TABLET UNVEILED WEDNESDAY EVENING

EMMANUEL CHURCH COMMEMORATES 152ND ANNIVERSARY OF THE FIRST PROPOSAL AND ADOPTION OF THE NAME "PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH"

The Tablet Was Donated By the Men's Club of Chester Parish

livered the sermon. Music was furnished by the vested choir, assisted by members of the choir of Christ M. P. Church. Visitors were present from many of the churches in the Diocese and Baltimore.

The following paper, compiled from various records of the meeting held in 1780, was presented at the meeting Wednesday night:

We are celebrating tonight one of the great events in the history of the Church, the 152nd anniversary of the first proposal and the first adoption of the name Protestant Episcopal Church. It is difficult to-day to visualize the conditions that then confronted the Church of England in America. The Revolutionary War was still in progress. Most of the Clergy were English Tories, and as such had been forced to flee the country, leaving their flocks without a shepherd. There was no Bishop of the Church in America to ordain men to replace them. The Church itself was torn by dissensions and unpopular with the patriots on account of its close connection and that of its Clergy with England.

Every person participating in the convention we are commemorating to-night was definitely placing himself on record, not only as a rebel against the Mother Country, but also as a rebel against the Mother Church. Had we lost the war he would have been cut off and proscribed by both country and church.

It is true that there were present at this convention delegates and members from only four small parishes, Shrewsbury, St. Pauls and Chester parishes in Kent County and St. Lukes at Church Hill, Queen Anne's County. Yet this was the opening wedge, and the action taken was so brave, so timely and so wise that the example set was soon followed by a larger convention held in Annapolis and later still by one held in Philadelphia, attended by delegates from all over the country. It is frequently stated that this latter was a convention of the General Church. But there was then no General Church whatever, only isolated parishes, still owing allegiance to the Church of England, and having no other connection with each other. The action then taken was therefore merely a repetition on a lager scale of that of the convention held in this Church November 9th., 1780.

The convention was called by William Smith D.D. then rector of Chester Parish, having accepted the charge on July 4, 1780, with the purpose in view of raising up the Church from the ruin into which the Revolutionary War had laid it.

In response to Dr. Smith's call a number of Churchmen assembled in the Chapel of Ease of Chester Parish in Chestertown (now Emmanuel Church) on the 9th. day of November, 1780.

The convention was presided over by Dr. William Smith. Two other Clergymen present were Rev. Samuel Keene, Rector of St. Lukes, Queen Anne's County, Rev. James Jones Wilmer, Rector of Shrewsbury, Kent County. The laity was represented by the following gentlemen:

Vestrymen of St. Paul's Parish Kent County—
Col. Richard Lloyd — Mr. James Dunn
Mr. John Page — Mr. Richard Miller
Mr. Samuel Wickes

Vestrymen of Chester Parish Kent County—
Dr. John Scott — Mr. Marmaduke Tilden
Mr. John Bolton — Mr. St. Leger Everett
Mr. James Wroth

Wardens of Chester Parish—
Mr. John Kennard — Mr. John Sturges

Register of Chester Parish—
Mr. Charles Groome

Vestrymen of Shrewsbury Parish, Kent County—
Mr. George Moffett — Mr. Christopher Hall
Mr. William Keating

Vestrymen of St. Luke's Parish, Queen Anne's County:
Mr. John Brown — Mr. Richard Ezekial Downs

Other Laymen present—
Dr. William Bordley — Dr. Thomas VanDyke
Col. Isaac Perkins — Mr. William Keene
Mr. James Hackett

Dr. Smith called the meeting to order the Rev. Jones Wilmer was elected Secretary. Mr. Wilmer offered the following resolution which was adopted:

"Be it resolved that the Church formerly known in this Province as the Church of England should now be called 'The Protestant Episcopal Church'."

To-day it is the name of the Church throughout the world.

It is an interesting fact that direct or collateral descendants of nearly every one of these men are still actively interested in the work of the Parishes they represented.

ARTHUR MOORE KILLED

MYSTERY SURROUNDS DEATH OF ROAD EMPLOYEE

FOUND DEAD ALONG RAILROAD TRACKS

Mystery surrounds the death of Arthur Moore, aged 45 years, who was found dead along the railroad tracks just north of Mill street Wednesday morning. His body was discovered by the crew of the passenger train at 7 a. m. as they were bringing the train from the yards to the station. When discovered his head was badly crushed and he had been dead for at least six hours, according to Coroner Harry L. Dodd. He had evidently been hit by a train but the testimony of reliable witnesses show that he was seen on the streets after the night train came in and his body was discovered within a short time after the first morning freight train had passed.

At the inquest Mr. Percy Johnson stated that he was with him at the railroad station and that Mr. Moore, left and walked up the tracks just before the Tuesday night passenger train came in. This evidence led to the belief that he was hit by that train, but the testimony of reliable witneses, Messrs. B. L. Bonnett, Alex Herzberg and Addie Startt states that he was seen on the streets of Chestertown about 9 p. m. which was after all local trains had been put in the yards for the night. This latter testimony leads to the belief that he must have been dead when hit by the morning freight train. A Coroner's Jury met for the second time Thursday evening at which time all witnesses were questioned and the jury adjourned without arriving at a verdict, subject to call.

Mr. Moore was an employee of the State Roads Commission and received his pay, $33 on Tuesday. He left all but $4 at home and when found he had 57 cents in his pocket.

The Coroner's Jury is composed of the following: Messrs. E. B. Dukes Frank Turner, Walter Clark, Simmons LeCates, Raymond Sutton D. B. Kendall, W. R. Nickerson, Harry White, Alfred Crew, E. R. East, William Miller, Philip Sewell.
