THE TRANSCRIPT

KENT COUNTY LOST one of its oldest and best loved rural clergymen, in the death of Dr. Sewell S. Hepburn. He often referred to himself as "Just a Country Preacher," but his work among rural churches in Kent County and Viginia has endeared him to hundreds of rural churchmen. "Just a Country Preacher" he was, but his work is known in all parts of the country. He did not desire riches or notority but went about his work doing good. He knew the rural people and their problems, having lived on a farm until his death and his desire to "die in harness" was fulfilled. Although in recent years he has lived a retired life, he was active in the work of the rural churches in Kent county, and supplied whenever his services were needed. His recent illness started while he was conducting service on a very hot day this summer at Old St. Paul's Church, during the absence of the Rector. He is gone but the results of his labors will linger on.

(COMMUNICATED)

Chestertown, Md.
November 9, 1932

Dear Editor:

Since the voters of this county have expressed their wishes in regards to the Chestertown High School bond issue, may I modestly broach a proposal for relieving conditions there. This solution involves no additions or reconditioning inadequate properties for reopening.

Could Galena High School hold 40 or 50 additional pupils? If so, why not send the Kennedyville bus to Galena instead of Chestertown. Can Rock Hall hold 40 to 50 additional pupils? Can't the Fairlee bus go to Rock Hall as well as Cnestertown? If 80 to 100 pupils are thus removed from Chestertown will it help any? Would not Galena and Rock Hall be made stronger schools? In view of the attitude taken by rural school patrons as to the vices their children are exposed to when they are brought to Chestertown for school purposes, and the teriffic expense of clothing made necessary (?) by attending a City (?) school, I should think they would welcome having their children sent to smaller schools in smaller towns.

Sincerely,
Can It Be Done.

WASHINGTON LOSES TO RIVAL

Winning their first game this season, the Mt. St. Mary's football team with its superior weight scored one touchdown in the first quarter and two in the final quarter to defeat Washington.

In the first quarter Washington received the ball and was able to gain ground consistantly. Near the Mt. St. Mary's goal, Washington completed a pass which netted them a touchdown, the first score and Washington's only score of the game. Mt. St. Mary's scored in the first quarter in a long pass and scored the extra point to make the score 7-6.

Washington outplayed Mt. St. Mary's during most of the game until the last quarter. At the end of the first half Washington had the ball on Mt. St. Mary's one yard line. The score stayed 7-6 until the last quarter.

The last quarter was when Mt. St. Mary's superior weight began to tell. The Washington team being fagged out the mounts were able to get over two touchdowns.
