the Hall. Each of these socials were attended by nearly one hundred club members, parents, and friends. Following the parade, when the costumes were judged and the names of the wearers guessed, everyone enjoyed the many games which gave all a chance to play. Refreshments were served and all went home feeling the evenings were well spent.

Poultry Judging Practice

A number of poultry club members who are training for the County Judging Team and Assistant County Agent Sutton visited the Caroline Poultry Show at Denton, Thursday. After viewing the show, they joined boys from Queen Anne, Talbot, Dorchester and Caroline Counties in judging several classes of good chickens. The practice was conducted by Mr. Paul Rapr of the University of Maryland, who was assisted by the coaches of the various Teams. Everyone is preparing to win the judging contest held at Centerville, November 17th. The Kent boys are doing their best and met at Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Walbert's for practice on White Wyandottes, Wednesday morning.

Kennedyville Boys' Club

The Kennedyville Boys' 4-H Club met Friday night at the home of Carvel and James Sutton. Vice President William Willis presided and gave a brief account of Timonium Fair, which he attended in September. Lloyd Kennedy acted as secretary of the meeting in the absence of Secretary Charles Hague. Those present were: Billy and Charles King, William Willis, Robert Comegys, Lloyd Kennedy, Carvel and James Sutton Everett Dodd of the Worton Club was a visitor.

Handy Andy Calf Club.

The Handy Andy 4-H Calf Club met at the home of Robert and Helen Fogwell near Galena on Tuesday night, November 1st.

Radio Program

Every 4-H Club Member and those interesttd should be near a radio set this Saturday, November 5th at 12.30, to hear Jesse Hurd speak on the Maryland portion of the National radio program. Jesse speaks from Baltimore over station WBAL. No special meeting places are designated but everyone is urged to hear the program during the National Farm and Home Hour.

DEATHS

Mr. Thomas C. Slay, of Wyoming, Delaware, died at his home in Wyoming, Del. on Friday of last week. Mr. Slay was well known in Chestertown, being a cousin of the late William Slay and Miss Mary Slay.

Mrs. Arthur P. Laughlin, of Lake Bluff, Illinois, died suddenly on Wednesday, November 2nd. Mr. Laughlin owns a bungalow on Shippen Creek and is a member of the Chester River Yacht and Country Club.

CYCLONE HITS KENT COUNTY

During the heavy wind storm on Tuesday of this week, a small cyclone hit the Whittington farm near Massey and blew an implement shed to pieces. Large cedar posts buried in concrete were broken off. The barn, which was in the path of the storm had the doors blown off and would probably have been wrecked were in not for a heavy crop of corn which was stored in it.

The storm traveled in a narrow path and nearby buildings were not damaged. Nothing in the corn field was left standing. Mr. James Alexander lives on the farm and was in the barn when the storm hit.

"Judge: "And what did you do when you heard the accused using such awful language "

Policeman: "I told him he wasn't fit to be among decent people, and brought him here."

FURROWS

BY JOSIAH ALLEN WEATHERBY

Political promises is like pie-crusts, made to be broke. And the common people of this country, especially the farmin population, ought to try to remember this after this here election is over. If they don't, there is goin to be a lot of disappointed people. It won't make no difference which side wins, there is goin to be disappointment. And there is goin to be more democrats disappointed than there would be republicans if Hoover wuz to be elected. Mr. Hoover made a lot of promises in 1928 that he didn't live up to, and couldn't fer that matter, and the republicans knows he can't live up to his promises this year. So if he should by any chance git elected it wouldn't hurt the republicans so much fer him to fall down on the job. The big thing the republicans is interested in his keepin the jobs they hold now, and their disappointment will come if Hoover ain't elected.

Now, on the other hand, the democrats is goin to be disappointed because Mr. Roosevelt can't live up to all their expectations. Not that he is makin so many promises, but after twelve years of standin outside in the cold with no political sop to eat, a lot of them is expectin to step right into some republican office-holder's shoes and draw down a fat salary fer the next four years. A lot of them democrats is goin to be disappointed, because the politicians is promisin too much, and they know it, but bein politicians and party leaders they can't do nothin else but promise all sorts of rewards fer votes and support. The people that is bein promised all these jobs ought to know that a man in plitics can't be true to all of his friends all of the time. He wouldn't be in politics long if he wuz.

Then, take these here prosperity promises and expctations. There is a lot of democratic politicians and spellbinders that is tellin the people all they have to do is vote fer Roosevelt and prosperity will come right along as a natural result. Well, it ain't so. And the people of this country is goin to find it out too. It ain't no more true than Hoover's promises fer continued prosperity wuz true in 1928. And there is some good reasons why it ain't so. In the first place, the democratic Congress is goin to start to work on the tariff. That is goin to scare a lot of big business men that controls most of the industries of this country. These here big boys has depended so long on the protective tariff to give them control of prices in this cuntry that it has come to be a sort of religion with them, and they ain't goin to do nothin about tryin to revive business till they see how much Congress is goin to lower the tariff In the second place, these here big boys has been tellin the workin people of this country that high wages and plenty of work can be had only under republican rule, and they ain't goin to do nothin to help business if the democrats win this election. That wuz they way they acted in 1913, and after all the threats of dire calamity impendin in case of a democratic victor and promises of a revival of prosperity in case of republican victory, they ain't likely to go ahead and do something that will make them out liars. And then, in the third place, general economic conditions ain't equalized yet, and no genral and permanent rcovery can be expected to come till prices of all commodities git sort of down together. Prices of farm machinery, hardware, and other kinds of commodities that has had protection fer so long is too high as compared with farm products of all sorts and other goods that is produced without protction or is based on agricultural activities of the country. If there could be a general equalizin of all prices, so that the various classes of producers could sort of be on the same level the tide of prosperity would turn upwards. But as long as one class of goods enjoys the benefits of artificially held up prices at the expense of other goods that is perishable and ain't got the money of the country to back them up, we nedn't expect prosperity to come out from around the corner by reason of a democratic victory.

So, I say a lot of democrats is goin to be disappointed. And I ain't sayin this because I ain't fer Roosevelt. I am fer him strong, because he is a good man, and I think he will make a good executive in the White House. He has made some promises and proposals that he can't live up to, and in the nature of the case he has had to. All presidential candidates has to do that and he ain't no exception. But he ain't goin to do no rash and fool things that the republicans is predictin he will do.

In 1832 when Andrew Jackson wuz runnin fer president his opponents made the most extravagant claims of what would happen to the country if Jackson wuz elected. Well, they didn't happen and the country didn't go to the dogs as wuz predicted. And it won't go to the dogs this time because Roosevelt is elected. But I predict a lot of important changes down in Washington with March 4, 1933.

And now during the next four years Mr. Hoover ought to have sufficient time to reflect on the mistakes he made in 1928 and the four years follown. He ought to learn that just by sayi so he can't obolish poverty, nor make everybody rich and happy, nor keep on foolin the people with the superstition that the safety of the coun try depends entirely on the wisdom and sagacity of the Republican Party, and that a great engineer (sic) is necesary a great statesman. The people of this country has had enough of the republican full dinner pail and Hoover proseprity to last them fer quite a spell. They want a change and a change they are goin to have. They are goin to indicate it November 8th. Good night, Mr. Hoover!

CLUB MEMBERS' STATEMENT

HOW GIRLS 4-H CLUB WORK HAS HELPED ME

Since ding Club Work only one year, I find it has meant lots and lots to me in many different ways. First, to get away from other work a little while, and to learn more about the things we have to do at home only a better, easier and quicker way.

Sewing has been a big help, to know the different ways of finishing garments neater and with less trouble, although I have sewed for a long time or ever since I have been big enough to do anything, as sewing always came natural to me, I guess. I could pick up and do most anything I wanted to or make any way I wanted to. But now I do it easier and with a neater finish. I am of a large family of eleven children, parents and grandmother to take care of nd being the oldest I have always had plenty to do, making and helping to make all of the other clothes, beside making all of my own.. I love to sew and do sew a lot. I find that home-made clothing last linger and are much stronger and fit better than bought ones. I often make over garments too.

I made an outfit for the Style Show and placed second, then made one to go to College Park and placed third. In making these things, I learned more than I realized, with the help of Miss Schellinger, I was taught the different seam finishings.

The Club of which I am local leader has been sewing and it is my delight to help them with theirs and I take a great interest is both.

We have also studied Canning and Baking. The Canning has taught me about cold packing, as I never did before. I have done a lot of canning but new I cold pack and can many things I did not used to can. I am canning some things for exhibit. I would not ksow about these things or would not be canning for exhibit if it had not been for Miss Schellinger. She is a great help to me and I surely do like her, she is so nice and kind with it all and that means much to our work.

In baking it has helped a great deal because of things I did not know. I have now baked cakes and muffins I had ever heard of before. I enjoy the meetings and attend most all of them, although I cannot get to attend larger meetings. I have such a time to get there. It is mostly my luck to stay at home and tend to the work and children. I have a great deal of the house work to do, in fact, nearly all of it along with the cooking and preparing meals.

I make all of the bread and any thing extra for company or Sunday. It seems I have to take the responsibility on myself. I do the cleaning, scrubbing, washing, ironing, sewing, canning and preserving anything that has to be done. I have also worked in the field as a man and can do any out door work as well as house work, but now have brothers to take my place. I have lived on a farm all my life and had to work very hard. I did not get to go to High School at all. I finished the seventh grade but did it byhard study, as I had to miss a lot of time for work. I have been out of school fr seven years. Alng with home work, I love club work. It is a change to get to a meeting and leave the old work a while. I guess I have a great ambition for work, late at nights trying to get my work aaught hp to go to a meeting the next day.

I have a brother and two sisters in club work too; two of which belong to Handy Andy Club and did before I ever knew of the one I am now enjoying the work of. I must say that club work is very interesting to me and I think it is to all. There is nothing that I turn my back on about work, only getting up in large crowds to talk or explain anything. When called on to give talks, I am backward and don't know what to say. I guess it is because I have not had the opportunity most girls have had. Hope this will be all right and help some one else to try the 4-H Club Work and enjoy its fun.

Yours for better work,
FLORENCE DIXON
