THIRD IN POULTRY JUDGING

BAYARD SUTTON SECOND HIGH INDIVIDUAL

In the State-wide 4-H Club Poultry Judging Contest held at Centerville on Thursday, Nov. 17th, in connection with the Queen Anne Poultry Association Show at the Armory, Kent's Team ranked third, while Bayard Sutton, Jr. was second in individual score.

Eleven Teams competed and ranked in the following order: Alleghany, Montgomery, Kent, Frederick Harford, Baltimore Prince George, Talbot, Dorchester, Caroline and Queen Anne.

The State Team, which will represent Maryland at the National Contest in New York City on November 26th, is composed of Stone of Frederick, Sutton of Kent, Bowman of Montgomery with Hopkins of Harford as Alternate. The Alleghany Team was very consistent each member making identical scores all tied for 5th place. It is a rare occurance when the winning team does not have one or more boys among the hiyh scores.

This was the first time the Statewide contest has ben held on the Eastern Shore. The fine hospitality extended the eleven teams and their coaches made a big impression. Quite a number of the contestants had never been on this Shore before. The Alleghany boys, for example, are not accustomed to the level lands they found here.

A splendid lunch was served at the end of the contest, at which the results were announced. The young men's Business Club, The American Legion, Rotary Club, and Farm Bureau were hosts to the teams-coaches and show officials and a few guests.

This was the first time hospitality of this sort had been extended to the contests. A fine show splendidly organized, keen competion with clean sportsmanship, good fellowship and unequaled hospitality made a fine impression on the visiting teams and thei rcoaches. Congratulations are due all who had a part in staging this Poultry Show and the judging contest.

He was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Samuel O. Crouch, of Chestertown, and for many years followed the trade of painting but has been unable to work for several years due to poor health.

He made his home with Mr. and Mrs. William Benjamin and is survived by two sisters, Mrs. William Forsythe, of Baltimore, and Miss Effie Crouch, a teacher in the public schools of Baltimore City.

BOYS WORK AT ROTARY CLUB

The Boys Work Committee was in charge of the program at the regular weekly meeting of the Chestertown Rotary Club. The speakers of the evening were: Dr. G. H. Dana, Scout Master of the Chestertown Troups of Boy Scouts, and Mr. Stanley B. Sutton, assistant County Agent. The former talked on the value of Scouting to the boys and the latter told Boys 4H Club Work in the county. Mr. Emmett C. Kauffman, assistant Scout Master of the Chestertown Troups gave a demonstration of fire making.

The Curbstone Diplomat

BY WILLIAM S. COLLINS

This year is proving a bad season on bond issues. The School Bond of one hundred thousand dollars in Kent County was defeated 3874 to 489.

Cecil County at this election voted on a million dollar Road Bond issue. Did they get Cecil County out of the mud? (Do you remember that expression?) No! in Cecil there seems to be more people that would rather wallow in the mud in winter and bite the dust in summer than borrow a cool million during this depression. The bond issue bit the dust or wallowed in the mud to the tune of 5553 to 604.

The high school at Elkton, like the high school at Chestertown is overcrowded and a few more counties can report the same condition. Besides being overcrowded at the Elkton High School, the sanitary conditions are called frightful.

Meetings for reduction in taxes have called in many counties of this state and neighboring states. It looks as though most of the counties have the same problems.

What has happened to the Bay Bridge? Is the Reconstruction Finance Corp. going to put that much money in the state of Maryland?

The attitude of the people of the County, on the Bay Bridge, compares favorably with their attitude on everything else. Some are red-hot for it, some indifferent and some against it.

Those for it, think it would boom Kent County. They have visions of many Baltimoreans coming to Kent County to make their home. They think the farmers can do better selling, at the Baltimore market than they can do at Wilmington and Phildelphia markets. Real estate values would be increased. Kent County has so much waterfront it would attract yachtsmen from Baltimore.

Against it we find the following arguments. The predicted boom would be just a lot of real estate speculations and when these petered out the county would be in bad shape like Florida. Stores and business places in the county would be ruined by the city competition. For example they show the towns that are close to Baltimore. Baltimore county and the adjoining counties have plenty of building sites and plenty of people wanting no more for their property than would be wanted here in Kent. Plenty of waterfront property is available on the Western Shore. The markets in Baltimore pay no more for produce than the markets of the other cities. Baltimore is surrounded by counties that are dependent on Agriculture for a living. Those against the Bridge also think the State is borrowing too much money for the project.

Does a trashman have problems? Mr. Crew, who has the contract for hauling trash from Chestertown has to keep a wary eye on fire. Much of the trash is paper and ashes. Sometimes the ashes are hot and set fire to the paper. In town, he borrows a bucket of water as quick as possible.

As he rides out to dump, the moving of the truck causes a draft and fans the trash into flame. In these cases real speed has to be shown in the unloading.

"Chestertown," is a pretty good old town, despite the fact that it has the worst High School Building, the worst jail, one of the worst sewage disposal systems and is one of the poorest lighted towns.

We have been hearing of "Rank" Democrats and "Rank" Republicans and using "Rank" in another sense, there is a rank goat up in Hick's Alley, in Chestertown. A billy-goat he is and he can almost outdo a pole cat. However he seems to have a proud owner and causes considerable excitement when he parades the streets.

MARKET TO CONTINUE

The market established in Chestertown, has known a success and will be continued each Saturday morning. An effort is being made to secure suitable winter quarters, but until then the space in front of the Eliason building will be used.

FREIGHT CAR JUMPS TRACK

The local freight train was delayed two hours on Thursday when a car jumped the track near Brooks Mill.

The freight and passenger engines were slightly damaged this week while shifting at the local yards. One locomotive was too close to the siding entrance and the other engine sideswiped it while going past. Only slight damage was reported.
