FIREMEN ANSWER TWO CALLS

Local firemen answered two calls this week. The first one was at 11.45 a. m. last Saturday morning to extinguish a marsh fire near the Standard Oil tanks in Quaker Neck. The fire was started when a lighted match fell in dry grass and soon spread to the marsh. Fish nets owned by Mr. Grover Hadaway, which were spread out on the marsh to dry were damaged to the extent of $25.

The second call came at 6.45 Monday morning was a chimney fire in the house on the Bartz farm in Morgnec, occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Baker. Firemen extinguished the fire without damage. This farm was recently purchased by Mr. Nathan Chairs.

NOW AND THEN

ENDEAVOR

There's always a way, if you want to,
For where there's a will, there's a way,
The hills of the morning look lower at night
If you've leveled them during the day.

There's always a smile in the tear drop,
There's ever a hope with a will,
And the crops in life worth the raising
Come from soil that is hardest to till.

There's ever a gain in the trying,
Contentment lies ever in rest,
But gained from the fruits of endeavor
When we've worked and given our best.

There's always a road to the hill top,
A goal we can reach if we would;
There's our work that lies here before us—
Let us do it, and say it is good.

EDITH SCOTT MANGNA.

There is nothing that grows as rapidly as the moon. Only a few evenings ago it was seen, a tiny crescent of silver against the sunset sky. Now it is flooding all the world with light and has grown to a half moon as it nears the western horizen. King Charles I who gave Maryland to his friend, George Calvert first suggested that its name should be Crescentia, because of its crescent shape. While everyone is glad, that it was named for the King's queen, Henrietta Maria, yet the rapid growth of the state still suggests "Crescentia."

Memories still linger of the old organ blowers that pumped the organs before electric motors took their places. One of these same organ blowers repeatedly annoyed the organist by blowing after the music had stopped. At last in a fit of desperation, the organost scribbled a note and asked a choir boy to take it to the organ blower.

By mistake the boy took it to the preacher, who was delievering a most eloquent sermon.

He glanced at the note, turned red and brought his sermon to an abrupt close and left the pulpit. The note read: "Hush! the people came to hear the music, not your noise."

The patriotic party of women from Brookline have raised a tempest in the teapot, by asking that Enstein be excluded from this country on account of his communistic views. Some newspapers, in their editorials, compare these women to cackling geese.

It is true that geese are very annoying sometimes, but history tells us that the cackling of geese once saved Rome.

One great joy in life is one's books. To those who love to read them, they are the most faithful companions the most sympathic friends: Ina Brevoost Roberts writes thus of them:

No Books.

"Suppose there were no books!
No books to read in cozy nooks!
No books to feed the hungry mind
And teach the art of being kind.

"No books to while one hour away,
To link today with yesterday;
No books to charm us for a while,
To bring a tear or lure a smile.

"But there are books, praise God above!
If we have books and we have love
We can dispose of other things;
'Tis books, not crowns, that make us kings."

In the talk of drastic reduction in salaries and allowances, the Bureau of Standards is asked to make a reduction in the inch, which is 1-1000 of a millimeter longer than the English inch. This, in sixteen miles, would make our country's three inches longer than the British.

This comes as a surprise to us for we have always understood that the standard measurement is in the Tower of London, always kept in a certain temperature so it will not shrink nor increase in size. We do not suppose that this reduction will cause many hardships.

Today is Children's Day, and Chestertown is doing its best to make everything attractive for the children and the grown ups too. So come to Chestertown and enjoy the movies and the lights and see the lovely things provided for you.

There are some things that are working on full time—the insect world.

My Winter suit I find has been Attacked by insect Goths.
There's no employment dearth, I ween,
Among those dad-blamed moths.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing six months. President, Mrs. George Johnson; vice President, Mrs. Catherine White; Rec. Sec'y. Miss Bernice Scotten; Asst. Rec. Sec'y, Miss Cathryn Atwell; Treasurer, Miss Emma Shafer; Organist, Miss Sara Willis; Ass't Miss Alice Kennedy.

The Society decided to hold a Bazaar in the School Building December 9 and 10. The Society was splendidly entertained by Mr. Nickerson, wife daughter. Ice cream and cake was served after which the young people left for their respective homes.

ATTEND FARM BUREAU CONVENTION

E. THOMAS MASSEY NATIONAL DIRECTOR

Mr. E. Thomas Massey, of Massey, who is filling the unexpired term as president of the Maryland Farm Bureau caused by the sudden death of Mr. James Davis, attended the convention of the directors of the National Farm Bureau Federation held in Chicago this week.

Mr. Massey has been vice-president of the Maryland Farm Bureau for several years and is prominently mentioned for the presidency. The election of officers will take place at the annual meeting in Baltimore in January.

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN

To Be Shown At New Lyceum Next Week

"Madison Square Garden," a rapid-moving drama set against the kaleidoscopic background of New York's famed center of political, social and athletic life, has been booked for the New Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, December 14 and 15. Jack Oakie, Thomas Meighan, Marian Nixon, Warren Hymer, William Collier, Sr., William Boyd and ZaSu Pitts head the cast.

Like "Grand Hotel," "Union Depot," and other films set against a single background, "Madison Square Garden" concerns itself with the lives of the various people who meet under its roof, and the results that follow their meeting.

The vivid panoramic view of the Garden's ever-changing activities is held together by the story of a manager who brings two proteges to New York and "The Garden," their meeting with two girl telegraph operators, and their adaptation of themselves to the new life. Collier plays the role of the manager; Hymer and Oakie are his proteges; Miss Nixon and Miss Pitts are the girls.

In addition to the screen luminaries, the cast of the picture includes such old-time sports favorites as Jack Johnson, Tom Sharkey, Tommy Ryan, Mike Donlin, Billy Papke, and Stanislau Zbyszko; and such noted newspaper sports writers as Grantland Rice, Jack Lait, Damon Runyon, Ed. W. Smith, Westbrook Pegler and Paul Gallico. Jack Kearns and Teddy Hayes are also in the cast.

H. W. VICKERS, III, ELECTED CAPTAIN

HEADS STONY BROOK FOOT BALL SQUAD

Stony Brook, N. Y., December seventh,—The election of the 1933 varsity football captain was announced today at the Stony Brook School. The recipient of this coveted honor is Harrison W. Vickers, III, of Chestertown, Maryland. Vickers has played at guard all season for the Blue and White and can be counted on as a strong member of next year's eleven. He comes from a distinguished family from the historic old town on the Eastern Shore which is the home of Washington College. Tradition has it that his great-grandfather, then senator, when Andrew Johnson was about to be impeached, was taken on his sick bed from Chestertown back to the senate chamber in Washington to cast his vote against impeachment. This vote is said to be the only one that stood between Johnson and this disgrace.

BENEFIT MOVIE SHOW

WELFARE BODY STAGES "HORSEFEATHERS"

The mad, but merry, Four Marx Brothers, specialists in nonsense, are starred in "Horse Feathers," fourth of their moving pictures, which comes to the New Lyceum Theatre on Monday and Tuesday, December 12 and 13.

The picture will be shown, at both performances, as a benefit for the Kent Count Welfare Association. R. D. Moore and Mrs. T. H. Beck, the committee from the Welfare organization in charge of the benfit, have placed tickets on sale throughout the county and are hoping for a large attendance at each performance.

"Horse Feathers," like previous Marx Brothers pictures, is sheer foolery, with the bemustached Groucho talking and punning at a terrific rate, slow-moving Chico answering in Italian dialect and occasionally playing the piano, red-wigged Harpo chasing his blondes, and almost-normal Zeppo making love to the ingenue.

In "Horse Feathers," however, they have definite roles. Groucho is a college president who took that job to get his son, Zeppa, out of school, where he has spent twelve years or so. Chico is the village bootlegger and Harpo the village dog-catcher.

Between them, they manage to tear the college and everything else to pieces.

"Horse Feathers" was written by Bert Kalmar, Harry Ruby and S. J. Peerlman, noted comedy-makers themselves. Music and lyics are by Galmar and Ruby, with Norman McLeod directing. Perelman, author of several humorous books, collaborated on "Monkey Business," a previous Marx Brothers picture, while Ruby and Kalmar, authors of numerous Broadway musical hits, worked on the stage production of "Animal Crackers." McLeod directed "Monkey Business."

ALUMNI MEETING AT SALISBURY

TO FORM UNIT ON SHORE

At the Committee Meeting of Washington alumni in the Southern Delmarva area, called yesterday in Salisbury by J. Purnell Johnson of Glen Burnie, president of the general Alumni Asociation, preliminary preparations were made for the holding, at Salisbury on Friday evening, February 10, an informal alumni get-together and card party.

The committee of preparations is: Gilbert V. Byron, Lewes, Del., Chairman, Newell M. Cordry, Snow Hill, Md.; A. Roy Woodland, Marion Station, Md.; Albert E. Baker, Salisbury, Md.; Elizabeth A. Mace, Cambridge, Md.; Nelson F. Hurley, Greensboro, Md.; Elias W. Nuttle, Denton, Md.; George H. Carrington, Crisfield; and J. Purnell Johnson, Glen Burnie, Md.

There is abundant material in this area for a strong unit of the Washington College Alumni Association. With the growing prestige of the College its former students should become acquainted with each other and create a Washington College sentiment which would make real to the people of the lower Shore and lower Delaware the vitality and value of the College.

WHEELER SHOW AT CENTREVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Wheeler, of the Wheelr Production Company, are in Centreville rehearsing a big county benefit show, "Oh, Pardon Me" which is to be presented in the Centreville Opera House on December 14-15, with a large cast of Queen Anne's best talent. The Wheeler's are well known in Chestertown and vicinity, where they have staged a number of shows for the Fire Company.

G. FRANK CLARK INJURED

Mr. G. Frank Clark, of Chestertown, is in the Lackanau Hospital, Philadelphia, sufering from a fractured hip and severe bruises received in an automobile accident in Philadelphia last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. Clark was riding with his sister in her autmobile when it and another automobile collided. The latest reports from the hospital state that Mr. Clark is getting along nicely.

ONLY 13 SHOPPING DAYS BEFORE CHRISTMAS

NEW GOLF LEAGUES FORMED

At a meeting of the Peninsula Golf League at Salisbury on Friday of last week it was decided to form two leagues on the Peninsula, a northern and southern league. At the end of the season the winner of these two leagues will play a championship series.

The golf clubs comprising the northern league are Chestertown, Dover, Easton and Cambridge, while the southern league is composed of Salisbury, Md., Accomac, Exmore and Cape Charles, Va.

Mr. Claude E. Truslow represented the Chester River Yacht and Country Club at the meeting.

It was decided to hold the Peninsula championship, confined to League members, at Accomac, Va., in 1933 and at Chestertown in 1934.

DISTRIBUTE SHOES NEXT WEEK

500 PAIRS TO NEEDY KENT COUNTY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Upwards of 400 pairs of new shoes and stockings will be sent to Kent county on Monday of next week from a New York shoe factory for distribution among the needy school children. These shoes and stockings that will be distributed in the county is part of a total of 50,000 pairs which will be distributed in Maryland, one half to go to Baltimore City and one half to the twenty three counties.

The shoes and stockings are a gift of Mr. Raymond A. Simskey, a Baltimore financier and the gift is for the purpose of permitting needy children to attend school this winter.

The shoes will be delivered at the office of the Kent County School Board and Professor Louis C. Robinsn, Superintendant f Schools, and Mrs. May Mills Beck, Attendance Officer, will have charge of alloting the shoes in the county.

In preparation for distributing the shoes, Mrs. Beck has made a two weeks survey of the county and has compiled a list of children who are handicapped in attending school due to lack of proper shoes and stockings.

Mr. W. Raymond Moody, of Chestertown, who is in charge of the distribution of the shoes and stockings throughout the state, stated on Thursday that he has received numerous telegrams from various parts of the State saying that hundreds of children are attending school barefooted. He also stated that the shoes are new and of excellent quality and that a careful check is being made on the shipments to be sure there are no defects. Every effort is being made in the distribution to be sure that the shoes and stockings are received by those who actually need them in order to attend school.

ATHLETIC STAR SPEAKS HERE

IRA THOMAS CAUGHT FOR CONNIE MACK 23 YEARS. WILL PROBABLY SPEAK HERE SOON

On Tuesday night of this week, Mr. Ira Thomas, former catcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, spoke to a group of Guulf Oil Dealers, at a banquet held at Lambert's Dining Room in Chestertown.

Mr. Thomas was a catcher for the Athletics for twenty-three years and played in five world series. The Athletics won four out of the five. Mr. Thomas told many base ball stories and will probably speak at the Rotary Club in Chestertown at some later date.

When the New York Giants play the Athletics next summer in Philadelphia Mr. Thomas invited each dealer to bring a boy with him to Philadelphia. At Philadelphia they will be the guest of the Gulf Oil Company and Connie Mack. They will be given police escort to the ball park. At the park they will be the guest of Connie Mack.

The banquet was given by A. S. Turner and Sons for the Gulf oil dealers in their district. About thirty-four were present. Other speakers were: Messrs. C. N. Healey, J. D. Johns, Tenell and H. N. Mathis.

E. THOMAS MASSEY NAMED DIRECTOR

Mr. E. Thomas Massey, of Massey, was named director of the National Farm Bureau Federation at the annual convention held in Chicavo this week. Mr. Massey will fill the vacancy on the Board caused by the death of Mr. James Davis.

Mr. Massey was elcted a director from the Southern District and is one of three directors representing Maryland, Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Alabama and Texas.

He is now filling the unexpired term as President of the Maryland Farm Bureau Federation and will probably be elected president at the annual meeting to be held in Baltimore on January 4th, 5th and 6th.

CHILDREN'S TREAT TODAY

MOVING PICTURES AND DECORATIONS ARRANGED

High and Cross streets Chestertown will be ablaze tonight, Saturday, when 435 different colored electric light bulbs will be turned on. There will be eleven strings of lights on High street from Heller's Corner to Smith's Pharmacy and eight strings on Cross street from Louis's Corner to Eliason Motors.

In addition to this, decorated Christmas trees will line both sides of these streets. A large community tree will be placed in the small park by the Chestertown Fire Company.

The entire business section will be illuminated today and the lights will remain until Christmas.

A continuous moving picture show for the children has been arranged by the merchants at the New Lyceum Theatre this afternoon to which all the children are invited. A special mail box will be placed in the lobby of the theatre in which the children may mail letters to Santa Claus.

HOME MARKET GROUP MEETS

With almsot all members of the recently formed Farm and Home Market present, the first meeting of the group was held in the Chamber of Commerce office last Thursday evening.

The meeting was called for the purpose of drawing up a few basic rules and regulations which had been partially prepared by two previous meetings of the committee in charge of the market plans. Suggestions were added to these from the floor at the general meeting.

Prices were discussed and in all cases where possible were standardized.

Undoubtedly the most important item of business conducted at the meeting was the decision that the market had reached its full limit of membership if each member was to benefit enough to make it worth while. Those who have not yet come in are asked to make application through the Chamber of Commerce for membership and their names will be kept on file until a vacancy occurs. The membership now is approximately thirty-five. Not all of these are present at the market each week and a few do business entirely on orders.

No definite place for holding the market has been decided upon but one room on Cross Street is being considered if advailable in time.

Before very long the Chamber of Commerce plans to call an informal meeting of Chestertown housewives in order to get their suggestions on how to better the market and find out just what the demands may be.

Until further notice the market will be held in front of the Eliason Building.

ATTENDS MUNICIPAL MEETING

Mayor Charles N. Satterfield and Councilman George W. French attended a meeting of the Eastern Shore Municipal Association in Salisbury on Saturday of this week.

One of the principal points of discussion referred to the proposal of the County Commissiooners Association with reference to diverting part of the gasoline tax to the maintenance of dirt roads.

A Legislative committee was appointed to secure a proportion fo this fund for maintenance of the streets in incorporated towns.

BOW-WOW DEAD

Bow-wow, the old sheppard dog who proved faithful in his care and protection of Medford (Sonny) Brooks when a small boy, and to little Jane Brooks, Sonny's little sister, passed to dog heaven last week. He had a number of friends in Chestertown who admired him because of his friendly disposition. With almost the intelligence of a human being he guarded both Sonny and Jane whenever he considered them in danger.

TWO NEW FEATURES

The Transcript has added two new features. "Crossen 'Em Up" by Ice Cross which will be found on page six and "Star Sketches" which will give the story of a movie star on page two. These features will appear each week.

TURKEY GROUP MEETS

The regular monthly meeting of the Maryland Turkey Growers Association of Kent County was held at 2 p. m. Friday at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Plans and problems of the Christmas turkey market were discussed at the meeting.

The Rock Hall fire company extinguished a field fire at the home of Mrs. Marcellus Coleman on Thursday of last week.
